MOTHERS CONGRESS IN WASHINGTON

Report of Mrs. Robert E. Park Who Was Mayor Shea's Delegate to the Congress

Six Foreign Countries Were Represented by Delegates

Mrs. Robert E. Park of Wollaston who was appointed by Mayor Shea as Quincy's representative to the Mothers' Congress recently held in Washington has made the following interesting report of the proceedings at the Congress:

Honorable William T. Shea,
Mayor of Quincy, Mass.

Dear Sir:—

As I had the honor to represent you at the Mothers Congress, lately convened in Washington, I am sending you my report, which I beg you to accept, though it is rather late, on account of the press of other duties.

As soon as I had registered, and presented my credentials, I was given a Mayor's delegate badge, as well as voting delegate's badge, and your letter was placed on file, with the other letters from officials. As the Congress was international, six foreign countries were represented by delegates, and members of many other races attended the Congress, whose objects were:

"To raise the standard of home-life; to give young people opportunities to learn how to care for children, so that when they assume duties of parenthood they may have some conception of the methods that will best develop the physical, intellectual and spiritual nature of the child; to bring into closer relations the home and the school, that parents and teachers may co-operate intelligently in the education of the child; to surround the childhood of the whole world with that wise loving care in the impressionable years of life that will develop good citizens; to use systematic and earnest effort to this end, and through the formation of Parent-Teacher Associations in every public school and elsewhere, through the establishment of Kindergartens, and in the distribution of literature which will be of practical use to parents in the problems of home life; to secure more adequate laws for the care of blameless and dependent children and to carry the mother-love and mother-thought into all that concerns children."

The foreign countries who sent delegates were England, who sent Lady Berry Hart, Secretary of the Parents National Education Association. Whose presidents are the Earl and Countess of Aberdeen.

Persia, whose delegate was an American, wife of the Persian Charge d'affaires, a former Miss Breed, of Lynn, Mass. The Persian Legation also tendered the Mothers Congress a reception at the Embassy. Madame Ali Kuli Kahn, the delegate, brought an invitation from the young Shah of Persia for the Congress of Mothers to establish a branch in Persia, which was accepted.

China, sent Chung Wen Pang, attache of the Chinese Legation, who said that he was commissioned to send back a full report of these proceedings to the educational officials of his country, adding, "what is done in America today is done in China tomorrow."

Italy sent Lieutenant Merrigie Serrati, of the Italian Navy, with a message from the queen of gratitude for the kindness received by Italian children living in America, through the movement for Child-welfare, and asked that such an organization should be formed in Italy, where help from her should not be wanting.

Belgium was represented by Paul Hagemans, Consul General of Belgium representing Belgian League of Home Education and Royal Government of Belgium. Greece was represented, but I have been unable to get the name of the delegate.

The sessions were at the Arlington Hotel, except on Saturday, when they met at the Business High School, and were in the forenoon and evening, from April 25th to May 2nd, and concerned with the topics of Home, School, State and Church to Child-Welfare. The last day was devoted to Child-Hygiene, in which a great work has been done, in preventing infant mortality, and diseases among children.

The best work has perhaps been done in Child Hygiene, under which comes proper feeding, housing and play; in the Committee for the Welfare of the Rural Child, which has cooperated with the department of Good Roads in Washington, to build better roads to the country school-houses; in the Committees regarding Erring and Dependent Children; regarding the working Child, and the Defective Child, as those born deaf, or blind.

Attention was called to the fact that the present tendency of the State in regard to fatherless children is toward helping the mother to take care of the children herself, as against putting the children in an institution. The mother has been found to be the best nurse, as more children die in institutions than in homes, and it does not cost the State much more to preserve the family intact than separated. The Mothers Congress passed the following resolution, among others:

RESOLVED:—That it is the sense of this Congress that families, should, if possible, be held together. That the Mother is the best care taker for her children. That when necessary to prevent the breaking up of the home, the State should provide a certain sum for the support of the children instead of taking them from her, and placing them elsewhere, at the expense of the State; and be it further

RESOLVED:—That each branch of the Congress, located in the several States, be urged to assist in securing such legislation, as will accomplish this result."

This aid to the mother in the case of fatherless children is already given in Russia, Hungary, Sweden and in France. To some extent in other foreign countries and in some of the States, Massachusetts gives about $6,000.00 directly to the fatherless home, and New Jersey is adopting this course in preference to institutions.

The Congress of Mothers was entertained at the White House, at the Persian Embassy, at the Cafe' Rauscher, and by auto-trips and various sight-seeing trips. It was presided over by the National President, Mrs. Frederic Schoff, of Philadelphia, a woman of rare ability and wide sympathies, and has accepted the invitation from Texas, to convene there next year. Texas has 240 counties, and not one section without a Mothers Club or Parent-Teacher Association.

I have the honor to subscribe myself,
Yours respectfully,
Clara Cahill Park.
(Mrs. Robert E. Park.)

FOURTH OF JULY CELEBRATION

Business at Meeting of General Committee

A meeting of the general committee on the Fourth of July celebration was held Wednesday evening at the rooms of the Board of Trade in the Adams building. In the absence of the president of the committee James H. Elcock was elected as temporary chairman.

The committee on collections reported that 276 letters had been sent to different citizens of the city asking for contributions of funds and replies were expected soon. It was also announced that letters had been sent to 96 different societies and organizations asking for contributions and for corporation to make the celebration a success.

The chairman of the committee on parade read a letter which he intended to send to all organizations relative to the parade and also announced that a meeting of the parade committee would be held at the Board of Trade rooms Monday evening June 12.

The chairman of the committee on sports announced that he would call a meeting of his committee for Thursday evening June 8 at the same rooms.

The question of raising funds was then taken up. It was decided that a house to house canvass should be made for funds and in order to do so it would be necessary to select canvassers.

It was decided that the best plan was to have a committee of ten from each ward. This committee should organize and select its chairman and divide his committee so that a house to house canvass should be made of every street in each of the wards.

Names of persons in each ward for this committee were mentioned and they will be invited to meet at the rooms of the Board of Trade next Tuesday evening to organize and lay plans for the carrying on of the work of soliciting funds.

During the evening it was announced that the order of Moose had voted to contribute $10 toward the fund and that the order would turn out in the parade.

The allest boy and girl were asked to come to the platform and Comrade Hersey put the knapsack on them which was quite an honor. War stories were told and he told, in part, of the good work done by the Sisters and many a man said his life was saved by their care and nursing. Col. Packard often said they saved his life. The children were more than pleased and applauded long and loud. The ladies present said they were glad to be present and hear such a fine program.

MERCHANTS WEEK PLANS

Firemens Parade on last day of Week Assured

A meeting of the Merchants' branch of the Board of Trade was held Wednesday afternoon at the rooms of the board in the Adams building, acting President W. G. Shaw presiding.

The meeting was devoted to a general discussion of plans for the coming Merchants' week. The committee on the advertising car reported that the street railway would furnish the car and the committee was empowered to arrange for a suitable sign for the car.

The committee on firemen's parade reported that the Mayor had promissed to have a parade of the fire department on the last day of the week.

The question of whether or not the stores in the centre should keep open Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings during Merchants' week was discussed informally. The general sentiment seemed to be that if the association was to have band concerts every evening that the stores should be open.

No definite action was taken however as the committee on collections will sound the members on the question duirng their canvass the coming week.

No other business was transacted at the meeting.

ORGAN RECITAL.

The last organ recital in the series arranged by Prof. Wrigley, was held in Christ church Wednesady evening. The attendance was the largest and the recital the best of the three with Mr. Wrigley at the organ with Mrs. James H. Slade, vocalist and Arthur W. Newcombe, cornetist, assisting Wely's pastorale "The Storm" which was played by request, was especially enjoyable as interpreted by Mr. Wrigley.

The vocal selections were likewise greatly appreciated. Hadyn's "With Verdure Clad" was beautifully rendered and "Under the Canopy" by J. C. Dunn, called forth much favorable criticism. Mr. Dunn himself was in the audience and seemed highly elated with the manner in which Mrs. Slade rendered his composition.

A cornet solo, "The Lost Chord" was splendidly played by Mr. Newcombe and was one of the best numbers on the program.

Prof. Wrigley delighted his hearers with his mastery over the organ. All the pieces he played were well chosen and the last ones especially were possessed of an attractive melody. Raff's well known Cavatina never sounded better and the "Air du Dauphin" by Roeckel was given all its beauty at the hands of Prof. Wrigley.

The final number, "Incidental music to Henry VIII" composed by Sullivan ,was played in a masterful manner and gave a very fitting close to the recital which was beyond question, one of the best ever given in Quincy.

The program:

Choral Song and Fugue in C Wesley
Hymn Tune with variations Maxfield Benediction
Vocal "With Verdure Clad" Hadyn
Minuett Bennett
Pastorale "The Storm" (by request) Wely
Cornet Solo "The Lost Chord" Sullivan
Finale in B flat Peace "Sonata da Camera"
Vocal "Under the Canopy" J. C. Dunn
Cavatina Raff
Air Du Dauphin Roeckel
Incidental Music to Henry VIII Sullivan

"I always hate to hear about a man's being henpecked," the small woman with the firm-set lips remarked.

"I don't see why."

"Because I don't believe that any such thing as being henpecked exists. When a man complains of it, it generally means that he's too indolent to do his own thinking."—Washington Star.

HONESTY IN EVERYTHING

The anti-trust law seems about like the Chinese statute that forbids all improper conduct.

As tons of human hair have been coming in from China, the ravages of married life can now be repaired.

If instead of digging in the river Wye for Bacon relics, Dr. Owen had spaded up his own garden, he might be having green peas in three weeks.

Hawaii wants to be admitted as a state. All that is necessary is to persuade both political parties that they can have its electoral vote.

Now that Dr. Wiley is protecting mince pie, we shall pay our taxes this year with the feeling that we are getting our money's worth.

Quite a number of Republicans in the Senate favor reciprocity, but they all are carrying about some little amendment which they know the Canadians will never swallow.

The trusts may take up the whole road, but there's a big policeman who says the common people shall occasionally have a chance to walk on the sidewalk.

Congressman Konig of Maryland says the members of the House look "oily, wilted, and unkempt." Evidently the stable boy has been negligent in his use of the curry comb.

The lumber trust is next. It is our belief that an industrious young married couple should be able to start life in a chicken coop without plastering it all over with mortgages.

The Atchison Globe man says that when a popular society gives an entertainment, you must either take part or buy a ticket. Our frequent experience has been that one has to do both.

The Lorimer case is re-opened. We shall be satisfied if this results in listing legislators on the stock exchange, where the public can know the daily quotations along with Steel and Reading.

Sculptor Lorado Taft says there are more statues in Washington than were produced in Italy in the entire renaissance period. We would not mind buying one or two for the back yard to hitch clothes lines to.

President Taft sent a telegram of congratulation on King Alfonso's 25th birthday. This is better than getting up a surprise party, and happening around while Alfonso was loafing in his flannel shirt and carpet slippers.

Memorial Day this year was probably the last time that exercises will be held at Mt. Wollaston cemetery around the Soldiers monument. Thus spoke one of the prominent members of Paul Revere Post 88 Tuesday as he looked about and saw the crowds trample over graves and lots in the vicinity of the monument that they might hear what was being said.

Not one of the crowd seemed to give a thought to the fact that they were tramping on a lot where some loved ones were buried. If they did give it a thought they did not heed to it.

Before the exercises these lots presented a green velvety appearance but after the exercises they looked as though an army had trampled over them.

Then again the veterans of the post are all getting well along in years and the task of marching about all day and standing while the exercises are in progress is a hard one for them, and too much to ask them to do.

As the veteran said to a representative of the Ledger, next year things will be different. The plan is to have the veterans visit the several cemeteries in the morning, in carriages, and decorate the graves and in the afternoon hold appropriate services in some large hall or suitable spot out of doors. What the Grand Army would like is a monument in keeping with a city like Quincy, rich in its history of the part it has taken in the defence of the nation. The present monument can not well be removed but a new memorial can be and should be erected.

Strangers visiting Quincy often ask Where is your Soldiers monument? The answer is a mile or more away in the cemetery. Where a monument should be is in some public square where the world can see it every day and where it will be a constant reminder to the coming generations of the part Quincy took in the war of the rebellion.

THE NATIONAL MEMORIAL DAY.

A great change has come over the Memorial day picture. Previous to about 10 to 15 years ago, there was a triumphant note in the parade of the Federal troops. The booming of Gettysburg's guns seemed still to be in their ears.

As the band thumped out a lively march, the lines of erect and bronzed faced mechanics and business men marched by with step still springy and hearts still looking forward toward life's successes.

Today a good part of the line is found in wagons drawing them to the cemeteries, the more distant burying grounds are cared for by small delegations, and the work of gathering flowers has passed from the veterans to the little folks from school. The note of pathos is just as dominant in the march of the Federal troops as in that of the former confederate foe.

The line of division once separating the two contending forces has become blurred in the twilight of earthly passion. The voice of the night wind is heard in the tree tops. But sometimes one catches a glimpse of those fairer fields whose sunshine is so bright that truth wears the same face to all loyal hearts.

QUINCY GRANITE.

While New England leads the country in granite production strangely enough the "Granite State," New Hampshire, does not lead the New England states but her sister state, Vermont, does, being on the top of all states of the Union in that respect. In fact, on that score, New Hampshire is next to the last of the New England states, at the bottom being Rhode Island, where one would hardly expect any granite to be quarried. Massachusetts ranks second, thanks to Quincy.

The total output of New England in 1909, which is the last year under review by the geological survey, which offers the statistics, was $9,674,000 compared with $19,581,000 for the whole United States.

This table shows the 10 leading states in granite production in 1909:—

Vermont	$2,811,744
Massachusetts	2,164,619
Maine	1,939,524
Wisconsin	1,442,305
California	1,310,520
New Hampshire	1,215,461
Rhode Island	933,053
Georgia	843,542
Maryland	771,224
North Carolina	743,876

REAL ROYALTY.

If there be no nobility of descent, all the more indispensable is it that there should be nobility of ascent — a character in them that bear rule so fine and high and pure that as men come within the circle of its influence they involuntarily pay homage to that which is the one pre-eminent distinction, the royalty of virtue.

—Bishop Henry C. Potter.

—What promises to be one of the most unique automobile trips yet undertaken in America is planned by F. O. Berg of Spokane, who contemplates making a circuit of the boundary lines of the United States, starting from Spokane the middle of June. Accompanied by his family, Mr. Berg will drive to the Washington-British Columbia line, thence along the Pacific coast to San Diego. After touching the Mexican border the party will pass through Arizona, New Mexico, Texas and Louisiana to New Orleans, thence through Alabama and Florida, continuing the trip north-eastward into New England, visiting Washington, Philadelphia, Baltimore, New York, Boston and other large centers. From New York the route follows the northern boundary westward to Spokane. Mr. Berg does not intend to break long distance records, nor has he any idea of setting a new mark for speed. He will drive a touring car, fitted with full camp equipment for use between towns or during bad weather.

AUTO TRUCK OVERTURNS

Driver Who Was Demonstrating With Heavy Load Is Killed

North Kingston, R. I., June 1.—Edwin P. Smith, an automobile driver of Chelesa, Mass., was killed when a big automobile truck which he was demonstrating overturned, pinning him beneath it.

Smith was taking a heavy load of lumber from Providence to Quonset Point. When he struck the road which runs by the side of Tide Mill pond, the pond side of the narrow roadway caved in beneath the great weight of the vehicle and the car rolled over on its side. Smith was caught under the car, which caught fire. Smith's body was rescued from the flames.

MINISTERS LIABLE FOR PROSECUTION

Judge Resents Their Resolutions Concerning the Cox Case

Cincinnati, June 1.—"The members of the Methodist Ministers' association of Cincinnati have committed contempt of court and will be held liable for prosecution," Judge Dickson of the Hamilton county common pleas court said.

He had reference to the resolutions adopted by that association in which he was censured for quashing the two indictments against George B. Cox. "I have been told these ministers consulted attorneys in Cincinnati before they adopted their resolutions," continued the judge, "but they should have known that the Cox case is still in my hands. A copy of these resolutions is to be sent to the Hamilton County Bar association for its perusal and contempt charges will then be taken up. I would suggest that the pastors study the Scriptures more and the law not at all, for they certainly never can be lawyers."

London, June 1.—William Grossman, who was appointed receiver of the English estate of "the great Lafayette," the illusionist, who lost his life in the Edinburgh music hall fire said:

"Despite the statement of one man that he witnessed a will which was made by Lafayette, no will has been found. So far as known the value of the estate is about $600,000. Probably not more than $50,000 of this is in Great Britain, the balance being in America, France, Germany and elsewhere."

HOW TO ATTRACT TRADE.

The way you run your business is your best or your worst advertisement. If you are not getting as many customers as you should get, then you are not doing the proper things to attract trade.

A business properly run advertises itself and attracts trade. If careless methods are used you cannot expect the best results. To run your business properly does not require expert advice, but thought and attention.

Your success depends on what other people think of you and your business methods. In figuring out how you can attract more trade, put yourself in the position of the public and look at yourself and your business at they look at you.

A clean sidewalk especially on stormy days, is sure to attract the attention of the passer-by, which will naturally draw his attention to the windows.

Keep your windows clean inside and out. Change your window displays often. Many times customers coming into your store to buy some particular article will have their attention called to some other article in your window, and buy things that they did not originally intend to purchase. Use neat, attractive signs in your windows, calling attention to prices and particular bargains or specialities.

Clean floors, show cases and counters attract trade. The surest way to promote cleanliness is to have good light. Light and dirt do not go together. The cheapest things in this world are light, air and water. Very few people appreciate their importance.

Proper ventilation is very important. People are often unconscious of good ventilation, but bad ventilation is undesirable and very unhealthy.

Keep your store well lighted inside as well as out. A well lighted store is always attractive to people passing. When customers come into your store they appreciate your showing your goods to advantage.

Remember that unusual things attract trade and advertise your business. You must not be absurd, but you can do unusual things without doing ridiculous things.

People like to see employes with clean collars and like to see goods handled by clean hands. Have plenty of soap and water always at hand so that your employes can have facilities for keeping clean.

Don't depend on cut prices to attract trade to your store. The half or quarter cent difference is not so important to your customers as is the quality of your goods and the attention, politeness and cleanliness they notice when buying your goods.

Your responsibility to your customers does not cease after goods have been sold. They must be delivered. If you deliver with horses and wagons, remember that people do not like to see dirty delivery wagons drawn by poor horses, driven by unkept drivers. If you employ messengers to deliver goods, it is well to have them wear neat, clean uniforms. The better they look, the more they call attention to your business and your business methods.

You have often heard it said, "A satisfied customer is the best advertisement." This is absolutely true. You know that satisfied customers talk favorably about your business and dissatisfied customers either do not talk at all or talk unfavorably.

If your business is so situated or so large that you should do newspaper, bill board, street car or window advertising, you will find that neat, clean looking printed matter is the best investment. Remember that your competitor can buy the same size space in the same newspaper that you can. Whether your advertisement will be more attractive and bring you more business than his, depends entirely on what you say in the space you buy and how you say it.

Simplicity is the most important thing to emphasize in giving instructions to a printer or newspaper as to how your advertisement should appear.

Don't crowd your advertisement. Don't think that because you are paying for space you have to fill it all up. What you want is to get your advertisement read—oftentimes the more white space and the more simplicity, the quicker people will notice and read it.

If you are advertising bargains price is the thing to emphasize. If you are advertising regular goods at regular prices, the thing to talk is quality.

Always emphasize service, mentioning careful attention customers get from your employes, prompt delivery of goods purchased, freedom from mistakes, etc.

Be specific. Tell why your goods are good goods. Don't make claims that are not true.

Straightforwardness and simplicity will attract people quicker than so-called originality. Some advertisements are failures because they are too original.—National Cash Register Co.

—The strain over the cost of living must go down gradually during the coming year. The price of grain is lower than it has been for years and live stock is gradually coming down in proportion. All this will lessen the surplus of the farmers of the West, but it will ease conditions in the crowded centres where the cost of food was fast becoming a menace. The reduction in prices has been due to bountiful harvests and greater plenty all along the line. Outside of the producing district the change is more than welcome.—Haverhill Gazette.

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.

Artemas Dingwell '11 gave President Lincoln's Gettysburg address and Miss Jean Arthur '11 recited The Boys of '61.

Vice Commodore Francis P. Loud of Paul Revere Post, No. 88, G. A. R., was the principal speaker. He gave a brief resume of the four years of fighting telling of his experiences during that time. His post, he said was the first to erect a monument on Gettysburg field and on Culp hill after the battle. He spoke of the Grand Review in Washington at the conclusion of the war and told of the mingled feeling of gladness and sorrow which were in the hearts of all on that occasion. In telling of his personal experience Mr. Loud gave many realistic pictures of battles and their aftermath. On one of the battle fields of '61, Mr. Loud and a comrade buried the first corpse of the battle. A year later, there were 7500 bodies buried in the same field and 1000 of them were unknown.

At the conclusion of the address a rising vote of sympathy was extended to Colonel Porter who was unable to be present on account of illness.

FLOWERS FOR EACH MONTH.

How to Have Blossoms Continually Out of Doors.

Flowers grown out of doors by the amateur may be enjoyed every month in the year, during the heat and drought of July as well as the cold and snow of January. The Christmas rose, for instance, frequently puts forth blossoms while the plant is covered with snow. The first sunshiny days bring out the snowdrop and scylla. Then follow the crocus, daffodil, hyacinth and tulip. Thereafter come the lilac and the whole series of annuals or plants raised from seed and making their cycle during one season.

Herewith is a list of plants which may be grown from seeds, bulbs or cuttings and which will give bloom the whole year through:

March—Scilla, chonodoxa, crocus, snowdrop, hepatica.

July—Canada lily, gladiolus, begonia, dahlia, hollyhock, thalictrum, platycodon sunflower, golden glow, early cosmos, sweet alyssum, nicotiana, stocks, lobelia, poppies, gaillardia, balsam, verbena, smoke tree, buttonbush, Douglas spirea, Japanese lilac, crimson rambler, nasturtium.

September—Japanese anemone, autumn crocus, canna, aconite, asters, giant daisy, cosmos, witch hazel, barberry, sunflower.

November—Hardy chrysanthemums, marigold.

December—Christmas rose, winter aconite.

January and February—Winter aconite, California violet, Christmas rose.

—Diaz says he will resign June 1, but the Punch and Judy show in his Congress may not accept the resignation.

Fifty Years Ago---Soldiers Buried In Swamp

IN this picture, made from a wartime photograph, the pathos of war is told more plainly than words could express it. A terrible battle had been fought here. Both armies moved away, leaving details of men to bury their dead. The burial was devoid of pomp and ceremony. The brave men who had fallen in the fight were laid in the trenches, and the muddy earth was shoveled upon them. But before the burying squad departed some of the men set up rude headboards, marked with the names of the dead when known.

How to Give Dog a Bath.

Short coated dogs need grooming as well as the long haired varieties. To keep them in good condition they should be well brushed every morning.

Opinions differ as to the washing of terriers, many people saying they should not be washed frequently, bran or sawdust being rubbed well into their coats to cleanse them, but personal experience with fox terriers proves that thoroughly washing them with good soap and warm water and a disinfectant once a week will keep them sweet and clean and absolutely free from fleas and vermin of any description (of course, provided that bedding, etc., receive proper attention).

The dog must be well dried and brushed and soap thoroughly rinsed off, especially from the ears, or it may cause canker of the ear, which is a common complaint and may often be relieved by shaking a large pinch of boracic acid powder into the ear three times a week.

HEALTH HINT FOR TODAY.

Rest Your Liver.

Two plain meals a day have been found by many to eliminate sallowness, biliousness, dyspepsia and to reduce corpulency. If the stomach is rested the overworked liver and other organs obtain a corresponding relief. Hot breads and many condiments will produce facial blemishes, and this proves that a little care in eating is worth all the attention that can be given it.

INTERESTED IN WORLD'S PEACE

Germany to Join in Negotiations For Arbitration

Washington, May 31.—Germany has expressed her willingness to enter into negotiations with the United States for a general arbitration treaty, along the lines laid down by Secretary of State Knox, in the tentative draft of this government's proposal, now in the hands of Great Britain and France.

Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador at Washington, conveyed this information to Secretary Knox, and asked for a copy of the basic proposition of the United States.

The advent of Germany into the effort to expand the principles of general arbitration is most gratifying to the American administration. After the outline of the proposed treaty had been given to Great Britain and France, the state department informed the German government that negotiations were open to that country as well as every other country in the world desiring to take up the matter.

The entrance of Germany brings four great powers into the negotiations for international peace and it is believed by officials here that a great diplomatic accomplishment is not far distant.

The United States and Germany have no general arbitration treaty even with questions of honor and vital interest excepted. The necessity of referring each dispute to the senate for its approval of arbitration has invariably been the stumbling block in previous negotiations.

The German view has been that such a treaty committed Germany to arbitration without review by anybody, while the United States was committed only on condition of senatorial approval. This same question must be threshed out in the new negotiations, as Knox's tentative draft provides for reference to the senate.

TO HELP RESTORE ORDER

Declared to Be Reyes' Purpose When He Reaches Mexico City

Havana, June 1.—General Bernardo Reyes says that he has not yet received orders to proceed to Mexico City. The future movements of the Mexican ex-minister of war are still undetermined.

That ex-Minister Reyes is going back to Mexico to help restore peace is the declaration of two of his very close friends, Tomas Rosales and J. F. Gabarillas, who have been in conference with Reyes in behalf of the independent political party of Mexico.

DIAZ SHEDS TEARS ON LEAVING MEXICO

Aged Ex-President Departs With His Family For Spain

Vera Cruz, Mex., June 1.—General Porfirio Diaz said his farewell to Mexico yesterday afternoon. With his wife and other members of the family, he boarded the steamer Ypiranga, bound for Spain, shedding tears as he took his departure.

To his country Diaz delivered a warning. Speaking to the little group of soldiers who had served as a guard on his trip from the capital to the port, the old man who has governed Mexico for more than thirty years by military strength said that the present government must yet resort to his methods if peace is to be re-established.

DAUGHTER'S LETTERS READ

Introduced to Show Her Affection For Mrs. Bull

Alfred, Me., June 1.—The reading of letters constituted the bulk of the testimony yesterday in the resumed hearing of Mrs. Olea Bull Vaughan's contest against the $500,000 will of her mother.

Attorney Whipple declared that letters Mrs. Vaughan wrote to her mother from Norway last year showed the loving relations on the part of the daughter for the mother prior to and at the time the will of July 14 was made. He claimed that the first indication of the "undue influence" came in a communication which Mrs. Bull wrote to her brother, Joseph G. Thorpe, who is an executor of the will.

JUSTICE HARLAN'S 78TH

Associate Justice of Supreme Court Celebrates Birthday Anniversary

Washington, June 1.—Associate Justice J. M. Harlan of the supreme court of the United States yesterday celebrated his 78th birthday anniversary. His associates on the bench and friends congratulated him on the event.

Justice Harlan's health is excellent, and he said that he had been sick but twice in his life. On Dec. 10 next he will have been on the bench thirty-four years. If he remains until June 10, 1912, he will have served longer than any justice since the organization of the court.

Alleged Highwaymen Held

Combridge, Mass., June 1.—Salvatore Melisse, Charles Petronello and Angelo Lendenni, the alleged highwaymen claimed to have robbed Frenelli Ferdinando, a Maine lumber hand, of $65 in money after beating him, were arraigned in the district court and held in bonds of $2000 each for a hearing on June 10.

Brigands to Receive Ransom

O'MEARA AGAIN HEADS POLICE

Foss Names Him as Head of Boston Department

ACCEPTS OFFICE AS A DUTY

Declares Action of Governor Is Commendation For Him Following Hearing and Publication of All Possible Forms of Criticism—Fitzgerald Not Pleased With Reappointment of Former Successful Newspaper Man

Boston, June 1.—Governor Foss sent to the executive council yesterday afternoon the renomination of Stephen O'Meara to be police commissioner of Boston. The council confirmed the nomination under suspension of the rules.

"The action of the governor and council was taken without previous notice to me. I have had no communication with the governor on the subject of a reappointment and I have expressed neither to him nor to any other person a wish to continue in office. All the more, then, do I appreciate what he has done. It is in the nature of a decision by the highest authority following the hearing and publication of all possible forms of criticism upon the police department and the police commissioner.

"My desire and the desires of my family would draw me away from a position so difficult and laborious, and I have a right to say that by my service of five years I have fulfilled my obligations as a citizen. But the action of the governor has imposed upon me the responsibility for the immediate future of the police department, whether I accept the appointment or decline, therefore I shall accept it.

"I take this opportunity to thank the newspapers and those citizens whose generous expressions of approval of my work have been given without suggestion from me and at all times through the months in which I have imposed silence upon myself lest by the utterance of even a single word I should appear to solicit an appointment."

Mayor Fitzgerald, when told of the reappointment of O'Meara, made this statement:

"Every Democratic leader in Massachusetts with whom I have talked is in hearty accord with my office and they feel that from a party standpoint there ought to have been a change in the head of the police system of Boston.

"There is no feeling against O'Meara personally, but we, as Democrats, have felt that as this office has been a partisan one for twenty-five years a Democrat ought to have been named for the place. None of those who placed Governor Foss in the place he occupies had anything to do with the reappointment of O'Meara."

Stephen O'Meara is one of the best known men in Boston, where he has lived since he was a child. Born in Charlottetown, P. E. I., 57 years ago, he came with his parents to Charlestown when but 10 years old. Charlestown in those days was a city by itself, but it was a part of Greater Boston always.

When O'Meara was 18 years old he became a reporter on the Boston Globe and stayed on the staff of that newspaper for about two years. He then went to work on The Journal staff and while there occupied successively the positions of city editor, general manager, editor-in-chief and publisher. Nearly nine years ago he sold his interests in The Journal to the present publisher and retired from the newspaper field after a successful career of thirty years.

DOCTORS DISAGREE

Not In Accord on the Question of Removal of Tonsils

Philadelphia, June 1.—After much conflict of opinion on the advisability of the removal of tonsils, physicians at the closing session of the American Laryngological association convention decided to submit the question to the council for an exhaustive report next year.

A resolution to that effect was proposed by Dr. G. L. Richards of Fall River, Mass., after Dr. W. C. Richardson of Washington had severely censured young surgeons for removing tonsils on the slightest provocation.

SURE OF SUCCESS FOR RECIPROCITY

Taft Receives Good News From Senate Finance Committee

Washington, June 1.—President Taft was informed by members of the senate finance committee that they will report the Canadian reciprocity bill without amendments.

Senator Stone of Missouri, at the reciprocity hearing before the senate finance committee, succeeded in demonstrating that there are interests back of the national grange which are using the grange to defeat Canadian reciprocity. Whidden Graham of the firm of Allen & Graham, attorneys for the national grange, appeared before the committee to answer questions concerning the service they had done for the grange in circulating literature opposing reciprocity.

Graham was asked if he had done anything toward promoting or defeating legislation. He said his firm had appeared for several manufacturers in behalf of denatured alcohol legislation.

WIN ON SUNDAY BALL

Soldiers May Play the National Game at Fort Banks

Boston, June 1.—Word was received in Boston, officially, from the war department in Washington that Secretary of War Stimson has decided to permit Sunday baseball at Fort Banks, Winthrop, but that the general public will not be admitted. Hereafter attendance will be restricted to the families and friends of the soldiers.

For the past two years there has been controversy over the playing of Sunday baseball at Fort Banks. The games have been attended by about 5000 people every Sunday.

PASSED OVER VETO

Medical Milk Commission Bill Becomes Law In Massachusetts

Boston, June 1.—By a rollcall vote of 167 to 53 the house voted to pass over Governor Foss' veto a bill providing for commissions of five physicians in cities and towns to co-operate with local health boards in supervising milk. The measure thus becomes a law, as the senate had previously passed it over the veto.

The bill is known as the "Medical Milk Commission" bill. The fight to pass it over the veto was led in the house by Representatives White and Hathaway.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

GREATEST IN OUR HISTORY

DAY AND NIGHT MANOWVERS

Twenty-One Battleships, Armored Cruiser Division, Torpedo Fleet and Submarines Will Take Part—Attacks With Searchlight, Landing Detachments on Shore and Other Interesting Work Planned

Newport, R. I., June 1.—Plans are now under way for the assembling off Cape Cod in July of the largest battleship fleet ever brought together under the American flag. The fleet is to be composed of twenty-one battleships, with their auxiliaries, making the largest battleship squadron in the navy's history.

In addition, the armored cruiser division, in charge of Rear Admiral Staunton, and consisting of the Tennessee, Montana, North Carolina and Washington, now at Guantanamo, will be attached to the fleet as a fifth division.

The Atlantic torpedo fleet, in command of Commander Eberle, consisting of sixteen or seventeen destroyers and seven submarines, will be added, bringing the number of fighting craft in the fleet to more than fifty.

Rear Admiral Osterhaus, who relieves Rear Admiral Schroeder as commander-in-chief of the Atlantic fleet within the next two weeks, will be in command of the mighty squadron. Schroeder will become a member of the naval general board.

The great fleet which is to be brought together will engage in maneuvers in the vicinity of Cape Cod bay during July. One of the interesting day and night drills in connection with the maneuvers will be an attack upon the fleet by the submarines, with the destroyers acting as a line of defense between the battleships and their submerged enemy.

Night battle attacks with searchlight drill, besides steaming trials at full speed and landing detachments on shore as infantry and light artillery, will be included in the summer's work.

GOTHAM BATHTUB MYSTERY

New York, June 1.—In their efforts to find the murderer of Mrs. Lillian G. Scheib, whose decomposed body was found in the bathtub in the apartment where she lived with her husband, the police are trying to find the women acquaintances of her husband, Henry A. Scheib.

Mrs. Scheib had evidently been dead four months. The apartment was vacant and dusty and the janitor says that Scheib paid the rent regularly. Scheib is under arrest, although not charged with the crime.

He declares that his wife was jealous of him, but denies any knowledge of how she died. Letters written to Scheib by women were found in the apartment.

It is believed that the murderer had attempted to hide the evidences of the crime by filling the bathtub with some corrosive acid.

GILBERT DIED A HERO

Lost His Life While Going to the Rescue of a Woman Bather

London, June 1.—An inquest into the death of Sir William S. Gilbert, the famous librettist, who collaborated with Sir Arthur Sullivan, who was drowned at his country estate, revealed the fact that he met his death while going to the rescue of Miss Winifred Emery, who was also in bathing at the time and was suddenly taken with cramps.

The coroner's jury rendered a verdict that death was due to syncope, brought about by Sir William overtaxing his heart. He expired before he could be pulled from the water.

QUEEN MARY'S NEW CROWN

Weighs Nineteen Ounces and Will Be Worn Only at Coronation

London, June 1.—Queen Mary's crown, made according to her own design, has just been completed. It weighs just nineteen ounces, the queen having insisted that it should not exceed the weight of an ordinary hat, and is designed in an elegant lace-like tracery wholly set in diamonds, with the famous Kohinoor in the centre.

It will be worn only at the coronation, as the gems will be used in separate articles of jewelry. The king will wear his father's crown.

DEAN OF THE BOSTON TERRIER.

Dr. W. G. Kendall, who has been continuously breeding Boston terriers longer than any other fancier now in the game is one of the best known sportsmen in Boston, having been actively interested in amateur sports of all kinds since the day, when a boy of eight, he, with the help of his father's boatman, caught seven bluefish on the rolling stretch between Faun Bar and Thompson's island, being, probably the only person now living who has caught this game fish within the confines of Boston Harbor.

Since this start in sport he has been actively identified with almost every variety of sport pursued in this country, was Captain of his High school base ball and foot ball teams, is a good fencer and boxer, a strong swimmer, expert as skipper and skater, a crack with rifle, gun and rod and one of the most familiar figures at sporting events all over the country, on one occasion travelling over a thousand miles, from Los Angeles to Frisco and return, to see the Jeffries-Fitz argument.

He is a Mason, also a Veteran of the Mass. Militia, having won oth corporal's stripes and sergeant's chevrons in competitive drill in the manual of arms in the old Fourth Battalion, at the time the crack organization of the state.

A charter member of the Wollaston Golf club, one of the oldest in the country he is an enthusiastic devotee of the game, at which he has played on links in all sections of the country, on both the Atlantic and Pacific coasts.

He is a member of the Boston Athletic Association and values more highly than any of his numerous trophies the gold medal won as a prize in the distance bicyle competition in 1900, showing that he covered 5,155 miles in the few summer months allowed for the contest, a feat that required his riding a hundred or more miles on some days.

He originated the annual golf championship of the Athletic club and has had charge of it from the beginning.

For years almost without number he has been re-elected captain of the Boston Bicycle club, the oldest cycling organization in the world, and makes his proud boast that his club not only started the sport in this country, but after being in active existence for thirty-three years, can today time out more riders than any other club in existence. On the annual Wheel About The Hub, the club's three days' repetition of the first over night bicycle run held in this country, in 1878, it has been found necessary to restrict the number of participants and have a waiting list as members attend it from all over the country, New York, Chicago, St. Louis and one from even California.

He is, also, or has been a member of the Century Road club, Franklin Field club, Town club, Milton Coon club, N. E. Pigeon association, French Bull Dog club, Boston Terrier club, N. E. kennel club, Mass. Fish and Game club and vice President of the Megantic club, the largest sportsman's club in the world, with a Preserve of 250 square miles in Maine and Canada.

Dr. Kendall was graduated from the Boston Dental college with the highest honors, is one of the few who have been made Fellows of that institution, is an instructor at Tufts college and a frolific writer on dental subjects.

It would be a natural supposition that one who has hunted moose in Canada, elk and antelope in Montana, mountain sheep in the Rockies, "rattlers" on the Mohave desert and the arid islands off the California coast, enjoyed a four hours' continuous fight with a 125 pound tuna on a 16 oz rod at Catalina, would be more apt to be seen at the ringside watching a fistic argument than leading a cotillion, but he has other than the strenuous fads as the First Prize silver medal of the Mass. Horticultural society for the best fruit garden in 1910 was awarded to Dr. W. G. Kendall of Atlantic and in the past ten years he has won more prizes than any other exhibitor on apples, pears, peaches, plums, gooseberries, currants, blackberries and grapes.

Although the veteran breeder of Bostons, continuous since 1877, his first exhibit was at the N. E. K. C. show in 1894, James Mortimer, judge since which he has helped as much as any one person to make Boston terrier history, among his more famous first prize winners being "Squanto," "His Nibs," "Puck," "Famous," "Fan Tan," "Beans," "Brindle-Keno," "Shawmut," "Democrat," "Manet," "Rags," "Mischief," "Criterion,' "Lady Squantum," "Squantum Punch," and "Squire Squantum."

Of the above mentioned dogs five were sold for $1,000 each, and one "Squanto" for $2,000 which still holds the record as the largest price that can be proven to have been paid for an American bred dog.

Dr. Kendall is also the pioneer fancier of French bulls in this section, as far back as '99 winning with "Diavolo," "Paulus," "Joli" and "Melba," dogs that he brought over from Paris, and later with Champion "Rico," the famous animal he bought from George N. Phelps for $1,000 and the first French bull to be made a champion in America.—Boston Terrier Record for May.

FILES A DEMURRER

Massachusetts Attorney General Seeks to Join Eddy Heirs

Boston, June 1.—Attorney General Swift of Massachusetts has taken action in the supreme court, in the case of Stephen A. Chase et al, vs. Adam H. Dickey et al, to bring the heirs-at-law of Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy into the litigation. To that end he has filed a demurrer.

The case is one of friendly litigation in which the directors of the Christian Science church seek to get the authority of the court to a conveyance from Mrs. Eddy's trustees of property in Commonwealth avenue and Newton. The attorney general at first waived his rights as a party to the suit, but later, by order of the full bench of the supreme court, he entered appearance.

His demurrer was filed for the purpose of joining the heirs so that when the case is finally settled there will be no one who can come in and reopen the litigation.

MURDER AND PEONAGE

Feehan Says It Was Practised During Pennsylvania Coal Strike

Washington, June 1.—Francis Feehan, president of the Pittsburg district of the Pennsylvania Mineworkers' union, bluntly charged before the house committee on rules that murder, violence and peonage had marked the progress of the strike in the Westmoreland coal fields of Pennsylvania. He asserted that twenty miners had been shot to death by deputy sheriffs and that foreign laborers had been held practically in slavery.

The rules committee heard Feehan in connection with a resolution directing an inquiry by congress into strike conditions in the Westmoreland fields.

After listening to the recital, the committee decided that court action should be exhausted before congress should conduct an inquiry into the situation.

HE "ADVISED" STEEL TRUST

Wickersham's Admission to a House Committee

CONNECTED WITH LAW FIRM

Henry Taft, Brother of President, Who Was One of His Partners, Appeared as Counsel For Sugar Trust and Turned His Fee Into Firm's Accounts—Happenings Before Witness Became Attorney General

Washington, June 1.—The admission that he had "advised the United States Steel corporation" on several occasions from 1905 to 1909, during his connection with the firm of Strong & Cadwalader, was made to the house committee on expenditures in the department of justice by Attorney General Wickersham.

Chairman Beall of the committee confined most of his questions to the sugar trust prosecutions and the sale of the friar lands by the government to the sugar trust. Wickersham said that Henry W. Taft, brother of the president, and a member of the law firm of Strong & Cadwalader, had appeared at one time as counsel for the American Sugar Refining company, and asserted that the fee Taft received had been turned into the account of the law firm, and that he had subsequently received his share, about $26,000. Henry W. Taft, he declared, had also appeared at one time as special attorney for the government in a prosecution instituted against one of the component parts of the tobacco trust, the so-called licorice trust.

After Wickersham left the law firm to become attorney general he said that John H. Hammond had become connected with Strong & Cadwalader, and subsequently represented the sugar trust in the purchase of the friar lands. Wickersham said, however, that at the time he rendered his famous opinion which permitted the sale of these friar lands to the trust he was not aware that Hammond represented Havemeyer, president of the sugar refining company.

Wickersham's statement that he had on several occasions represented the steel trust came as a result of a series of questions by Beall as to whether the firm of Strong & Cadwalader had ever appeared as counsel for any of the "monopolies."

"Has the firm ever had any connection with the steel trust?" asked Beall.

"I personally have advised the United States Steel corporation in one or two matters," Wickersham said.

"At what period?"

"Between 1905 and 1909, before I became attorney general. It was on three or four, or perhaps five different occasions."

"Did the firm ever represent the New York cotton exchange?"

"Yes. Henry W. Taft was counsel for the exchange. I think he still continues in that capacity."

Beall was particularly anxious to secure from the witness the reason why the department of justice and the treasury department accepted a $2,000,000 settlement from the sugar trust as restitution for the undervaluations at New York, rather than force the payment of the severe penalties provided by law.

Wickersham said that the department felt that it did not have sufficient evidence on which to support a claim for penalties, though he said it was his belief that the restitution was made because of the fear on the part of the American Sugar Refining company that the penalties would be held against them.

A book lately added to the Library is Arthur H. Clark's "Clipper Ship Era," which will no doubt be of interest to many people in Quincy, dealing as it does with famous clipper ships from 1843 to 1869.

A large bunch of flowers from the late George W. Morton's garden also one sent by Mrs. Thos. A. Addison, beautified the Thomas Crane Public Library on Memorial Day, the anniversary of the dedication of Crane Memorial Hall 29 years ago.

GELATINIZED GASOLINE.

Standard Oil's Invention Will Be Great Aid to Aviation.

Aeroplaning will enter into its great era, according to experts, when patents have been granted for gelatinized gasoline to be used as condensed fuel for the machines. This invention, it is understood, is before patent attorneys, and it is said it will be controlled by the Standard Oil company.

This gelatinized gasoline is pure gasoline, one gallon of which in its new form will be about the size of a stick of shaving soap. It can be used also by automobiles and all engines which depend on gasoline as a motive force.

It is said by patent attorneys that the new compound, if found to work satisfactorily under the given conditions of gasoline proper, will make gasoline one-half cheaper, because it lessens the cost of storage and transportation.

How to Keep Flies From a Horse.

For a good way to keep flies from a horse the following methods are recommended:

1. Take the horse into the yard and, having provided a pailful of water, a sponge and a piece of carbolic or whale oil soap, first wash the legs of the horse and then the whole body, leaving some soapsuds to dry upon the skin.

2. Moisten the hair, especially of the tail and nostrils, with a strong decoction of hazelnut leaves. By means of this decoction the eggs which the flies lay on the skin of the horse are also destroyed.

AMANDA'S TOOTHACHE

By M. QUAD

Copyright, 1911, by Associated Literary Press.

There was Farmer Jones, and there was his wife, and there was the daughter, Amanda. The latter had come to be twenty-two years old. She wasn't an angel or a sylph. She didn't have a high school education, and she couldn't sing and play. She was just a good hearted, affectionate country girl who could make the nicest kind of buckwheat cakes in winter and turn out the finest soft soap in the spring.

Amanda had a beau. She might have had half a dozen, but she discouraged all young men except Philo Brown, and Philo had been courting her for two years and had never approached the subject of matrimony. He was the hired man on the next farm, and he had a tidy sum saved up, and when he was with men he had no lack of gab. It was when in the presence of women, and more particularly in that of Amanda Jones, that words failed him. It was his bashfulness.

Some young woman would have brought that young man to time with in six months, but Amanda Jones was also a little bashful, and she was patient and kind. Farmer Jones had nothing to say, and all that Mrs. Jones had to relate was:

"Well, I hain't saying nothing except that an earthquake may come along some day and stir Philo up."

The earthquake came. It's name was Mary Skinner, sister to Mrs. Jones and a widow. She saw Philo and approved of him. She saw the situation and didn't approve of it at all. She watched and waited for a couple of weeks, and then one June morning she said:

"Amanda, come out into the orchard with me. I want to have a talk with you."

And under the white and pink apple blossoms they talked—that is, the aunt did most of the talking, and Amanda did all the blushing.

That evening when Philo "jest dropped in for a minute" he found Amanda suffering from the toothache. He wanted to swim across Lake Erie to show her how he sympathized with her, but Lake Erie was 400 miles away. The Widow Skinner was right on the spot, however, and she took Philo outdoors and said:

"I'm mightily concerned about Amanda and that toothache."

"But it's only toothache," he replied.

"Only! Only! Why, man, don't you know that she may have lockjaw or brain fever or get paralyzed all over?"

"But what can I do?" he anxiously asked.

"H'm! You come in tomorrow night and I'll tell you. I'm hoping she won't die, but I dunno—I dunno. I saw a star fall last night, and that's a sure sign of death in the family."

"I—I hope not," was the trembling reply, and Philo went home to toss about on his bed all night without a moment's sleep. The next day seemed a hundred hours long to him, and as soon as he had finished the milking he set out on the run for the house of Jones. It was Mrs. Skinner who met him and said:

"That toothache is worse tonight, Philo. I'm afraid it's striking into Amanda's system."

"You don't tell me!" he gasped.

"There's only one thing to be done—she must go to the dentist over at Charlotte tomorrow. She must be driven over in a buggy. She must be driven by somebody who is sympathetic. Her father hain't sympathetic, her mother is too nearsighted to drive, and I feel one of my old fashioned headaches coming on. Philo, you may have to go."

And Philo didn't go to bed at all that night. He just roamed around the farm and prayed for daylight to come. He was at the Jones farm as soon as he had finished breakfast, and the Widow Skinner was at the door to meet him and say:

"Go home and dress up and come back, and by that time the horse and buggy will be ready. You have got to drive Amanda over to Charlotte."

Philo was back in half an hour. Amanda and the rig were ready. Amanda had her good clothes on and a rag over her jaw.

"Look here, Philo," said the widow as he was ready to get into the buggy, "you must let Amanda rest her head on your shoulder, and you must drive with one hand and keep an arm around her. Talk to her and keep her from thinking of the pain. Her life is in your hands."

Philo was shaking like a leaf, but he rose to the occasion. To his amazement, the more he talked the higher he arose. He had hardly got through with the weather, the crops and Farmer Scott losing a cow when all of a sudden he found himself saying:

"Mandy, I'm going to drive straight to the preacher's first!"

Amanda pressed his arm.

"Yes, durn my buttons if I don't. Then as your husband I can punch the head of that dentist if he hurts you."

At the preacher's the rag came off. At the dentist's a small cavity was found in a tooth and filled. At the Jones farmhouse, when the newlyweds returned, the Widow Skinner met them at the gate and exclaimed:

"For the land's sake, but here's Amanda looking as chipper as a new tin pan, and Philo with a grin on him like a summer squash, and I'll just bet that something has went and gone and happened!"

WIDOW FOR LACK OF $3.

Couldn't Pay Fee to Have Him Restrained From Killing Himself.

Because Mrs. Joseph Bourdan of Montreal did not have the necessary $3 required as a fee for a warrant of arrest she is a widow.

Mrs. Bourdan went to the recorder's office and hysterically informed the officials in charge that her husband was making elaborate plans to commit suicide. She urged that he be arrested or in some way prevented from carrying out his design.

The court officers informed her that they would be glad to issue a warrant for the man's arrest if she would pay the usual three dollar fee. She lacked a few cents of the necessary amount, however, and the court clerks declined to make out the papers.

They offered, however, to send the man a letter demanding an explanation of his conduct. By the time the letter, imposingly tied in official tape, reached his home Bourdan had finished his scaffold, arranged his noose and hanged himself.

—Those that waging war on the flies—a most useful and important war—speak of the fly as the fly that "will not wipe his feet." It is a good rough phrase to attract attention, but unfortunately the fly does wipe his feet. He wipes his feet on the food that you eat, on the faces and on the lips of your sleeping children. He is a frequenter of offal; the female fly lays her eggs in the manure piles. The flies in millions settle on the refuse, the sewage that washes all along the beach along the water's edge in great cities.

VINCENZO BAGGAROZZA HELD FOR GRAND JURY

Was Charged With the Murder of Joseph Meir at Quincy May 21

Large Number of Witnesses Heard in District Court this Morning

A hearing was held before Judge Avery this morning in the case of Vincenzo Baggarozza who was charged with the murder of Joseph Meir at South Quincy Sunday evening May 21.

Assistant District Attorney F. W. Katzman represented the government and Jesse M. Gove the defendant. The witnesses sworn were Inspector Goodhue, Melvin Johnson, Alice C. Johnson, Dr. Sheahan, Dr. McLennan, Mary Guidici, Gabriel Gomez, Annie Canale, Attilio Mattenicci, Irene Mattencci, Antonio Cerro, Sergt. McGrath and Officers Goodman, Murphy and Vandepham of the Boston police.

Andrew Bezzone and Daniel Cubia two witnesses summoned failed to appear when their names were called and they were defaulted and a capias issued for them.

The first witness was Mrs. Alice E. Johnson mother of the girl over whom the trouble arose. She testified that she had known Meir five or six months and Baggarozza whom she called Jimmie a week. On the day of the murder he had been at the house in the morning, afternoon and evening. In the evening he was in the dining room with several others including her daughter Annie. They were talking and singing. The girls started out and Jim followed them.

Joe came in and was in the kitchen about fifteen minutes. Witness told Jim that he had better go and come the next night saying she was afraid he would be sorry. Jim replied, "I am not afraid of him." He then went toward the fence. Witness went to the door and the Le Clair girl came and said there had been trouble. Witness then went into the house.

Melvin Johnson, husband of the first witness arrived home the afternoon of the murder about 5 o'clock. Saw Jimmie at the house about 7.30 in the dining room. He sat down near him and said "Mr. Johnson I like you." Saw Joe in the kitchen just about dark. Joe went out and Jimmie went out a little later.

Came to the door and saw the two men fighting. They were striking back and forth. They stopped. Jim ran into street and Joe staggered toward the Serro house and fell down on the steps face down.

Witness went over and saw some one holding Joe up. Seemed to be blood on his shirt front and neck. Witnes then went home.

On cross examination witness said fight only lasted a minute. Witness said "do not strike him again" and the fight stopped. During the fight some one tried to get over into his yard but could not tell who he was. He made no effort to interfere. He supposed it a fist fight.

Dr. Roderick McLennon was called to Penn street a little after 8 o'clock on the night of the murder. Went to kitchen, found man in chair with head thrown back. Some blood on him and cuts on the breast. Made examination and found the man dead. Very little blood on clothing. Only there few minutes when the police came. Witness briefly described the wounds below nipple and near the heart. They were stab wounds. Three wounds in all.

BLOW STRUCK.

Annie Canale aged 14 years of 17 Rodman street testified that she was at the Johnson girl's house in the dining room. She saw both Jimmie and Joe at the house on the evening in question. After a time three of us girls went into the yard. Saw Jim and Joe together near the fence. She saw Joe get hold of Jimmie by the shoulder with one hand and saw Joe strike Jimmie on the jaw. He had hold with right hand and struck with left hand. Three or four minutes later saw Jimmie run across the sidewalk. In the meantime witness had run into Annie's kitchen.

THE WOUNDS

Dr. George W. Sheahan who was present at the autopsy described the wounds. There were four cuts, number one was on the neck, number two on the right side near the nipple. Number three was near the heart as was also number four. They were slits from one half to three fourth inches. Numbers three and four were probable cause of death, number three piercing the heart, daphragm and liver. These wounds caused hemorrhage. Should say it was a long narrow knife. Wound number three probably caused death. It might be instantaneous death and at outside fifteen or twenty minutes.

Dr. Sheahan described the cour of the wounds in detail.

Number four wound might cause death by development of peritonitis.

—Possibly the railway tie question is settled by the discovery that concrete is adapted to ties. Steel has not been found satisfactory, and as the supply of wood is getting shorter every year, the matter has assumed a serious aspect to railway men. If concrete will do, there is no trouble to be feared about the supply. The stuff is excellent for fence posts also and will last indefinitely. Concrete is evidently destined to do much for the solving of the building problem.

GARDNER—DAVIS.

The first and probably the most brilliant of the early June weddings took place in Milton, Thursday afternoon at 4.15 when James Edwin Gardner Jr., of Cambridge and Miss Susan Fellowes Davis of East Milton were united in marriage by Rev. James DeNormandie of Roxbury at the First Unitarian church, Milton. The bride was accompanied by her sister, Miss Pauline Lamber Davis and by a sister of the groom, Miss Mary Prince Gardner. Winthrop Davis of Milton, Richard Eustis and Henry Durant of Cambridge and Augustus P. Loring Jr., and John Marsh of New York city.

At the conclusion of the wedding ceremony, a reception was held at Carmarthen, the beautiful residence of the bride's parents in East Milton. Over 1000 invitations were out for the wedding and the church was filled with society people from all the neighboring towns and from Boston, Brookline and the Newtons. Miss Davis is one of the most popular members of the Vincent club of Boston and has a wide circle of friends in New York as well as in Boston. Mr. and Mrs. Gardner will reside in Duluth, Minn., at the conclusion of their wedding tour. Mr. Gardner is a prominent lawyer of that city.

—The problem of getting immigrants away from the cities and out into the country districts is a serious and perplexing problem, both in the light of welfare for the cities and for the newcomers themselves. There must be devised some method of shipping them "in bond," so to speak, only to be released on the western prairies or in rural districts, where good able bodied labor is most needed.—Spencer Leader.

MASS. FIELDS CHAMPIONS

They Win Final Game in Grammar School League

In one of the most exciting contest of the year, Massachusetts Fields school defeated Willard school at Merrymount park yesterday in the final game of the season, by a score of 3 to 2. The game was closely contested throughout and there was some exceptional playing on both sides. In the first inning, the Massachusetts Fields boys scored two runs on three singles and a two bagger, in the third inning, Burke got a single and Fowler a double but they were unable to score. There was no more hitting during the game. Morgan, the new pitcher for Massachusetts Fields, was wild at time allowing nine bases on ball but he did not allow a single hit during the 7 innings of the game. In the third inning, the Willard team got their runs owing to the wildness of the pitcher, who gave three bases and hit one man. During the rest of the game he was effective, getting nine strikeouts. In the third inning when the Willard team got its runs Morgan had three strike outs to his credit. O'Connor also pitched good ball getting five strikeouts, allowing six hits and not giving a base on balls. Bonafini, catcher on the Willard team played a strong game catching well behind the bat and fielding some difficult fouls. L. Fowler, catcher on the winning team was a tower of strength making perfect throws to second and supporting his pitcher in a very able fashion. Northrup, captain of the Massachusetts Fields team, put up a fine game at second taking the throws and getting his man with the ease of a veteran player. "Bill" Torrey made a pretty catch in right field which retired the Willard team in the fifth inning. Hawes of the Willards also caught a difficult fly in the sixth and received a good round of applause. Captain DiBona on second and Marini on third excelled in fielding for Willard also.

The game was of more than usual interest because a victory for the Willard team meant that the two contesting teams and the Cranch team would be tied for first place on the league. A year ago, the Wollaston school and Willard were tied for first place with Cranch, third, and the Willard team won. This year, the Adams team looked like a winner early in the season but after the drubbing by Willard, it collapsed and Massachusetts Fields was the favorite, although the Willard boys were confident that they could win. The team from Wollaston showed its supremacy at the bat in the game yesterday and proved its fitness to hold the cup.

The attendance at this game was

BERTEAUX MIGHT HAVE BEEN FRANCE'S PRESIDENT

Late War Minister Was Successful Business Man and Able Statesman.

Henri Maurice Berteaux, French minister of war, who was killed when an aeroplane dashed into a crowd of spectators at the Issy aviation field, embodied in successful combination the qualities of statesman and business man. Fondness for politics led him into public life when a young man, and he had taken a conspicuous part in all the great agitations in France in the last twenty years. At the same time he followed his business as broker at the bourse and did it so well that he accumulated a large fortune. His friends hoped to make him a candidate for president in 1913.

This was his second term in the war ministry, having been first appointed to the post when General Andre was forced out in 1904. Only three civilians had ever held that post before him, but early in his first administration he showed close acquaintance with the affairs of that department. When Premier Monis offered him the portfolio again in March the country applauded the choice.

Berteaux's activities in the chamber of deputies date from 1893. He attached himself to the Socialist group. Having a sonorous voice and pleasing delivery, he soon became a favorite in the debates. One of the measures that helped his popularity was a bill to decorate with the Legion of Honor cross five firemen who had made heroic rescues. When the bill passed he gave a great banquet for the men at his home in Chatou and hailed them as colleagues whom he was proud to welcome into that distinguished order. His speeches on the floor got him into several duels.

Although his methods in debate were those of a hard hitter, he always prepared his subject carefully and was recognized as one of the most scholarly and intelligent of his party. He stood among the first in the chamber on financial and military subjects. It was under his leadership that the term of military service was reduced from three years to two.

In the debates of last winter he received credit for having precipitated the fall of the Briand cabinet. Juares, the leader of the Socialist group, yielded first place to him in the agitation over the French railway strike, and it was Berteaux's interpellation that brought about the cabinet crisis.

M. Berteaux was born in 1852. At the age of eighteen he volunteered for the defense of Paris. Ever after his interest was alert in military affairs. He finally became captain of artillery in the territorial army, a home guard reserve. About twenty-five years ago his fellow citizens of Chatou elected him as their mayor. His administration of that place opened the way to him for the seat in the chamber from Versailles.

M. Berteaux's death is specially untimely for France, as he was directing with M. Gruppi the present delicate Morocco situation. He had an income of $100,000 a year.

WANTS UNIFORM MUZZLING LAWS

Government Expert Would Put an End to Rabies.

DISEASE IS NOT IMAGINARY.

Figures Show Efficacy of Pasteur Treatment—Some Cases Not Genuine—Clerk Almost Scared Himself to Death, but Dog Wasn't Mad.

An indication of the efficacy of the Pasteur treatment in the prevention of rabies is given in a bulletin on the subject by Dr. John R. Mohler, just issued by the department of agriculture at Washington. Speaking of the work of the Pasteur institute under state supervision in Atlanta, Ga., Dr. Mohler says that since its establishment in 1900 there have been 670 cases treated. Of those treated there were only two that died. During the same period there were 120 people bitten who took no subsequent treatment and of these twenty-nine died. It is hard, of course, to get the negative statistics in the case of people bitten and not taking the treatment, but the comparative figures are among the few available and are interesting.

The bulletin of Dr. Mohler deals with the history of the disease, the symptoms and treatment, and advocates a general dog muzzling law, which, he says, would largely reduce the fatalities from the disease if not wipe it out altogether.

Not Imaginary Ailment.

There are two cases cited in the report which the author says tend to indicate that the disease is not an imaginary ailment, though there can be cases in which the patient can work up a fine case of pseudo-rabies on imagination alone.

One of these was the case of a colored woman. She was twenty-eight years old and had been badly bitten by a collie dog, but the wounds afterward healed. Eighteen days afterward she developed symptoms of the disease. She did not know that the dog that bit her had died of rabies, and even after she was seriously ill at the hospital she did not connect the fact of having been bitten with her sickness. She grew rapidly worse with all the symptoms of the disease and died twenty-one days after the bites were inflicted. A postmortem showed that it undoubtedly was a case of rabies.

Symptoms Not Convincing.

On the other hand, a clerk in a dry goods store was bitten by a watchdog in the store on a Saturday. The wound was slight and was immediately cauterized. On the following Wednesday the clerk fainted at the counter and was sent to his home, while the dog was kept under observation.

Within two days the young man developed a case of rabies that was not only too soon after the bite, but was too conventional to be convincing to the physicians. He would roll himself in the bedclothes, bark like a dog and bite the pillow, shaking it like a rat.

At first it was impossible to attract his attention, though he would mumble and talk to himself. Finally when he was told that the dog that bit him was not mad, but was enjoying its usual health and appetite and that he had developed the symptoms entirely too soon, he commenced to realize that he had been making himself a victim of autosuggestion, and rapid recovery followed.

Nearly Scared to Death.

It developed that he had been reading up on rabies after he was bitten and nearly scared himself to death.

Dr. Mohler is strongly in favor of a general muzing of dogs and says that, while a federal muzzling order is impracticable, if all states would act in the matter the disease could be stamped out.

MAY GET FORTUNE FOR $750.

If Braman Dies Without Heirs Gallagher Will Get $50,000.

Robert Gallagher, a Boston attorney, has an opportunity to get $50,000 for the paltry sum of $750. The $50,000 is in the form of a trust fund left to Hammond Braman, clubman, by his father. Braman has become enmeshed in the bankruptcy courts. His creditors endeavored to get control of the trust fund, but this the court held was immune until its termination at the death of Braman; hence an auction at which the fund was sold for $750 to Gallagher. The creditors will receive the $750.

When Braman dies and in the event that he leaves no heir Gallagher gets the $50,000. Mr. Braman is thirty-five and Mr. Gallagher nearly sixty. The latter feels sure, though, that he will live to get the money.

Braman, who has been a Harvard student, banker and broker, is a well known figure about Boston. He was driven into bankruptcy after he had spent several uncomfortable days in jail, where he was sent for his failure to pay a judgment of $8,500 awarded to Benjamin Banks of Cambridge, who had been run down by his automobile. Braman has been twice married. He was divorced from his first wife in 1907. Later he figured in a sudden marriage with Miss Rose O'Neil, who was playing in a musical show.

OSTERHAUS IN COMMAND

Great Roaring of Guns as He Officially Succeeds Schroeder

Newport, R. I., June 2.—Guns aboard the warships in the harbor roared forth a salute of welcome as Rear Admiral Osterhaus officially took command of the Atlantic fleet. The guns had just finished belching a farewell to Rear Admiral Schroeder, who, after a short leave of absence, joins the naval general board.

The exercises incidental to the taking over of the command took place on the decks of the big flagship Connecticut. Schroeder read his order of detachment from the fleet to those assembled. As he finished reading his flag was slowly lowered from the flagship's masthead. Then thirteen guns boomed from the Connecticut's sides and the other vessels in the harbor responded, each with thirteen guns.

As Osterhaus read his order of assignment his flag was unfurled and shot to the masthead. Thirteen more guns were fired. And again the harbor shook with the thirteen from the other ships in response.

HUNDRED AND FIFTY DEAD

Cause of Explosion In Nicaraguan Fortress Not Known

San Juan Del Sur, Niva., June 2.—The fortress on Tiscapa hill, Managua, was blown up. One hundred and fifty soldiers perished in the explosion. All the ammunition in the fortress was destroyed. The cause of the explosion is as yet unknown. Strict cable censorship has been established from Managua.

Last February, as the result of a plot against Estrada, who was then president, the ammunition barracks not far from the palace were blown up. Several sentinels were killed and thousands of rifles and much ammunition were destroyed. A state of siege was declared and after an investigation many opponents of the Estrada government were arrested. Eventually, on account of the distrubed state of conditions and difficulties which arose between him and General Mena, Estrada resigned the presidency.

REBELLIOUS ARABS TAKE 3000 TURKS

Capitol of Assyr Province Has Fallen Into Their Hands

Hodeida, Arabia, June 2.—The rebellious Arabs in Assyr have captured Ibha, the capital, and have made prisoners the 3000 Turkish troops composing the garrison. Three batteries of artillery and a number of large guns also have fallen into the hands of the rebels.

A relief force under the grand shereef of Mecca, marching to relieve the garrison, has been routed. Izzet Pacha, who succeeded in suppressing the revolt in Yemen, is preparing a strong expedition against the Assyr tribesmen.

Assyr is a vilayet of Arabia, lying along the western coast, south of the city of Mecca, and north of Yemen, scene of the Turks' many efforts to pacify rebellious tribesmen.

TEACHERS BEAT FOSS VETO

Massachusetts Solons Reconsider Their Action of Last Week

Boston, June 2.—The Boston teachers' salary bill went through the house over the veto of Governor Foss yesterday afternoon by a vote of 167 to 47 after the teachers had put up one of the most effective fights seen on Beacon hill this year.

There were teachers everywhere yesterday. They were on the first floor, the second floor, the third floor and the fourth floor. They sat in the galleries. They talked with members inside and outside the state house.

They bent the legislature to their will. They made up the most skilful of lobbies and they had their way. The vote last week was 139 for the bill and 71 against the governor.

TAFT ONCE A CUB REPORTER

Reminded of the Fact by a Country Editor In Michigan

Detroit, June 2.—President Taft has been invited to visit Ubly, Mich., by John Lusk, proprietor of the Ubly Courier.

Mr. Lusk, in writing the president, pointed out that when Mr. Taft was a "cub reporter" on the Cincinnati Gazette at $12 a week, Lusk was getting $25 on the same newspaper. Lusk wasn't an editor then. He was "on the case." In the last issue of his paper Lusk says:

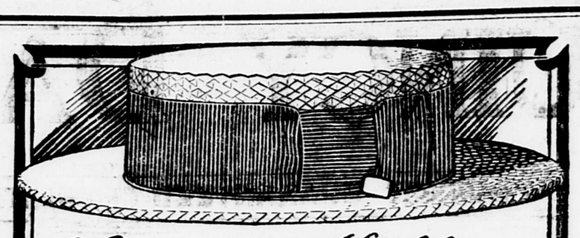

"After all, we don't know whether Mr. Taft has much on us, if it wasn't for the rheumatism."

$50,000 FOR BRIDE.

How "Apple King" Won a Niece o Nelson Morris.

"I'd like to marry you," was the third sentence ever addressed to her by Henry O. Spruck, the "Oregon apple king," declared Mrs. Frances Rosenblatt, niece of Nelson Morris, the late packer of Chicago, in confirming the report that she was to marry Mr. Spruck, whose wife died recently. "He made my brother introduce us. He began making love right away. When I refused him again and again he still asked me to marry him. Finally I began to love him for his persistency. Then one day he said, 'I'll give you $50,000 if you'll marry me.'

"'Before the wedding?' I asked as a joke. 'Yes,' he replied, and I took him up. Well, we'll be married in June."

"I couldn't help it," said Mr. Spruck in telling his side. "I fell in love with her when I first saw her, and I had to have her. Did I mean it when I offered her the $50,000? Well, I should say I did."

HYMN.

Sam Walter Foss.

A creedless love, that knows no clan,
No caste, no cult, no church but Man,
That deems today, and now, and here
Are voice and vision of the seer;
That through this lifted human clod
The inflow of the breath of God
Still sheds its apostolic powers,—
Such love, such trust, such faith be ours.

We deem man climbs an endless slope
Toward far seen tablelands of hope;
That he, through filth and shame of sin,
Still seeks the God that speaks within
That all the years since time began
Work the eternal Rise of Man;
And all the days that time shall see
Tend toward the Eden yet to be.

Too long our music-hungering needs
Have heard the iron clash of creeds.
The creedless love that knows no clan,
No caste, no cult, no church but Man,
Shall drown in mellow music all
The dying jangle of their bralw;
Such love with all its quickening powers,—
Such love to God and man be ours.

SPANISH JESUITS COMING TO AMERICA.

Expelled From Land of Their Origin, Will Take Home In Maryland.

The Jesuits, that famous order of Catholic priests, are making preparations to leave Spain in anticipation of action by the government of that country which will mean their banishment from the land of their origin, just as they have been banished from Germany, Mexico and Portugal. Two distinguished members of the Spanish province of Castile are now in this country and recently made a thorough investigation of the Jesuit house of studies at Woodstock, Md., with a view of using the buildings as the headquarters of that province when the removal becomes necessary.

These priests are Rev. Father Bianchi, the provincial, and his secretary, Father Gomez. It is known that they were heartily pleased with the buildings and healthy situation of the college at Woodstock and have made up their minds that when the government of King Alfonso, who, by the way, was educated by a Jesuit tutor, finds it necessary to expel the order from the land in which it originated refuge will be sought in this country and the work of the province will be carried on from here.

Expelling the Jesuits from a country is one thing, getting rid of them another, as the governments of Germany and Mexico have learned after many years. Statistics show that there are just as many Jesuits in Germany as ever, and in Mexico Diaz has so much relented from his original edict of expulsion that he now countenances them openly. His change of front toward the order has been due to the influence of his wife, who is an ardent Catholic and friend of the Jesuits. The result has been that when Diaz as a matter of form decided to raid any particular house of the Jesuits in Mexico private word was sent to them in time for them to substitute lay teachers, and these were retained until after the investigation was completed.

The same methods will be maintained as far as Spain is concerned. The young men of the country who desire to join the order will be brought to the United States, trained at Woodstock college and then returned to Spain.

MILLIONAIRE HAS QUIT TRAMPING

Edwin A. Brown Now Knows How the Other Half Lives.

SUFFERED WITH THE POOREST

Rich Cousin of President of the New York Central Slept In Barns and Jails to Help the Homeless—Learned What to Do For Them.

Edwin A. Brown, "the millionaire tramp," cousin of W. C. Brown, president of the New York Central, announces that he will never wear overalls again. He is through seeing as a part of the show the seamy side of life, he says, and from now on, with the rich experience he has had in learning how the other half lives, he intends to carry on his work of providing municipal lodging houses by other means than "living the dog's life" himself.

Mr. Brown is a resident of Denver, where he is one of the city's largest real estate holders. With no thirst for greater wealth than he has, he has for years been trying to learn by actual experience the sufferings of men who are honest and willing to work and of others who are shiftless and almost worthless as a result possibly, he thinks, of the government's neglect.

Mr. Brown is known all over this country. His efforts as a "friend to the friendless" have been praised by President Taft, and one of the Denver man's treasured possessions is a letter from the president inquiring about his experiences in helping the homeless men of large cities.

His First Job as a Super.

Mr. Brown said:

"I started in as a tramp or homeless laborer in Cleveland last fall. I sought work everywhere, but was unable to find any until, seeing an advertisement in a paper for 'supers' in a show about to be put on, I applied at the theater. The advertisement called for fifty men. Several hundred applied, and I was among those accepted.

"All the supers were to be millionaire senators in the play, and I had been in the theater only a short time when I found that hardly one of the millionaire senators had enough money to buy a bed for the night."

Pay Was 50 Cents a Night.

"The next millionaire senator to me in the theater was an old man. We were to be paid about 50 cents a performance, payable at the end of the week. When the first performance was over I asked the stage manager if he could advance me enough of the wages to buy a bed, as I was penniless. The old man asked him the same thing, but the stage manager said it was impossible.

"'Where will we sleep tonight?' I asked the old millionaire senator.

"'Well,' he said, 'the Associated Charities has a woodshed where we could get a bed and breakfast for two hours of splitting curly birch, but it is 11 o'clock now and the place is closed for the night. We will have to go to the Highball saloon and sleep on the floor. That's the only place I know of.'

Slept on Saloon Floor.

"We went to this place under the hillside, and at the old man's suggestion we collected old newspapers from the trash cans as we went along the streets to cover ourselves up with as well as to lie upon. At the saloon we were admitted at midnight and were ousted at 5 o'clock the next morning. We were unable to sleep for about two hours after lying down because of loud conversation by those at the bar, and when the late drinkers had gone a small Irishman and a big Dutchman had a rough and tumble fight, and then there was a man on the verge of delirium tremens who 'saw things' all night. You can see we didn't get much sleep.

"'Where shall we wash up and get breakfast?' I asked the old 'senator' after we had been put out.

"'Oh,' he said, 'we can get a cold washup in the city lavatory.' He led the way, and we were soon in a nice, clean place, where they gave us a fresh, clean towel and soap and didn't ask pay for it.

"After the washup the old 'senator' suggested that we try the Charities' woodyard, and though we had had a supperless and sleepless night we were told that if we split curly birch for an hour we could have breakfast. There was no help for it, and, weak as we were, we had to do it. After more than an hour at work we were called to a breakfast of something like oatmeal soup and a piece of hard bread and a black fluid which was miscalled coffee. There was almost no nourishment in it.

"For the next night the old man, unable to sleep in the saloon again, found a barn and told me about it. We slept there, and I came near freezing to death."

In Various Cities.

Mr. Brown found conditions even worse in Cincinnati, while Louisville, Memphis, Mobile, Houston and Dallas, the last city he visited, and most of the other southern cities are equally without facilities for sheltering the penniless stranger no matter how worthy.

It is Mr. Brown's purpose to sail for Europe to learn how Germany has provided for the homeless, but he'll do no tramping there.

MILTON

Miss Hilda Cunningham, Miss Annie Alslop and Miss Ethel Cabot of East Milton sail for England Saturday afternoon to attend the coronation. They will take a tour through Europe before their return in September.

Both Cunningham gym. teams were victorious on the holiday. In the morning the second team defeated the Hillsides of Mattapan by a score of 9 to 2 and in the afternoon the first team won from the Page class of Dorchester by a score of 7 to 2.

J. Ernest Quimby, formerly of East Milton has gone to New York to accept a position with the Thomas Car Automobile Co.

Mrs. James J. Reed has purchased the house at 100 Otis street which she is occupying at the present time.

Walter B. Murray, formerly of Squantum street, East Milton, and now of Hyde Park, is soon to start in the wholesale granite business with offices on Broadway, New York City.

Edward Cunningham sailed for Holland on Thursday to spend the summer there and in neighboring countries.

Mrs. W. S. Esau has moved from Bryant avenue to Grafton avenue.

John T. McDonald formerly of 353 Pleasant street, East Milton has purchased the house at 57 Granite place for occupancy.

Mrs. Edward B. Wheeler has moved from Dorchester to East Milton for the summer.

Emil Kester has moved from 100 Otis street to Bryant avenue.

The final game in the interclass baseball championship for the girls of Milton high school was won Thursday by the Seniors, 12 to 8. Miss Helen Considine, pitcher of the winning team struck out 18 of the opposing batsmen and allowed them but one hit. The Freshmen played a good game but were not quite good enough to defeat the older girls. Miss Considine and her sister were the battery and in addition to splendid work in the field led their team in batting each getting two hits. One of the hits made by Miss Gertrude Considine was a three bagger. For the freshmen, Miss Peterson was the only one who could solve Miss Considine's delivery. Miss Cross at first base and Miss Gear behind the bat played a fiine fielding game, Miss Hunt the pitcher struck out five and fielded her position well. Miss Peterson who got the only hit showed up well in the field also. Miss Billings shortstop for the freshmen played a errorles game accepting two chances. The Seniors got eight hits of Miss Hunt's delivery and played a good fielding game being credited with but two errors.

CORONATION MUSIC.

England's Greatest Conductors Will Lead During the Occasion.

Music for the coronation is now engaging the attention of some of the greatest musicians and band leaders of England. New marches by native composers will be played during the procession and the recession. His majesty's private band will form the nucleus of the orchestra under the direction of Sir Walter Parratt as master of the king's music, and Dr. Alcock will be at the organ. Sir Frederick Bridge will be the director in chief and will share with his colleague of St. George's the task of conducting the rehearsals. Sir Frederick Bridge has already completed his homage anthem and has woven in the battlecry of the Lutheran reformation, "Safe Stronghold." It is looked upon as an open secret that a knighthood is destined for Dr. Alcock on this occasion, and there will be other honors for the musical knights who are offering the ripe fruit of their musical gifts to enhance the beauty and majesty of the coronation solemnity.

In preserving a formal record of the coronation pageant the camera will play an important part and will be used to the fullest extent.

The cost of this chronicle will be comparatively small compared to the price of the volume which was prepared for the same at the crowning of George IV. Each copy of that lavish tome cost 50 guineas, and the writer of it had to seek the aid of the government, which voted him $25,000 toward his losses, and even then he was at a personal loss. At the forthcoming coronation there will be no inexcusable extravagance, yet there is more and more reason to believe that the forthcoming pageantry will be the most enjoyable in English history.

FASTS FOURTEEN DAYS.

New Jersey Man Lost Twenty-two Pounds During That Time.

J. G. Warner of Asbury Park, N. J., has completed a fast of fourteen days, which he began with a view to reducing his weight. During the fasting period Mr. Warner got rid of twenty-two pounds of surplus flesh, and he feels greatly benefited. He insists that at no time during the two weeks was he really hungry.

At first weak and languid, he became in the latter days strong and energetic. During the fast he drank unfermented grape juice three times daily.

By F. A. MITCHEL

Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

In New England are two colleges in close proximity. In one young men are educated, in the other young girls.

One day Edwin Langdon, a senior in the man's college, was strolling on a road not far from the women's institution when he saw a black spot above him. He watched it sink gradually till it appeared as a paper balloon rocking in the air and fell not a hundred yards from him. Going to where it lay, he took it up and noticed that to the cross wires holding a sponge that had been saturated with alcohol hung a piece of pasteboard on which was written in a feminine hand:

I contain a secret.

"Yes," said Langdon to himself, "and judging by your handwriting the secret is not to be kept. Some undergraduate of the women's college has sent you off for the purpose of telling her secret."

The student carefully examined the balloon in every part, but the secret was not found. Thinking it might lie under the pasted seams, he took it to his room and moistened and opened them. He was not rewarded for his pains.

"I have it," he exclaimed suddenly. "Some girl has written the secret with a fluid that requires a chemical agent to bring it out. I'll take it to the laboratory and apply tests." He did so and succeeded. By soaking the paper successively in several different acids he at last found one that brought out letters containing a message.

You are warm, but you haven't got me yet. If you do a kiss—

The writing stopped abruptly.

"Oho!" said Langdon inwardly. "So I'm warm, am I? That means that I'm on the right track. And a kiss is to be my reward if I get your secret. Only you didn't like to call kissing you a reward. Any man who wouldn't under such circumstances exercise all his wits to reach the goal is no man at all."

Ned Langdon tried all the chemical agents he could think of to bring out another message, but they failed. He puzzled over the matter for a week, then temporarily gave it up—that is, as to investigation. He continued to think about it pretty much all the time.

One evening he was holding the balloon close to a gas jet examining the paper with a magnifying glass, turning successively different parts to the jet, when on the paper, very near the flame, out came brown letters. They were too faint to be read, but Langdon knew he had got the secret—that is, if there was no more of the problem to be solved. Heat was the element required to bring out the writing. Holding the paper very close to the burning gas, a message in deep brown letters appeared:

"Well, upon my word!" exclaimed Ned. "That's a round about way of making the acquaintance of a stranger. And to think that I didn't get on to the heat explanation. That message was probably written in common lemon juice. But the 'junior prom.' comes off next week. In four days more I would have been too late."

That ended Langdon's studies till the "junior prom." had taken place. He had no thought but for the girl who had sent the paper balloon. So she would be known at the function by violets on her left shoulder!

And what must have been the feelings of that girl as the evening in question approached? There were few chances of the balloon falling into the hands of one she would care to meet. And if it did, would he have the ingenuity to extract the secret?

"I'll bother that girl," mused Langdon, "by pretending not to recognize the token."

He entered the hall late purposely and stood in the background till he saw a girl pass with a bunch of violets on her shoulder. She was as pretty as a peach. He was enraptured.

Langdon showed himself in the company of different girls for half an hour, then secured an introduction to the girl of the secret, pretending not to notice her violets. He made himself agreeable, however—indeed, paid her marked attention. After having been with her for some time he gallantly asked for a souvenir, looking wistfully at the violets. The girl did not take the hint.

There was a gallery at one end of the hall, used during religious services for the choir. Langdon invited the girl to go up there with him. She accepted, and they sat back where they would not be seen. Beneath them was that mingling of voices common at social gatherings resembling the running of waters.

Suddenly every voice stopped at the sound of a muffled shriek. Fortunately sound has no direction for the ear.

"Some girl has been kissed," remarked numerous undergraduates. The professors looked shocked.

The hero and heroine of this story have long been married, and their sons and daughters are now fitting for college. The mother dreads to send her daughters where she cannot overlook them. When she talks this way her husband replies:

"Will you kindly tell me, my dear, what avail it is to watch a girl? They say that 'love laughs at locksmiths,' but I once knew a girl who got a husband by sending up a paper balloon with a secret in it so concealed that"—

"Oh, heavens! Shall I never hear the last of that freak?"

HOW TO CLEAN OILCLOTH.

Six Hints For Cleaning and Preserving Oilcloths and Linoleums.

Always take milk and water to clean an oilcloth. Never use soapsuds, as this dulls the colors. Rub over with a mixture of one-half beeswax, melted, and while warm stirred into a saucer of turpentine. Apply with a dry flannel cloth and polish with a dry flannel. Or wash as above and oil with sweet oil or butter. Polish.

It is a good plan to scrub a floor which is covered with linoleum once a month with a brush dipped in paraffin and hot water—about two tablespoons of the paraffin to a small pail of water. This removes stains and marks and prepares the linoleum for a polish of beeswax and turpentine. Do not scrub more often, but wash weekly with a flannel. Never use soda or strong soaps for oilcloths or linos, as it takes the color out and effaces the pattern.

Very little water should be used in washing oilcloth, as some of it will seep through to the cloth beneath and rot it. Use a flannel cloth well wrung out and wipe the floor until clean. Salsoda will aid greatly. Wipe the white spots caused by spilling any hot liquid on the oilcloth with a few drops of spirits of camphor.

To keep cork linoleum in good condition wipe it off daily with a cloth wrung out in tepid water and once a week with skimmilk.

Never scrub oilcloths with a brush and never use soap in cleaning them. Those which have lain in stock for several years are the best to buy, as the paint is thoroughly hardened. Wash with a soft rag dipped in milk and water.

Buttermilk is the best possible thing to clean linoleum and oilcloth.

TOO MANY BOOKS.

As some gormands abuse their stomachs with too much eating, so some gormands for mental food abuse their brains with too much reading. They stuff their minds with piles of indigestible literary food. They read and read and read until their brains absolutely refuse to do any independent thinking. Their brains become like a great sponge filled with water, sodden and heavy and inactive. I protest against the lightning rapidity with which men and women gallop through their books. Master those books. Read them over and over again and make them integral parts of yourselves.—Rev. HEALTH HINT FOR TODAY.

Superiority of Light Diet.

The superiority of the monodiet, with slight variation, has been demonstrated, and those who advocate indiscriminate variety must give some reason. A friend commented on the greatly improved appearance of a Chicago business man, aged fifty-six. "What do you think I'm eating?" he replied. "Cornmeal mush and milk morning and evening. And, eating only one thing at a time, I am not so apt to overeat." Under perfectly natural conditions appetite would be a safe guide, but our living is now extremely complex and in nothing more than eating. If it is true that excessive variety is the chief physical cause of cancer we need to consider our eating habits.

Want Pink Cheeks - Red Lips?

Some unfortunate men and women are prone to wonder why some of their friends are blessed with an abundance of color—pink cheeks and red lips—while theirs are always colorless. The reason for this last named condition is—there is not enough red blood corpuscles in the blood—under a microscope the blood is thin and watery. The flesh is flabby too. Well known physicians assert that the regular administration for several months, of three-grain hypo-nuclane tablets will greatly improve the color, add to the weight make the cheeks pink and the lips red, and in general be very beneficial. For self-administration, obtain from any of the best apothecary shops.

CONTROLS ITS SUBSIDIARIES

Their Management and Conduct Subject to Approval of Parent Corporation Which Has Absorbed Them—Chairman of Investigators Has Information of Endeavor to Perfect World-Wide Control of Prices

Washington, June 2.—Chairman Stanley of the house steel investigating committee announced that he had introduced his resolution of inquiry because he had received information that Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the board of directors of the United States Steel corporation, was endeavoring to perfect a world-wide control of prices.

This statement, uttered with the utmost frankness, was made at the conclusion of a hearing during which Gary was on the witness stand. As the hearing drew to a close the chairman directed his questions toward the American Iron and Steel Institute, of which Gary is president, and the membership of which consists of iron and steel manufacturers throughout the United States.

After Gary had declared that it was not the purpose of the institute to raise the price of steel products in the United States, Stanley said he had been furnished with contradictory information on that point.

Gary's testimony was confined almost entirely to a brief history of many of the companies which became subsidiaries of the United States Steel corporation. Several of these, including the Union Steel company and the Tennessee Coal and Iron company, the witness admitted to be independent corporations before their absorption by the steel corporation. The investigating committee only scratched the surface and it is possible that Gary's examination will be a protracted affair.

Chairman Stanley asked Gary if the American Bridge company, now a subsidiary of the steel corporation, was a competitor of other subsidiary companies of the corporation before the United States Steel corporation was organized. Gary said it was not. Stanley asked the same question regarding the American Sheet and Tin Plate company, and received the same answer. Gary said he had prepared a statement for the committee showing what competition, if any, existed between the companies which were merged into the steel corporation. The same answer was made as to the American Steel and Wire company.

Gary said that prior to the organization of the steel corporation the Carnegie Steel company was a competitor of companies with which it was consolidated in the steel corporation. He said that while the subsidiary companies selected their own officers, a suggestion from the parent company would be recognized. He said that in a general way he was the man who determined who should become directors of the various subsidiary companies.

"There is not any doubt," said Gary, "that the steel corporation controls the conduct of the subsidiary companies."

In cases where two companies manufacture the same product the sale prices were equal, Gary said, all things being equal.

Asked if the Carnegie Steel company now competes with other subsidiary companies in the steel corporation, Gary said: "I should say it does, putting my interpretation on the word. The subsidiary companies have their own directors and officers and have the right to act independently, but as the steel corporation owns the securities, if the conduct of a subsidiary company was antagonistic in any way it would only be a question of time when the administration of that subsidiary company would be changed."

NEW LAW IN EFFECT

Nashua No Longer Gretna Green For New England Couples

Nashua, N. H., June 1.—The Granite State is no longer a Gretna Green for New England couples bent on secret marriages, for the law passed by the legislature, which demands a five days' notice before the issuance of a marriage license, went into effect yesterday.

There have been an unusual number of sudden nuptials performed here during the past year since Rhode Island ceased to be a haven for those wanting to get married in a hurry.

CONCESSIONS AVERT STRIKE

Many Workmen In Boston Are Granted Increase In Wages

Boston, June 2.—Concessions on the part of employers in the building trades averted the general strike that was threatened by three unions unless their demands were granted yesterday. The unions and their demands are as follows:

Building Laborers, who asked 35 cents an hour on all construction work; Cement and Asphalt Workers, who demanded 60 cents an hour for mechanics and 45 cents an hour for helpers; Hoisting and Portable Engineers, who demanded $25 a week and a half holiday on Saturday.

The men of the engineers' union got their demands without difficulty. Fourteen of the twenty-one firms of employers agreed to the increase to the cement workers, and many of the employers conceded the demands of the building laborers.

MEDICINE GIVEN BY "SISTER NIVEDITA"

Counsel In Bull Will Case Asks Questions About It

Alfred, Me., June 2.—A great part Thursday's session in the hearing of the contest over the will of Mrs. Ole Bull concerned Miss Margaret E. Noble, known as Sister Nividita, and her relations with Mrs. Bull.

Counsel Whipple for Mrs. Vaughan, Mrs. Bull's daughter and the contestant of the will, brought up the question of certain medicine given Mrs. Bull by Miss Noble. The medicine came from India, and Whipple charged that Mrs. Bull did not improve in health while taking it, and, in fact, grew worse.

He further declared that Miss Noble gave this medicine to Mrs. Bull after the regular physician in attendance had forbidden its use.

In the Indian order to which she belongs, Miss Noble bears the title "Sister Nivedita" and by this name she is perhaps better known. Under the will she was left $30,000. She is now in India, where she went shortly after Mrs. Bull's death.

NYE REFUSES TO TESTIFY

Prosecutor Says Bribery Defendant's Attitude Is a Bluff

Columbus, O., June 2.—On the eve of submitting his case to the jury, Representative Nye, on trial on the charge of soliciting a bribe, failed to take the witness stand, as was the first intention of his attorneys. When the testimony closed Attorney Belcher for the defense said, addressing the court:

"We are perfectly satisfied with our case, and if the other side agrees, we are willing to let the case go to the jury without argument."

"The state has made a case," said Attorney General Logan. "The offer of the defense to submit the case without argument is only a bluff."

Drexel to Have Hundred Horsepower Engine In His Monoplane

London, June 2.—J. A. Drexel, the Philadelphia aviator, is making preparations to go after the altitude record of Legagneaux, the Frenchman. In order to do this Drexel will have to exceed 11,00 feet.

He is having sent to London a 100-horsepower Gnome engine to install in his monoplane. The flight may take place at Hendon or in the United States, probably at Brooklyn.

FIGHTS AMENDMENTS TO RECIPROCITY BILL

Taft Trying to Keep Friends of the Measure In Line

Washington, June 2.—The crisis in the fight in the senate on Canadian reciprocity is expected when the Democratic farmers' free list bill is offered as an amendment to the bill carrying the agreement into effect. That such an amendment will be offered seems certain.

It is toward this critical contingency that President Taft just now is devoting his attention. He is holding daily conferences at the White House in an effort to keep Republican and Democratic senators alike in line for the pact.

President Taft is certain that the reciprocity bill will pass the senate if it can be brought to a final vote without amendment. He feels that the test for the true friends of reciprocity will come with the proposed amendments to be offered from the floor.

New York, June 2.—Lady Gertrude Davis has entered on the second stage of a 7000-mile trip from Montenegro to the bedside of her son, John C. Davis, a gunnery lieutenant on the British gunboat Kent at Ancon. Young Davis is ill of enteric fever at the Ancon hospital.

Lady Davis reached New York yesterday afternoon on the Majestic from London, and hurried to the United Fruit company's line pier in time to board the Admirante for her destination.

She received word by cable two weeks ago of her son's illness and has been on the journey to him ever since.

Washington, June 2.—Criminal prosecution of the officers of the Standard Oil company, the American Tobacco company and their constituent companies is proposed in a concurrent resolution introduced by Senator Pomerene of Ohio.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

SAID TO HAVE A BAD RECORD

Scheib Is Arrested on a Formal Charge of Murder

IS IDENTIFIED AS SHERMAN

Father of Supposed Victim of Bathtub Crime In New York Had No Word From, His Daughter Since Last November—Aunt of Duped Woman Believes That Murder Followed Discovery of Man's Real Character

Springfield, Mass., June 2.—The net of circumstantial evidence connecting Henry A. Scheib with the death of the woman whose body was found Monday in the bathtub of his apartment at 511 East Seventy-Eighth street, New York, was strengthened by the discovery that the New York chauffeur has a criminal record under many aliases. Last night he was arrested in New York for the third time, this time on the formal charge of murder.

The investigations of a reporter have revealed that he is wanted under different names for a dozen crimes, from alleged forgery and embezzlement to larceny and burglary, and his record begins about the time of his marriage on July 8, 1906, to Elizabeth L. O'Grady, the daughter of Connor C. O'Grady of 37 Thomas street, Springfield.

In the firm belief that the victim of the bathtub mystery is his daughter, and that the man held by the New York police is the Jack-of-all-trades he knew as Hugh A. Sherman, Mr. O'Grady left Springfield yesterday afternoon for New York to make the identification complete.

Later word came that he identified Scheib as Sherman as soon as he saw him.

He has had no letter from his daughter since November, 1910, and her last address in New York, as he knew it, was 148 West Thirty-Seventh street. A possible motive for the murder of Mrs. Scheib, or Mrs. Sherman, as she is known in Springfield, is suggested by the letters received by her aunt, Miss Marietta B. O'Grady of Chicopee, a teacher in the public school.

From the time that she fled from the city with her husband, their fare to New York paid with money claimed to have been stolen from Mrs. Rose Benson of this city, her letters breathe of love and confidence in the man to whom she was married at the age of 17 years.

"Lillie believed that her husband was an honest man being persecuted by enemies if her letters speak the truth," said Miss O'Grady. "His constant changing of names and dodging from place to place must have at last opened her eyes to his real character."

The money taken here from the daughter of the man who had gone on his bail bond to save him from going to jail for passing a bad check was taken in such a way it might easily have seemed a voluntary loan to O'Grady's daughter.

The young wife's letters to her aunt repeatedly asked why she didn't write. Miss O'Grady said that she had answered every letter. "I believe now," she said, "that Lillie's husband intercepted my letters and destroyed them, fearing that the poor girl might discover through us his real character."

Governor Tells Police Head He Is Glad to Reappoint Him

Boston, June 2.—Stephen O'Meara, reappointed by Governor Foss as police commissioner of Boston for five years, was given the oath of office at the state house by the governor himself.

The commissioner, after taking the oath, expressed his thanks to the governor for the reappointment. The governor replied that he was very glad to make the appointment after considering the matter from all standpoints, and believed that the police department of Boston would be in good hands under O'Meara's management.

AMUSEMENTS

DOINGS ON THE STAGE OF

LOCAL AND BOSTON THEATRES

COLONIAL THEATRE.

Ralph Herz at the Colonial Theatre in the novel musical comedy "Dr. De-Luxe" has become a great favorite with Boston theatregoers and judging from the enthusiasm shown at every performance they have accepted Mr. Herz in his first venture as a star. Joseph M. Gaites is providing Mr. Herz with an excellent vehicle to suit his peculiar style and has surrounded him with an excellent company and has spared no expense in the mounting of this attraction. Miss Jeanette Childs has scored an emphatic hit with her dancing and her Harem Scarem "kiddies"; Francis Damarest who was made famous by singing "Every Little Movement" in "Madame Sherry" has repeated her former success with her new song, "That Will Keep Him True To You;" Marion Ballou who is well konwn in Boston having played several seasons with the Castle Square Stock Company has made many new friends in Boston by her artistic portrayal of the character Miss Ada Houston, her comedy scene in the second act with Mr. Herz is a clever bit of business; Rena Santos the girl with the ventriloquist voice has become a prime favorite with her novel singing which puzzles the audience as to whether the sound is made by whistling or singing; William Pruette, who is well known in Boston having been here many times with comic opera has created quite a favorable impression in the role of Colonel Houston and his rich baritone voice is heard with a great deal of pleasure. Karl Hoschna has written some beautiful music for "Dr. De Luxe" and in the hotels and cafes they are playing "When The Old Top Hums" and "For Every Boy That's Lonely," "There's a Girl That's Lonely, Too." The audience on leaving the theatre are all humming and whistling "For Every Boy That's Lonely," which is a very good indication that the melody has become contagious.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE.

"Consul, The Great" will be the attraction at B. F. Keith's Theatre next week and it is probably the biggest feature that has ever been offered in vaudeville at this time of year. "Consul" is known the world over as the most remarkable living demonstration of the Darwinian theory in existence. For although a Chimpanzee, he does everything that is usually attributed to a human being. During the past year he has developed his powers to a wonderful extent, and now, besides riding a bicycle, works a typewriter, plays the piano, dresses and undresses himself, laces and lies his own shoes, and does numerous other stunts that are nothing short of wonderful. The engagement will be limited to one week and as this will probably be "Consul's" last appearance here for sometime, all the young folks should be brought to see him. He will head an exceptionally strong vaudeville bill, with a number of new features. It will mark the first appearance here of Diamond & Nelson, two legitimate stars who are making a hit in vaudeville; Kate Watson, the eccentric comedienne who is one of the most popular favorites on the Pacific Coast; Sergeant Brennan, the skilful English diabolo players; Adolph Glose, a wonderful pianist who impersonates great composers; Leonard & Whitney in an Irish sketch; and the Dorlans, in an acrobatic comedy.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE.

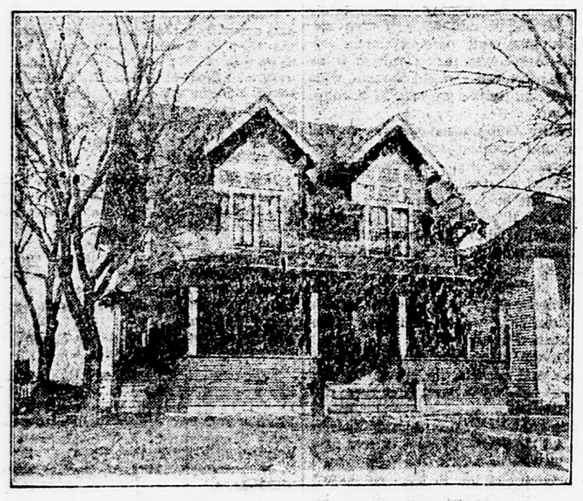

The production of "Little Lord Fauntleroy" at the Castle Square will be quite an event. It will bring forward Miss Henrietta McDannel, who made a remarkable success as Peter in "The End of the Bridge," in the title role, and it will exhibit that clever little actress in a character that she should make as distinctive as she did the boyish here of Miss Lincoln's prize play. Miss McDannel is by no means a one part actress and her Cedric Errel in "Little Lord Fauntleroy" will display her genius and versatility. "Little Lord Fauntleroy" itself is a play to delight all those who are fond of hearing or seeing child life. It tells a romantic tale of Cedric Errel, who after poverty with his young mother in New York, finally learns that he is heir to a great English earldom, and who is taken to England to live with his grandfather. The play is filled with humor, and it is consistently interesting and dramatic. In addition to Miss McDannel the cast will contain George Hassell as the Earl of Dorincourt, Frederick Murray as Mr. Havisham, Donald Meek as Hobbs the grocer, and Gertrude Bingley as Mrs. Errel.

A COTTAGE IN ENGLISH STYLE.

PERSPECTIVE VIEW—FROM A PHOTOGRAPH.

FIRST FLOOR PLAN. SECOND FLOOR PLAN.

The English half timber when adapted to our American ideas and arrangements makes a very attractive home. Here is an effective treatment of exterior in clapboards and shingles—shingles in the gables and dormers, where rough cast cement would be equally effective. First story, nine feet high; second story, eight feet. Red oak finish in first story and white enameled pine in second, with birch doors stained to represent mahogany. Birch floors in both stories. Cost to build, exclusive of heating and plumbing, $3,100. Size of house, 30 by 26 feet.

By special arrangement with me the editor of this paper will furnish one complete set of plans and specifications of design No. 935 for $25.

DEMOCRATIC WOOL TARIFF

It Is Brought Before Caucus For Its Consideration

ALL RATES ARE AD VALOREM

Duties Cut In Half as Compared With Payne Law—Estimated Revenue From Measure Which Closely Follows the Wilson Act Is $40,566,200—Majority of Democrats Learn Its Exact Terms For the First Time

Washington, June 2.—The Underwood wool bill, presented for consideration of the Democratic caucus, closely follows the Wilson act of 1894 as to manufactures of wool, but differs from that act, in that it places a duty of 20 percent ad valorem on raw wool, admitted free under the specific and ad valorem as in the Payne-Aldrich act.

An examination of the Underwood measure, about which a fight is now raging in the caucus, shows that the average ad valorem duty assessed against manufacturers of wool is 42.55. No duty exceeds 58 percent ad valorem. Aside from a general scaling down of the duties, as compared with the Payne-Aldrich tariff act, the make-up of the Underwood bill is significant, in that all duties are made under the ad valorem system, instead of a combination of specific and ad valorem in the Payne-Aldrich act.

Looking at the Underwood bill from the standpoint of the specific duties of the Payne act it developed that the Democratic plan of revision of the woolen schedule cuts in half upon the average the duties now assessed under the Payne law.

A summary of estimated duties at the end of the bill shows that the Democrats expect to raise $40,566,200 of revenue from the woolen schedule. The estimated revenue to be derived from raw wool is $13,398,200, while the estimated revenue from the manufactured product is $27,158,000.

The bil lprovides that it shall go into effect on Jan. 1, 1912, and that all articles enumerated in the schedule which may be in public store or warehouse on that date shall be subject to the same duties when withdrawn for consumption and no others, as if said articles had been imported on or after said Jan. 1, 1912.

The wool bill was laid before the caucus by Chairman Burleson. It was the first intimation the majority of the members had been given of its exact terms.

Chairman Underwood declared the duties collected last year on raw wool amounted to $21,000,000. The reduction of the raw wool duty to 20 percent, as proposed, would cut these duties, he said, to $3,398,000, even under a greatly stimulated import trade. To reduce these duties further would be impracticable at this time, he added, even had the committee desired to do so.

After having been in session two hours it was plain that the caucus probably would continue through today and possibly Saturday.

LOW RATES FOR COAL

Cause Schooners to Turn Attention to Lumber Carrying

Boston, June 2.—Because of the low freight rates for carrying coal from Norfolk and Baltimore to Boston and eastern ports four of the largest coal-carrying schooners from the Hub have quit the coal business and have been transferred to the lumber carrying trade.

Just how many other schooners will follow the lead of these first four is unknown. It is talked along the water front that many others will transfer their business.

The removal of these schooners is something new in the shipping industry, because most of the transportation ships in the lumber trade are square riggers.

ACCUSED OF BIGAMY

Tolstoi's Son Sued by Woman Who Claims to Be His Wife

Paris, June 2.—The magnificent wedding in 1910 of Alexandre Kontuzow, a son of Count Paul Tolstoi, to Miss Mary Frothingham, an American, was recalled here when the count was served with a writ sworn out by Florian Marie Coriat, alleging that she had married Kontuzow in London in 1893. She charges desertion and bigamy.

The count denies the charges and in an interview said that when he was engaged to Miss Frothingham he was menaced by the Coriat woman, who, he thought, was dead.

He struck a gale off Provincetown but that did not hinder him from making a record time of 26 hours actual sailing time. The trip was a case of fasting for the Captain as he made the trip alone.

Chester I. Campbell of Wollaston is in charge of the outing for crippled and blind children which is to take place in the near future. About 2000 automobiles will be needed to convey the children and up to the present time 1935 have been promised. All who are interested in the idea are asked to confer with Mr. Campbell at 5 Park Square, Boston. The people of Boston and vicinity who have automobiles have been asked to loan them for the occasion and the call has met with ready response.

TORPEDO BOAT DESTROYERS.

Announcement is made that the navy department will open bids on Aug. 7 for the building of eight torpedo boat destroyers of the new type yet larger and more powerful than those of their present type at present in the navy. The naval experts consider the torpedo boat destroyers one of the most effective instruments in modern naval warfare. The Fore River Shipbuilding Co. will probably submit bids for building the boats.

LINEN SHOWER.

Miss Helen O'Neill of 48 Washington street was tendered a linen shower Thursday evening by a number of girl friends. It was quite a surprise but after she realized what it was, she made everybody welcome. At a late hour they departed having enjoyed themselves thoroughly. Among those present were Miss Annie Newcomb, Miss Grace Brown, Miss Florence Bavin, Miss Mae Egan, Mrs. Edgar Hayden, Miss Elizabeth Auld and Miss Ethel Hurley.

—It is estimated that 8,000,000 "quarts" of Delaware strawberries will be shipped to the Boston markets this month, each of the baskets containing the berries lacking three cubic inches of a full quart measure, according to the Massachusetts standard. Other cities throughout the state will receive large shipments in similar short-measure baskets, and the local authorities will have a busy time if they undertake to see that the berries are reboxed and sold in full measure. It is a hard-ship on the dealers to be compelled to buy short measure boxes of berries and rebox them for sale, but the Massachusetts law is inexorable in demanding a full quart for the purchaser and the dealers must comply with it. This situation emphasizes the need of uniform state laws in respect to weights and measures, or better still a Federal law that would prevent the shipment of fruits or other produce from one state to another in boxes or receptacles containing less than the standard measure.—Springfield Union.

HELD FOR GRAND JURY

der. Annie Johnson was playing the organ. Witness saw Jimmie there. After playing and dancing the witness went into the yard. She saw Joe in the kitchen. Saw Joe talking to Jimmie in the yard. Saw them take hold of each other. Did not see them strike each other. Witness then ran off. Coming back in a few minutes she saw Joe on the steps, he was lying down.

FIGHT DESCRIBED.

Gabriel Alastia the next witness was one who witnessed the fight from start to finish. Witness said when he first saw the men Jimmie and Cubria were talking near the fence. They were standing near the fence, witness being about ten feet away.

Saw Joe come out of the house and walked toward the fence where Jimmie stood. When he got there he said, "Hello Jim what you doing here?" Jim replied "Nothing what do you want?"

Joe replied, "I want you to keep away from the Johnson girl."

Joe then said, "You are not good enough to do that."

The men then came together and both commenced to fight at the same time. They struck at each other American style. Witness then saw something shiny in Jimmie's hand. Did not know what it was. The fight lasted one or two minutes. Joe had nothing in his hand.

In cross examination witness said that after the conversation about the girl Jim said, "let us fight." They then struck at the same time.

Andrew Bezzone of 772 Shawmut avenue, Boston, testified that on the night of the murder Jim came to his house about 10 o'clock. He saw him washing up at the sink. He said that he had trouble with a man and had struck him with a knife.

While going out Jim said that he had an argument with a fellow and had struck him with a knife.

At this point the government rested its case.

The defense offered no testimony and the defendant was held without bail for the grand jury.

Annie Johnson the girl over whom the fight started was not present at the hearing this morning.

BRIDGE REPAIRS.

Bids were opened Thursday by the Commission having charge of the repairing the Fore River bridge and widening the draw. The bids opened Thursday were for building the wooden fender piers on each side of the draw. Five bids were received all of which were taken under advisement. They were:

Lawler Bros.	$13,100
W. H. Ellis	$14,600
W. F. Burke Co.	$15,814
C. I. Rendall	$16,000
George T. Randall	$17,420

STATION ENTERED.

The Montclair station was broken into this week and the cash draw was tapped by the burglar but it contained only a few coppers and the man went away in disgust without taking anything. The break occurred between 6 and 7 o'clock in the evening.

TODAY'S COURT.

John McDonald was arraigned for larceny of $30 from George W. Peterson at Quincy. He was held in $500 until Saturday.

Howard M. Gibbs and Karl H. Perkins were fined $15 each for exceeding the automobile speed limit on the Blue Hills parkway at Milton.

—It is probably true that much if not most of the water supplied in cities and towns is wasted. In some places it is estimated that far more than half the supply is allowed to run to waste. The only way to stop that reckless and even criminal extravagance is to charge for the water consumed, and to ascertain the amount by measurement. Charging so much a tap is unscientific and unfair. The rates should be such as not to discourage a liberal use of the water but high enough to preven t waste. A meter should be as much a part of the house water system as a faucet.—Lowell Courier-Citizen.

the largest seen on the field this year and there was more genuine enthusiasm afloat than is apparent in most contests. On the bleachers by first base was the cheering section of the Massachusetts Fields school, a mass of orange and white and on the other side of the field were the rooters for Willard waving branches of green. Mayor Shea, an old Willard boy himself was there in his auto wearing the school colors and rooting for the wearers of the green. When the game was over the supporters of the Massachusetts Fields nine surged on to the field and endeavored to carry the scorer of the winning run and the captain off on their shoulders. As a reward for their victory, Miss Ruth Taylor, master's assistant in the Massachusetts Fields school, has invited the members of the team to take dinner with her tonight. The invitations sent out were in the shape of a baseball and the boys were asked to Play Ball at 5.30. Mr. Goodspeed has invited them to go to the American league game with him on Saturday, June 10 and the championship cup will be picked out on that day. The members of the winning team are highly elated over their victory and looked upon it as well earned, especially since they were playing without the services of their regular pitcher. The losers put up a good fight for the championship and can congratulate themselves in that the game had to go an extra inning before they were defeated. The summary:

How to Care For Onion Beds.

Be sure that your onion beds receive plenty of water and with regularity. After the ground has been irrigated till it will not absorb any more wait until the surface soil has dried out somewhat and then give the plants a little surface cultivation, just enough to keep the soil sifted and to prevent any possible caking around the roots.

If you are trying to raise onions on a semi-muck soil watch to see that your surface soil does not bake following a heavy rainstorm. Keep it well stirred and free of weeds and you should have a flourishing bed of onions.

—The newspapers herald Bangor's courage in rebuilding. Most people do, when they get a chance to substitute modern buildings for old arks, out of a fat roll of fresh green backs paid over by other people as insurance money.

JACK AND THE MAGPIE PIPE.

Jack was a little shepherd boy who had nothing in the world but a magic pipe. He didn't even know it was magic, but he knew that the tunes he played on it were as sweet as bird songs, and every day as he sat under the trees he would take his pipe from his pocket and play to while away the time.

The pipe had been given him by an old woman whom he had helped one day, and, although he never saw her again, he always remembered her.

At last Jack discovered that he need no longer run after his sheep, for they would come back of their own accord when he played a certain tune on his pipe. He found, too, that the birds would hop near to hear him play and the motionless squirrels would listen. And then he discovered a still more strange thing. He found that when the plants were in bud the flowers would open more quickly if he sat by and played on his pipe.

But Jack's master, a cruel man, stole the pipe, and Jack was miserable. It is true this old woman came and got the pipe away. After he had stolen the pipe the cruel master carried it always with him in his coat. But one night as he slept the old woman bribed his servant to give her the coat, paying a great bag of gold for the old garment. Then she went away. This, of course, did not help Jack.

So he determined if possible to find the old woman again. Quietly he left the house and sped down the dark road for many miles. For days he traveled about, getting more and more tired and lonely, and at last one day, when he was quite discouraged, he came upon a company of people on their way to a fair in the next town, and as all roads were the same to him he joined them and before long found himself at the fair ground.

The place was gay with flags and merry laughter, and as the boy approached a thrill of excitement ran through the crowd. "Hush, hush!" they cried. "The contest is beginning."

Then the boy saw a youth step on to a platform in front of a high throne on which a noble king and lovely queen were seated, and, raising a pipe to his lips, he began to play.

So well did he play that a hush fell over the whole assembly, and when he had finished the applause shook the air. Then another and another contestant appeared, and all created equal enthusiasm.

"Oh, if I only had my pipe!" said the boy.

At that moment he felt something smooth and cold slipped into his hand, and, looking down, he perceived his beloved pipe, and, peering among the crowd to see who had returned it to him, he perceived the old woman, who nodded and smiled at him in encouragement.

Joyfully Jack pushed his way to the front and climbed the steps of the platform. At first he was rather frightened at playing before so many people, but no sooner had he put the pipe to his lips and begun to play than he forgot all about the crowd and the prize and thought only of his music.

As the wonderful notes floated out in the air the people were spellbound with their beauty, and when at length the song came to an end they were too touched to applaud.

Then the king came down from his throne and placed the crown of victory on the boy's head, and then the crowd broke into cheer after cheer.

Then the old woman who had given him the pipe hobbled up and told him that it was to secure the pipe which his master had put in his coat pocket that she bought the coat at such a price, and then the lovely queen came down from her throne, and when she had heard Jack's story from the old woman she was so touched and so delighted with his playing that she asked him to come and live in the palace and be her son, for she had none of her own.

So Jack went to live in the palace, and the old woman took a cottage next door, and so everybody was happy.

Storks Play Games.

A tame stork has been known to join children playing hide and seek, to run when touched and to distinguish the child whose turn it was to pursue the rest so well as to be on its guard along with the others. The Germans and Dutch esteem it a good omen when a stork builds its coarse nest of sticks on their housetop. Innumerable stories are current among different nations ascribing to the stork gratitude, chastity, parental affection, conjugal fidelity and filial piety. In the Tyrol, for example, a male stork refused to migrate and passed several winters with his mate, who, being wounded, could not fly. The regularity of its migrations has made it the subject of comment in all history, both sacred and profane.

Little Mother.

Dolly, you've been very naughty!
Do you see that broken cup?
I must punish you severely—
In the dark I'll shut you up.
Do not answer back, now, Dolly.
I'm your mother. Do you hear?
You've been very, very careless.
You did do it; that is clear.
No one else was near the table.
I won't listen to you—no!
Here's the big, dark storeroom closet.
You've been naughty. In you go!

I suppose the cat did break it,
But no one was here to see,
And I have to do to Dolly
As mamma does to me.

How to Remove Rusty Nuts.

Every man who has to work with nuts and bolts doubtless has his own method of removing rusted, stubborn nuts. There are many workmen who apply a blow torch to the obstreperous nut on the principle that it will expand in the heat. The difficulty about this is that the torch heats the bolt as well and when it expands the nut is as tight as ever. Marine engineers have a way of handling the nuts on pipe flanges which work on the same principle, but is surer and at the same time simpler. Heat an open end wrench that fits the nut and while almost red hot apply it to the nut. After a sufficient time has elapsed for the nut to be heated through it will be found an easy matter to twist it off, for in this fashion a minimum of heat reaches the bolt. It is safe to say that any nut which refuses to move when thus attacked will have to be cut away with a chisel.

How to Mix Shellac.

Shellac comes in two colors, orange and white, and can be obtained in flakes at hardware and drug stores. Put some into a bottle and cover with alcohol (denatured is cheapest), set in a warm place for several hours, shaking occasionally. Thin with more alcohol as desired. Keep the bottle well stopped, as the alcohol evaporates readily.

QUINCY'S NEW COURT HOUSE

Active Work Commenced on New Building

The new court house which is to be erected on Coddington street for the East Norfolk District court will be another imposing structure of which the citizens may well be proud. The building is to be of light tapestry brick with light Quincy granite trimming and the architecture is Roman style. It will be two stories high, 109 feet long and 66 feet deep with ample accommodation for all the departments of justice in the district. On the ground floor will be the district court room, 36x50 feet in dimensions, with judge's room, attorney's room and library on the left and the clerk's room and the probation officers quarters on the right. At the top of the broad double stairway leading to the second floor the probate court room is located to the left and on the right, the juvenile court room. Leading off these will be rooms for the judges.

In the basement there will be rooms for the police officers, two detention rooms, two cells, and the heating plant etc. The building will be heated by steam and lighted by both gas and electricity.

The approximate cost of land and building is $100,000.

Work has been started on the foundation already and rapid progress is being made. The builder will follow plans made by William Chapman of Boston, the well known architect. With a building of grace and symmetry and attractive grounds the new home of the judiciary will be a welcome addition to the triangle including the Thomas Crane public library and the Post office.

MAYOR ACCEPTS AUTO CHEMICAL

Changes in Running Card of Fire Apparatus

Mayor Shea this morning formally accepted the new auto chemical engine which arrived last Monday and she is now in commission. Although not formally accepted by the city until this morning the engine has been responding to alarms all the week.

Friday she answered three alarms and is said to have made some remarkable quick runs to West Quincy and to City Square.

The putting into commission of the new piece of apparatus has caused some changes to be made in the running card of the department. The auto chemical will answer all arms throughout the city and combination No. 1 at the central station will be held there in case apparatus is needed while the auto is out. It also means that the centre district will be covered at all times.

West Quincy apparatus which under the old running card came to Quincy centre on first alarms will come only as far as the railroad Box 136 being the limit toward the centre.

Now that Quincy has an auto chemical the thing needed is a crew of men to respond to alarms with it. The chemical is all right but useless unless there are men to handle the hose lines when the apparatus arrives at a fire. At present there are no available men to send without crippling the efficiency of some of the other apparatus. There should be a crew of at least four men to respond with the auto chemical when she is called out and it is up to the City Council to provide them.

DANCING PARTY.

Edmund Whittemore, son of Ira M. Whittemore, commodore of the Quincy Yacht club is giving a dancing party to about fifty of his friends this afternoon in the clubhouse at Houghs Neck. Miss Eleanor Whittemore will assist her brother in receiving the guests and in conducting the dance. Most of those who are present were in the dancing class with the host during the winter and the affair promises to be especially enjoyable. Dancing is to be in order from 2 to 5 and ice cream and cake will help to while away the time during the intermission. Edmund Whitemore, although not yet in his teens is skipper of an eighteen foot knockabout which he has sailed with considerable success with his mate, Stewart Baird. In the two races which he has entered this year, he has taken second place and before the season closes it is probable that the youthful skipper will win many other prizes.

—Says the Tampa, Fla., Tribune, "One law to promote good roads is worth more to Florida than a hundred intended to 'regulate' some business that doesn't need regulaing." This trite suggestion applies to every state and to the entire country. Good roads are a substantial asset to a community and a great help to business. Laws to "regulate" large industries have not the slightest merit,but on the contrary do a grea t deal of harm. Business is today afraid of regulating laws and i s simply marking time to await results.—Haverhill Gazette.

STREET RAILWAY CONSOLIDATION

Old Colony Absorbed by Boston and Northern

The name Old Colony Street Railway will soon disappear and in its place will be the Boston & Northern. Both the Old Colony and Boston & Northern are owned by the Massachusetts Electric Co. but are operated as two separate companies.

By a recent act of the legislature the consideation of the two companies was authorized and the first steps in this direction were taken Friday when the stockholders of the two companies held a special meeting and anthorized the Boston & Northern to absorb the Old Colony.

The capital of the Boston & Northern will be increased by the issue of 7767 shares of preferred stock and 80,041 shares of common stock which will be exchanged for preferred and common stock of the Old Colony company.

The consideation means that the Boston & Northern street railway will cover all cities and towns from Nashua, N. H. to New Bedford, with the exception of Boston and will become one of the largest street railway companies in the world.

The consolidation will in no way effect the Quincy system other than having its name changed from Quincy division of the Old Colony to the Quincy division of the Boston & Northern.

RECENT FIRES.

The alarm from Box 45 at 7.28 Friday night was for a slight fire in a gasoline tank in LeClairs store on Willard street. No loss.

At 8.55 Friday night Officer Bishop summoned the new auto chemical on a telephone call for a slight fire in the basement of A. J. Richards grain store near the depot. The fire the cause of which is unknown was extinguished with no loss.

The alarm frim Box 331 at 1.45 this morning was for a lively blaze on the School street railroad bridge caused by sparks from a passing locomotive. The loss was about $200.

—Boston, the first American city to establish municipal concerts, is also a pioneer in undertaking a summer series of daily band concerts on the Common for the benefit of workers in their noon hour of rest. If a way can be found to keep somewhat frowsley "sons of rest" from occupying all points of vantage, these concerts will be popular.—Boston Record.

It is impervious to moisture and non-absorbent. It has other good qualities, too. Come in and see the "RED CROSS MATTRESS."

HONESTY IN EVERYTHING

It must be great to be skinny in hot weather.

Emperor William's peaceful invasion of England was a great success.

The mosquito does not wait for the first of the month to present his bill.

We notice that all the "farmers" who are opposed to reciprocity rode in automobiles.

If Secretary Stimson wants to find his department, he will find most of it strung along the Rio Grande river.

In the opinion of cynical critics the best thing about the Standard Oil decision is the fact that it is delivered at last.

The parcels post is sure to come. The best that the express companies may hope for is that it will be very slow in coming.

The Harmon Presidential boom is liable to strike shoals when it attempts to navigate the waters of the Platte.

Massachusetts has a law making it a crime to misrepresent the merits of a stock or the financial condition of a corporation. This is going to make life pretty hard for the prospectus writer.

We regret that our readers will not find the new timetable of the N. Y., N. H. & H. railroad in the Ledger today. The new train service goes into effect tomorrow and there are several important changes. Through some error the railroad company sent us an old timetable instead of the new and the error was discovered too late to reset but it will appear in Monday's Ledger.

THE HOME MERCHANT NO. 5.

The purchase of goods requires not merely some personal attention from the purchaser, which is never secured on a hurried shopping tour or from a mail order house, but it needs careful discussion with some intelligent salesman who feels keenly interested to serve you.

How much helpful attention do you get from some fluffy haired store clerk in a distant city, whose only motive in talking with you is to avoid the wrath of the floor walker?

In the home city, there grows up more or less personal relationship between the salespeople and customers. They feel enough interested in them, too, to tell the truth about goods, realizing that a sale made on false statements kills future business.

It is therefore possible in dealing at home, to find out from the proprietor or his clerks what you really are buying. That information is worth a heavy percentage on the cost of your purchase.

HOW WE OBSERVE OUR HOLIDAYS

A metropolitan newspaper published in a large Northern city used 32 columns Wednesday morning to tell the story of Memorial day sports.

It took but seven columns to tell the story of the march of the veterans to the cemeteries to perform a holy rite of honor to dead soldiers.

While the ball grounds were packed by a human amphitheatre of faces, with crowds forgetting leg weariness while they remained on their feet, the services at the cemeteries drew few but children and relatives of the veterans.

Precisely the same conditions will be observed on July 4, an anniversary that should put the flame of zeal into every patriotic heart.

The Grand Army man wakes up on the morning of May 31, he takes the facts shown above, and feels that love of country is dead. The present generation cares more about a base ball pennant than for the stars and stripes.

And yet, if the drum beat of the nation again resounded to save our homes from a foreign foe or to maintain the honor of the American name in stainless white, there would be just as many volunteers as ever.

The American people have a frothy surface that is exasperating. You really have to prove that your house is actually afire by showing the flames bursting through the roof before they will bother to stop batting flies and come over to put it out.

While one might well wish a more adequate recognition of the valor of men who stood up to be shot at, the failure to attend Memorial day exercises is no more depressing a fact than the easy way the political machines gather in the caucus delegates, while the business men are reading the evening paper.

It takes some diplomacy to get a crowd inside a public hall to listen to any kind of a serious address. You have got to appeal to the actual instincts of the crowd, instead of uttering ponderous reproaches about neglect of duty. If the G. A. R. would hold their public exercises in the evening, place a band and a male quartet outside the opera house, and have them play a Sousa march and sing some war songs, they would stand a far better chance of getting the cheering crowd they deserve.

FOURTH AT ATLANTIC.

A very enthusiastic meeting of the Ward Six Fourth of July Association was held at the home of Charles E. Cherrington Monday evening, thirty-five members being present. Judging from the spirit shown this year's celebration will even surpass those of former years. Plans are being made for:

A parade.
Base ball game between the Local Fat and Lean Men.
Semi-professional base ball game.
Athletic field sports.
Water sports.
Children's entertainment.
Band concert and fire works.

In addition to these several new features of importance are being planned. Permanent headquarters have been secured in Music hall building on Botolph street which will be open every evening.

WATCH IT GROW.

The people of Massachusetts are evidently appreciating the fact that insurance can be obtained more inexpensively through the savings Banks than in any other way. They are beginning to get the Savings Bank Life Insurance habit. Two banks have established insurance departments,—the People's Savings Bank of Brockton and the Whitman Savings Bank of Whitman.

The premium income of the insurance departments of these two banks for the month of April 1910 was $3,896.46. The premium income of the insurance departments for April 1911 was $6,620.05. This is an increase in a single year of seventy per cent. Nearly $1,750,000 of insurance is in force at the present time.

In the beginning of the movement the savings bank treasurers generally did not welcome the additional burden of responsibility which threatened to attend the establishment of insurance departments, but the fact that the treasurer of at least one Savings insurance bank has received an increase in salary of twenty-five per cent (payable from the earnings of the insurance department) is aiding bank-treasurers elsewhere to look with less disfavor upon the innovation of combining the insurance business with that of a savings institution.

In addition to this, the fact that the Savings Insurance Banks are about to pay a third-year dividend to policyholders of nearly fourteen per cent, encourages savings bank treasurers as well as other members of the community to feel that the institution has passed beyond the stage of mere experiment, and the success of the movement is assured.

HORSE GOES INSANE

Pet Belonging to City of Brockton Is Put Out of His Misery

Brockton, Mass., June 3.—"Big Jim," the pride of the city stables, went insane and was shot yesterday afternoon. For many years the horse has been the pet of the city employes at the stables. During recent years he was used on a street sprinkling cart.

Big Jim was a great favorite with the children and was fed many times by little ones while on the route. All day yesterday the horse plunged about in his stall and it was thought advisable by a veterinary to end the animal's misery. The horse doctor said the animal was insane.

Murder and Robbery

Wellesville, O., June 3.—Oscar P. Bowers, a business man of this city, was found murdered in an alley near his home. His head was crushed and he had been robbed of about $1000 in money and jewelry.

Benjamin J. Weeks for several years superintendent of the Quincy & Boston street railway at Quincy, is taking a prominent part in political affairs at Tacoma, Washington, where he is now located. Tacoma is one of those cities that have adopted the government by commission plan, with the recall system. The voters decided that two of the commissioners should retire with the result that there was a lively election at which Mr. Weeks was a candidate for one of the commissioners it was desired to recall. At the election held May 17, his was the fight of the day but Ben won out, defeating his opponent by 371 votes.

Help for All
Andrew Carnegie once suggested as an epitaph for his own tombstone what he said was the secret of his success:
"Here lies a man who surrounded himself with men abler than himself."
Many able people are working for you, scientists, inventors, manufacturers, all trying to make something you want. Do you use their brains and their efforts—"surround yourself with them"—or do you plod along by yourself, years behind the times?
Take your own home. Have you your share of modern improvements there—money-saving, labor-saving, health-promoting? One of the most important of these is a New Perfection Oil Cook-stove.
A New Perfection stove never overheats a kitchen. It saves your strength. It saves fuel and time. With the New Perfection oven with the glass doors you can go on with your ironing or any other work, and still be sure at a glance the joint is roasting properly.
New Perfection WICK BLUE FLAME Oil Cook-stove
Made with 1, 2 and 3 burners, with long, turquoise blue enameled chimneys. Handsomely finished throughout. The 2- and 3-burner stoves can be had with or without a cabinet top, which is fitted with drop shelves, towel racks, etc.

GUARD LIVES OF MEN IN MINES

Expert Tells of Failure to Appreciate Seriousness of Fire.

PROTECTION NOT ADEQUATE.

Loss of Hundreds of Lives and Destruction of Millions of Dollars' Worth of Property Might Have Been Prevented.

Failure to appreciate the seriousness of mine fires and a lack of adequate fire protection have resulted in the loss of hundreds of lives and the destruction of millions of dollars' worth of property in the last few years, according to Herbert M. Wilson, chief engineer of the federal bureau of mines. Mr. Wilson declared that two of the most serious disasters in coal mines in the last two years—one at Cherry, Ill., in which 262 lives were lost, and the other at the Pancoast mine, near Scranton, Pa., in which seventy-four lives were lost—originated from trivial causes and ought to have been quickly extinguished without the sacrifice of human life.

"The contact of several bales of hay with a blazing torch or an open miner's lamp," said Mr. Wilson, "caused the Cherry mine disaster, with its great loss of life and a total cost of $1,000,000, of which $50,000 a day was spent in direct fire fighting for several days.

Some Mine Fires.

"The fire in the Pancoast mine killed 74 miners and left 45 widows and 137 dependent orphans. This fire is known to have started in an underground room presumably from some oil soaked waste. It was not thought serious until it had been burning two hours, and this delay was in large measure responsible for the great loss of life.

"Besides the loss of life, fires have cost much in money. At Deadwood, S. D., $1,000,000 has been spent in fighting a fire in a metal mine. Today fires are raging in coal and metal mines in various parts of the country. Some of them have got beyond control and have been burning for many years, devouring hundreds of thousands of tons of coal and miles of mine galleries. One mine fire near Carbondale, Pa., has burned out such a vast area of anthracite coal in the last ten years as to result in a subsidence of the surface and destruction of surface property. Near Summit Hill, Pa., a fire which has been burning fifty-one years is estimated to have destroyed $25,000,000 worth of coal. Near Jobs, O., a tract of coal valued at several million dollars has been burning since 1884. In some of the deeper metal mines at Butte, Mont., fires have been burning in the old mine timbers since 1889. In the Comstock vein, in Nevada, thousands of feet of tunnels which had been opened and timbered at great expense are being burned out.

Use of Oxygen Helmet.

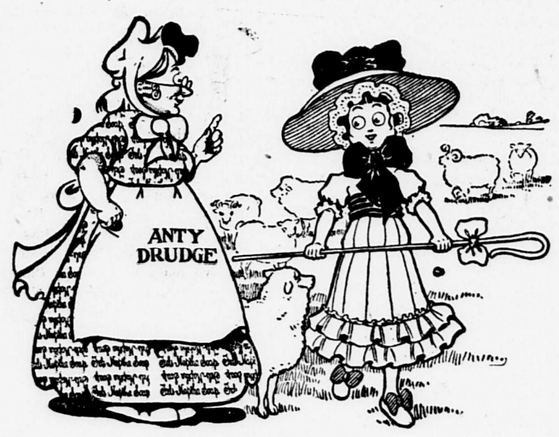

"The mining engineers of the bureau of mines have made a careful study of fires in mines and have reached the conclusion that the introduction of comparatively inexpensive fire fighting appliances, the adoption of proper regulations and the institution of a reasonable system of fire drills may minimize fires and confine others to a brief period of time with little damage to life and property. The engineers of this bureau have had much success in combating mine fires by the use of the oxygen helmet. This is an apparatus that entirely protects the head and through which air is furnished artificially, thus enabling the wearer to explore the vicinity of a fire under conditions of smoke and gas that would render his approach otherwise impossible. By the use of such an apparatus a number of fires have been promptly extinguished which would doubtless have spread and perhaps extended beyond control. Chemistry through the quick analysis of gases at frequent intervals in the neighborhood of the fire has proved a most useful adjunct in fighting fires.

"It seems almost unnecessary to call attention to the necessity of providing at each mine ample storage of water properly conveyed in protected pipes to possible danger points, the desirability of using larger amounts of fireproof material in place of wooden mine timbering or wooden doors, the proper disposal of waste, fireproof manways and air shafts and the use of fireproof material as far as possible in all surface structures within 50 to 100 feet of the main opening to the mine."

UNIQUE ORIENTAL RUG.

Weaving Will Take Years—For New York Public Library.

In the directors' room of the New York Public library will be placed a rug which in some respects is the most interesting oriental rug ever woven. Its design was first put on canvas in oils in full colors. The painting took more than a month, and the design alone is valued in the neighborhood of $1,000, making it the most expensive design ever followed in the weaving of an oriental rug. The rug will be 25 by 35 feet, and it will take years for the nimble fingers of the oriental weavers to complete it, so delivery cannot be made for a long time. It is being woven in Sivas, Turkey.

Little Bo-Peep washes her sheep
With Fels-Naptha and cool water,
That's why they're quite so snowy white
As they come trailing after.

Remember this about Fels-Naptha Soap: It's not only distinct from other soaps in name but different in action.

Most soaps have the distinction without the difference.

But Fels-Naptha is different in this—it's a totally new way of washing.

Fels-Naptha is the only soap that will satisfactorily wash clothes in cool or lukewarm water, without boiling or hard rubbing.

That's the difference.

No boiling or scalding clothes to weaken them, no back-breaking rubbing over nauseous hot suds.

Washing done in one-half the time with one-fourth the labor; clothes last longer and are cleaner and sweeter than any other method of washing will make them.

Do you prefer the different way?

You will when you've tried it.

In using Fels-Naptha Soap in Winter or Summer, follow directions on the red and green wrapper.

GEORGE B. NYE.

Ohio Legislator Indicted In the Bribery Investigation

NYE IS ACQUITTED

Jury Declares Indicted Ohio Legislator Is Not Guilty

Columbus, O., June 3.—The state lost the first of the legislative bribery cases when Representative George B. Nye of Pike county was acquitted by a jury of soliciting a $500 bribe from State Superintendent of Public Printing Crawford on April 18. The jury was out only an hour and a half. Nye faces three other indictments.

In the public view the case which the state lost was its strongest. The other cases depended upon the evidence of Burns detectives, and the detectives' character has been raked over and their previous reputations delved into by detectives employed by indicted legislators.

VALUABLE HERD IS DUMPED INTO SEA

Blooded Cattle Come Under Ban of the Government

Boston, June 3.—Mrs. Mary Botterell, a wealthy St. Stephens, N. B., animal lover, has lost a valuable herd of cattle she had shipped to this country under the special protection of Cook's tourist agency. The cattle were killed and thrown from the decks of the steamer Menominee because the United States government refuses to allow cattle from Switzerland to land in this country, owing to the prevalence of foot and mouth disease in that republic.

Before the three cows, two calves, two bulls and a bullock were killed and thrown overboard, however, the wires between St. Stephens, Montreal and Boston were kept hot with messages endeavoring to stay the executions.

Despite the most powerful influence that could be brought to bear by the officials of the tourist agency, the cattle were slain and their carcasses dumped from the side of the Menominee.

HARMONIOUS ADJUSTMENT

Democrats Now In Accord on the Wool Schedule

THEIR ACTION SIGNIFICANT

Means That They Will Stand Solidly Against Assaults From Republicans When Bill Is Taken Up For Consideration In House—No Other Stumbling Blocks Appear to Be In Their Path

Washington, June 3.—"We have coasted over Niagara Falls and are now floating peacefully on the stream below," said Representative Garner of Texas, referring to the settlement of the wool fight among the Democrats.

Mr. Garner's word picture is a good illustration of the conditions in which the Democrats find themselves today. The contest between Chairman Underwood and the other members of the ways and means committee who wanted a duty on wool and those members who wanted to put it on the free list was far more bitter in the committee room than it was in caucus.

Representative Harrison of New York, the champion of free raw wool, carried his fight to the caucus and was defeated. The significance of the situation as it exists today is that harmony in Democratic ranks has been restored by the unanimous vote by which the Underwood bill was adopted, and when the bill is taken up for consideration in the house, the Democrats will stand solidly against assaults from the Republicans.

The assaults will be made, but they will be futile. Not even Representative Hill's introduction of the old Wilson woolen schedule as an amendment to that written by Underwood will capture a Democratic vote.

From a political point of view Speaker Clark seems to have decidedly the best of his argument with W. J. Bryan. With his party in the house unanimously supporting his position for a revenue duty on raw wool, Clark is now believed to be in better position to face the opposition of Bryan in the national convention than if the caucus had been split wide open.

The Democrats in the house are determined to maintain harmony. If they can have it with Bryan in their midst he will be accepted gladly by some and tolerated by others. If, however, he insists on continuing his warfare against the men who disagree with him Bryan will find himself a lonely citizen.

So far as can be seen now the Democrats have no more stumbling blocks in their path. The only other piece of tariff legislation definitely decided upon is the cotton schedule, and it contains nothing which could possibly precipitate a Democratic row.

The compromise resolution adopted by the caucus came officially before the house yesterday, when Chairman Burleson of the Democratic caucus asked that it be read for the benefit of the house. The resolution follows:

"Resolved, that the bill revising schedule K, as presented to this caucus b the majority members of the ways and means committee, is not to be construed as an abandonment of any Democratic policy, but in view of the Democratic platform and of the depleted and depleting condition of the public treasury as a result of Republican extravagance, a tariff of 20 percent ad valorem on raw wool is now proposed as a revenue necessity."

Mr. Underwood denied that the Democrats were trying to delay legislation. He said they were taking up the bills promised in the extra session. By 153 to 65 an adjournment to Tuesday was ordered.

GUARDS SHOOT LOPEZ

Report That Alleged Traitor Tried to Make His Escape

Lopez was being conveyed here to serve an eight-year sentence imposed by a court martial.

"He tried to escape," reported the guards who were taking him to prison.

SAYS DRUGS WERE FORCED ON WOMAN

Miss Swanander's Testimony In the Bull Will Contest

Alfred, Me., June 3.—Miss Siri E. Swanander testified in the contest over Mrs. Ole Bull's will that Miss Margaret E. Noble, "Sister Nivedita," by exercise of her will power, had forced Mrs. Bull to take three kinds of mysterious Indian drugs.

She also told of hearing Mrs. Bull one night late call out in protest to Miss Noble, who was alone with her: "Nivedita, it is useless to talk with me. I shall go crazy if I can't do with my money as I want."

This remarkable evidence was given late yesterday afternoon after Executor Thorp had positively denied that he had ever made any threats whatever to Mrs. Olea Bull Vaughan after her mother's death to influence her not to contest the will. Thorp did admit that he had criticised his niece to his sister as far back as 1897.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

THE PERFECT WAY

Scores of Quincy Citizens Have Learned It.

If you suffer from backache,
The perfect way is to cure the kidneys.
A bad back means sick kidneys.
Neglect it, urinary troubles follow.
Are endorsed by Quincy people.

W. Charlesworth, 33 Cranch Street, Quincy, Mass., says. "About five years ago I began to suffer from kidney trouble. I had pains in my back which were very severe at times and cold or damp weather aggravated my suffering. I knew that my kidneys were at fault and used everything I could think of in an effort to obtain relief, but to no avail. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills highly advertised, I finally decided to give them a trial and procured a supply at the Cox Drug Store. Before I had finished the contents of two boxes, the backache was a thing of the past and I felt better in every way. Doan's Kidney Pills have my highest endorsement."

THREE GREEKS ARE SHOT DOWN

One Is Instantly Killed and One Mortally Wounded

FARMHANDS IN RACIAL FEUD

Victims Are Brothers and Aroused Anger of Italian Who, His Friends Say, Used His Revolver After He Had Been Threatened—Murderer Escapes to Woods, With Police In Pursuit of Him

Woburn, Mass., June 3.—The police of this city are scouring the woods in the vicinity of Horn pond trying to capture Luigi Vincenzo, a farm hand, who shot and killed Thomas Callavas, mortally wounded his brother, John Callavas, and shot down Charles Callavas, another brother.

All of the principals in the tragedy were farm hands employed on the Marshall estate. They were in an outhouse when the shooting occurred.

Immediately after the shooting Vincenzo, with the smoking pistol still grasped tightly in his right hand, backed out of the door and disappeared before the affrighted laborers could send the alarm.

Occupants of the Marshall house, which is situated about a quarter of a mile away from the outhouse, heard the shooting and ran out, but were too late to catch Vincenzo.

The police were notified and hurried to the scene of the shooting. Chief McDermott then discovered that Thomas Callavas had been instantly killed by being shot through the heart. He found John Callavas lying on the washroom floor bleeding and unconscious from a wound in the right breast.

Chief McDermott then telephoned blcBwellTMayHwMpsVYFgi-downog for an ambulance. Meanwhile Charles Callavas, who had fled into the henhouse after being shot, appeared, seeking medical treatment for the wound in the back of his head.

While the surgeon was treating him Charles Callavas told the police of the tragedy and the dragnet was at once thrown out for Vincenzo.

Immediately after securing additional help toward capturing the fugitive the police went to the farm, where they secured all of the eye witnesses to the affair and brought them to the station. The witnesses numbered three other Greeks, besides Charles Callavas and five Italians, two being women.

The Greeks told the police they could assign no cause for the tragedy. The Italians, however, said that it was the outcome of a racial feud. They claimed that harsh words were passed between the Callavas brothers and Vincenzo, and that the trio had threatened to beat Vincenzo.

They said that the discussion was soon forgotten, and that all seemed friendly until at dinner time, when one of the brothers commenced jeering and taunting Vincenzo and threatening him.

The witnesses said that Vincenzo stood the talk patiently for a few minutes, until one of the victims attempted to strike him with his fist.

Then, they claim, the fugitive, without warning, drew his weapon from his pocket, shot one man dead and then fired at the other two brothers.

SCHEIB HELD FOR MURDER

Cause of Death of Bathtub Victim Not Yet Determined

New York, June 3.—Henry A. Scheib, the only suspect arrested in the bathtub murder case, has lost his fight for freedom. When Scheib was brought before Justice Bischoff the court dismissed the writ of habeas corpus and remanded Scheib to the Tombs.

Three times freed and four times arrested, Scheib through his attorney sought to reach the state supreme court with another writ of habeas corpus. Now he is held on a definite charge of first degree murder.

The coroner's physician says he has not determined what killed Mrs. Scheib or whether chemicals were used for the destruction of the body.

Man Wins Suit For Bet He Made at Raided Cock Fight

Lancaster, Pa., June 3.—John A. Cassidy was awarded $540 by a jury in a civil court, the suit being the outgrowth of a chicken fight that was to have been pulled off at Baltimore. Each side put up $500.

Police descended upon the place before the fight was concluded, and the stakeholder, believing that the referee had decided, paid over the stakes. Cassidy prosecuted for the $500.

Tennessee Negro Lynched

Memphis, June 3.—Pat Crumpf, a negro who, it is charged, attempted to assault the wife of a planter at White Haven, was hanged by a mob. Just outside the Memphis city limits, a mob took the negro from the sheriff and hanged him to a tree.

A BOSTON GIRL'S BUDGET.

Inlander Fail to Reach Europe in Nantasket Steamer—Hub's Work Horses Celebrate Their Rest Day by Parading—"Oh, Dad's Different," Admits Boston Miss—Many Want School for Consumptive Children Reopened—Witty Post-prandialist Excites Risibles at Suffragists' May Festival—Socrates a Great Philosopher but an Exponent of "Everybody Works but Father."

Is the spirit of the next generation reflected in the youth of today? A Boston miss of 15 was heard the other day to remark monchalantly: "I think I shall have five or six husbands. I don't believe I was intended to be happy with one person long." "But, my dear," said her mother, "I've summered it and wintered it a pretty long time with your father, and I don't see any occasion to discard him yet." "Oh, dad's different," was the young lady's only reply. Truly, how shall the example and precept of the more conservative mother counteract the influence of the books our daughters read.

A movement is on foot among prominent Bostonians to renew the campaign for the open air school at Franklin Park for the benefit of children of tubercular tendencies. This school was conducted with excellent results for some time, when it was suddenly decided that the feeding of the children during the morning at the expense of the city was a charity, and therefore should be discouraged. A few of the children previously taught at the Franklin Park open air school have been accommodated at the Consumptive Sanatorium at Mattapan, but there are many more who are not arrived at the stage of the sickness which demands sanatorium treatment and are yet too ill to be properly taken care of at the public schools. The Refectory at Franklin Park is a nearly ideal situation for an open air school, with ample accommodations for 300 children, and the agitation to have the plan resumed is promising to break out with a vehemence which will brook no refusal.

Fizzling fun, and nothing else intoxicating, flowed during the annual May festival of the New England Woman Suffrage Association at Boston's Twentieth Century Club, May 25—a jollity which must have been amusing even to any "anti" who happened to be present. The occasion introduced to Boston at least one born postpandialist, a woman speaker who before any miscellaneous gathering, as of electric railway employees or state associations of laundrymen, would stand an even chance of outfrazzling the alliterative Joseph Smith or any other popular favorite. The speech of Miss Elizabeth Upham Yates president of the Rhode Island equal suffrage association, abounded in just those quaint quips, appended to apparently serious historical allusions, which never fail to arouse the risibles of the crowd. Describing the heroism of Hannah Dustin—with an implied fling at the familiar argument that the ballot must be backed by the bullet—Miss Yates touched eloquently on the colonial woman's hair raising adventures up the Merrimack and her triumphant return with five Indian scalps. "And the Massachusetts Great and General Court, the prototype, of the legislature that today refuses seriously to consider the political equality of the sexes, recognized this woman's splended services by granting her husband a pension! Hannah, however, should perhaps have been satisfied; it was over her bones and not her husband's that the town of Haverhill later erected a monument." If the Massachusetts solons came in for excoriation so did those of Rhode Island—"a state so tiny that when the circus comes to Providence the elephant stands with his hind legs in Massachusetts. One of its products is conservatism, of which, small as the state is, it raises enough annually to cover Texas knee deep and still have sufficient, and to spare, for home consumption." A defence of Xantippe delighted the audience; it involved a series of thrusts at Plato and at Socrates, "A great philosopher undoubtedly, but, considered as a family man, a choice representative of the home in which everybody works but father." The whole occasion was one of joy and hopefulness—a note which President Alice Stone Blackwell sounded in her opening address and which was prolonged in ringing addresses by Miss Mary N. Chase, president of the New Hampshire association, Mrs. Fannie J. Fernald, president of the Maine association, Mrs. R. Y. FitzGerald, secretary of the School Voters' League, Boston, and Professor A. R. Hatton, of Western Reserve University, who is this year teaching the science of government and who has become a very enthusiastic suffragist. Mrs. Maud Wood Park, of the Boston Association skilfully and amusingly dissected Miss Ida Tarbell's recent charge that emancipated woman, as wife and mother, is responsible for present day political and commercial corruption. Accepting for the sake of argument Mr. Rockefeller as Miss Tarbell's type of the unscrupulous business man Mrs. Park showed how improbable it is that the oil king's mother was one of the emancipated women against whom the brilliant woman writer lays the sins of modern society.

It's a far, if agonized, cry from Europe to Nantasket and amused sympathy still expands into a grin over the mishap which prevented a Cincinnati couple from embarking on their intended journey to the scene of coronation festivities and continental feasts. The great trans-Atlantic liner due to leave Boston for foreign ports had on its passenger list the Cincinnati folk who started for the ship in good season. They boarded what they supposed was the ferry boat, but discovered at Pemberton that they were enroute for Nantasket Beach. In the meantime the liner had started on its way to Europe, and the Cincinnati couple had the chagrin of watching her glide swiftly and gracefully down the harbor. It was the sorriest picnic party they ever attended.

Considering that it is their business in life to draw it was not strange that the work horses of Boston drew an enthusiastic crowd at their annual Memorial Day parade. Great black, white or chestnut horses, beautifully groomed, one or two ridden by alert dogs, were awarded prizes in various classes, and one tiny white kitten looking down from the driver's seat received a ribbon rosette. A fourteen horse hitch, several six horse hitches, three coal black fire horses, and many individual hitches kept the crowds applauding. The animals, 1865 in number, seemed to know that it was their day and without exception paraded proudly past the reviewing stand, their sleek glossy heads held high. Many prizes were given by the Animal Rescue League and the Society with the long name. Old "Ned" who is 37 years of age and has seen 26 years of service, was a favorite. The annual parade is serving a worthy purpose in giving drivers and owners of horses an incentive to keep them well and treat them kindly and thus is to be accounted among the many humanitarian institutions for which Boston is famous.

DAYS OF TROLLEY ABOUT NUMBERED

Perfected Storage Battery Will Soon Take It's Place

New York, June 3.—The genius of the young electrical world, working along the storage battery development lines, will put the trolley car out of business, Thomas A. Edison predicted in an address before the convention of the National Electric Light association in this city.

"The trolley car is going to be put out of business," Edison said in answer to a question. "After a while there won't be any trolleys."

Edison made his visit memorable by announcing that he had perfected a new storage battery for surface cars and trucks which would revolutionize the street traction business.

"The new battery," said he, "can be recharged in three or four minutes and which will run fifty miles without being recharged."

SHERMAN LAW IS "ARCHAIC"

Gary Thus Expresses His Opinion to House Committee

DOES NOT MEET CONDITIONS

Tells Investigaters That He Is In Favor of Federal Control of All Great Corporations Engaged In Interstate Commerce—The Subsidiary Companies of United States Steel Corperations Do Not Compete

Washington, June 3.—With a frankness that was amazing, Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the board of directors of the United States Steel corporation, told the house investigating committee that he favored government control of all great corporations engaged in interstate commerce.

Gary's frankness in dealing with the industrial situation in the country, and the manner in which it is threatened by the Sherman anti-trust law, bordered on the sensational. He admitted that the United States Steel corporation is at a loss to know how to proceed and for that reason he hoped that congress would enact legislation which would enable the government to exercise control over corporations of an industrial character just as it exercised control over the railroads and national banks.

He expressed his willingness to submit the intimate and intricate business affairs of his corporations to a duly accredited branch of the government and would be satisfied to permit such a government agency to fix the price at which the corporation's products could be sold.

In reply to a question by Representative Littleton, Gary admitted that the old days of competition had gone by and that it is now possible to do business on a great scale and to prevent wild fluctuations in prices, with resulting failures and business embarrassments, only by means of co-operation between corporations engaged in similar lines of business.

In response to another question Gary admitted that great corporations are now fearful of the operation of the Sherman anti-trust law, which, he said, was archaic and not capable of meeting conditions as they exist today. He said he had no fear that government control was a stepping stone to government ownership, and to illustrate his point suggested that national banks and railroads are now regulated by the government, without a suggestion of ultimate federal ownership.

Increased prices are to be charged for steel rails in the near future, according to Gary. Higher cost of labor and raw material, together with a demand for heavier rails was given as the reason for the proposed advance.

Mr. Gary said there is no possible competition between the subsidiaries. Asked if it would be possible to dissolve the various subsidiaries and make them over into one great operating company Gary said it would be possible to do so. It has not been done, he said, because it was believed that each company with its own set of officers would have more responsibility and reach a higher success than if the officers were mere managers of departments.

FOURTH OF JULY CELEBRATION

Success Assured. Plans Progressing Finely

The indications now are that the celebration of the glorious Fourth in Quincy this year will exceed that of last year, which all agreed was the most successful affair of its kind ever held in Quincy. All that is needed to make the affair a success is funds. The more funds at the committee's disposal the better the celebration.

A year ago several obstacles were encountered which served to handicap the committee considerable. This year however everybody is working in harmony and there is no reason why the celebration will not be a good one.

The morning parade will start a little later than last year and from reports already received by Chief Marshal George A. Wardwell there will be many more features. It is hoped that one of Uncle Sams big sea fighters may be secured for the day and if so, it will mean that several hundred jackies will take part in the military division of the parade.

One of the important things to assure success is money and everybody is asked to contribute their mite, no matter how small, every little helps and as the song goes, "Every bit added to what you have got makes a little bit more." The finance committee have invited a large number of citizens to meet with them next week and at this meeting plans will be made for a general canvass of the city.

Canvassers for funds will be selected and be provided with proper vouches as to their authority to collect.

The several committees have been busy during the past two week and while full programs can not be announced as yet it is certain that there will be something doing from early morning until late at night. George Elcock who has charge of the fireworks exhibition has got in touch with the firm that furnished last year's display, which was admitted to have been the best ever, and has been assured by the firm that they will do even better this year.

If you have not been invited to take part, in helping to make the celebration a success it is because your name has been overlooked but you can come to the meetings of the committee and your advice and assistance will be welcome. Let everybody get out and hustle and give the town such an awakening as it never had before.

COMING EVENTS.

Under this heading The Ledger will print single line notices of future happenings of interest to Quincy people. Secretaries of clubs, societies and other organizations are requested to forward to The Ledger notices of their meetings, entertainments, etc.

If a report of the entertainment is desired send to this office tickets for the use of the reporters which will guarantee a full and accurate account in The Ledger the next day.

HAD MANIA FOR SAVING

Woman Who Earned $5304 In Seventeen Years Leaves $5200

Worcester, Mass., June 3.—Relatives of Miss Marguerite Hudon, who died Wednesday, after working as a shop clerk for seventeen years at $1 a day, yesterday found bank deposits in her name aggregating $5200.

Her total earnings had been about $5304, and from this she had paid her living expenses for the whole seventeen years and the cost of the funeral of her brother, who died three years ago.

Miss Hudon is believed to have lived on 30 cents' worth of food each week. Her house rent was very small. She had a mania for saving, and so handled her bank deposits as to secure compound interest.

"Jack-plane?" he asked.

"No."

"Then," said Tommy, smiling, "it must be Jamaica Plain."

SABBATH DESECRATION

Minister Says It Is Regularly Practised In National Capital

Washington, June 3.—In support of the celebration of the Sunday observance committee of the Presbyterian general assembly at Atlantic City that Sunday in the national capital is desecrated as in few other large cities of the United States, Rev. Wallace Radcliffe, pastor of the New York Avenue Presbyterian church, reiterated to his congregation the charges made by the committee.

The pastor said that theatres were run here on Sunday, that the excise laws were regularly disregarded, that public and private work was done on a large scale and that the Sunday entertainments of the rich were a menace.

If he were asked to do so, the pastor said, he could take anyone out on Sunday and get him a drink.

Corner Stone of New Park and Downs Church Laid Sunday

Original Hymn and Sermon by Rev. William B. Ayers

Beneath a cloudless sky and in the presence of over 600 people the corner stone of the new church building of the Park and Downs Union Congregational church was laid on Sunday afternoon.

Owing to the non-arrival of certain steel girders the first floor of the new edifice was not completed as planned for the occasion but seats placed upon flooring laid down either side of the proposed auditorium made provision for a portion of those present.

The opening in the centre of the church allowed seating arrangements for a large number in what is to be the vestry, while in addition, large crowds were massed around the building. An assemblage of automobiles and other vehicles on neighboring streets completed the congregation.

The speakers' stand and space for the choir occupied the easterly corner, the wall of the present church in close proximity doing service as a huge sounding board. Palms and other potted plants helped disguise the roughness of the surroundings while the national colors covered the speakers' stand.

Among the clergymen and invited guests were: Rev. Rufus B. Tobey of Wollaston, Rev. Frederick H. Steenstra, rector of St. Chrysostoms Episcopal church, Rev. Edward Norton of Quincy, Rev. Thomas W. Davison of the Atlantic Memorial church, Rev. A. C. Gregg of the Milton Congregational church, Dr. G. Wolcott Brooks of the Village church, Dorchester, Dr. Arthur Little of the Second church, Dorchester, Rev. Frederick Richards of the Phillips Congregational church, South Boston, and Edwin S. Woodbury of the Congregational Church Union.

The services opened with a hymn and original processional by the Rev. William B. Ayers sung by the vested choir, entrance being effected from the vestry of the present church. Miss Henrietta C. Gram presided at the organ while Ernest Pletsch was cornetist.

Composing the choir were: Clara Coombs, Myrle Daniels, Marie Brown, Mrs. Musgrave, Lillian Hall, Lydia O'Neil, Elizabeth Torrey, Freda Klingenhagen, Natalie Scott, Gertrude Sass, Flora Sass, Bessie Hunter, Grace Hunter, Mary McCall, Ethel Axberg, T. C. Hay, George A. Smith, Artemus Dingwell, Samuel Musgrave.

Rev. Edward Norton of Quincy invoked the call to worship speaking of realizing the dream of years for a house of God. We should mingle prayer with thankfulness that the cornerstone is now to be laid.

Rev. Thomas W. Davison of Atlantic read selections from the scriptures while Rev. Frederick D. Richards of South Boston offered prayer.

"Rock of Ages" was sung as a response by the quartet composed of Arthur F. Capen, Charles Chase, Chester A. Boynton and Charles Bishop. An offering for the church building fund resulted in a generous contribution.

Rev. Rufus B. Tobey of Wollaston confessed to a feeling of awe for the dignity and grandeur of the occasion. He had no formal historical address prepared but rather would relate some experiences connected with the early events in the history of the church organization.

He called to mind a March evening in 1897 when at Friday evening prayer meeting at the Wollaston Congregationla church a Baptist and a nonchurchman attended as a committee from the Park and Downs Union society to ask assistance in starting an organization there.

Mr. Tobey spoke of the first meetings and of how he had acted as trained nurse to the babe until it was able to walk.

This was before the day of the word that rhymes with hoodoo and the church was organized with 23 members.

The speaker went briefly into the history of the church bringing to light the fact that Rev. Fred T. Knight the first pastor is now holding a pastorate in the native town of the second pastor Rev. Henry G. Megathlin.

I do not believe the time will come until the millenium, said Mr. Tobey, when we will have one church for all.

We believe in one faith and one baptism but at the same time the man is not only to be censured but condemned who magnifies denominationalism at the expense of unadulterated christianity.

We do not and should not sing "like a mighty army moves the Congregational, Baptist or other church" but "like a mighty army moves the church of God."

The sermon of the afternoon was given with a most inspiring delivery by the pastor Rev. William Bingham Ayers his subject being: "The church of the living God."

The text was taken from Luke I:21-22, "And the people waited for Zacharius and marvelled that he tarried so long in the temple. And when he

THE IRIS WINS AT CITY POINT

Quincy Boats in Mosquito Club Open Race

Five of the fast cape cat boats of the Quincy Yacht club and several of class S of the Wollaston club participated in the open race of the Mosquito club off City Point, Saturday afternoon. Class S. met with hard luck however for but two of the six starters finished, four of the class being disabled. The Zoe was in this class having a lead of nearly 37 minutes corrected time over the Elf.

The race in the cape cat class was an interesting one and rear Commodore Crane at the helm of the Iris again sailed her to victory. The Dolly III which accompanied the Iris to Narraganset Bay last year has not raced any this year up to date but the Busy Bee, Mudjekeewis, Dartwell and Emeline, all fast boats were out. It was a pretty race and the Iris won on both actual and corrected time.

COUNCIL MEETING.

An important meeting of the City Council is scheduled for tonight. It has been three weeks since the last meeting and during the intervening time several of the committees have met and acted upon matters before them. One of the important matters to come up is a public hearing on the acceptance of a number of new streets under the betterment act.

SUNDAY NIGHT FIRE.

The alarm from box 26 at 7.28 on Sunday evening called the department to a fire on roof of Robert T. Johnson's barn on Maple street. The fire started from some unknown cause in the pigeon loft and worked up through the roof. It was extinguished with slight loss.

LAWN PARTY.

A largely atended lawn party in aid of the West street table at the lawn party of St. Mary's church was held Saturday at the residence of Miss Annie Galvin on West street. The entertainment included a flag drill by the children, games, etc. Those in charge were Miss Annie Galvin, Miss Mollie Galvin, Mrs. Neil McDonnell, Miss Mary Dillon, Miss Julia Lyons, Mrs. John Dakers.

—Not all tired citizens who seek a vacation respite from the steady occupation of dodging automobiles—and that means all who do not own a machine—can make Nantucket suffice. Some there are who desire to get farther away from modern intensities, and to such Prince Edward's Island makes powerful appeal. There is a fine of $500 impending for the nabob who tries to run an automobile there, or six months in jail. Hotels and boarding houses up there ought to be facing their most profitable season.—Milford Gazette.

FLORAL SUNDAY FIRST CHURCH

Diplomas Presented for Perfect Attendance

Floral Sunday services were held in first church, Sunday morning at 10.30 under the direction of Charles H. Johnson, superintendent of the Sunday school. After the processional and opening song service, the baptismal rite was administered by Rev. Ellery Channing Butler. The children who were baptised were Helen Rosamond Pierce, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvah Pierce, Gilbert Wrisley Arnold, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Arnold and Francesca Eaton Barker, daughter of Mr and Mrs. Barker of Newtonville. A brief memorial service in honor of Katharyn Crane and Frank Willis Gaudet, two of the Sunday school pupils who had passed on during the year.

Rev. Charles B. Ames, assistant pastor of the church, gave a short address on the theme "Be Noble." He based the address on the idea that nobleness comes to a man when he chooses the higher and better thing when he is confronted with the necessity of choosing between the right and the wrong. In illustrating the theme he told a very interesting and touching story written by Sir Gilbert Parker which went to show that nobleness did not depend on social position or wealth or anything but the choosing of the higher road in the journey of life.

The superintendent reported for the Sunday school showing that the year which was closing was the most successful in every way that the school ever had. Diplomas were presented to the following for perfect attendance at Sunday school during the year: Frederick Schenkelberger, Grace Miller, Dorothy Edwards, Arthur Nicol, Alfred Nicol, John Lane, Richard Crane, Rena Stoddard, Natalie Saville, William Edwards, Charles Butler, Edith Pettee, Allen Miller, Mildred Stoddard, Edith Nicol, Donald Crane, Marion Edwards, Richard Blackmur, John S. Pfaffmann, Isabelle Putnam and Edith Remick. William Edwards was given a book for perfect attendance eight consecutive years, Dorothy Edwards received one for perfect attendance five years and Edith Nicol for four years. Allen Miller and Richard Crane received honorable mention for perfect attendance for five consecutive years.

Honorable mention was given to the following for being absent but once during the past year: Frank Johnson, Marjorie Gaudet, Paul Blackmur, Herbert L. Johnson, Lowell Read, Karl Pfaffmann, Norma Johnson and Henry Faxon.

Hohorable mention for only two absences during the year was received by Dorothy Hall, William Smith, C. Abbott Johnson, Mary C. Remick, Bernice Stoddard, Willard Crocker, Margery Hall, Robert Putnam and Madeline Gaudet.

MANSION SCHOOL COMMENCEMENT

Baccalaureate Sermon by Rev. P. M. Rhinelander

Commencement week began at the Quincy Mansion School Sunday afternoon when the Rev. Philip Mercer Rhinelander of the faculty of the Episcopal Theological school at Cambridge and last month elected bishop coadjutor of Pennsylvania delivered the baccalaureate sermon.

The exercises opened with singing "The church's one foundation," Miss Bopp at the piano and Mr. Howard violinist; Dr. Rhinelander read the lesson from 1 Samuel 3d chapter, The Apostle's Creed was recited after which he read the prayers.

Dr. Rhinelander took for his text "And Samuel said Speak, Lord for thy servant heareth," and his theme was "Vocation, he said, we talk thoughlessly of Vocation, the community, the individual and nation, we may not live unto ourselves. Chance and accident have no place in the world of today we are living forever and eternity and each must conform according to the plan of God our personality, will and service must conform to his careful loving wisdom, Every man's life is a plan of God's, untrustworthy nevertheless, willing to obey. To the class he said, Go find your vocation after the loving preparation at this place God knows and he will unfold bit by bit as you are ready, will give you power, hope and at last joy.

ENJOYABLE MUSICAL

Recital by Pupils of Miss Emma A. Perkins

The voice recital given by the music pupils of Miss Emma A. Perkins in Hotel Greenleaf, Saturday evening was one of the most enjoyable musicales held in Quincy this season. The pupils showed a proficiency which reflected great credit on their teacher and the selection of songs was very happily made. Solos, duet and the selection by the quartette were all very pleasingly rendered and ably accompanied by Miss Perkins. In the opening song, "The Rosary," Miss Perkins sang the air and the double male quartette supported her ably in parts. Miss Merle Daniels sang her two pieces admirably doing especially well in the second one,"There little girl don't cry."

Roy L. Sidelinger rendered his three selections in a masterful manner and won the approval of the audience especially in the third song, "Three for Jack.

The selections sung by Miss Katharine Johnson were very pleasingly rendered and were well received by the audience. The second one which was sung in Italian was very creditably done and Gounod's "Ave Marie" with violin obligato by Roach was perhaps the best of the three

An unusually fine rendering of Linder's "Water Lillies" was given by the mixed quartet. Miss Barstow, who sang the air had a splendid voice and was ably supported by the other three members of the quartet.

Miss Gertrude Mead won the audience completely with her selections especially in the first and last songs. The tone of her voice was pleasing, the enunciation good and her singing was technically perfect.

Artemus Dingwell gave an excellent rendering of "Die Lorelei" by Liszt and sang Fear Not Ye, O Israel by Dudley Buck and Loch Lomond in a very able manner.

HONESTY IN EVERYTHING

The office boy counts on two vacations—his own and his boss's.

You don't blame Americans for being nervous when they have to dodge 780,000 automobiles.

King George is actually going to have the time of his life for the next two months.

Still, after those Americans meet the queen, they are not at liberty to call upon her anytime they happen to be in town.

The average salary of a "Vacant" pastorate in New York is said to be $500. That's why its a vacant pastorate.

Forecasts of 1912 are premature, but it is safe to predict that the Standard Oil Company will vote the Democratic ticket.

Gov. Woodrow Wilson is reported to have astonished California by telling the truth in a plain, blunt way. It can afford to be astonished.

Perhaps the probe of the new Lorimer investigating committee of the national senate will be more pointed than that of its predecessor.

"What will Tennessee do with its Dickenson?" Might make him a contributing editor. There is a whole heap the public would like to know about the war department.

There are times when Senator La Folette is tempted to suspect that something like a joker can make its way even into a Supreme Court decision.

"A Philadelphia physician says that everybody ought to practice daily the healthful exercise of yawning." If so everybody ought to read the Congressional Record, daily.

Jack Johnson has been arrested in New York for having a Chicago number on his automobile. Johnson didn't dream, before he reached fame that there were so many laws that could be broken.

If what the photographer sends us is true, King George has a time of it trying to look every inch a king. American beauties on looking at his royal stunniness will see that their husbands have something besides money to commend them.

POSTAL SURPLUS AT LAST.

The announcement of the Postmaster General that for the first time for many years his department has been a business proposition, paying a profit to the owners thereof, is an unexpected consolation prize to the tax payer.

That we as a sovereign people, who conduct our business pretty efficiently as individuals for 364 days in a year, should on the 365th elect officials who have managed our enterprises on a basis of bankruptcy, is one of the mysteries of human temperament.

Take the matter of the loss on the rural delivery business, estimated by Mr. Hitchcock a year ago to be $28,000,000. Does any one believe there would be any great loss, if the rural carrier were permitted to carry under regular postage rates such parcels weighing more than 4 pounds as would be profitable for the government to handle?

We have in effect been hiring the rural carrier and the express wagon to run along side by side to the same houses, paying two men and two horses to do what one man and one horse could do as well.

Take the money spent in distributing the garden seeds. If it is needful to help congressmen flatter their constituents by personal remembrances, it would be cheaper to do it by picture post cards.

Not long ago everyone thought that an inefficient business man who agreed with you about the tariff could handle your letters more cheaply than an efficient business man who disagreed with you on the tariff. Our people have paid a great many million dollars to learn better.

What an enormous benefit one cent postage would be. The big manufacturing industry could save its tens of thousands of dollars annually, and an ordinary little country grocery would probably be $50 to $100 better off. And this enormous boon is perfectly possible. One great obstacle is, that while none of us ever ask the conductor of a railroad train whether he is a Republican or a Democrat, some of us can't get over the idea that it is needful to put that question to the postmaster.

GOES DISTANCE OF 115 MILES

Pennsylvania's Balloon Wins Intercollegiate Race

SEVEN HOURS IN THE AIR

Aeronauts Land During Shower Late at Night In Small Cleaing In Dense Woods, Where They Are Compelled to Remain Until Daylight—Reach Height of Twelve Thousand Feet During Part of Trip

Peabody, Mass., June 5.—University of Pennsylvania, it was learned yesterday, is the winner of the first intercollegiate balloon race in the history of aeronautics, having defeated Dartmouth and Williams for distance and for duration, in the race that began at North Adams, Saturday afternoon.

The Pennsylvania balloon, Philadelphia II, landed at West Peabody at 10:30 Saturday night, after covering a distance of 115 miles in a little over seven hours.

The occupants of the Philadelphia II, A. F. Atherbolt, the pilot, and G. A. Richardson of the University of Pennsylvania, landed in the woods on the estate of Charles Sanders in West Peabody. The descent was made in a heavy thunderstorm which forced the racers to remain under cover in their basket until Sunday morning. The greatest height reached by the Pennsylvania entry was 12,000 feet, over Fitchburg.

The three contestants left North Adams Saturday afternoon shortly after 3 o'clock. The Dartmouth balloon, Boston, piloted J. B. Benton, with J. W. Pearson as passenger, was the first to land, coming down at 6:30 p. m. in West Pelham, Mass., forty-one miles from North Adams, after three hours and fifteen minutes of air traveling. An hour and a quarter later the Williams balloon, Stevens No. 27, with H. P. Shearman for pilot and K. T. Price as passenger, landed at Paxton, sixty-six miles in an airline from North Adams. All the big gas bags had 35,000 cubic feet capacity.

The crew of the Philadelphia II reported that after leaving the ground in North Adams they struck a cross-current which carried them in a northeasterly direction. The wind soon shifted and at sunset was driving the Pennsylvania towards the Massachusetts coast. Dropping to a lower level they were startled by a flash of light. It became so dark that they could not tell where they were and mistook the flash for a lighthouse on the coast. In some alarm they pulled the throttle and risked a chance of a fair landing in the dark.

Peering out over the basket the aeronauts saw the dark shadow of a forest as if leaping up to meet them. It was too late to check their rapid descent and they held their breath in fear of being hung up on the tree tops for the night when their air craft picked out a small clearing in a dense woods and after a few bumps along the ground brought up on a little stretch of greensward.

In the meantime a heavy thunder storm had broken. No lights were to be seen in the neighborhood, but making a tent out of their basket and some coverings they spent the night in the open until morning, when they found their way to the Sanders residence. The balloon was later packed and shipped on to Philadelphia.

Three principal prizes were offered for the contest. Two cups were for the best distances covered. For the balloon remaining longest in the air there was another cup. In addition six prizes, offered through the Aero Club of New England for various requirements, are open to the intercollegiate contestants.

CLOSING OF CRESCENT STREET.

Editor Daily Ledger:

A street should never be closed without due consideration by our City Council. The principal argument for closing this particular street is economy, for almost twelve years there has been very little repairing done to this street and now two thousand dollars will put it in thorough repair. Does any one think that after all the use this street has had in twelve years it is economy to close it because the sum of two thousand dollars has to be expended on it? Very little was said by those in favor at the hearing a short while ago in reference to the noise made by heavy teams but those who are to decide this question can draw their own conclusions whether or not this is the principal factor in this case or not. It should be considered that Copeland street already has the electric cars and trolley freight to come and now to ask the Council to compel the owners of property on Copeland street to take all the noise and congestion that is sure to come is not consistent with fair play. When you consider that twenty-three stone teams pass in one hour, saying nothing of coal teams, ice carts, electric cars, six times an hour and all the vehicles of every kind and description, is it any wonder that we ask that our property be not injured when there is partial relief for all this.

We ask the Council to place themselves in the same position as we are in and decide if they would like such a situation, if not, why do this to others? A spirit of fairness is all we want, a square deal we expect.

How would you like it, Gentlemen, to have all the heavy teams compelled to go on your street and your neighbor not to have any and besides it depreciates the value of your property.

Think it over, Gentlemen, and do as you wish to be done by.

George F. Elcock.

When Mike Dugan left the courtroom for a two years' term in the Arizona penitentiary for horse stealing—the vigilance committee had missed him or he would have been hanged—he turned to Billy Stokes, who was responsible for his arrest, and said:

"When we meet again, Billy, it will be from behind a couple o' guns. Two years behind the bars won't improve my already soured disposition toward you."

"I'll be ready for you, Mike, but I'm afraid you'll have to seek me in the city where I was born and brought up. I advised you long ago to stop monkeying with other people's property and go to work. If you had taken my advice you wouldn't have been about to do time for horse stealing."

The prisoner was led away, and Billy Stokes prepared to leave for the east.

Billy from childhood had been one of those boys who need a wider range than a city affords. While there was nothing bad about him, he was very unruly. Finally his father, feeling that his son would not make an ornament to civilized society, concluded to send him out among the cowboys and desperadoes. Billy found himself quite in his element and remained in the wild and woolly west five years. Then his mother couldn't stand her darling's absence any longer and begged him to come home. Her pleadings were re-enforced by an offer of his father to take the boy into business with him if he would settle down, and this brought Billy round.

A couple of years passed, during which the young man had got on fairly well as a humdrum business man. He lived at home with his father and mother, the idol of both. Though he was fond of them, they might not have been able to keep him had it not been for a girl. At any rate, the three held him chained.

One night Billy, whose room was over the rear entrance to the house, heard a singular sound. It was like the turning of an auger in wood. It ceased and was followed by the sound of a saw. Both sounds were very faint, but Billy had fine ears, sharpened by his western experience, and he was satisfied that a burglar was at work at a rear door. His 42 caliber revolver that he had used in the west was in his bureau drawer, and, taking it in one hand and an electric lamp in the other, after slipping on a dressing gown, he stepped downstairs and into a vestibule at the rear. There he could hear the sawing distinctly. An arm was put through a hole in the door, the key in the lock was turned, the door swung silently open, and the watcher saw the silhouette of a man entering the room.

A flash of electric light revealed the intruder's face, and at the same moment came the words "Hands up!" Being lighted and covered, the burglar obeyed the order.

"Well, upon my word!" exclaimed Billy.

"Yes, I'm Mike Dugan, and I know that voice of yours. You're Billy Stokes."

"At your service. Now, I remember when we parted a couple of years ago you said that when next we met a pair of guns would be between us. You hit it right, but it's I who have the drop on you instead of you having it on me. I suppose your coming here is intentional."

"Yes. As soon as I got out I came here to find you. I concluded that the best way to cover my tracks with respect to the move would be to burglarize the house you were in."

"I see. You could murder me, and if you could make a successful exit without being known you'd get your revenge and go scot free."

"That's about it, Billy."

"But instead of revenge you'll get ten years this time."

"I don't care much. What can a man do who has once been convicted? Only my wife and kids are having a hard time of it with no one to take care of 'em."

"Yes, there's the rub. That's going to bother me in turning you over. I wouldn't mind sending you up again, but you know very well that I sympathize with your family."

"Couldn't you give me a chance to live honest?"

"What! Help a man who has come here to murder me?"

There was no reply to this.

"Mike, you're a fool. I knew you before you took to the bad, and you were a good man, too passionate and revengeful, but I know how you loved your wife and kids, especially the boy you named for me. Now, I'll tell you what I'll do. I'll give you a place in my father's business and enough wages to support your family. I know I'm a —no; I'm not a fool. I'll bet my bottom dollar that within another year you will be living comfortably with your wife and children, the kids growing up to make useful citizens. What do you say?"

"I'll take the risk. You're a better man than you think you are." Billy tossed his revolver on to a table. "Now fire away. You came here for revenge. Take it."

There was the thud of Mike's revolver as it dropped on the floor.

"Billy," he said in a trembling voice, "you're a royal flush."

CORNER STONE

came out he could not speak unto them and they perceived that he had seen a vision in the temple."

Drawing a lesson from the conduct of Zacharius Mr. Ayers said in part:

"We are living in an age of intense scrutiny of everything that has to do with the popular well being. Men are not satisfied with mere outward appearances, they are no longer tolerant of even loudly voiced claims.

"Because an institution comes down to them hoary with antiquity and heavy with tradition it is no reason to the liberty loving, self assertive mind of our day why it should be perpetuated.

"The peculiar phenomenon of our century is in the assertiveness of the popular mind. The people are coming into their own. If you could sum up in a word the status of modern politics it would best be in the word 'change.'

"The twentieth century dawns with no sense of reverence for the long established traditions of parties and things.

"In the world of industry and commerce the same holds true. The business house of today that sticks to the policies of the firm dominant in the closing century is on the way to dissolution. Vast sociological changes are also everywhere going on.

"It would be impossible for the whole world about her to be in process of transition and this not have its effect upon people's impression of the church and her mission.

"We look upon life differently today. Ethics have expanded from a personal to a social obligation. We know more about ourselves and each other, more about the strength and weakness of humanity, more about our mental processes that we call psychology. The modern man is standing before a mirror examining his reflection through a microscope.

"We are thinking so much about health and hygiene about thought processes, about our beliefs and nonbeliefs and our ideals that many of us are most crazy with self consciousness. And exhausting self we wonder if we can't overhaul God and the heavens.

"Is it possible that the God of our fathers and the Christ of their salvation will do for this twentieth century conglomerate in the centre of which resides the unchanging human soul.

"Must not the church change or depart with all the age old flying moss thrown off the rolling stone of progress. And so the Church of Christ is before the bar of the world's judgment.

"She is called upon to square herself with the fresh consciousness of humanity.

"Never before in the history of Christendom were men so intensely eagerly, questioningly interested in the church's problems, her teachings and aspirations as at the present time. For that reason it is the church's great opportunity.

"But while men are busy with these questions they are going about their duties like old Zacharius and all unconsciously burning incense before the altar of the Lord are answering their own questions.

"People are becoming aware that business has its roots set in the religious instincts of the race and cannot be separated therefrom. That the standards the church has set in the past must forever remain the measure of condition of business achievement. The decalogue still furnishes the standard of ethics.

"Politics finds also its roots in the fertile soil of religious consciousness. Politics is by the very nature of its errand one of the most profoundly religious of institutions..

"International relations assume none but a warlike aspect until they become glorified and consecrated by the sense of the Divine purpose and have within them the elements of divine law.

"Thus it is that religion occupies a far more important place in the world than ever before and if men are lifting to her towers questioning eyes it is because in the zeal of their response to her impulse they have for the time outsped her surer progress.

"And so the church is of real value to the world because it embodies and enshrines the idea of the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man with all the obligations of that idea. It gives expression to and articulates man's vague instinct of God's moral nature.

"Thus it is that we are doing but the natural thing when we build this church of the Living God. This is the place where men will come to worship.

"Children will come across its threshold and grow up under its arches. Generation after generation will come and go and she will receive them, dismiss them and outlive them all.

"We incorporate this stone as a part of the structure. It is no different from the others around save only that it has been cut and hewn for this place which it is to ocupy and no other.

"While it has a reverence and distinction all its own it loses all this when it is set into and shares the common life of the church.

"Thus the devout soul comes into the church. He has interests, honors and personality all distinct and separate from others.

"The church is of value to him only as he puts himself into the saving personality of Christ and loses himself in God entering into the love, the fellowship and the obedience of God.

"As the materials for the church have been gathered from the hillsides and deep quarries so of the people who gather in her sanctuary.

"Out of the depths of sin, the darkness of hurtful pride, through purging fiery trials and the anguish of fallen hopes God has brought them.

"So may He merge them into one. One in purpose, one in love, one in obedience. And so may this church incorporate herself into the great Kingdom of God.

"Up may she go singing on her way. Inspiring men with practical and lasting devotion to God and keeping them steadily to their allegiance.

May she have now in her origin the divine blessing. May she be one of the voices of God in the world bidding all men to Christ, holding ever aloft the most Holy Bible with its message of righteousness and redemption, teaching the truths of which the world has need.

"Gathering up in her word the everlasting purpose of God, unfolding it in all its breadth and crying aloud like the apocolyptic angel to all people without respect of persons "Righteousness alone exalteth and preserveth a people."

At the close of the sermon the choir marched singing along the church exterior, followed by the clergymen and other dignitaries to the opposite corner where the laying of the corner-stone was to take place

The ceremony was impressively performed by Edwin S. Woodbury, representing the Congregational Church Union, assisted by Thomas Walsh the mason.

Deposited in the box underneath the corrner-stone were the following:

An historical sketch of the society by the clerk Herbert Tucker.

A copy of the Bible.

Officers and teachers of the Sunday school.

Roll of honor of Sunday school pupils raising mile of pennies.

Copy of letter and subscription blank for raising funds.

Names of persons raising $10 and upwards.

Last official ballot of officers and committees for 1911.

The service closed with a selection by the quartet and beneditcion by Rev. A. C. Gregg of Milton.

Mention should be made of a silver trowel presented by Madame Knowlton to the pastor in honor of the occasion.

Comprising the building committee of the church are: Rev. William B. Ayers, chairman, Mrs. Theodore C. Gram, Mrs. William Atkins, Herbert Tucker, George A. Smith, John B. Given, Sereno N. Ayres, C. A. Boynton, N. S. Sanford, Fred M. Torrey, J. L. Barney and T. H. Irving.

James H. Richie of Boston was the architect and E. H. Sears of Wollaston and Jonesburg and company of Boston have the contract for its erection.

The building which is up to the floor of the first story is being built of Quincy granite in the Spanish mission and Gothic type with windows of leaded glass.

The church society at the present time is well organized having 180 members, a large active Women's Missionary society, Sunday school, Christian Endeavor society and Men's club.

The present pastor, Rev. William B. Ayers was installed on March 29, 1910, and since his coming to Wollaston has been an untiring and enthusiastic worker in the campaign for a new church. Largely through his efforts and inspiration has the ideal of a new church building been made a tangible possibility.

Mary had a little lamb,
It's fleece was white as snow,
She washed it with Fels-Naptha Soap,
And that's what made it so.

While you rest, it works.

When you've soaped your clothes with Fels-Naptha and put them to soak in cool or lukewarm water, you can turn to something else or fold your hands and rest.

The Fels-Naptha works on.

It attacks the dirt in your clothes and dissolves it; loosens every tiny particle.

At the end of a half hour it has dissolved all the dirt.

All that remains for you to do is to rub lightly, rinse and hang out to dry.

And all this in cool or lukewarm water, mind you.

More than a million women employ Fels-Naptha Soap as an ally every washday.

To make it aid you in Summer or Winter, just follow simple direction on the red and green wrapper.

SCHMITZ PENNILESS.

Ex-Mayor of San Francisco Is Stranded In Mexico.

Former Mayor Eugene Schmitz of San Francisco, who escaped going to state prison with Abe Ruef on graft charges through a flimsy technicality and is now at liberty under heavy bonds, is reported to be stranded and penniless in Mexico. It is said that he has dissipated his fortune, estimated at $500,000, in hazardous mining and business ventures and now lacks money to pay for his fare home.

When Schmitz was trying to get out of jail on bail he obtained the assistance of William J. Dingee, an Oakland capitalist. In return Dingee induced Schmitz to invest many thousands of dollars in a large cement factory near Santa Cruz, in California. This company came to grief when Dingee failed last year, and Schmitz lost every cent he invested in it. Then a mine at Oroville, in Butte county, in which Schmitz invested considerable money, turned out a failure after showing some rich ore.

In despair Schmitz then started for Sinaloa, Mexico, where his brother is interested in a mine, but a letter has been received by one of his friends saying this mine is also worthless and that Schmitz is in the straits described. All he now has is the fine Schmitz home in San Francisco, which, however, is in his wife's name.

HEALTH HINT FOR TODAY.

No Set Rule For Sleep.

The amount of sleep required varies so much with each individual that no rule can be given. Some persons find six hours' sleep enough to keep them in excellent condition physically and mentally, and others need ten hours to get the necessary rest. One person can do the best work of the day during the early morning hours, and the next person can accomplish twice as much by working from 6 to 12 o'clock at night. It is well to accustom oneself to being in control of the brain action as far as possible and to avoid conforming to set rules, but personal idiosyncrasies are not always easy to overcome, and each one must be a law unto himself in such matters. If you feel brighter and more fit in the evening and can accomplish better work you had better arrange your affairs so you can give your individual attention to your duties during the evening hours.

TO COST $20,000,000

Monument to King Victor Emmanuel Dedicated In Rome

Rome, June 5.—Nearly a million people witnessed the dedication of a magnificent monument to King Victor Emmanuel II. Interest was added to the occasion by the celebration of the granting of the constitution by King Charles Albert in 1848, the same constitution by which United Italy is still ruled. When completed the monument will have cost $20,000,000.

King Victor Emmanuel and Queen Helena, the queen mother, Margherita, and other members of the royal house were present.

VICIOUS ATTACK ON POOL ROOM KEEPER

Hammer and Razor Used to Take His Life

Fall River, Mass., June 5.—Armed with a hammer and a handleless razor, Edward Berube, 34, walked into the pool room of Morris Swartz, 28, where Swartz was engaged in a game of pool with two friends. Berube opened a newspaper and was apparently absorbed in it.

Suddenly, while Swartz was bending over the table engaged in making a difficult shot, Berube walked over to him and dealt him a terrific blow on the back of the head with a hammer. He then pulled a razor blade out of his back pocket and slashed his victim twice in the neck. The whole affair happened so suddenly that Swartz's friends had made no move to interfere. Swartz died in a short time.

Berube went to a police station and gave himself up. "I am tired of being imposed upon," he said. "I went into the poolroom last night, and fell asleep there. While I was sleeping some one took $20 from me. I have been cheated by Swartz. I have been a sucker for every pool shark around there, and Swartz has given me no protection."

Swartz was unmarried. He is survived by his parents, several sisters and brothers. Berube is unmarried. He is a spinner.

LORIMER WANTS TO TESTIFY

His Request Quiets Rumors That He Will Resign Office

Washington, June 5.—Senator Lorimer, whose election to the senate is to be reinvestigated, requested that he be permitted to appear before the new investigating committee to testify in his own behalf.

The request was telegraphed to the senate committee on privileges and elections by Lorimer, who is in Chicago. The committee, it was said, would be glad to hear him.

The telegram had the effect of quieting persistent rumors that the Illinois senator would resign.

FORCED DIAZ' RESIGNATION

Wife of Aged President Guided His Faltering Hand

Mexico City, June 5.—Maria Ocampo, an Oaxaca Indian woman, who was in the service of Mme. Porfirio Diaz for nine years, declares that Senora Diaz guided the faltering hand of the president to write his resignation, and then took the message from the reluctant hand of the old man and sent it herself to the chamber of deputies for action on the evening of May 25.

The servant declares that Mme. Diaz forced her husband to flee the city at 4 o'clock in the morning, through fear that he would be assassinated.

CRANK ATTEMPS TO HIT PRESIDENT TAFT

Causes Excitement Among a Large Crowd In Chicago

Chicago, June 5.—A supposedly crazed negro created excitement among the thousands who gathered in Garfield boulevard here to greet President Taft. He suddenly rushed up to the president as the latter was entering an automobile and attempted to strike Mr. Taft with his fist, at the same time shouting wildly: "Hello, Bill; hello, Bill!"

The negro was seen elbowing his way to a position by the side of the president, but he made his rush before the police could restrain him. Captain Collins and Detective Farrell, who formed part of President Taft's bodyguard, saw the effort to attack the president, and they broke through the crush and seized the disturber.

Mr. Taft watched the incident calmly, but the large crowd became intensely excited. Men and women swarmed around the would-be assailant.

SEPARATES FROM COUNT

Croker's Daughter Sorry She Married Italian Nobleman

Paris, June 5.—The usual fate which befalls the rich American girl who marries a titled foeigner has overtaken Countess di San Martino, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Croker.

Miss Croker's marriage with the Italian nobleman, although a love match, has lasted about four years. So hurried were these young people to be united that they eloped in a motor car from Aix-les-Baines.

But the idyll was soon shattered and now the Italian count leads a trans-Alpine existence, while the countess has taken up her abode in this city, with her mother.

The countess cannot get a divorce which would be valid in Italy, for the laws of that country admit no divorce.

APPEALS FROM SENTENCE

Indian Princess Condemned to Death For Murdering Paramour

Calcutta, June 5.—A letter from Amritzar, in the Punjab, says that there is great excitement there because a native princess has been sentenced to be hanged for murdering her paramour, Kahan Chand. Arsenic was given the man in milk.

The murderess is Ranee Sahiba, the widow of Dyal Singh, a prominent Punjabi. She has appealed from the sentence.

EACH COUNTRY WILL BENEFIT

President Taft Stoutly Defends Canadian Agreement

FARMERS BEING "BUNCOED"

Says Lumber Trust and Paper Manufacturers Are Trying to Kill Reciprocity—Declares Public Opinion Can Force Measure Through Senate—World Price of Wheat, Barley, Rye and Oats Is Fixed Abroad

Chicago, June 5.—President Taft declared in a speech before the Western Economic society here that the principal opposition to the Canadian reciprocity agreement came not from the farmer, but from the lumber "trust" and from American manufacturers of print paper.

In one of the most comprehensive addresses that he has made on the subject the president outlined some of the methods employed by the opponents of reciprocity; practically told the farmers they were being "buncoed" by special interests, and said that the fate of the agreement rested not so much with the United States senate as with the people of the country.

If the farmer and the country at large, he said, could be brought to understand that this treaty was in the interests of the majority of the people, he would no longer fear the coming vote in the senate.

The president did not spare words. He told of the reasons for the opposition to the treaty by the lumber trust and by the paper manufacturers, and without using names scored a New York firm, some of whose members recently appeared at the hearing before the senate finance committee in Washington ostensibly in behalf of the national grange and objected to the enactment of the agreement.

Despite the forces that are arrayed against it the president expressed the belief that the agreement would become a law.

"The bill," he said, "will pass, if it passes at all, because of the force of public opinion in its favor."

Other points in the president's plea for reciprocity were:

When the bill does pass, its actual operation will be so beneficial to both countries that the arguments against its adoption will be forgotten.

As lumber is essential to all classes and as our supply is being exhausted, we ought, when we can, enlarge the sources.

Canadian wheat can be imported and ground into flour without materially reducing the demand for or price of United States wheat.

The trade between the United States and Canada cannot but increase the sale of agricultural products across the border both ways.

The average cost of living in the United States is not higher than in Canada. There are seven millions of people there. With them we have a trade of $325,000,000 a year. What may we expect to sell if we reduce the tariff wall?

Canada cannot and does not raise more than one-sixth of the crop of the United States. The United States exports into Canada fifteen times as much meat and dairy products as Canada exports into the United States.

The world price of wheat, barley, rye and oats is fixed abroad, where the surplus of the producing countries is disposed of, and is little affected by the place from which the supply is derived.

WALKER REBUKES LODGE

Speaker Protests Attitude of Senator on Reciprocity Agreement

Boston, June 5.—Speaker Joseph Walker, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor this fall, issued a public protest against the stand Senator Lodge has taken on the Canadian reciprocity agreement and demands that the senior senator from Massachusetts support President Taft.

Mr. Walker says in an open letter to Lodge that Massachusetts sentiment favors the Canadian agreement and that Lodge was returned to the senate with the understanding that he would do all in his power to further reciprocity.

The speaker declares that such men as Henry M. Whitney, the members of the committee of 100 and himself supported Lodge for re-election with the understanding that he favored Canadian reciprocity.

"Yet, when the test comes," says Walker, "instead of upholding the treaty and fighting hostile amendments, we find you joining with other senators in the submission of amendments which, the president announces, will jeopardize the treaty."

In closing he asks Lodge if he considers his present attitude on this question frank and fair and a sincere fufilment of his pre-election promise.

CALUMET AND HECLA WINS LEGAL VICTORY

An Injunction Refused Ahmeek Minority Stockholders

Houghton, Mich., June 5.—Judge Streeter, sitting in Houghton county circuit, refused a temporary injunction to minority Ahmeek Mining company stockholders, to prevent the consummation of the Calumet and Hecla copper mine merger.

He likewise ordered the dissolution of the restraining order obtained by these interests some weeks ago from County Court Commissioner March. In effect the decision is a legal victory for the Calumet and Hecla interests and the merger plans.

There are, however, two other restraining orders outstanding against the consolidation. Hearings in both these cases have been held, but decisions have not yet been announced.

TO HURRY DISSOLUTION

Supreme Court Takes Final Action In Standard Oil Case

Washington, June 5.—The mandate of the United States supreme court for the dissolution of the Standard Oil company has been issued. It was the last formal legal act in connection with the litigation against the great trust.

The prompt issuance of the mandate resulted from an urgent request by Attorney General Wickersham, who sought to shorten the period allowed for dissolution and bring nearer the institution of criminal proceedings if it is decided to follow that course.

The final order was directed to the circuit court for the eastern district of Missouri. It will become effective immediately upon its receipt and the six months allowed for dissolution will date from that time. It is believed the official document will reach St. Louis today.

Wool Tariff Bill Favored by Ways and Means Committee

Washington, June 5.—The wool tariff revision bill will be reported favorably to the house when it convenes tomorrow, the ways and means committee so deciding. There was a strict party vote on the bill, fourteen Democrats approving and seven Republicans voting against it. The long debate on the bill will begin Wednesday.

Representative Hill of Connecticut introduced a resolution urging postponement of action until winter, which was voted down. The resolution characterized the Underwood bill as a "radical departure from all former recognized revenue policies of the country."

IRON WORKER TELLS OF PLOT

Says He Made Inspection of Non-Union Structures

MARKS FIXED FOR DYNAMITE

Alleged Confession of Man Now Employed as Oil Well Shooter In Which He Says He Was Employed by Secretary-Treasurer McNamara—Broke With Union Because Fee For Jobs Was Not Paid

Muskogee, Okla., June 5.—John Delaney, a structural iron worker, is alleged to have confessed that he had been employed by John J. McNamara, secretary and treasurer of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, to travel throughout the country inspecting all structures being erected by non-union labor, procuring carefully made drawings of such structures and marking with a cross the spot where dynamite could be most easily placed and would be most effective.

The confession is said to have been made to Harry Egan, a representative of the Muskogee Phoenix, in the presence of witnesses.

Delaney still has a few of the drawings, bearing the cross marks, in his possession, together with several letters of instructions addressed to him and purporting to be signed by McNamara.

Delaney, in his confession, said he was introduced to McNamara at Indianapolis by G. E. Skidmore of Pittsburg. The confession in part follows:

"The first building I located for McNamara was in Cincinnati, an office building in Vine street which was being erected by non-union men. I sent McNamara a diagram of this building, showing him the point where dynamite could be placed for the destruction of the building. This building was blown up by members of the Structural Iron Workers' union in January, 1907.

"The next building I located was the viaduct in Chicago that was blown up in February, 1907. I went from there to St. Louis and located a building at St. Charles street, which was blown up at some time later by the Structural Iron Workers' union. I went from there to Denver.

"While at Denver I received a letter from McNamara to go to Salt Lake City, and I went, arriving there Nov. 16, 1909. I got two letters from McNamara, instructing me to find the location of the Utah hotel. This building was blown up on Dec. 28, at 3 a. m.

"I was arrested and tried in connection with this case and given six months in the county jail and a fine of $350. I paid them $65 and the balance was remitted and I served the sentence. After leaving the jail I went to Houston, Tex., and there wrote to McNamara, demanding my fee for the part I had taken in these affairs. He wrote back to me refusing to give me any aid whatever and also advised the local secretary to take up my union card. My union card was No. 39,783. Since then I have had nothing whatever to do with the union or McNamara and give this statement cheerfully of my own accord, that justice may be done the offending parties."

Delaney came to Muskogee two months ago. He began work as a cab driver. He worked at that just seven days, when he accepted employment as oil well shooter in the oil fields here. He is still working there.

HOPELESSLY DIVIDED

Jury Reports Disagreement In Sederquist-Barry Case

Boston, June 5.—As the Sederquist-Barry jury was hopelessly divided after twenty-four hours of deliberation on the charges of larceny against Arthur B. Sederquist, John E. Barry and D. E. Bigelow, stock brokers, Judge Jenney discharged the panel from further consideration of the case in the superior criminal court. It was reported the jury stood six to six.

The trial started March 6, and continued through sixty days of actual trial, costing the county about $50,000. A large part of this expense was for fees paid to expert accountants.

SISTERS IN AUTO ACCIDENT

One Killed and Other Fatally Hurt When Car Hits Pole

Worcester, Mass., June 5.—Miss Catherine Ryan, 19 years old, was instantly killed, and her sister, Margaret Ryan, 29, was fatally injured when a large touring car, owned and driven by J. F. Ozarn, a contractor of this city, crashed into a telephone pole on Quinsigamond avenue in Shrewsbury at an early hour Sunday morning.

Mrs. W. L. Rousseau, Frank Winchester and C. J. Breen, who also were occupants of the automobile, escaped with minor injuries. The elder Ryan girl has a fractured spine and no hope is held out for her recovery. With the exception of Breen, who is a traveling salesman for a Detroit concern and hails from there, all are residents of Worcester.

NEW YORK PLANS STATE FARM COLONY FOR THE HOBO

Successful European Idea to Be Tried In This Country

The Experiment May Be Widely Copied by Other States

THERE are half a million tramps and vagrants in the United States. This is not an official figure, for no tramp census has ever been taken, but it is the estimate of the national committee on vagrancy and of other organizations that have studied the problem of the vagabond and what to do with him. This vast army is now engaged in a march across the country, swarming out of the cities, where it has been in winter quarters; out of the jails and penitentiaries and almhouses, where it has been supported in idleness and comparative luxury during the past few months, and spreading out through the villages and country districts.

Its members follow the lines of the railways, beating their way on freight trains, getting their food in "hand-outs" or by petty thefts, sleeping in barns and under haystacks or, if the weather drives them to it, seeking the shelter of the town police station or the village lockup. One-fifth of their number are always in jail, and in one way or another the public lodges them, feeds them and bears the burden of their pilferings and their destruction of property, all of which in the aggregate amounts to many millions of dollars every year.

New York First to Move.

As the state which has more of these "knights of the road" than any other New York is now endeavoring to find a better way of dealing with the evil than the present one of passing the tramps on from one community to another, with an enforced rest now and then in some penitentiary or jail which does not in the least inconvenience them and serves only to make them more confirmed in the belief that the public owes them a living and in the determination to collect it by their time honored methods. The attention of the state authorities has been fixed upon this subject by the collection of statistics recently, which showed that there has been a very great increase in vagrancy in the state within the past year and that the number of homeless and unemployed wanderers is several times as great as it was only five years ago.

As a result of the discovery that the methods heretofore followed are far more satisfactory to the hobo than to the public and that they serve only to increase the number of beggars and vagabonds a bill is now before the state legislature providing a new remedy for the evil. This is nothing less than a proposal to set the tramp to work. The very idea of such a thing is enough to horrify Dusty Rhodes and all his clan, but their wishes are not to be consulted in the matter.

Hereafter, if the bill becomes law, Panhandle Pete whenever he runs afoul the law, instead of a week or two in the county jail spent in swapping yarns or playing cards with others of his kind around a comfortable stove, will be promptly shipped to the state farm and will be forced to apply himself to hoe and shovel in tilling the soil and wooing it to a productiveness that will pay the cost of his keep. The length of time that he will continue this occupation will depend upon the judgment of those in charge of the institution. If he gets the work habit strongly enough to want to continue it he will be released as soon as he gains a fair knowledge of farm work and thereafter will find no difficulty in maintaining himself, for there is always a shortage of farm labor in New York. If he is an incorrigible one, experience of the farm colony will be enough, and as soon as he is released he will make a bee line for the state border and will shun the Empire State forevermore. In any case it is the opinion of those who are urging the plan that the public will be relieved of a large share of the expense of maintaining him, which, according to the estimate of the state board of charities, amounts to over $2,000,000 a year in the expenses of jails and penitentiaries alone.

Plan Successful Abroad.

This plan is a brand new one in the United States, but it has been employed for years in European countries and is said to have been highly successful there. The largest of these European colonies is located at Merxplas, Belgium, and has 5,000 inmates. Germany has thirty-four of these colonies in different parts of the empire. Switzerland, which is the only country in the world that has solved the tramp problem, has done it largely through the farm colony which is located at Witzwil, in the canton of Berne. This Swiss tramp farm consists of 2,000 acres. Good gravel roads traverse its fields. No fences, walls or signs tell the visitor when he has entered the prison grounds. Here and there are substantial farmhouses, each with a large, plain, practical barn. A paid farmer lives with his family and four working prisoners at each of these outposts, where about thirty cows are kept. In the center of the farm is a group of buildings, including the director's house, a cell house and large barns and workshops.

This farming enterprise, in which most of the work is done by prisoners, has turned out to be a good business investment for the canton. There has been expended upon it $350,000, and its present valuation is $550,000, an average gain for the time the institution has been in operation of over $13,000 a year.

Other States May Copy.

Five-sixths both of the gross and the net industrial receipts of the farm are from agriculture. Yearly there are sold $20,000 worth of cattle and hogs, $12,000 worth of milk and $40,000 worth of other agricultural products, and through the winter 400 hogs and 800 cattle are kept.

The charitable organizations of New York, the mayors, chiefs of police and city judges of its various cities are all in favor of the adoption of the farm colony idea. It is believed that it will greatly decrease the number of tramps in the state, teach some of them to become industrious and self supporting workers, save the millions of dollars now paid out by the people of the state for their maintenance and do away with the social danger that exists in the presence of these undesirables in the unpoliced rural sections of the state. The experiment is one that will be watched with interest. If successful it is likely to be widely copied by other states.

M'KINLEY'S VOTE.

Miss Tarbell Tells How He Came to Cast It For the Silver Bill.

Trades and deals formed the life blood of politics in the old days even more than now. An interesting story is told along this line by Ida M. Tarbell in the June number of the American Magazine. In part she says:

"The surprising trades and compromises that Mr. McKinley made in putting through the tariff bill of 1890 were part and parcel of his insensibility to the moral side of the doctrine of protection. One of the most amazing of his acts was his voting for the silver bill. He had persuaded the western senators to support his tariff bill, in much of which they did not believe, and they in turn expected him to support their silver bill, in which he did not believe. I cannot say that Mr. McKinley had promised beforehand to give them support—I do not know—but I do know that when the silver bill came to vote Mr. McKinley sought his friend and political opponent, Roger Q. Mills of Texas, and asked: 'What can I do? I do not want to vote for this bill; I do not believe in it.' And Mr. Mills said to him: 'You can do nothing else. They voted for your bill on the understanding that you in turn would support theirs. There is nothing else to do.' These are protectionist morals. Could there be a better training school in legislative cynicism and callousness?"

EXCLUSIVE HOSPITAL.

Backed by prominent men of Boston, a hospital is to be established in that city which will be exclusively for the wealthy. The promoters of the hospital figure on its paying at least 5 per cent dividends.

The plan has grown out of the curious conditions which persons of ample means face when they seek in Boston the best medical treatment and such comfort or even luxury in hospital accommodations as they are able and willing to pay for. The public hospitals of Boston, intended mainly for the ill poor, make little provision for well to do patients, and the latter class can, in fact, secure the benefits of treatment by the staffs of the large hospitals only by accepting conditions which are repugnant to them.

The corporation is to be formed with a capital stock of $500,000, divided into two classes of shares. There will be twenty-five shares of common stock, paying no dividends, but carrying the voting power, to be held by fifteen physicians and by ten business men, who will form the board of directors. The other 4,975 shares will be preferred stock, with 5 per cent cumulative dividends, but with no voting power.

WOMEN WEAR FAKE GEMS

Some Were Contributed Toward Casting of Chalice For Church

Boston, June 5.—That fashionable women of the Church of the Advent, in the Back Bay, in contributing ornaments and gems toward the casting of a chalice, had parted with ornaments merely plated with gold or composed of brass and supposedly precious stones consisting of glass and paste, was the charge made by Rev. W. H. Van Allen, rector of the church, in the course of his sermon yesterday.

Although Van Allen did not accuse these women of having made the contributions with the intention of deceiving him, he intimated that it had been proven that a number of the women of the church had been displaying tawdry gold-plated metal, brass, glass and paste, instead of real gold ornaments and genuine stones.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

EVILS OF DIVORCE.

There is a social scourge more blighting and more destructive of family life than Mormonism. It is the fearfully increasing number of divorce mills throughout the United States. These mills, like the mills of the gods, are slowly but surely grinding to powder the domestic altars of the nation. Husband and wife are separated on the most flimsy pretexts. And as if the different states of the Union were not sufficiently accommodating in this respect one state has the unenviable distinction of granting a bill of divorce for the mere asking of it, on the sole condition of a brief residence within her borders.—Cardinal Gibbons.

ANOTHER WIN FOR QUINCYS

Defeats Old Rival 10 to 1. Other Saturday Games

The Quincy baseball club continued its winning on Saturday by defeating Stoughton 10 to 1. "Artie" Dunn was called in to pitch at the last moment since Patterson did not show up and he proved himself a good old "come back" in the box after an interval of six years, striking out nine men and giving but one base on balls. Graham his much lauded opponent on the slab, struck out ten men, issued four passes and allowed seventeen hits. Nowell surely had his Angora for one getting five hits, one, a three bagger out of five times at bat. Fallon was next with three hits. "George" also made a pretty one hand catch of a long line drive. "Linc" Elcock gave a good account of himself at short and started the hitting by sending out a slashing two bagger scoring Shaw. Schuyler Kelly, who was sent in at third on a moment's notice, fielded his position faultlessly and got two good hits one a long drive good for three bases. "Wes" Ganzel at first played a strong fielding game but did not figure in the hitting. Fitzgerald played his usual good game behind the bat and Duggan cut off a couple of hits after running some distance. Shaw did not have much opportunity at second base but accepted two of his chances and lost the other on a bad bounce.

For the visitors, Morris played a fine game at shortstop getting two outs on flys back of third and picking up two hot grounders in faultless style. His error was on a poor throw after making a diffcult stop. The star play of the game was made by Lehan, left fielder on the Stoughton. In the third inning, Elcock smashed out a long one into left field, which looked good for at least three bases. Lehan was off with the crack of the bat, leaped the ditch and barb wire fence and got the ball with apparent ease. Sullivan led the visitors in batting with Lehan and Connelly, the old Quincy pitcher, following closely behind with two each. The game was closely contested except in the seventh inning when Quincy got seven runs on six hits, one a three bagger by Kelly.

CHICAGO CONGRESS TO SOLVE PROBLEMS.

International Gathering Will Bring Together Noted Experts.

Much interest is being manifested in the international municipal congress and exposition to be held in Chicago Sept. 18 to 30, and arrangements are being made for the reception of a large number of visitors from the principal cities of the United States and several foreign countries.

It is believed that through this municipal exposition, making possible comparisons between various communities with reference to their systems of government, their notable accomplishments of the past and their plans for the future, there will be created a spirit of rivalry and civic pride that will do much for the advancement of municipal betterment.

Experts of worldwide fame and known ability in matters pertaining to municipal government will be in attendance at the exposition, and addresses will be made on many subjects of vital interest to municipalities generally.

It is considered that this is the most comprehensive attempt ever made to bring together the most intelligent educators in all lines of municipal endeavor.

Health and sanitation, including garbage collection and its disposition and the prevention and suppression of epidemics, will be given especial attention during the session of the congress, as will also the subject of taxation. This latter will include discussions of equalizing taxation, restriction of a city's taxing powers, methods of collection of taxes and their disbursement.

Among other subjects to be discussed will be that of public utilities. Included in this will be the subjects of franchises, municipal ownership, street lighting, water systems, docks and water transportation and modern housing.

June.

Methought that winter, love, would never end.
That the dark year had slain the innocent May,
Nor hoped that your soft hand this summer day
Would lie, as now, in mine, beloved friend,
And, like some magic spring, your dream deep eyes
Hold all the summer skies.

But, lo, the world again is mad with flowers,
The long white silence spoke, small bird by bird,
Blade after blade, amid the song of showers,
The grass stole back once more, and there was heard
The ancient music of the vernal spheres,
Half laughter and half tears.

Ah, love, and now too swiftly, like some groom,
Raining hot kisses on his bride's young mouth,
The mad young year, delirious with the south,
Squanders his fairy treasure bloom on bloom.
Too soon the wild rose hastens to be sweet.
Too swift, O June, thy feet!

Tarry a little, summer; crowd not so
All glory and gladness in so brief a day
Teach all thy dancing flowers a step more slow,
And bid thy wild musicians softlier play.
Oh, hast thou thought that like a madman spends
The longest summer ends?
—Richard Le Gallienne in Columbian.

How to Save Tablecloths.

It is well to have your tablecloths and sheets folded widthways occasionally, instead of lengthways, as this prevents the fold from always coming in the same place and thus causing that place to wear out first.

HOW TO COOK RICE.

Chinese Method Leaves Each Grain Whole and Perfectly Dry.

The Chinese method of cooking rice differs from that of the ordinary housewife, and the rice when done instead of being a mushy, sticky paste is spotlessly white, perfectly dry, with each grain standing by itself.

To attain these results pick the rice over carefully to remove all refuse, then wash it through several waters, rubbing it between the hands to remove the coating of starchy powder When the water is perfectly clear you will know that the rice is in fit condition to be cooked.

Have some water boiling in a saucepan, the proper proportions being about two quarts of unsalted water to each half pint of rice. Sprinkle the rice in so slowly that the water will scarcely stop boiling and cook it at a gallop in order that the grains may be kept in motion while boiling. Do not stir or touch the rice in any way after the grains have commenced to soften.

When they are done drain off all the water and set the pan in the oven, that the rice may swell. Do not let it cook or brown, and serve it as soon as it has become thoroughly dry, which will probably be in less than ten minutes. Let each person salt the rice to suit his own taste after it has been brought to the table.

General Henry L. Burnett of Goshen, N. Y., received by registered mail from Chicago a key winder silver watch that had been dispatched to him by messenger during the civil war and never reached him.

General Burnett was major of the Second Ohio regiment when A. N Hoffman sent him the watch with the inscription on the case, "Presented to Major Henry L. Burnett by Hon A. N. Hoffman."

MANY IMPORTANT MATTERS BEFORE CITY COUNCIL

Mayor Authorized to Petition Legislature to Borrow $100,000 for Public Docks

Monday night's meeting of the City Council was an important one and a large amount of business was disposed of. Everything was serene and harmonious until near the end of the meeting. Then there was a burst of oratory on the part of Councilman Branch during which the members of the Council listened to a talk on paving blocks, particularly the three blocks taken from Hancock street which figured in the last municipal campaign which ended in the blocks, which were purloined from the street being returned. The paving block question came up during the discussion on the passage of the order to widen Hancock street between Saville and Dimmock street.

Another incident was the turning down of the proposition of Councilman Cherrington to transfer $250 from the Excess and Deficiency Fund for the July 4th celebration at Atlantic.

Councilmen Histen, and Jenkins were absent.

COMMUNICATIONS.

A communication was received from the Mayor appointing George W. Rockwell, John J. Howley and Newman A. Savage as constables.

A communication was received from the Old Colony Street Railway Co. accepting the location for a branch-off track on Hancock street. Placed on file.

NEPONSET BRIDGE.

The Mayor forwarded a communication from the Commissioner of Public Works asking for an appropriation of $4,000 to do certain patching on the Neponset bridge. Referred to Committee on Streets.

CRESCENT STREET.

A communication was received from the Ward Four Naturalization club protesting against the restricting of the use of Crescent street to pleasure vehicles. Placed on file.

PETITIONS.

Councilman Duffy presented a petition that the Dr. Everett estate be purchased by the city for a playground for Ward One. Referred to joint Committee on Finance and Public Buildings.

Councilman Boyd presented a petition for the extension of the sewer on Willard street between Crescent street and Rogers street. Referred to the Executive.

Petitions were received from the Electric Light Co. for a location for poles on Granite and Water streets and High School avenue. Referred to Committee on Streets.

A petition was received from the Telephone Co., for attachments on Sagamore and Norfolk streets and to remove a pole on Norfolk street. Referred to Committee on Streets.

PUBLIC HEARINGS.

A public hearing was held at 8 o'clock on the acceptance of a number of streets under the betterment act. The only opposition to any of the streets was to Taber street, where the abutters wanted the street accepted but objected to paying betterments. The streets on which hearings were held were Ring avenue, Buckley street, Nelson street extension, Tyler street and West Squantum street. After the hearing the order was recommitted.

Hearings were also held on the petitions of C. H. Penniman and W. A. Bradford Co to keep gasoline. After the hearings the orders were recommitted.

GAS MAINS.

The Committee on Streets reported an order granting the Gas Co., permission to lay mains. The order contains the provision that there shall be an inspector on the work to be appointed by the Commissioner and paid for by the company. Ordered to a second reading.

POLE LOCATIONS.

The Committee on Streets reported ought to pass on the orders granting the Telephone Co. a location for poles and attachments and the Electric Light Co. a location for poles. Orders passed.

The Committee on Streets reported an amendment to the order granting the Telephone Co. permission to lay underground conduits. The amendment provides that there shall be an inspector on the work to be appointed by the Commissioner and paid for by the company. Order passed.

LICENSES.

The Committee on Licenses reported orders granting minor licenses which were adopted.

CRESCENT STREET.

The Committee on Streets reported an order restricting the use of Crescent street to pleasure vehicles. The order provides however that during the season of the year when the ground is frozen and covered with snow that heavy loads on runners may use the street.

The report was accepted and the rules were suspended.

Councilman Richards thought too much haste was being taken in this matter. It ought to be gone into more thoroughly. If as has been stated it takes teams longer to go by Copeland street it means a loss of time and under the present conditions it means considerable.

Councilman Smith spoke at length in favor of the order. The city ought to make an exception in this case. The street is a residential one and runs parallel with Copeland street that was built particularly for heavy teams. This was a step in the right direction.

Councilman Boyd opposed the order. It was hardly right to close this street to teams and put all of the teaming on one street. The main objection of the abutters on Crescent street was because of the noise but all the noise should not be put on Copeland street, as teams make more noise there.

Councilman Richards said that it had been twelve years since Crescent street had been repaired and that if the street lasted as long as that it would not wear out very soon after resurfaced.

The order was then passed to be ordained by roll call 14 voting yes and 5 no as follows:

YES—Bailey, Bolster, Branch, Cherrington, Craig, Duffy, Ericson, Leslie, Parlee, Ross, Sandberg, Smith, Sodergren, Studley—14.

NO—Boyd, Campbell, Forde, Gardner, Richards—5.

ABSENT—Histen, Jenkins—2.

NOT VOTING—President Bryant.

PUBLIC PIER.

The Committee on Public Buildings reported an order for $2,000 for the building of a public pier and floats and retaining wall at the foot of Bay View avenue, Houghs Neck. Order read and referred to Finance Committee.

ATHLETIC FIELD.

The Committee on Public Buildings reported an order for $1,500 for building an athletic field on that part of Merrymount park near the car barn according to plan accompanying the order. The plan provides for a cinder running tracks of five laps to the mile and a foot ball field. Order read and referred to Finance Committee.

SOLDIERS' MONUMENT.

The Finance Committee reported ought not to pass on the orders that appropriated $290 to move the soldiers monument to the front of Mt. Wollaston cemetery, $295 for a foundation for the same and authorizing the Managers of Public Burial Places to

COMMENCEMENT RECITAL

Fine Program by Mansion School Pupils

The commencement recital at the Quincy Mansion school was given by the pupils Monday evening and was thoroughly enjoyed by relatives and friends who filled Livermore hall. It was under the direction of Miss Hermine Bopp, and Mr. William Howard teachers of the piano and violin and Mrs. Bertha Cushing Child the vocal teacher. It was the best recital ever given by the school. The program was varied, gave much pleasure, and showed the careful and systematic training given the young ladies and each unmber merited the appreciative applause it received.

At the close of the program, Mrs. Willard spoke briefly of the year's work presented by the pupils, and said that as an additional pleasure Mr. Howard would give a violin solo and Mrs. Child a vocal solo with violin accompaniment. Mr. Howard gave an unusually fine rendering of "The Meditation" from Thais by Massenet. His superb tone and intelligent phrasing caught his listeners with the first note from his splendid violin. He gracefully declined an encore. Mrs. Child always a favorite not only at the school but in Quincy where her delightful voice is often heard and as she sang "For all eternity" by Mascheroni her rendering was superb, and after a hearty applause she caught the fancy of her audience by singing "Fiddle and I" by Goodeve. The program was as follows:

Two Pianos—"Rhapsodie Hongroise, No. 2" Liszt. Miss Parsons and Miss Scharff.

Piano—"Valse Mignon, Op. 136" Myer-Helmund, Miss Taylor.

Piano — "Fruhlingscrauschen", Sinding, Miss Hallowell.

Vocal—"Thy Beaming Eyes", Mac Dowell and "Flower Rain" "Schneider Miss Scharff.

TWENTIETH ANNIVERSARY

Annual Meeting of East Norfolk C. E. Union

The annual meeting and 20th anniversary celebration of the East Norfolk Christian Endeavor Union were held in the Atlantic Memorial church Monday evening. At 5.30 the business meeting was called to order. Reports of the officers showed that the year had been a successful one financially as well as spiritually. One new society, the Calvary Baptist, had been added during the year. The election of officers resulted as follows:

President—Alden H. Blanchard.

Vice President—Chester A. Boynton.

Rec. Secretary—Mabel Evans.

Cor. Secretary—Ida L. Thomas.

Treasurer—Artemus Dingwell.

Auditor—Victor Landstrom.

Chairman Lookout Committee—Ida L. Thomas.

Chairman Quiet Hour—Lillian McIntosh.

A banquet was served at 6.30 in the vestry of the church by the Ladies Benevolent society. About 100 sat down to the following menu:

Cold Meats	Potato Salad
Egg Salad	Fruit Salad
Ice Cream	Cake
Rolls	Coffee

Music was furnished by the Atlantic orchestra.

The church auditorium was filled to overflowing at the anniversary service in the evening. Rev. Thomas W. Davison pastor of the Memorial church conducted the devotional exercises. At the roll call, Wollaston Congregational had the largest percentage of attendance, 94 percent, and was awarded the Union banner. The First Presbyterian society was second was 85 percent and Bethany Congregational, which won the banner at the last meeting, was third.

Carle R. Hayward, secretary of the Norfolk County C. E. Union, was the first speaker. He brought the greetings of the county and spoke of the relation between the societies and the local union, and between the local and county unions.

Alfred L. Paine of Holbrook, a former president of the East Norfolk C. E. Union was the next speaker. He told briefly of the past history of the Union and spoke very feelingly of what Christian Endeavor meant to him.

Miss Emma Ostrom Nichols of Lexington, president of the Massachusetts Christian Endeavor Union, gave a splendid address on "Fellowship and Service," pointing out the various kinds of fellowship and urging a close fellowship with Christ, which would mean the highest kind of service to mankind.

The last speaker of the evening was William Shaw, general secretary of the United Society of Christian Endeavor and Treasurer of the World Christian Endeavor Union. He gave an inspiring address on "Christian Endeavor Growth" urging not so much numerical growth of societies, despite its importance, as spiritual growth of the individual.

The meetings of the Union will be discontinued until September when the fall cabinet meeting will be held.

A special capinet meeting has been called for Monday, June 12, to discuss three important measures, the Union budget, changing the time of meeting from the first to the third Monday in the month and electing delegates to Sagamore.

ASSOCIATION FREE FROM INDEBTEDNESS

Total Membership of 492 at End of Year, 270 men and 222 boys

The association has just ended its 20th, year of service to the people of Quincy. This anniversary of the corporation sees it free from indebtedness and in better conditions than ever before.

Large things have been accomplished in the past year and of course the most prominent of all was the cancellation of the balance of the mortgage amounting to $9,000.

The Campaign for $5,000. last February was a noteworthy event and clearly demonstrated that a short campaign is far better than the old method of haphazard soliciting month by month by a limited number of men.

SOCIAL DEPARTMENT.

The attendance at the Building has been about 225 daily and while the social features have not been as numerous as in other years, they have been better attended and far more enjoyable.

During the winter season it was planned to have some special event on every Saturday night and the lobby and gymnasium gallery were well filled whenever these events were scheduled. 15 socials for men and 27 for our boys were given, including the Bible class suppers for the senior classes, feeds for the College Club and High School Boys.

The building was thrown open to the Fore River Draughting Room employees for one night and over 150 men were present during the evening.

This affair was handled entirely by volunteer leaders of the Association and was a grand success in every way.

EDUCATIONAL DEPARTMENT.

Classes were held this year as in the past for Mechanical Drawing students and 34 men enrolled in the two grades.

A new feature of the work this year was the Electrical Class conducted by Clayton & Craig of Boston. This firm use a most unique method of reaching their students and while the total number enrolled (17) was not large, greater results may be expected this coming year. These men conducted similar electrical classes in many surrounding Associations, using an advertising automobile to go to and from their classes.

Perhaps the biggest thing accomplished by the Educational Department was the establishment of an English class for the Finns. These classes were conducted by seven volunteer teachers, most of them men from our dormitory and were held in the rooms of the Finnish Congregational church.

Twenty sessions were held with a total attendance of 1000 men. The teachers were handicapped by the absence of Rev. Lillback who was to have acted as interpreter. He was unexpectedly called away from the city and the work of course suffered. The International Committee charts were used during the course of lessons.

A great opportunity is before the Association for the coming year along this line of work among the foreigners of our city.

RELIGIOUS DEPARTMENT.

The religious work this year has been along sane and sound and practical lines and touched both members and non members. Six meetings for men were conducted in the Association Hall by the different Men's Clubs from the churches with a total attendance of about 200.

Forty-one meetings were held for the boys with a total attendance of 4368. Five meetings for boys were held at various churches in the city with almost 500 in attendance. Bible classes for the dormitory and Gym. men were conducted by the General Secretary and Physical Director with a total atendance of 250.

Twelve Bible classes were conducted in the Boy's Department and Extension Clubs with a grand total of 2806 boys in attendance and 160 men and boys professed to begin the Christian life as a result of the season's religious activities. While 29 have united with various Churches.

PHYSICAL DEPARTMENT.

The Physical Department has enjoyed the banner year of its exisance both in interest shown and the number of men using the privileges. 213 men and 170 boys, a total of 383 used the bowling alleys, gymnasium, shower baths and swimming pool. A grand total of 166,876 men and boys used our privileges during the season.

HONESTY IN EVERYTHING

"Congress takes a day off," said a newspaper headline. Off what?

Though all wrapped up in the cause of insurgency, Madero's soldiers want to dine occasionally.

It really looks as if J. G. Cannon had enjoyed the extra session about as much as anybody.

Still, when we hear how much it costs, we can restrain our grief at not attending King George's coronation.

Wherever postal savings banks have been inaugurated the people did not have any false modesty about using them.

Mayor Gaynor who thinks no saloons are open in New York on Sunday, evidentally does not have much of a thirst on that day.

Possibly those city councilmen in Kansas who stayed away from a meeting called by the lady mayor were merely bashful.

On American farms $104,000.000 more wealth was produced last year than year before. That sum would buy a good many automobiles and it did.

"With the approach of warm weather in Washington, congress is naturally anxious to know when it can get away." The answer's easy. As soon as the senate ratifies the reciprocity agreement.

How long are Quincy people going to stand for the poor train service of the N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R. Co.? Each change of timetable brings worse and worse results. Are the trains run for the people? If any one is really satisfied with the present arrangements we wish they would come forward and say so.

LECTURE.

Hon. Brooks Adams president of the Quincy Historical society is to lecture before the society on Monday evening, June 12 in First Church chapel and just at this time when the Civil war is being so much written about his subject should be very interesting as his special topic will be on the incidents of his father's career when he prevented the Laird Rams from leaving England to go to the aid of the Southern confederacy. Had these rams been allowed to reach the United States it is thought that they would have been able to break the blockade in the South and also enter any harbor in the North as they were the most powerful war vessels at that time in the worldx. Charles Francis Adams was ambassador to England during the Civil war and served his country faithfully. A tablet has been recently erected to his memory in First church.

NATIONAL CHARITIES CONFERENCE.

The National Charities Conference which meets in Boston for the first time in thirty years brings together many noted speakers. It is a rare opportunity for Quincy people to hear such prominent men and women as Jane Addams, Jacob Riis, Miss Mary Richmond, Charles W. Eliot, Mrs. Florence Kelly, Washington Gledden, Seumas McManus, Dr. Richard Cabot, Miss Alice Higgins, Dean George Hodges and Dr. Jeffrey Brackett.

—If that Chicago minister really thinks that Chicago is the wickedest big city in the world, why doesn't he stay there and continue his labors, instead of coming on to Boston? Isn't his acceptance of the Boston call something like deserting in the face of the enemy?—Somerville Journal.

The Finance Committee reported ought to pass on the order for oiling Webster street. Accepted.

WARD THREE LOT.

The Committee on Public Buildings reported ought not to pass on the order appropriating $8,000 for the purchase of land on Water street for the Adams school lot. Report accepted.

PERMANENT SIDEWALKS.

The Finance Committee reported an amendment to the order appropriating $24,800 for permanent sidewalks. The amendment adds the borrowing clause extending the loan over ten years. Of the amount $3,800 comes due July 1, 1912, $3,000 July 1 in the years 1913 to 1915 inclusive and $2,000 on July 1, of each succeeding year until 1921. Amendment accepted order read and ordered to a second reading.

Councilman Branch moved that the order be recommitted to the joint Committee on Finance and Streets.

In support of his motion he said that the financial condition was such that we should go slow. Our debt limit is climbing rapidly and too much is falling due next year. We ought to trim as closely as closely as possible. He understood that there was one street in the order on which a petition remonstrating had been received, signed by all but one abutter.

This had not come along to the Finance Committee but had evidently been pigeonholed somewhere.

President Bryant, stated for the clerk, that the petition in question had been received by the committee after the question of sidewalks had been acted upon.

We are going faster into debt than any city in the state with the exception of two.

Councilman Gardner hoped that the motion would not prevail. The committee had gone into this thoroughly and no more could be gained by recommitting.

Councilman Sandberg favored a smaller amount.

Councilman Leslie asked the Mayor if the city was in condition to shoulder this amount.

Mayor Shea replied that the city was in condition but he would not express any opinion as to the wisdom of it.

Councilman Studley stated that River street was one greatly used by the public in going to the bath house and that there should be a sidewalk leading there.

The motion to recommit was lost.

Councilman Sandberg moved to amend by striking out all of the granolithic sidewalks and cutting the amount to $15,000. Motion lost. The order was then ordered to a second reading.

MOTIONS.

Mayor Shea said that question should be asked of the Commissioner.

The Commissioner was sent for and asked the same question. He replied that the repairs were started in good faith but a snag had been struck in the money end which had delayed work. It would be fixed up as soon as possible.

On motion of Councilman Bolster the application of Jacob Goldner for a junk license was taken from the table and the rules suspended to admit it. Councilman Bolster then offered an order granting the license. After some discussion the order was referred to the Committee on Licenses.

WATER AT CEMETERY.

Councilman Richards offered an order transferring the sum of $402 received from the sale of the building on the Wollaston school lot to a special appropriation for extending the water service at Mt. Wollaston cemetery. Referred to Cinance Committee.

ATLANTIC'S FOURTH.

Councilman Cherrington offered an order transferring the sum of $250 from the Excess and Deficiency Fund to a special appropriation for the celebration of the Fourth of July at Atlantic. He moved the reference of the order to the Finance Committee be withdrawn. Voted.

The question was then on adoption.

Councilman Smith opposed the order.

Councilman Branch opposed. The time to have asked for this was earlier in the year.

Councilman Bailey favored.

Councilman Cherrington spoke in favor. Atlantic was the first to begin to celebrate and there had been a vote passed by his association to ask the Mayor for a part of the appropriation of $1000. He thought this would be better however and he had ascertained that there was money enough in the Excess and Deficiency Fund.

Councilman Nowland opposed.

On roll call the order was rejected, 9 voting yes and 11 no as follows:—

YES—Bailey, Cherrington, Gardner, Leslie, Parlee, Ross, Sandberg, Sodergren, Studley—9.

ABSENT—Histen, Jenkins—2.

NOT VOTING—President Bryant.

Councilman Bailey offered an order granting William T. Donovan an auctioneer's license. Adopted.

Councilman Forde offered an order for a light on Ballou street. Referred to Executive.

Councilman Nowland offered an order for a fire alarm box on Edgemore road. Referred to Finance Committee.

ALL NIGHT CARS.

Councilman Duffy offered a resolve requesting the Mayor to confer with the street railway relative to all night cars between City Square and Neponset bridge, there to be at least one car an hour between 12.30 and 5.30 A. M. Adopted.

Councilman Duffy had the application of Eddie Asnes for a junk license taken from the table and offered an order granting the license . Referred to Committee on Licenses.

CALENDAR.

The order granting the Telephone Company attachments and a location for poles was passed.

The order appropriating $850 for hose for the new chemical engine was passed.

The order granting the Electric Light Co. a location for poles was passed.

The order widening School street at the corner of Franklin street was passed.

The order widening Garfield street was passed.

HANCOCK STREET.

The order widening Hancock street between Saville and Dimmock street took its second reading and the rules were suspended.

Councilman Branch said before he voted for the order he wanted to know what kind of street surface was to be put in, what the sidewalk was to be, etc.

Commissioner Bainbridge was sent for and Councilman Branch asked him if better paving than that used on Hancock street last year was to be used.

The Commissioner replied that the blocks would be small and laid on a concrete base.

Continuing Councilman Branch said that before he voted for the order he wanted to be assured that the city would get better paving than that used last year on Hancock street. He would like to ask the Mayor if he would give the assurance.

Mayor Shea replied that the paving blocks on Hancock street were all right and there was no use to thrash that out again. The job will be done first class and according to specifications.

Councilman Branch then read the contract for the paving of Hancock street in which the size of blocks to be used were specified. He understood that there had been some difficulty in getting blocks and the Executive had done the best that he could. If His Honor will say so that was all he desired, but he took exception to the statement that they were up to the standard.

Continuing Councilman Branch said that he borrowed some of those blocks and he would now return them. He then produced the three blocks that had figured in the municipal campaign last December. These he measured before the Council to show that they were not up to the standard. If blocks of this kind are to be used all contractors should have the same privilege of bidding on them. It was not a square deal. He did not know much about paving blocks but he knew how to measure and he knew that these blacks did not come up to the specifications.

He had been told that the same kind of blocks were being used in Cambridge but he had visited that city and found them far different. He therefore asked for some assurance of what was to be done on Hancock street if this order went through.

Mayor Shea replying, said that he was glad to see the city's property returned. If the gentleman will recall, what he has stated here is just what I told him in my office. I explained the situation to him. The only assurance "I will make is that I will expend the money the best that I can and I did not propose to be criticized." He did not intend to apologize for anything that he had done and he believed that the citizens would uphold him.

The rules were then suspended and the order passed to be ordained by roll call 16 voting yes and 4 no as follows:

YES—Bailey, Bolster, Boyd, Cherrington, Craig, Duffy, Ericson, Forde, Gardner, Parlee, Richards, Ross Sandberg, Smith, Sodergren, Studley—16.

NO—Branch, Campbell, Leslie, Nowland—4.

ABSENT—Histen, Jenkins—2.

NOT VOTING—President Bryant.

PUBLIC DOCKS.

Councilman Sandberg offered a resolve requesting the Mayor to petition the legislature for authority for the city of borrow $100,000 outside of the debt limit for the purpose of building public docks. Adopted.

IS HONORED BY ALL CLASSES

Many Thousand Persons Pay Respects to Cardinal Gibbons

A GREAT LIST OF NOTABLES

President Taft and Cabinet, Supreme Court Justice White, Congressmen, Governors of States as Well as Humbler Citizens Participate In Golden and Silver Jubilee In Prelate's Home City

Baltimore, June 6.—Nearly 20,000 persons crowded the big Fifth Regiment armory today at the civic reception in honor of Cardinal Gibbons' jubilee, the fiftieth anniversary of his ordination to the priesthood and the twenty-fifth anniversary of his elevation to the cardinalate.

When the reception was first planned Baltimore's largest theatre, the Lyric, was chosen as the meeting place, but it was soon seen that the building was too small. The armory was then engaged for the occasion. It is decorated in red, the cardinal's colors.

Theodore Roosevelt was present, as well as the members of the city council of Baltimore, superintendents of West Point military academy, and the naval academy, governors of several states, mayors of cities, the judiciary of the state of Maryland, archbishops of the Catholic church in the United States, bishops of churches of other colleges, presidents of various commercial bodies, presidents of institutes of learning and army and navy officers.

There were also present some of the most prominent citizens of Baltimore, doctors, lawyers, bankers, merchants, politicians, city officials, officers of trust companies, theatrical managers. In a word all classes and every creed took part in this notable reception.

Dr. John G. Murray, the Episcopal bishop of Maryland, served as chairman of the committee of reception; Dr. William Rosenau, one of the leading rabbis of Baltimore, and Rev. Oliver Huckey, pastor of the Congregational church, took prominent parts in honoring the cardinal.

Cardinal Gibbons is the son of Irish parents. He is very companionable. He does not keep a carriage and seldom uses a trolley car. When he wants to go any place within walking distance he walks. His life is a very simple one.

Cardinal Gibbons has had a remarkable and brilliant career. He was born in Baltimore, July 23, 1834, and at 19 he entered St. Charles college to begin his preparatory studies. At the end of three years he was transferred to the seminary of St. Sulpice, Baltimore, to study theology and philosophy. He was ordained priest on June 30, 1861.

DRESSED AS A WOMAN

Italian Armed With Revolver and Knives Is Taken Into Custody

Syracuse, N. Y., June 6.—An Italian, dressed as a woman, and heavily veiled, was placed under arrest at the New York Central station and is held by the police pending an investigation.

He had a loaded revolver, a box of cartridges and two big knives. Efforts of the police to get the prisoner to explain his presence in Syracuse have failed. The man claims he lives in Albany and gives the name of Joseph Russe.

HITS METHODS OF PARK COMMISSION

Foss Submits Fiftieth Message to Bay State Legislature

Boston, June 6.—Voicing his report "that the regular park boulevards have been converted into aristocratic highways and the public is paying the bills," Governor Foss, in his fiftieth message to the legislature, not only calls for an increase in the license fee for automobiles, but condemns the metropolitan park commission for permitting public lands to be used as private property by certain favored persons.

The governor's comments in transmitting Walter Webster's report on the commission is regarded at the state house as a sharp attack on the methods of the commission. The governor does not recommend a reduction in the general appropriations for parks of more than $685,000 now pending, but says he cannot at this time approve the special item of $60,000 for engineering work.

He takes the position that the cost of the upkeep of the metropolitan system is too high.

PREACHER IN JAIL

Cannot Pay Fine of $250 Imposed Upon Him For Libel

Cambridge, Mass., June 6.—Rev. Eben E. Bayliss of Somerville was brought to the Cambridge jail and will spend some time there unless he can pay a fine of $250, which he says he is unable to do. This is the result of the sustaining by Judge Hardy in the superior court of the verdict of guilty which was found against Bayliss, when he was tried for criminally libelling former Mayor John M. Woods of Somerville.

John M. Pratt, publisher of the Somerville Sun, who was found guilty at the same time, will appear for sentence later. The prosecution for libel grew out of a charge of drunkenness against Woods, which was published in The Sun.

Washington, June 6.—If the senate will consider the Democratic legislation already sent to that body by the Democratic house, the Democrats will continue to grind out tariff schedules throughout the summer. This statement was made by Chairman Underwood of the ways and means committee:

SUNDAY IN OUR CHURCHES

Topics and Announcements For Coming Week

CALVARY BAPTIST.

The pastor gave another sermon on the Beatitudes at the service Sunday morning taking his text from Matt. 5:6. "Blessed are they that hunger and thirst after righteousness, for they shall be filled." "Satisfied People" was the subject of his sermon. First Mr. Davis pointed out the great power of physical hunger and thirst which can drive men mad and make them almost bestial. Then he pointed out that hunger and thirst were natural signs of good health. The more educated classes have a greater hunger for truth, have higher aspirations than the uneducated classes. Righteousness means hungering after God. People try to satisfy their hunger for life on this earth in two ways. One through physical desires and the other through God. The only true satisfaction in life comes through seeking first the kingdom of God and His righteousness.

In the evening the pastor based his sermon on the query, "Who is your Father." John 8:39 was the text used. Many claim God for their Father and claim that they are good Christians who have not a proper foundation for that claim. Faith in God and fidelity to his wishes are necessary for qualification as a true son of God.

The Davis Men's class celebrated its first anniversary yesterday. Mr. Davis gave an historical sketch of the class telling how it came from a small beginning with only eight charter members and now had over forty.

The Junior C. E. meeting at 4 o'clock had about the same attendance as usual and the little people took hold with their accustomed enthusiasm.

The regular mid-week prayer meeting will be held Thursday evening at 7.30.

The Ladies' Mission Circle meets with Mrs. Hobart, 13 Verchild street, Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

SWEDISH CONGREGATIONAL.

"The Pentacostal Blessing" was the theme of the pastor's sermon Sunday morning. The thought was taken from the second chapter of Acts. Special music was rendered by the male choir.

The Sunday school met after the morning service instead of 9.30 for a rehearsal of the Children's day program which will be given next Sunday evening.

A Communion service was held at 5.45 in the church.

In the evening the pastor spoke upon the topic "An Old Testament Revival." The male choir sang two very fine selections.

The deacons will conduct the prayer meeting Thursday evening and the service Sunday morning. Sunday evening the Children's concert will be given under the direction of Charles Leander, superintendent of the school. Mr. Palmgren, the pastor goes to Rutland and Proctor, Vermont, on Thursday to conduct a series of special services among the Swedish people of those towns. He will not return next week.

CHRIST CHURCH.

A Holy Communion service was held at 10.30 in the morning with a sermon by the rector on "The Holy Spirit."

Albert Rendle, Mildred Robertson, William Spencer, Roy Westland, Peter Williams, Edna Wright.

Faithful attendance for one year, only one absence—Annie Atkinson, Annie Brenner, Henry Brown, Tilden Crooker, Alice Dickie, Calvin Moyle, Nellie Ridge, James E. Smith, Adelaide Spencer, Muriel Tregaskis, Russell Westland, Ellis Young.

In the evening the rector went to Cohasset to preach in exchange with Rev. H. K. Bartow. The sermon preached by Mr. Bartow was on the text, "Where your treasure is, there will your heart be also."

The Galahad Brotherhood will meet in the Parish house this evening.

Miss Carlson is a missionary in Mseleni, Sululand, South Africa, and since she was a member of this church while she lived in Quincy, the church takes great pleasure in helping to pay her expenses in the foreign field.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN.

The pastor preached at the Sunday morning service using as his text "This is the fruit of the land." He drew from the text the thought that while there is an abundance of evil in the world thre is plenty of good too and the good is a little in the supremacy. Good only comes from striving and so with all things that are worth while.

The Y. P. S. C. E. meeting was well attended and a large percentage of the membership responded to the roll call. Edward Meakin was the leader.

The Sabbath school exercises were well attended and the Y. P. S. C. E. meeting also had a good attendance.

At the evening meeting the pastor gave a message from the general assembly from which he returned Saturday afternoon. The music as well as the message was especially good. "I would extol thee" was well rendered by Miss Katie McKinnon, Mrs. Chas. Campbell and Wesley McLean.

A lawn party will be held on the church lawn this evening under the auspices of the Golden Circle.

A special meeting is called for this evening in the church to look into the matter of getting a pipe organ for the church.

ANNUAL MEETING CATHOLIC CLUB

Miss Gavin Given Pearl and Saphire Crescent

The annual meeting of the Quincy Catholic club which was held Monday evening at the rooms of the Knights of Columbus club in the Savings Bank building almost ended in a shower of tears, on the part of the members when they realized that their popular president Miss Mary L. Gavin, after serving the club in that capacity since its organization had determined to retire from the active duties of president this year.

Twice was she reelected to the highest office in the gift of the club and twice did she emphatically say that she could not again accept the honor that the members desired to confer upon her. The members would not take no for an answer yet no amount of urging and tears on their part would change Miss Gavins decision to retire.

The result was that the club finds itself without a president although Miss Gavin will continue to act until after a special meeting to be held next Tuesday evening to fill the office.

Mrs. E. J. Murphy was also reelected as vice president but declined and Mrs. Joseph A. Dasha and Mrs. John Lyons also reelected on the board of directors also declined a reelection This leaves several vacancies in the board of officers all of which will be filled at the special meeting.

Seldom has there been shown such a spirit of unanimity in the desire to have Miss Gavin serve again as president as was displayed at the meeting, showing as it did the very high regard in which she is held by the club members and the appreciation they have of her untiring efforts to bring the club up to the standard that it is today.

This appreciation the club showed in a more substantial way when Mrs. Charles C. Hearn in behalf of the members presented Miss Gavin with a beautiful crescent of pearls and saphires.

Those officers which the club did elect at this meeting were as follows:

Recording Secretary—Miss Agnes M. Deasey.

Financial Secretary—Miss Sarah Dunphy.

Treasurer—Mrs. Eva M. Deasey.

Directors—Mrs. W. L. Russell, Miss Mary Carey, Mrs. John McGowan.

The annual reports for the year show that the club has accomplished much. The president in her report says that the club is now so well established, that it is continuously being called upon by other charitable organizations, and cases of need other than those cases that are the special object of our ministrations and have been brought to the attention of the pastor by the club. The membership has increased throughout the year and it is pleasing to see the spirit of unity and interest which exists.

Other reports showed that during the year 24 business and 10 sewing meetings have been held in addition to several social events.

The total receipts of the year from all sources amount to $584.15 which with the balance on hand at the beginning of the year make the total $760.77. The expenditures for the year amounted to $681.54 leaving a balance o nhand of $79.23.

The report of the directors show that the number of cases investigated to have been 37 all of which were assisted, 859 articles of clothing were distributed not including shoes and rubbers or stockings, 91 grocery orders, two tons of coal as well as donations made to the district nurse fund and to the Mt. Pleasant camp.

Dinners were also provided at Christmas time in cases where sickness and death had caused extreme want. Numerous friendly visits to the poor and sick have been made during the year.

While it is not well to go into detail as to what has been accomplished during the year it can be said that the club has done a grand work and that through its ministrations many poor families have good reason to bless the spirit that prompted the ladies of the club to band themselves together for the noble work they are doing.

"We have left undone the things we should have done," acknowledged the fair worshiper.

"It's all right, dear," whispered a motherly soul in the pew back of her. "It's not undone any more. I reached over and hooked it while you was standing up."—St. Louis Republic.

WOMAN'S HONOR SAVED BY BOILING BROTH.

Correspondent Tells of an Odd Trial by Ordeal at Hankow.

Writing from Chenyuan, in Yunnan, China, a correspondent tells of an interesting ceremony among the Miao tribes which has come to his notice.

Recently one of his helpers was away for a visit to his home. When he returned he excused himself for being behind time by saying there had been a "broth cooking" in his village. When asked what he meant he said there had been a quarrel which was settled by cooking broth.

The quarrel started between two women. A certain young woman was in the habit of visiting an elder woman. One day the elder woman said:

"I don't like you to come here. After you were here once my husband died. Another visit was followed by my son's death. I believe you bring us bad luck, and I want you to keep away."

Such an accusation aroused great hostility, and some trouble ensued. Finally one of the young woman's party offered to vindicate her character by the broth cooking test.

A day was appointed, and a great crowd gathered to see the trial. A large caldron was brought out and set over a rudely prepared fireplace. Into this a mess of millet was put to boil, and an ax head was laid in the bottom of the caldron.

When the contents began to boil the young woman's champion stripped his arm bare. His duty was to reach down into the boiling porridge and snatch out the ax head with his naked hand. If his skin were blistered, then the young woman's cause was lost; if not, her honor was vindicated. Each side had also wagered a stake of 25 taels.

To snatch out the ax head was the work of an instant, and the man's hand and arm came out uninjured from the scalding bath. It was clear, therefore, that the young lady was not the minister of bad luck.

How to Choose Bananas.

Not every one knows how to choose bunches of bananas. Look at the thick end of the bunch on which they hang. If it be black the fruit will ripen too fast and rot, but if the branch be green the bananas will ripen slowly and be of good flavor. If all the stem be green the bananas will keep a long time, but if half or three-fourths of the stem is black it shows that its time is shortening. The smaller bunches are generally the sweeter. The rind should be thin and there should be no ridges. The larger the ridges the coarser the fruit.

Affidavit With Will.

By the provisions of the will of Ellsworth B. Cooper, a farmer of Hamden, Conn., the entire estate of $60,000 is left to the Connecticut Humane society, and his relatives, all cousins, are cut off. To forestall a contest Mr. Cooper had himself examined by Dr. Walter S. Lay when the will was drawn Jan. 1, 1906, and Dr. Lay signed an affidavit that Mr. Cooper was of sound mind.

NATIONAL WOMEN'S TRADE UNION

The third biennial convention of the National Women's Trade Union League opens in Boston Monday, June 12. The League aims to raise shop, health and wage standards for women workers.

During the two years since the last convention which met in Chicago, the work of the League has grown and broadened tremendously. Its members have gained in experience in both the matters of organization and legislation. In the great shirtwaist strikes of New York and Philadelphia and the strike of the garment workers in Chicago, the League has done active service and brought many thousands of unorganized women workers in touch with the American labor movement.

Delegates coming fresh from such experiences and the regular League work will make the sessions abound in vital interest to all those who have the raising of working standards at heart, and the results of the convention cannot fail to have a telling effect upon the conditions of women in industry.

Daily sessions will be held in Barnard Memorial hall 10 Warrenton street, and will be from 9 A. M. till 12 and from 2 P. M. till 5.30 and with the exception of executive sessions will be open to the press and the public. Those interested in the work and the purpose of the League are cordially invited to attend these sessions.

Subjects to be discussed are: Organization of women workers according to districts, Shop standards, Wage standards, Health standards, Protective Legislation, Judicial Decisions, Fire Protection and Old Age Pensions.

There will be public meetings at Faneuil hall, Monday at 8 P. M. Mr. William O'Brien, president of the Central Labor Union of Boston and Mr. Dennis Driscoll, secretary-treasurer of the state branch of the A. F. of L. will welcome the delegates to Boston. Mrs. Raymond Robins, National President, will preside and make the opening address and the speakers will be: Rabbi Stephen S. Wise of New York; Mr. James Duncan, First Vice President of A. F. of L.; John Mitchell; the Foreign Delegates, and some of the well known delegates from Boston and other cities.

Social features will occupy the evenings as follows: Wednesday, boat ride after work; Thursday, auto trip to Wellesley college including a reception to the delegates; Friday, shirt waist dance to delegates by the women trade unionists of Boston in Catholic Union hall.

GOING BEFORE GRAND JURY

Ohio Legislator Will Tell About the Bribery Scandal

IS ONE OF EIGHT INDICTED

He at Once Pleads Guilty and Is Fined $500—Chief Clerk of House of Representatives Acted as Go-Between "Unknowingly"—Promised Immunity In the Event of His Act Proving Indictable

Columbus, O., June 6.—The grand jury has made a third report regarding legislative bribery, returning eight indictments. Representative Owen J. Evans of Stark county was in the courtroom when the jury came in and at once was served with an indictment charging him with receiving $100 from C. L. Miller, an Akron loan agent, in connection with a bill to regulate loan companies. He pleaded guilty and was given a $500 fine by Judge Kinkead. Evans will go before the grand jury at once and tell what he knows about the bribery scandal.

The confession made to Attorney General Hogan and Prosecutor Turner by Charles W. Kempel, chief clerk of the house of representatives, has proved to be the biggest aid the state has yet received in the legislative bribery scandal. Kempel said to the state's attorneys that he may have acted unknowingly as a go-between in the payment of $100 to Evans to influence the latter's vote on a certain bill. Kempel was promised immunity in the event of his part in the alleged transaction proving indictable. Kempel's statement was as follows:

"I stepped into the office of L. C. Miller, a loan agent at Akron, to arrange some details in connection with an oil deal in which he was interested. When I had completed my business he said: 'Here is some money I want you to give to J. C. Sherra of Alliance.'

"This Alliance man acted as a lobbyist, presumably in opposition to the bill introduced to curb salary loan and chattel loan companies and to reduce the rate of interest they could charge. This was on Monday a couple of months ago, as I was starting for Columbus. The man called a couple of days later at my office in the state house, and I said to him: 'Here is some money for you.' He said he was too busy to take it, and instructed me to give it to Representative Evans. Evans came in later and I handed it to him, saying: 'Here is a hundred,' and telling him how Sherra had to catch a train and didn't have time to give it to him. The money was in a roll of several bills."

Evans is also under indictment on the testmony of John F. Weiss, a Canton brewer, who told the grand jury that Evans solicited $500 from him in return for his vote for the Dean liquor bill. He refuses to make any comment on the matter.

TRAIN CHASES RUNAWAY

Little Girl Uninjured After Wild Ride In a Carriage

Melrose, Mass., June 6.—Louise Brophy, the 4-year-old daughter of Alfred A. Brophy, who rode in a carriage drawn by a wild runaway horse over two miles of the Boston and Maine railroad tracks yesterday, with the Portland express just behind her, has wholly recovered from the effects of her thrilling experience.

Miss Mabel Farnum, who was driving the horse, was thrown out of the carriage when the horse bolted at the sight of a freight train. In spite of the injuries received by her fall, she pursued the careening carriage a mile over the tracks towards Boston. Her condition is reported to be serious. She suffered from a wrenched shoulder, contusions of the face and injuries to her right arm.

Committee Favorably Reports Lewis For Assistant Attorney General

Washington, June 6.—The nomination of William H. Lewis, a Boston negro, to be an assistant attorney general of the United States, was ordered favorably reported by the senate committee on the judiciary, one senator voting in opposition.

Lewis has been serving for about two months without salary, but will receive back pay. He is in charge of Indian affairs, with four attorneys serving under his direction.

Favorable report was ordered on the nomination of William Schofield of Massachusetts to be a United States circuit judge.

King Goes to Aldershot

London, June 6.—King George has gone to the British military depot at Aldershot to spend several days informally viewing the troops in training and inspecting the camps.

Y. M. C. A.

Keeping in mind Prof. Roberts of Boston Y. M. C. A. greatest principle "The greatest good for the greatest number," the classes have been kept as simple as possible while endeavoring to develop a correct carriage and a general physical efficiency.

Sixteen class sessions have been weekly held from October to May with the following enrolment.

Seniors and Business Men.	125
Boys	160
	285
Class sessions for men	117
Class sessions for boys	256
..	373

The total attendance at all gymnasium classes was 8,399, and 132 men and boys competed on 20 organized teams in 203 regular games and athletic meets.

The swimming pool has been a great attraction for all classes of our membership the past season. On an average of 60 dips a day have been taken and this coming year there will undoubtedly be many more.

Owing to lack of room it has not been possible to do any kind of exhibition work in the pool: there being accommodations for just 50 spectators. Over 250 boys and 50 men have been taught to swim.

PLAYGROUND WORK.

Under the auspices of the Playground of one hundred the Association took an active part in the supervision and conduct of a playground in the rear o f the building. The Physical Director and the Boy's Work Director were loaned to the Playground Committee for the summer months and the gym. was used as the headquarters of the playground work.

In the 54 working days of the playground there was a total attendance of over 10,000.

Boys and girls averaging in age from 6 to 16 years. On the closing day 532 participated in the closing exercises.

MEMBERSHIP.

The close of the year finds the Association with a total membership of 492 a small gain over that of last year. The senior department numbers 270 and the Boy's Department 222. The first time in the history of the Association that the 200 mark has been reached for the Boy's Department. 273 new members have been secured in the year. 145 men and 128 boys.

There have been 161 re-newals and 250 have failed to re-new. 740 different members have used our privileges during the past year. 33 per cent of our members are engaged in educational occupations.,

We have had a very satisfactory group of men in the dormitories, 61 different men: this is the smallest number of any previous year which indicates a longer tenure for the average, as we have been filled up almost all of the time.

BOY'S DEPARTMENT.

The Young Men's Christian Association of today is being administered, manned, pushed and planned to no small extent by the 'Junior' of yesterday.

Not only is this true of the Young Men's Christian Association but of all lines of work in the world today. Realizing this, the work for the boys of a community is amost important task.

The work for the boys of Quincy during the past year has been of a high order. "A boy in the process of growing needs the outdoors". The Quincy Association realized this to be true and so doing the first two weeks of July conducted the summer camp. Thirty boys enjoyed the outing and indeed caught the purpose of the camp "something to do, something to think about, something to enjoy in the woods with a view always to character building."

Early in the fall of 1910 the activities in the building were on in earnest and a big year was coming. The opening receptions were largely attended and the spirit of service on the part of the members in working up the socials was very evident. Immediately after the opening of our work in the building our extension clubs were started and at four points work has been conducted during the season namely, Atlantic, Wollaston, So. Quincy and Quincy Point. During the year a weeks meetings for boys were held in all parts of our city including Houghs Neck with a total attendance of about 1200 boys. The meetings were conducted entirely by the boys who attended the Worcester Conference.

Many boys had their first vision of the Christian life and their influence for right living will mean much to the community in which they live.

It was considered by many to be one of the biggest and best pieces of work ever attempted and carried through by boys in this part of the country.

We were well represented at the Worcester Conference by eighteen fellows having the largest delegation in the two states.

BOYS DEPARTMENT.

The object of the Young Men's Christian Association is to co-operate with every agency that stands for the upbuilding of the Boy Life of the City. Early in October last a conference was held for the older boys and teachers of the Sunday Schools of the City. It was attended by seventy-five boys and represented fourteen churches.

It was an unique gathering and was a great success. The speakers from all stand points presented forcibly the place an older boy should have in the religious life of today.

The Boys' Work Director of the Association has continued in his place as Deputy Probation Officer of the Court and a most efficient work has been conducted along this line.

The Bible study work has been a feature during the past season and many boys have been led into the Christian Life through these classes.

The meetings for younger boys held Saturday mornings were almost wonderful. Twenty-one meetings were held with an average of one hundred sixty-eight and a total of thirty-five hundred and twenty-eight.

The older boys meetings numbering twenty, with an average attendance of forty-two boys, have been the back bone of our entire work.

Throughout the entire year services has been the key note the latent ability in the lives of the boys, developed, energy harnessed, the undesirable eliminated and Christian character made.

DANGER SIGNAL NO. 2 comes from the back. Back pains, dull and heavy, or sharp and acute, tell you of sick kidneys and warn you of the coming of dropsy, diabetes and Bright's disease. Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys and cure them permanently. Here's Quincy proof:

H. A. Vinton, 1266 Hancock Street, Quincy, Mass., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills completely cured me of kidney trouble which had been in my system for at least ten years. I had pains in my back and loins and I believed my trouble to be rheumatism. I consulted a doctor and tried many remedies but found only temporary relief. Being advised to take Doan's Kidney Pills, I procured a box and began their use. They quickly drove away the pains in my back and my health is better today than it has been for a long time."

Boston, June 6.—Mrs. George A. Hibbard, widow of the late mayor of Boston, made her debut as a professional actress at the Majestic theatre last night as Sylvia Simpson, a middle-aged and worldly-wise show girl, in "The Chorus Lady."

To the smallest detail, Mrs. Hibbard played the part of a chorus girl who earns only $18 a week but who manages to wear lace opera cloaks and Paquin gowns.

She lighted a cigaret and blew the smoke through her nose. She cocked her feet on the washstand and slanged the other chorus girls. She boasted, she sneered, she nagged, she insinuated.

And finally she tried to persuade an innocent young girl to take the first few steps along the rocky road which she herself has traveled.

Mrs. Hibbard was deluged with floral tributes and received unstinted applause. The critics, the audience and the company agreed that she "made good."

JOHN DILLON BADLY HURT

Limbs Temporarily Paralyzed After an Automobile Accident

Dublin, June 6.—John Dillon, Nationalist member of parliament, was dangerously injured about the head and back in an automobile accident near Dundalk. It was at first thought that Dillon was dying and a priest administered the last sacrament. Dillon rallied, however, and was removed to Dundalk, where he is in a hospital in a serious condition.

The automobile dashed into a culvert and Dillon was thrown through the glass screen. He suffered a severe concussion of the spine, which deprived him temporarily of power over his limbs. He also suffered a cut in the forehead which required several stitches.

TAFT REPRIMANDS AN ARMY COLONEL

Latter Ruled Against Jew For Examination For Promotion

Washington, June 6.—Colonel Joseph Garrard, U. S. A., commanding the cavalry post at Fort Myer, Virginia, was reprimanded by the secretary of war, under orders from President Taft, for reporting adversely on the application of a soldier for the right to take examinations for promotion to the commissioned grade, on the ground that the applicant was of Jewish parentage.

The president said it was hard to deal with the matter "with patience and without condemnatory words that had better not be written."

The president's action has created somewhat of a sensation throughout Washington.

FIVE MONTHS FOR O'REILLY

Sentence of Noted Lawyer Who Received Stolen Securities

New York, June 6.—Daniel O'Reilly, former assistant district attorney, was sentenced to five months in the penitentiary on Blackwell's island by Justice Davis, in the criminal branch of the supreme court.

O'Reilly was convicted of receiving $85,000 in securities stolen from the banking firm of Aaron Bancroft & Co. Prior to the sentencing, O'Reilly received a bitter arraignment from District Attorney Whitman.

O'Reilly almost collapsed when sentence was pronounced. He had confidently believed, it was said, that he would be let off with a suspension of sentence.

HIS AUTO KILLED WOMAN

Produce Dealer Must Pay $4500 Damages to Husband of Victim

Cambridge, Mass., June 6.—Because the automobile of Edward J. Skahan, a produce merchant of Belmont, knocked down and killed Mrs. Harriet Tyler, a jury in the superior civil court awarded damages of $4500 against Skahan to the woman's husband, Joseph Tyler.

The accident happened May 7, 1909, in North Cambridge. Tyler sued for $20,000.

How to Have Red Lips!

The girl with red lips and pink cheeks may me thankful, for both denote health—vigorous, forceful, magnetic health and while it may be impossible for some to attain owing to morbid states or health, yet a vast majority of seemingly healthy young women and men are almost colorless because of a lack of red blood corpuscles. When the blood is improved and enriched with these red corpuscles, the weight increases and a beautiful tint appears on the cheeks, while the lips assume a healthy red color. Many physicians and beauty doctors prescribe three-grain hypo-nuclane tablets which are said to invariably increase the red blood corpuscles after a course of treatment lasting several months. The nervous system and general health also improve rapidly. The best physicians and apothecary shops supply this tablet in sealed packages.

IS OPPOSED TO AMENDMENTS

But Taft's Reciprocity Plan Will Not Go Unchallenged

OPPOSITION FROM SENATORS

Many Amendments Have Already Been Offered and Many More Are Expected In Effort to Kill Canadian Pact—Lively Colloquy at Hearing, In Which McCumber Makes an Attack on the Press

Washington, June 6.—President Taft is unalterably opposed to the amendment of the Canadian reciprocity bill, as proposed by Senators Lodge and Root. He summoned several senators to the White House yesterday afternoon and impressed on them that he would not stand for any amendments to the bill. The president learned, however, that he is not going to have his way unchallenged. Many members of the upper house are unalterably opposed to reciprocity and will fight to the end to kill the measure.

President Taft's speech on reciprocity in Chicago, in which he charged that there was co-operation between print paper manufacturers and lumber interests to defeat the bill, has aroused much resentment among those senators who are opposed to reciprocity.

The hearings have continued almost a month and members of the finance committee have had no opportunity to exchange views. Many amendments have been suggested and many more are probable.

Once in the senate, the bill will have to run a fire of speeches and amendments. At least thirty senators expect to address the senate in opposition to it, and if the Democratic and insurgent Republican senators fail to obtain adequate attention to amendments in committee, they will seek the first opportunity to present their provisions in the open senate.

No one counts upon less than six weeks of debate. Some, who predict much more extended discussion, say the whole tariff fight will be waged in connection with the consideration of reciprocity. All signs point to a fierce struggle between the president and about half the senate over the reciprocity measure, with party lines inextricably tangled.

Senator McCumber, with a degree of heat and passion not before seen in the reciprocity hearings before the finance committee, yesterday demanded to be stricken from the record the statement of Herman Ridder that the reports of the hearings sent out by the Washington correspondents were accurate. Senators Heyburn, Clark of Wyoming, Stone and Bailey joined in the heated colloquy.

"The facts are that every newspaper in covering the subject has stated the absolute facts," Ridder declared.

"That is an absolute falsehood," shouted McCumber, "and I want it out of the records."

McCumber finally substituted the phrase "is unfounded," for "absolute falsehood." As the record stands it contains McCumber's charge, made as a member of the committee, that any statement that newspaper reports of the hearings have been "fair and unbiased," "is unfounded."

GALLINGER SIX VOTES SHY

Senate Deadlock Over President Pro Tem Remains Unbroken

Washington, June 6.—With Vice President Sherman absent and no president pro tem it was impossible for the senate to transact business Monday. The only business attempted was an effort to break the deadlock and elect a president pro tem.

Mr. Bennet, secretary of the senate, took the chair and Senator Cullom moved that the senate proceed to elect. The result was: Gallinger 27, Bacon 26, Clapp 8, Bristow 1, Tillman 1, Lodge 1. Total 64. Necessary to a choice 33; no election. The senate then adjourned.

Pittsburg, June 6.—A resolution was adopted at the Reform Presbyterian synod making the minimum salary of the lowest paid minister $900 a year instead of $800.

NOT GUILTY OF MURDER

Confession of Real Slayer May Give "Lifer" His Liberty

Boston, June 6.—John H. Chance, for thirteen years imprisoned on a life sentence in Charlestown, will have his petition for a pardon heard by the executive council upon the recommendation of Governor Foss. Arthur Hagan, now in Chicago, who confesses that he committed the murder, may be the means of setting Chance at liberty. Chance is serving on conviction of murder in the second degree.

Chance has twice petitioned for a pardon, but Governor Douglas and Governor Draper refused. Michael J. Sughrue, who prosecuted the case as district attorney, has declared that the evidence was insufficient.

MRS. EDDY WILL MAKE A "DEMONSTRATION"

Founder of Christian Science Immortal, Says Mrs. Stetson

New York, June 6.—An announcement in the Christian Science Sentinel to the effect that a fund had been started for a memorial to Mrs. Mary Baker Eddy in the shape of a magnificent monument over her grave in Mount Auburn cemetery brought forth a spirited reply from Mrs. Augusta Stetson, former leader of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in this city. She declares Mrs. Eddy still lives.

Mrs. Stetson declared the directors of the Mother Church, in erecting a monument to Mrs. Eddy, professed their belief in death—which belief was directly contrary to all her teachings. She said every true Christian Scientist should believe himself immortal—that there was no such thing as death. She quoted Mrs. Eddy's own writings along these lines.

Once again Mrs. Stetson vigorously announced her implicit belief that Mrs. Eddy is immortal and will make a "demonstration"—will reappear as Christ did—thereby destroying the belief in "the last enemy, Death."

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

The event opened with fireworks and noise in the school field that took the form of a premature Fourth of July celebration. Red fire and Roman candles lit up the field.

The ranks of the parade were formed, Carl Sass as chief marshal heading the line on horseback. Next came Henry Northrop, captain of the team, bearing the standard of the school.

Following came the team in their baseball uniforms. They consisted of Harold Wheeler, Wesley Browne, Walter Burke, Lyle Fowler, Bruce Morgan, John Osberg, Waldo Fowler, and Frederick Torrey.

In lines of four the rank and file of the school came after, counting up into the hundreds, in every conceivable kind of masquerade costumes.

There were hobble skirts, merry widow hats, clowns suits, boys dressed as girls and many other features. Attracting considerable attention were three diminutive young gentlemen in tall silk hats.

The noise of the cavalcade was immense and hundreds of spectators were attracted during its progress.

The line of march formed on the school field and proceeded along Rawson road, Beach street, Hancock street Elm avenue, Mason street, Beach street back to the field where it disbanded with cheers for the school and team.

On last Friday evening following the winning of the Willard game on Thursday the team and their ladies enjoyed the hospitality of Miss Ruth Taylor, teacher of the eighth grade, at her home on Beach street where supper and games were enjoyed.

As guests of the principal, David H. Goodspeed on Saturday the team witnessed one of the Boston big league games.

ACCIDENT TO QUINCY PARTY

Dr. Hunting's Auto Turns Turtle in West Hartford

Dr. Nathaniel S. Hunting, the well known physician of Quincy and his wife together with Mrs. Hunting's sister in law, Mrs. Leslie Carter of Denver, Col. and Elizabeth Carter, the ten year old daughter of the latter, narrowly escaped death in an automobile accident in West Hartford, Conn. Monday morning. The party had started on an automobile trip to Farmington, Conn., in a pouring rain storm. When nearing Notts corners where the frightful accident happened a few years ago, the automobile skidded, described a complete circle and toppled over an embankment landing bottom side up with the doctor and the little girl pinned underneath. Mrs. Hunting was thrown out and received a badly strained ankle. Mrs. Carter was able to crawl out from under the machine and it was found that she had not suffered any injuries. Mrs. Hunting started to go for assistance at a house about a mile away but before she had gone very far an electric car came along and several men volunteered to help right the car when they learned of the trouble. The doctor has assured the others that he was uninjured and it was ascertained by questioning that the litle girl was all right. After the automobile was lifted Dr. Hunting and the little girl were found to be unharmed. An automobile headed for Hartford came along and took the party to the city where Mrs. Hunting, Mrs. Carter and her daughter took the train for Boston. Dr. Hunting himself stayed in Hartford and later went back to the scene of the accident and brought the auto to a garage in the city under its own power. The windshield, mudguards and the top of the machine were shattered and part of the steering wheel was broken. The car was repaired and Dr. Hunting drove the car home today after spending the night with friends in Hartford. The escape was one of the most remarkable recorded in recent years and in ninety nine cases out of a hundred the accident would have been fatal to at least one of the party. The thing happened so suddenly that there was little time to think and its happy issue has left the occupants of the car little the worse for the experience. Elizabeth Carter, the little girl, looks upon it as sort of a joke.

HOW TO START FLOWER SEED

Seasonable Suggestions For Those About to Begin Sowing.

Almost all flower seeds germinate more quickly if soaked in warm water for a few hours before planting. In some instances this is almost a necessity.

The advantage of treating sweet peas this way is most marked. Cypress vine will stand quite warm water poured over the seeds twelve hours before planting.

Canna seeds and those of the other large, hard shelled sorts sometimes require careful filing to break the tough outer cover, but extreme care must be taken not to injure the germ.

The finer greenhouse seeds should be merely sprinkled on the surface of very fine soil and kept continually moist. During germination glass should be kept over the pots. After the plants have come up this should be removed to admit air.

Extreme care must be taken of the tiny seedlings, for if allowed to get dry they will almost surely die, and if kept too moist they incline to "damp off."

The sowing of fern spores on a brick covered with just a sprinkling of earth is an interesting study to the nature lover, the necessary water being supplied by keeping the brick in a dish of water.

Most of the greenhouse plants and similar delicate ones are scarcely profitable for the amateur to raise as a source of experimental study, though large geraniums and a number of the larger seeds are as easily managed as a pansy or an aster, and one can get a good variety at a small cost.

As a rule the seed should be planted twice its own depth, and in the case of small seeds it is essential to have the ground finely pulverized.

How to Clean Chamois Gloves.

To wash chamois gloves and keep them soft, first put the gloves on the hands, using lukewarm water and pure soap. Wash in this lather until the gloves are thoroughly cleansed, then rinse in clear water of the same temperature, but before taking off the gloves cover them again with a lather of the soap. Allow them to dry in the shape. The soap prevents them from becoming stiff and brittle.

KAHN'S PLAN FOR MAKING A MAN

French Philanthropist's Method to Be Adopted In This Country.

AN INTERESTING "FOUNDATION"

Offered $2,500 as a Sort of Traveling Fellowship — Must Travel a Year Around the World—His Impressions to Be Published.

Among the many interesting "foundations" in this country and abroad, that of Albert Kahn of Paris is at least novel and might be called a plan for the making of a man. Mr. Kahn has in past years established such foundations in France, Germany, Japan, England and other countries, and now the United States is to benefit by a similar act. A sum of money, about $2,500, is offered in this country as a sort of traveling fellowship for some citizen of the country whose natural qualifications as a scholar or investigator shall commend him to the trustees of the fund.

Selection of the fellow will be made by the trustees, who are Edward D. Adams, Nicholas Murray Butler, Charles W. Eliot, Henry Fairfield Osborn and Charles D. Walcott, and they are to choose preferably professors in isolated southern and western institutions. The reason for this limitation is that the men in the larger cities have ample opportunity because of their residences for coming into contact with the larger things of the world and are much better equipped for advancement. It is known that in the smaller institutions of learning there are men of advanced thought, of great capabilities and fine intellect who have no opportunity to come into contact with the great world and are therefore wasted. They are occasionally heard from in the world of art or letters, but never succeed in rising above their surroundings. It is to remedy this that the foundation has been established.

Trustees Will Select.

The trustees will select the fellow after careful investigation and will choose a man who is known among the educators of his neighborhood as having shown marked ability and promise in education, who has shown ability to enter into the spirit of such a fellowship and a likelihood of considering his work as a preparation for the performance of higher duties in the institution and education of the youth of his country rather than a vacation of a year with sufficient money to enjoy himself. The object of the foundation is really to select a man who shall be sent over the world to obtain the broadening influence of traveling in (to him) unknown lands and on his return give to his students the benefit of his travels.

There are no restrictions upon him in this journey except that his itinerary must be approved by the trustees and that his travel must be preferably in Europe, Egypt, India, China, Japan and Ceylon. It is also preferred by the trustees that the incumbent of the fellowship shall travel around the world, involving his absence from America for at least a year. After his itinerary is approved by the trustees he may begin his journey, taking his own time to visit the countries, and at the conclusion of his travels must submit a report giving results and impressions, which may be published. While it is likely that the man may be selected from some college or university, it is not necessary that such should be the case.

WOMEN LONGER LIVED.

Men Die Earlier and More Unexpectedly, Declares Investigator.

Women live longer than men, according to statistics on the comparative longevity of men and women prepared by Dr. A. H. Stewart of Lawton, Okla. The investigator finds that according to the census returns there are 4,000 centenarians in this country, of whom 2,500 are women.

Dr. Stewart further declares that women require less oxygen than men, endure more heat, stand more rarefied air, suffer less from anaesthetics and also "are more likely to survive hanging."

Men die unexpectedly more often than do women, and men suffer from baldness more frequently. It is also found that there are more variations from the normal among men than among women, but geniuses, including mathematical prodigies, are more frequent among men. On the other hand, idiots and cranks are less frequent among women.

Chinese Studying Geography.

President Tson Chiu Lai of the Waiwupu, noticing that the negligence of duty in the performance of diplomatic affairs by the various Chinese officials is caused by their ignorance of the science of the earth, thereby causing complications in settling the boundary question, has given instructions to the various subordinates that they should study geography and a bureau for investigating the science of the earth should be established. The boundaries of the border of the northwestern portion of the three eastern provinces should be first investigated and preparation made to answer the boundary question with the power concerned.

THE CRACK OF THE WHIP

By SADIE OLCOTT

Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

Neil Walker had been courting me for some time, but no proposal came. One day he told me where the hitch was.

"Amiability," he said, "is indispensable in a wife. How can I know before marriage that you are amiable?"

"You show a great deal of good sense," I replied. "There is a great deal in what you say. Come and take up your quarters with us for a month. There you will see me every day and often when I am off my guard. I shall be compelled to show my natural disposition."

"And as soon as the month is over we will enter upon that other month called the honeymoon," he cried enthusiastically, and, throwing his arms around my neck, he covered my face with kisses.

Now, we women have a way of doing things by strategy. I didn't feel any more fear of betraying a disagreeable nature with Neil in the house than when he came to call on me. I knew well enough that matrimony is different from courtship and that when two people settle down to work in double harness there is going to be a good deal of friction, for awhile, at any rate. I thought it a fine chance to let Neil see before marriage that these frictions are not all the wife's fault. I was especially equipped to do this, for my little brother Jack was at home, and I well knew that if Neil could stand Jack's antics without losing his temper he would be quite able to stagger under my most glaring faults.

Neil came and settled himself for the trial—my trial. He hadn't said anything about being tried himself, and I didn't tell him that he was to be under observation. Neil went to business in the morning, returning about 5 in the afternoon. Jack took him in charge as soon as he arrived. Neil tried to get rid of him, but Jack stuck like a leech. Neil would be reading poetry to me in the garden. Jack would come up behind him and with a stick and a horse's hair and a tiny ball of paper would make him think that a bumblebee was lighting on his nose. Jack sneaked into Neil's room and filled his underclothing (on the inside) with burs. Neil got the clothing on, then had to take it off again and was half an hour picking out the burs. He was late to business that day and came home in a very bad humor.

By such innocent juvenile expressions of a child's nature did Jack ingratiate himself into Neil's disfavor. Neil remarked that the boy had been very badly brought up, whereupon I simply said that it was evident he didn't like children. To me these little pranks were delightful. Neil said that, the boy being my brother, I was doubtless used to him.

Jack during this preparation for a honeymoon found a boy he would rather play with than annoy Neil. So I was obliged to bribe my brother with candy every day and the promise of a football at the end of the season to keep him at home during this test of my disposition. Besides, I was obliged to conjure up methods for harassing my lover and suggesting them to the dear boy. When Neil was snoozing Jack poured sand in his ear. Then Jack would steal up behind Neil and slip a small piece of ice down his back under his clothing. And one day when Neil and I were walking over the lawn together Jack, who was watering the grass with the hose, turned it on my companion and drenched him.

This was the climax of a long term of annoyances, and Neil could not have kept his equanimity any longer unless he had been descended from the angels. He broke loose in a profusion of Bible quotations in which the word "damnation" occurred oftenest. Then he ran after Jack, vowing that he would knock every bit of spirit out of his villainous little body.

"Mr. Walker," I exclaimed severely, "how can you speak so of the dear child!"

"Child!" he cried. "Hellion, rather!"

"Mr. Walker," I continued in a dignified tone, "I am disappointed. I supposed that your disposition was as gentle as a lamb's. I find that you are easily angered and when angered not only fierce, but vindictive. How fortunate that I should have discovered the true acerbity of your makeup! Our engagement is at an end. Had I married a man with such a temper I should have looked forward to the rest of my life with horror."

These last words were the same as he had used to me, but he didn't remember them.

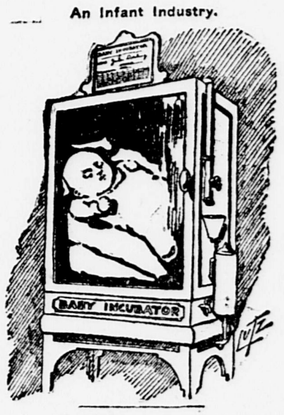

"And had I married you," he retorted, forgetting himself in a new burst of anger, "one in whose veins flows the blood of that little viper, I would"—

I walked straight into the house and shut the door after me.

Where he stayed that night I didn't know, but the next morning he came to me and on bended knee begged me to forgive him. I asked him if he wished to test my disposition any further, and he said he was quite satisfied with it. Then I forgave him.

I do think men are the stupidest creatures in the world. And yet they think themselves superior to women. They have so many theories about them for our guidance. They bluster and arrogate to themselves, but they all know the crack of a woman's whip.

How to Clean Bamboo.

Now that bamboo furniture is used so universally a suggestion about cleaning it may not go unnoticed. This should be done with soap and warm water to which salt has been added. And the mixture must be put on with a brush and then wiped off with clean cloths until the article is dry and glistens. Ordinary laundry soap will remove the natural gloss of the wood and leave it dull if salt is not added.

ENJOYABLE CONCERT

Good Audience at Swedish Baptist Church

A very enjoyable concert was given in the Swedish Baptist church Tuesday evening under the auspices of the Ladies Aid society and in spite of the storm a good sized audience was present to hear it. Mrs. A. P. Hanson who presided, opened the program with a few words of welcome after which the pastor read the scripture and offered prayer. The church choir rendered a very pleasing selection and then David Clang and Roger Nelson gave a splendid clarinet duet. Mr. Upling of Boston, formerly of Quincy, sang a solo accompanying himself on the piano. This number met with the heartiest approval of the audience. Clarence Lundin next favored the gathering with a piano solo which was played in a very capable manner. Next came a duet by Mrs. J. O. Hellstrom and August Weeden which called forth much applause. Rev. J. O. Backlund of Boston who was to have spoken was detained and Rev. A .P. Hanson, pastor of the church, gave a brief address of greeting. This was followed by a piano duet by Rebecca Nelson and Florence Blomquist which was beautifully rendered and the choir sang again followed by the male quartette giving a very fitting ending to a thoroughly enjoyable entertainment.

At the conclusion of the program the audience was requested to go down to the Ladies parlor where refreshments were served and a social hour was enjoyed. The committee in charge of the entertainment was: Miss Alma Nelson, Mrs. Albert Nelson, Mrs. G. R. Blomquist, Mrs. August Weeden and Mrs. A. P. Hanson.

LIQUOR PERMITS.

One of the snags which the Committee on Licenses of the City Council has run up against since the passage of the so called Pony express law is the question of who is entitled to receive a permit to transport liquor.

Every year applications have been made by parties not then doing an express business but who declared it to be their intention of going into business. Friends of these applicants have in several cases succeeded in getting an order through the council granting a permit.

By an amendment to the Pony Express law passed by the legislature this year that particular question has been settled for as the laws now reads a permit shall be granted only to a person or corporation, regularly and lawfully conducting a general express business and no other person.

STATE ROAD TO QUINCY.

Among the important committee reports in the legislature Tuesday was that made by the Committee on Metropolitan Affairs which reported a bill authorizing a loan of $400,000 for a state highway from Columbia road, Dorchester to the Quincy Shore reservation at Atlantic.

If built Columbia street will probably be connected by a new bridge across Neponset river.

There will also be a session at the same hour on "Housing, Health and Recreation," speakers Joseph Lee and Miss Jane Addams.

The Jolly Sixteen met at the home of Thomas G. Smith, 286 Washington street, Tuesday evening for their regular whist party and an unusually good time was enjoyed by each member of the club. The first hour and a half was spent in playing whist and prizes were won by Mrs. Leon C. Claflin, Mrs. Walter Howes and Herbert G. Johnson. Souvenirs in the shape of little silk flags were given out. During the evening, candy was served and after the playing was over all sat down to a very appetizing salad supper consisting of salads, hot rolls, tea, coffee and cake. It was generally agreed that it was one of the most enjoyable evenings of the year.

FUNERAL OF MISS O'HARA.

One of the largest funerals at St. John's church was that held Tuesday of Miss Elizabeth O'Hara daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael O'Hara of Newcomb place and sister of Tax Collector John J. O'Hara.

The services were attended by many representatives of the United Shoe Machinery Co. where Miss O'Hara had been employed for many years and by a large circle of Quincy friends.

A high mass of requiem was celebrated by Rev. Patrick J. Scannell, the Gregorian mass being sung by the choir of which Miss O'Hara was formerly a member. The solo parts were by Miss Mary Burns, Miss Josephine McCarthy and Dr. Daniel B. Reardon.

The flowers were many and beautiful including massive set pieces from the United Shoe Machinery Co. The Recreation club of that company, the officials of the Carson trench machine company and the clerks in the Tax Collectors office at City Hall.

The burial was at St. Mary's cemetery the bearers being, Ex-Councilman William H. Flynn, Cornelius J. Connors, Thomas J. McGrath, John J. Meaney, Timothy J. Collins, and Joseph A. McDonald.

HEADQUARTERS TO REMAIN IN QUINCY

Vote of Granite Cutters Union Throughout Country is Announced

James Duncan Also Succeeds Himself as Secretary-Treasurer

JAMES DUNCAN
Reelected Secretary-Treasurer

For some weeks past the thousands of members of the Granite Cutters International Asso. have been voting upon two important questions. One of these is the location of the headquarters of the association for the next five years and the second, the election of a secretary-treasurer of the association. The result of the vote of the different branches throughout the country has been received in Quincy and Tuesday evening the Executive Council met at the headquarters in the court room building to canvass the vote.

There were thirteen places throughout the country that were seeking the location for the headquarters the city of New York making a particularly strong bid for it. Quincy won out however receiving a majority of over one thousand votes. This is particularly gratifying to the members of the Quincy branches but not so much as the fact that James Duncan, the present secretary-treasurer was re-elected. There were several candidates for the position but Mr. Duncan won out by a very large majority.

The result was announced Tuesday evening by the Executive Council and the official count was forwarded to all of the different branches, and today Mr. Duncan has been in receipt of a large number of telegrams of congratulation.

James Duncan is one of the best known labor leaders in the country. In addition to being secretary-treasurer of the Granite cutters union he is first vice president of the American Federation of Labor and has frequently been suggested to succeed Samuel Gompers as president of that powerful body.

Mr. Duncan was born in Scotland about 54 years ago coming to America when a young man. He resided in New York for a number of years and calls New York his home city. He early learned the trade of a granite cutter and worked at the trade for a number of years. In 1880 he joined the New York branch af the granite cutters union and served as its secretary for several years. As with other granite cutters he moved from one granite centre to another, always affiliating himself with the local branches where he was located, and it is a notable fact that he has been secretary of every branch to which he has belonged.

In March 1895 he was elected as secretary-treasurer of the International association and has been re-elected every term since that time.

During his reign as secretary, the association has established, one of the best, if not the best systems of trade agreement in existance. It has been the means of reducing disputes

HONESTY IN EVERYTHING

Our idea of the highest human luxury is a chance to "get tired sitting around the house all day."

And don't forget, this is only spring—summer won't be here until June 21.

Even Australia has consented to allow the Japanese war scare to take its place as a back number.

The regular contributors to the Congressional Record are so industrious that they never leave any room for "Old Subscriber."

From the success of the Senate in bottling up legislation, it will be seen that it is having a perfectly corking time.

It is hard for a peaceful republic to realize that those disturbances in Mexico are largely in the nature of an election contest.

Marse Henry Advocates selling the Philippines to Japan, but the trouble is that just now we can't afford to give anything worth while to boot.

When the other day in St. Louis a carload of whiskey was blown up with a bomb, the people began to sit up and consider anarchy a serious matter.

The tobacco trust decision was called comprehensive, but it failed to examine the question if anything had been done to stop the boys from smoking sweet fern.

The post office department is criticised for paying $35 for a waste basket, but it probably takes about that size to hold the daily grist of applications for office.

Everybody would have understood that decision if Chief Justice White had simply and succinctly rendered it in the language of the people; "Oh, for the love of Mike be reasonable."

Let 'em go ahead and get a summer capital—we'll keep him here if we have to give a banquet every day, is Washington's answer to the proposal of a summer home for Taft in the N. W.

"The Chicago News thinks the only way to crush an egotist is to ignore him." In some cases, however, the process, to be successful would require a 100-ton ignoring steam hammer.

Mr. Roosevelt says this country would never arbitrate the Monroe doctrine. Very likely not, yet some people regard the M. D. as a elephant that should be given away to anyone who will agree to give it a good home.

REPORTING JUNE WEDDINGS.

The problem of reporting the June weddings is now faced by the newspapers. To the reporter, all weddings look alike. After covering a narrow round of phrases and adjectives, he receives this sentimental assignment from the city editor with a despairing recognition of the futility of saying anything new. But if he stays in the business long enough he learns better. He finds that he is addressing an audience breathlessly dependent on every word of detail that drops from his swift typewriter.

Let him cease looking for dramatic and sporting effects to satisfy a masculine audience, who would as soon think of reading probate court notices as a wedding story.

Let him know, then, that the slightest detail of description in a wedding report is of vital significance to womankind. The whole mystic symbolism of sentiment may be set awry if he mistakes "silk" for "satin," or if he says "palms" were used for decorations instead of "hemlock."

Let him resign himself faithfully to the lead of the master artist, the bride, cut out all his adjectives, and seek merely to report accurately every detail that is of such vital import.

DON'T QUIT SCHOOL.

With the approaching close of the year of our public schools, many of our boys are getting restless to go to work. Some of them are anxious to quit books for the shop or store even before they have reached the high school grades.

The jingling of the pocket money enjoyed by a little older fellows looks manly and grand to some of these youngsters. To get $1 a day at some boy's job, to have some spending money to treat the girls, and to go on junkets, without asking Dad for financial help—that seems ambition enough.

And yet how many fellows have utterly spoiled their future by throwing away the dollars of tomorrow for the pennies of today!

Every American boy needs, not necessarily a classical high school course, but an amount of work, either in a literary or technical school, equivalent to a high school course.

The fellow who lacks it occasionally gets ahead owing to some possession of exceptional gifts. In nine cases out of ten he is so crude and awkward mentally that he remains a plodder, a ditch digger and ribbon measurer all his life. Don't do it, boys!

SHOE WEEK IN BOSTON.

Shoe and Leather People From All Over the United States to Gather at the "Hub" Next Month.

Something entirely unique in the way of trade gatherings will be the National Shoe and Leather week to be observed in Boston, the historic home of this great American industry, July 12-19 next.

The week has received widespread publicity, not only throughout this country and Canada, but in many foreign countries; our American consuls having manifested a keen interest in the affair, and contributed to the publicity campaign in a way that must inevitably redound to the benefit of the entire shoe and leather industry of the United States.

The most prominent feature of the week will be the Fifth National Shoe and Leather Market-Fair, to be held in Mechanics Building, Boston, under private auspices, and which will be an epitome of the American shoe and leather industry in all its manifold branches—tanning, shoe manufacturing, last-making, shoe machinery, shoe supplies, etc.

The fair will be officially opened July 12th at 2 o'clock P. M., and all the various shoe and leather trade organizations of the New England cities, as well as the state and city governments, will be represented. It is expected that many of the officials of the trade organizations in the West and South will also be present.

MAY WARM AND DRY.

Abnormally warm and dry weather prevailed throughout May, the month being the warmest of the name in 31 years and the driest May on record at Blue Hill. The mean temperature of 60.4 degrees was 4.9 degrees above the average for the month and in 63 years it has only been exceeded in 1880 when 61.1 degrees was recorded. In May, 1910 the mean temperature was 54.8 degrees. The highest of the month was 93 degrees on the 22nd, and this has not been equalled in May since May 26, 1880, when a maximum temperature of 94 degrees was reached. The minimum of the month was 27 degrees on the 4th, and this is notable for being the lowest in May in 63 years.

The total rainfall of .89 inch was 2.58 inches less than usual amount, the smallest for May on record at Blue Hill and the least for any month since October 1887, when the total was .63 inch. Rain fell on eight days and the most in any day was .39 inch on the 25th. Low relative humidity, an excess of sunshine and little cloudiness were characteristics of the month. There was less wind than usual, the mean hourly velocity of 16.9 miles per hour being 1.0 mile per hour below the average. The maximum velocity was 51 miles per hour from the west on the 3rd. The prevailing wind direction was south, as is usual in May. Frosts occurred in the surrounding low-lands on the mornings of the 5th and 6th, and there were thunderstorms on the 19th, 24th, and 25th. Among the Mexican Revolutionists

By EDWIN V. CHASE

Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

Mexico being in the throes of revolution, I was sent down there on secret service duty for the United States government. In order that I might be properly armed with an introduction to whomsoever I needed to consult I was given a letter addressed "To whom it may concern" stating that I was an official of the United States sent to Mexico to gather information on the political condition of the country that would serve as a basis for any action the government might take in the premises.

Since an American was liable to be hated and suspected, especially by the revolutionists, I had no desire to fall into their hands with such a document on my person. I had asked to have it written on thin paper and occupying no great space in order that I might the better conceal it in case of necessity. I thought over many places of keeping it, but finally decided to put it in one of the little chest pockets of my waistcoat.

I entered the state or province of Chihuahua, which was in the hands of the revolutionists, pretending to favor their cause. After learning all I could in this district I entered the next on the east, Coahuila, which I found neither in the possession of the Mexican government nor the rebels, but in a state of anarchy. Falling into the hands of a small band of insurrectos, I was arrested as an American resident and spy. I managed to save my neck by confessing that I was in the secret service not of the United States government, but of Madero. This secured me excellent treatment, and I was suffered to depart for Nuevo Leon, the next eastern province and in the hands of the Diaz forces. In this province is Monterey, where the battle of that name was fought during our war with Mexico.

At Monterey I presented my letter to whomsoever I thought would aid me and received information that was at least reliable. From Monterey, moving southward, I entered San Luis Potosi, in the same state of disorder as Coahuila. Here I was in constant dread of being known or considered as a spy of the United States government by roving bands of insurrectos.

Entering the house of a leader of one of these bands, I found it necessary to pretend to be an ardent rebel sympathizer. This pleased Signor Molina, in whose house I was, and he treated me royally till along came a man whom I had met in Monterey. This man was a rebel and evidently remembered me and that I was, when he first met me, consorting with the Diaz people.

Outwardly Molina did not change his treatment of me except to be more scrupulously polite, but I knew I was under suspicion, and this in a province where there was no law was dangerous. At any rate, I felt that if the letter I bore were found I would be treated as a spy on the revolutionary forces and according to the fancy of those in whose hands I happened to be.

I told Molina that I thought I would go on, but he invited me to remain longer with him in such pressing terms that I knew he would not suffer me to depart without being better satisfied concerning me. I began to consider myself in great danger. If the letter I carried were found on me I would surely be considered as a spy on the movements of the revolutionists.

I tried to get rid of Molina long enough to destroy it, but he would not suffer me to go out of his sight. Not caring to let him see that I understood his purpose, I made no opposition to his keeping me with him.

Realizing that I was in for a serious business, I concluded to play a bold game. I began to tell my jailer host real or imaginary happenings to convince him that I was not only a sympathizer with the revolution, but was engaged in secret service work for the revolutionists. Such information as I could give him without breach of confidence concerning the government forces I told him as a great secret. The ruse evidently had no effect upon him.

Indeed, it seemed to make him all the more suspicious of me. At last, throwing off all disguise, he looked me steadily in the eye and said: "Who you are I don't know, except that you are an American, and the Americans who live here we hate. One thing I know—you have been at Monterey hand in glove with the Diaz forces."

I laughed outright. "Of course I have been hand in glove with them. Why should I not have been? How can I get their secrets without first gaining their confidence? Come, Signor Molnia, let us have a smoke."

Producing a cigar, I handed it to him. He accepted it, and for the moment I had restored confidence. "Have you a match?" I asked. He had not a match. If he had I should have been shot for a spy.

I arose from my chair and looked about for a light. It was the spring season, and since a norther was blowing the room was warmed by a stove. Going to it, I opened the door, fumbled in my pockets for a bit of paper, took out my letter, twisted it, touched it to a flame and lit my cigar with it.

I was just in time. Half an hour later I was searched for incriminating papers. None were found, and I went free.

SETBACK FOR RECIPROCITY

Will Not Be Reported Without Root Amendment

PLAN OF FINANCE COMMITTEE

Vote Concerning Paper and Wood Pulp Sections of Bill, Which Raises Question of Canada's Province Jurisdiction, Will Be Ten to Five —Administration Contends That It Will Endanger the Measure

Washington, June 7.—Hopes of the administration that the finance committee would report the Canadian reciprocity bill unamended were dashed when after a brief executive session of the committee it was learned that the Root amendment to the paper and wood pulp section probably would be adopted in modified form.

It was said that in addition to seven Republican members of the committee, Senators Bailey, Simmons and Johnson, Democrats, would vote for the amendment, while Senators Penrose and Cullom are declared to be with the three Democrats in opposition, thus presaging the adoption of the amendment by a vote of ten to five. Final consideration of the measure will be begun by the committee today.

The amendment offered by Senator Root provides that the paper and wood pulp sections of the bill shall not be in force until the president "shall have satisfactory evidence and shall make proclamation that such wood pulp, paper and board, being the products of the United States, are admitted into all the provinces of Canada free of duty."

It is contended by its opponents that the amendment, raising the question of the Dominion government's jurisdiction over the provinces, will endanger the measure, a contention that is refuted by those who believe in the provision. The modification of the amendment may have an important bearing upon the situation.

The committee endeavored to agree on a date for a vote on the measure. It was apparent that the members favored July 15 and a recommendation probably will be made to the senate to this effect when the bill is reported. Senator Bailey suggested that July 20 be set aside for a vote on the free list bill and that the wool schedule would be acted upon early in August. No definite agreement was reached, however.

The committee will meet again today, but it is not believed it will be able to take final action on the reciprocity bill.

ON LODGE'S TRAIL

Walker Again Attacks Senator's Attitude on Reciprocity

Boston, June 7.—Joseph Walker, Republican speaker of the house of representatives, has returned to his arraignment of Senator Lodge on the reciprocity issue to say that the Republican party in Massachusetts has reached the "parting of the ways," and to declare his own intention to stand alone.

Speaker Walker says he got his information about the anti-reciprocity and anti-Taft stand of Lodge in a letter from Lodge himself. "He wrote me that he intended to support the Root amendment," Walker says, "and that he himself would offer the fisheries amendment."

"The real issue," says Walker, "is whether the treaty shall be ratified or whether it shall be killed by amendments. The treaty, which means much to the future relations between Canada and the United States, is being fought by great selfish interests by fair means and by foul.

"These interests have decided to kill the bill by amendments, some designed to set the two houses of congress at variance and some designed to compel the reopening of negotiations with Canada. The Root amendment is typical of the former, and the Lodge amendment is typical of the latter.

"Mr. Lodge knows that the house will not accept the Root amendment. He wrote me that the Democrats would oppose it. It is, therefore, a dangerous amendment, which may cause the whole treaty to fall between the houses.

"Mr. Taft will not stand for it. By supporting it, Mr. Lodge places himself in antagonism to the president in this crisis when the president most needs his support."

The other divisions will be as follows:

Division 2, Societies and organizations.

Division 3, Antiques and horribles.

Division 5 Civic, trades, automobiles not decorated.

Liberal prizes will be given for the best features in each division.

The committee on athletic events will meet this week and at their meeting an outline of the several events of the day will probably be decided upon In all cases the liberality of the prizes depends on how well the citizens contribute.

At Tuesday nights meeting the following were appointed as a committee to wait upon the Mayor in relation to the appropriation made by the Council for the days celebration. This committee are James F. CLASS DAY EXERCISES

Greek Play, Class Will, Prophecy and Art Exhibit

Class day exercises at the Quincy Mansion school dear to the heart of every senior took place Tuesday afternoon. On account of weather conditions it could not be an open-air entertainment as planned which was much regretted, however the young ladies were highly congratulated upon the success of the day, especially the play given.

At 3 o'clock the pupils marched into Livermore hall where with uplifted hands the dignified seniors in caps and gowns marched forward and took seats on the platform.

The class included:—Miss Louise Abercromble, Miss Margaret Christian Miss Marion Day, Miss Ruth Farnham, Miss Elsie Fortier, Miss Jessie French, Miss Beatrice Gillam, Miss Marion Hutchinson, Miss Alice McCartney, Miss Madeline Mears, Miss Grace Neal. Miss Genevieve Parsons, Miss Bertha Scharff, Miss Grace Taylor and Miss Gladys Willey.

The "class will" was written by Miss Hutchinson and Miss Neal and was a well executed document. It was bright and clever and caused many smiles among the pupils.

The "Prophecy" by Miss Mears was interesting as with long foresight she saw their class president Miss Christian with LL. D., to her name; Miss Hutchinson and Miss Scharff great grand opera singers; Miss Abercrombie as the governor's wife, helping him decide the affairs of state; Miss Farnham during her travels in a foreign land, lost her heart and gave her hand; Miss Foretier whose favorite color was once Andover blue, was now a different hue; Miss French and Miss Willey always good chums had started a mission school, right in the slums; Miss Parson's musical talent in such a young girl put even Miss Bopp's head in a whirl; Miss Gillam as a society belle reigned supreme; Miss Neal was the best cook in Buffalo-town; Miss McCartney and Miss Day would not be satisfied uptil they had equalled Miss Kenney and Miss Taylor at millinery was the rage.

The class song written by Miss Scharff was sung and the class cheer given, but planting the class tree was postponed.

The class song was as follows:

In the State of Massachusetts
Stands our dear old school
Radiant in its natural beauty
Gentle in its rule
She, to whom we all look upward
Shows to us the right
Bids us strive on and onward
Till we reach the height.

REFRAIN

Of the one we bless,
Cheers for her, and for the teachers
Cheers for Q. M. S.

Nineteen-eleven Senior Class
Have you done your best?
Q. M. S. could only offer
With you lay the rest
May the Seniors of eleven
To her name be true,
May their lives prove them worthy
Give her honor due.

To the Classes left behind us
A message we would leave
Forgive our wrong, but all our good
Into yourselves receive.
Up us in one mighty effort
With both heart and mind
Keep the name of Quincy Mansion
Like gold, pure and refined.

Refreshments were served in the Mansion and a social hour enjoyed besides a view of the paintings in oil, water-color drawing, clay modeling and arts and crafts work done by the Art students in the studio.

The Gymnasium was completely changed in appearance by trellises of wisteria blossoms and boughs of maple for the Greek play Endymion, and the participants made memorable pictures in costumes of exquisite colors by pantomime, postures, groupings and natural dancing.

Miss Day as Kallisthene carried off the honors in her easy, graceful interpretation of Eumenidies' bethrothed and Miss Parsons as the Prince; Miss Neal, Miss Christian, Miss Scharff and Miss Gillam were especially fine in their characters. The Dryads as impersonated by Misses Doble, Drinker and Ellsworth were a delight in their artistic posing, dancing and costumes.

Miss Helen Cummings teacher of history and elocution coached the young ladies and the result of her training showed eloquently the sincerity of her work as well as the splendid material she had to work with, though all regretted that the play could not have been given on the spacious lawns, under the noble old trees, rich in historic associations.

The First Corps Cadet orchestra furnished music for the play and for the dancing which followed in Livermore hall.

HELD UP BY DEADLOCK

No Railroad Board In Granite State to Pass on New Line

Concord, N. H., June 7.—New Hampshire's need of a railroad commission, the lack of which is due to the deadlock between Governor Bass and his counsel over the complexion of the newly authorized public service commission, was made apparent at a hearing in the state supreme court on the matter of the extension of the Sullivan County railroad, a part of the Boston and Maine system.

The court was unable to decide on the question of the public necessity for the road, and in the regular course of business the matter would have been referred to the public service commission.

But no such body exists and the court was forced to postpone the hearing until June 24. It is hoped that the commission may have come into being when the hearing is resumed.

SKILLED ATTORNEY TO CONDUCT PROBE

Brandeis May Act as Counsel For Lorimer Investigators

Washington, June 7.—Louis D. Brandeis of Boston or former Secretary of War Dickinson are being tentatively discussed as counsel for the Lorimer investigating committee. Senators who expect to serve say they hesitate to undertake the work of planning the details of the investigation. A special attorney is desired and the peculiar skill of Brandeis in this line of work is recognized.

The committee has greater power than the Illinois senate could exercise, and as the senate is the only judge of the qualifications of its own members, recalcitrant witnesses will either testify and produce their books or be punished for contempt, according to statements made freely about the Capitol.

Both sides are demanding thorough investigation, and as the Dillingham resolution gives authority to employ counsel, the committee are resolved to place the general direction of its business in skilled hands.

MONKEYS TO PICK COTTON

French Experts to Make Experiments on Georgia Plantations

Savannah, June 7.—An attempt is to be made in Fulton county by French cotton experts to teach monkeys to pick cotton. If the experiment succeeds a colony of monkeys will be imported and put to work.

The idea was suggested by the antics of a pet chimpanzee carried by a farmer boy into the fields. The little animal, after watching the negroes at work, began of his own accord to pick the cotton with almost incredible rapidity.

Animal trainers find it very easy to teach monkeys to perform any manual tricks or labor. By utilizing monkey labor the cost of cotton harvesting would be infinitely less than with human labor.

SHOOTING IRONS BARRED

Men In Oklahoma Courthouse Are Searched For Weapons

Muskogee, Okla., June 7.—Every man who entered the Muskogee county courthouse yesterday during the investigation of the grand jury into the Porum feud situation was searched for weapons. This order was issued by W. E. Disney, county attorney.

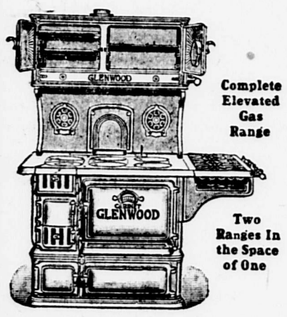

More than forty persons, who are supposed to know about the shooting resulting in the death of four men, were subpoenaed by the grand jury and others will be brought in.

STATE PRISON TERM FOR RICH MAN'S SON

Pleads Guilty to Charges of Breaking and Entering

Cambridge, Mass., June 7.—Robert Schumaker, aged 24, a graduate of a Chicago university and the son of Robert F. Schumaker of Chicago, a wealthy business man of that city, was sentenced in the superior criminal court to serve three to four years at hard labor at the state prison, following his plea of guilty to breaking and entering.

With the exception of four days, since March of 1909 he has been confined in duress, first at the Concord reformatory, and later at the Cambridge jail. It was not until yesterday that his real name was learned, he being arrested under the names of George Harris and Harry H. Hanson.

When the case was called yesterday Schumaker pleaded guilty to two indictments of breaking and entering and then reviewed his life since he left the home of his father in Chicago in 1906.

NEXT AMERICAN CARDINAL

Church Honor May Be Conferred Upon O'Connell of Boston

Boston, June 7.—Cables from Rome confirm the report that the pope will convoke a consistory, probably next December, at which several new cardinals will be selected, one or more of whom will be American.

A copyrighted dispatch to the New York World from Rome says that if only one American cardinal is selected that the choice will lie between Archbishop Farley of New York and Archbishop O'Connell of Boston.

The precedence of age of the diocese is regarded when selecting cardinals, ordinarily, and if that is done in this case Boston would come before New York and O'Connell would be selected in preference to Farley.

POLICE HUNTING "JUDGE"

Alleged Nobleman Said to Have Passed Worthless Checks

Boston, June 7.—"Le Duc Phillip de Clamacy," who claimed to be a judge in Paris, and who registered at the Hotel Touraine Saturday last in the afternoon and remained until Monday morning, is a fugitive from justice.

During that brief space he cashed four checks, later discovered to be worthless, the aggregate amount of which is about $400. The Boston police are now looking for the alleged French duke and will arrest him on sight.

Aeroplane Dives Close to King

Aldershot, June 7.—Captain Cody, during an exhibition flight in an aeroplane last evening in the presence of the king, swooped down at a terrific speed close to the ground and passed the king within twenty-five feet.

—It appears to us sometimes that some tradesmen, who are in the habit of forcing goods of their own make or of another line upon customers who have been led to demand some article through advertising, or well known merit, or recognized trademark, with the statement that their kind is "just as good," are undermining their own business. The certain result of such tactics, carried to an extreme, will eventually mean a policy of from "manufacturer to consumer." Dealers in advertised and trade-marked goods will of necessity resort to this method to meet the demand which they have created for their goods. The wise merchant will sell the customer what he asks for and what he seems to want—Spencer Leader.

HOUSEHOLD RECIPES.

Pineapple and Rhubarb Pie. Chop the fruits very fine and sweeten. Spread a layer in a crust-lined dish; then place over this a cover made of the pie pastry rolled as thin as possible and yet hang together; spread another layer of the fruit over this and then fasten down a pastry cover on top. Bake in a moderate oven until the outside pastry is done. If the inner layer of pastry is rolled thin enough it will have melted and with the juices formed a thick jelly. This is an old-fashioned way of thickening the juicy contents of tart pies.

Black Chocolate Cake. Cream one-half cupful butter, beat in one and half cupfuls of sugar, then two beaten eggs. Add one-half cupful of sour milk in which one teaspoonful of soda has been dissolved, two cupfuls of flour and one teaspoonful of vanilla. Have ready two squares of chocolate melted, stir in one-half cupful of boiling water, and when smooth and well blended stir it into the cake batter. Bake in square tins, making two layers, then put white frosting between the layers and over the top.

Egg Soup. Pour one pint of hot milk on two well-beaten eggs and cook in a double boiler until creamy; add a teaspoonful of minced chives, salt and pepper to suit. Serve in plain cups or bouillon cups with whipped cream on top. If there is a hard-cooked egg at hand sift the yolk and sprinkle a little over the tops of the cream.

Spinach Souffle. Boil the spinach, drain and chop fine. Season with salt, pepper and butter, and when cold, stir in one cupful of cream, and the yolks of two eggs, well beaten. Fold in the stiffly beaten whites, and pour into a large buttered ramequin or into individual dishes, and bake.

Snappy Sandwich. For a snappy sandwich, mince a little water cress, a bit of onion and a green or red pepper fine and mix them with mayonnaise. Put a small white lettuce leaf on a buttered slice and spread the other slice with the mixture. Onion juice is better than the minced onion for a sandwich, for with it no particle of onion catches in the teeth and taints the breath.—New York Sun.

Veal Stuffing. Brown one chopped onion in one tablespoonful of butter and mix it with one-half pint of bread crumbs, previously wet in one-half pint of milk, add one pound of sausage meat chopped fine, a few sprigs of chopped parsley and mix well together. —Alice E. Whitaker.

Banana Whip. Three bananas, one-third cup sugar, two tablespoons lemon juice, one-half teaspoonful vanilla, one-eighth level teaspoon salt, one cup heavy cream whipped stiff. Heat the sugar and lemon juice over hot water When the sugar is melted, cool. Then stir it into the banana forced through a potato ricer or sieve. Add the vanilla and salt and beat into the whipped cream gradually. Chill thoroughly and serve in glasses.

—At this season persons are accustomed to rake up about the house and burn in the yard the dried grass, leaves and so forth collected. This is a good way to dispose of the rubbish, but it calls for care. Several persons within a few days have been burned to death by such fires. Their clothing ignited with fatal results. There is also the menace to property. Bonfires, if started at all, should be watched, and they shouldn't be started when a high wind is blowing. —Framingham News.

between employers and workmen and the suspension of work because of strikes or lockouts almost to a minium.

Agreements from three to five years are favored by the association and in case of dispute it is referred to three members of the executive board of the association and three members of the Granite Manufacturers association.

Another important system established is what is known as the local adjustment clause. This provides that there shall be no lockout, strike or suspension of work and that the points in dispute between the employer and employees shall be settled by the local adjustment committees.

During the eleven years which Mr. Duncan has been the association secretary-treasurer there has been an increase of practically thirty per cent in the wages of the men and the hours of labor have been reduced from 9 to 8 hour.

The system of paying so called pensions to members in good standing, who have been so for a number of years was also inaugurated during his reign.

It is a fact worthy of note that here in Quincy during the past year there has been a better feeling between the cutters and manufacturers and the cases of dispute have been few and far between.

Mr. Duncan is a member of the Masonic fraternity being affiliated with the chapter, commandery and shriners and is an authority on the early history of Masonry.

HEALTH HINT FOR TODAY.

Virtue of Vegetables.

Many vegetables play a useful part in helping us to solve our food problems. Cabbage, for example, is one of the best vegetables that can be selected for this purpose. Then we have onions, celery, radishes, carrots, lettuce, spinach, tomatoes and—one of the most important of all—horseradish. Among the herbs sorrel and rhubarb are perhaps the most useful. No food in the spring is better than rhubarb, while sorrel should be eaten every day, either in combination with other vegetables and herbs as a salad or as one of the herbs that are used to flavor the soup. To secure the best effect from the acid combining foods most of them should be eaten raw, or at least they should be cooked as slightly as possible. Too much cooking destroys the organic mineral salts, without which these foods would fail to accomplish their purpose. That is why we crave such things as raw celery and radishes. Those who have tried raw cabbage and raw onions sliced and served as a salad seldom go for a very long time without repeating the experiment.

IN FASHION'S REALM

Short Coats and Broad Sailor Collars in Vogue.

There is a new rumour just over from Paris. It is this: The French dressmakers will put out all manner of new things in the next week, which are different from those shown in the Spring exhibitions of Feb. 15. This rumor may be based on the experience of last year, when the French dressmakers took back many of their February creations in June and put out brand new ones for the races.

It was this trick that changed the plaited skirt into the tight, narrow one in ten days' time; and it was this incident that caused Americans who arrived in Europe in July in plaited skirts to find out that they looked decidedly like back numbers. There was no doubt about it; skirts had definitely changed. Women who had paid $100 for coat suits in April which had plaited skirts found themselves in need of another tailor suit when they arrived in Europe, if they had any fashionable desires.

This episode opened the eyes of the majority of American tailors and dressmakers, and they fear it will happen again. The only sensible way to look at it is that these new fashions do not arrive in America until the end of August, and that if we remain in this country we are dressed according to our fashion and that is all that is necessary.

Women who go abroad are divided into two classes; those who are merely tourists, and are not especially particular about their clothing following the latest fancy, and those who are in Paris or London to get new clothes and, therefore, are not sensitive about the ones they have. So this rumor of a sudden change will not really bother the heads of the majority of women. It is only interesting because all news in fashions makes a special appeal to women.

Just what they can do in the way of startling change is difficult to prophesy. They may return to the full skirt, which was abandoned a year ago this Spring, or they may take up the basque instead of the peasant blouse and cut armholes into the seamless shoulder waist. It is quite true that the changes in fashions were so slight in February that American buyers both here and abroad were astounded. They could not quite make up their minds why the great Paris houses were so quiescent; the trouser skirt was new and aggressive, it is true, but one garment projected by a few exclusive houses doesn't constitute a revolution.

The entire attention of the French houses was given over to trifling modifications and enlargements of the prevailing fashions. Not even a new trimming was introduced. Beads and Bulgarian embroidery were not emphasized and the exploitation of woolen embroidery on lace was not new. It had been done for a year or two in slight measure and was merely accentuated in February.

The use of bullion trimming was broadened and strengthened, which made the cost of the gowns go up in leaps and bounds. Gold and silver fringes were added to everything, instead of beads, and flowered gauzes and chiffons were brought back into play. The fichu was revived to be in keeping with the Revolutionary period dawning in clothes, and the small hat wtih its butterfly in front was simply a play upon the millinery of last Fall. The introduction of the sunflower and the butterfly had a tinge of novelty, and, so far, the public has not taken up the former. It has been left to the few.

Young girls, and other ones, for that matter, with young figures, have taken up an attractive new fashion in adornment for short coats. Instead of the sailor collar, a pointed hood that reaches half way to the waist is made of the material and lined with a brilliant silk. This lining shows in a wide V-shaped wedge down the middle of the hood. One must not use too much of it, because of the vividness. Purple, lobster pink, geranium red, and black and white silk are the favorite colors chosen. If one does not care for such brilliancy, then satin can be used to match the material.

The use of a tassel as a pendant is optional; it really should only be adopted by youngsters. It is a bit too frivolous for a street gown after one has passed 20. Those who are tired of sailor collars on their coats—and, sad to say, the American public has already wearied of this kind of neck finish—can convert them into one of the monkish hoods. The main thing is to have it neatly made and exceedingly well pressed, so that it lies entirely flat against the shoulders.

White serge suits are made very attractive by these hoods, with the material turned over on the right side for two inches at the edge, mitred at the point and lined with King's blue or Russian violet. The rolled collar at the neck should match it, and both are better when made of silk than of satin or velvet. The latter is too hot and the former is too popular. The new taffetas, the corded silks and the twilled surahs are newer and more effective.

The mannish suitings in gray and black or in blue and brown, which are made up into everyday coat suits, have their sombreness relieved by a hood lined with green. This seems to be the only color used on the dark suits. Green is so popular in every costume that it is difficult to get away from it. It is used for piping, for hats, for bows, for stockings and shoes and for whole gowns.

It is always a pleasure to have the cool shades of green come into fashion for the Summer months. Nature has taught us that it relieves the eye and soothes the brain under an intense sun and for this reason it is a delightful color to wear during the hot months. The beholder thinks you are cool because you look so, although you feel 100 degrees in the shade.

Purple and red, which, with green, are the dominant colors of the season, are entirely too warm to give any comfort to the wearer or the onlooker after the month of June. Paris can go mad over any violent color it wishes for the Summer months, because it has grown to believe from the temperature of the last half dozen years that it will not have any more Summer. Its cold, rainy days have given the French women a chance to wear the most vivid tones that will impart brilliancy to a gray atmosphere.

We do not have to deal with any such condition in this country from Maine to Mexico. We know full well that we swelter from June to October, and we dress accordingly. We also choose our colors to offset the climate, not to intensify it. Red, on the 5th day of July, with the thermometer doinb whatever it pleases beyond the limits, would be quite enough to drive a woman out of her mind if she had to wear it or look at it; therefore it is not probable that Americans will show it any marked attention from now on.

While purple is not so angry looking as red on a hot day, it lends nothing to one's comfort. It feels hot and it is hot. Therefore this fashionable tone will be discarded even by those who are English enough to keep it up until coronation day.

Green is entirely different from its two companions. It does not absorb heat and it does not intensify light. It is a well-known fact that it is the most restful tone upon which the eyes can look, and for this reason its popularity from June until October is assured.

Green and black are now combined in all manner of smart ways, but green and white will be the choice soon. Corded silk frocks of leaf green are made up in the most enchanting old-fashioned ways.

The skirts are slightly full, with knife plaitings below the knees, finished with double box-plaited ruchings of taffeta. The short-plaited slim bodices are finished off with wide, folded girdles of taffeta arranged in a rosette with long ends at the left side; these ends are edged with five and six ruchings of the taffeta.

Over the shoulders is a wide Colonial fichu made of the material, trimmed with plaitings of the material which are edged with the taffeta and drawn into the front of the waist at the belt with a large cameo set in a frame of green silk.

Green taffeta gowns will be very much the fashion for all kinds of social affairs in hot weather, for this weave of silk, you know, has come back into its own, and is made without rustle or stiffness. It is soft as satin, but has more body.

These gowns are made with a skirt crossed in front, open at the ankles, showing frills of ecru lace. The bodice is quite Empire, is gathered into a three-inch folded girdle of the material, is high at the back, and deeply V-shaped in front, the edge outlined with an old-fashioned plaited ruching of lace. This is about three inches wide, and is held down against the bodice with a plaited band of taffeta.

The tight elbow sleeves are finished with a three-inch plaited frill of lace, and are trimmed up the back with little flat bows of the taffeta held down with wee oblong buckles of gilt.

To continue the old-fashioned effect of this gown the hat is one of those high square-crowned affairs with a narrow brim, turned up at the left side and trimmed with a cockade of green taffeta.

If one does not want a whole green gown one can add the color to white frocks. Belts, cravats, hat bands and stockings in any light tone of green go well with short white duck skirts, a sheer white sailor blouse and white canvas pumps. The effect is infinitely better than if one used red or purple, blue or pink.

While fashion has turned up its nose at the all-white gown and the plain lingerie frock, it admits to its acquaintance the new eyelet embroidered gowns, trimmed with colored taffeta. The embroidery is unlined worn over an Empire slip of white muslin or messaline. The fabric embroidered is excessively sheer, and has that Old World tint which usually comes from age, but can be obtained by the use of weak tea.

The gowns are made with short skirts, finished with five-inch hems of colored taffeta, and the more dressy ones have this hem ornamented at the top edge with an upstanding plaiting of tea-tinted lace. The Empire bodices are gathered into the plaited girdle, which is the popular form of waist adornment for thin gowns. The cuffs, the collar, and the buttons are of the colored taffeta, and the girdle usually matches. One can omit the buttons without spoiling the effect of the gown, and can use two-inch bands of taffeta at edge of neck and sleeves instead of collar and cuffs.

The hats that go with these gowns are wide, flat garden shapes of taffeta, covered over the whole outside surface with the eyelet embroidery and finished with an inch-wide plaiting of lace at the edge. If one wants more trimming than hatpins give, then a cluster of colored flowers is used at the side.

Eyelet embroidery over straw or silk is not a new idea in millinery, but it has been revived with a good deal of enthusiasm this Spring. The disadvantage of such a hat is its readiness to become soiled and the difficulty in cleaning it. Of course the embroidery top is slipped off and cleaned, but it is not an easy task to stretch it into place again. Washing is apt to make it a trifle harsh, and ironing often disposes of the scalloped edge in a distressing way.

The garden hat is not the only one that has this eyelet embroidery covering. It has been introduced into the poke bonnet, which is the popular shape of the moment—another old-fashioned revival. It comes in a large scoop shape, which is trimmed with ribbon and roses in such a demure fashion that it can be worn on the street, or at resorts, with duck skirts and white blouses; again it comes in a most ornate form, trimmed with bunches of small flowers such as pink rosebuds and Russian violets mingled with green leaves.

The back is filled in with loops of satin ribbon, which end in long wide streamers nearly to the knees. Others have wreaths of tiny ostrich tips, finished at the back with one upstarting willow plume.

There is a strong fashion also for the bonnet that has streamers over the ears and tied under the chin. This is called the Salvation Army bonnet, and it must be worn by women who have either beauty or piquancy.—Anne Rittenhouse in New York Times.

IS POLITICAL IN ITS NATURE

Woolen Schedule Presented to House by Underwood

DUTY ON THE RAW MATERIAL

Declared to Be Necessary Because of Republican Extravagance and Appropriations Made by Sixty-First Congress—Criticism For President and Tariff Board In Report Submitted by Ways and Means Committee

Washington, June 7.—Chairman Underwood of the ways and means committee presented to the house the Democratic report on the woolen schedule, which was taken up for general debate.

The report, which is one of the most voluminous ever presented with a bill, is political in its nature, and a large portion of it is devoted to a criticism of President Taft, the Republican party, the tariff board and the woolen interests of the country. A defense of the duty on raw wool is set forth at length in the report.

"The present situation of the treasury," it says, "following a long course of unwarranted extravagance by the Republican party and the appropriations already made by the Sixty-First congress, which the Democratic minority could not limit, require that the revenue from customs duties in the immediate future be maintained at approximately the total of the fiscal year 1910.

"Under the compulsion of this situation the committee finds it necessary to recommend a moderate revenue duty on unmanufactured wools, and the bill herewith reported provides that all raw wools of whatever class or kind shall be subject to a duty of 20 percent ad valorem.

"The bill is not to be construed as an abandonment of any Democratic policy; but in view of the Democratic platform for a 'gradual reduction of the tariff' and the depleted and the depleting condition of the public treasury, a result of Republican extravagance, a tariff of 20 percent ad valorem on raw wool is now proposed as a revenue necessity."

Referring to the Democratic tariff program the report says: "The Republican party has failed to make the revision required, and the present Democratic house of representatives has been intrusted by the people with the plain duty of tariff revision according to the Democratic platform of 1908; that is, immediate revision, with a gradual reduction of duties to a revenue basis, and with especial consideration given to the necessities of life."

The report calls attention to the fact that Underwood called upon the tariff board for any information it had on the woolen schedule. The information was refused on the ground that the board had not yet completed its investigation. Referring to the president's attitude and that of the board the report says:

"The position of the tariff board appears to be that they, in conference with and under the sole control of the president, shall be the sole judges as to what part of the data they collect may be likely to be of service for purpose of legislation; and this situation must be considered with reference to the viewpoint of the president concerning tariff legislation.

"It is therefore not impossible that there may be some such delay in the communication to the congress of statistical data collected by the tariff board concerning wool and woolen goods as there has been in communicating to congress or making public the data collected by the bureau of corporations concerning investigations of the steel and other industries."

Down flew a blackbird and perched upon her nose;
"What makes your clothes so very white," the saucy blackbird said,
"I washed them with Fels-Naptha," replied the pretty maid.

Most labor-savers cost money.

A new-fangled washer, an electric sad iron or a gas range mean you have to pay out a good sum to start with.

But Fels-Naptha Soap will save you more work than all these other things put together and it costs no more than other soaps.

Labor-saving and economy are combined in Fels-Naptha.

When you wash with Fels-Naptha Soap the Fels-Naptha way, in cool or lukewarm water, it saves the clothes.

They last twice as long.

No matter how big the washing is, it doesn't take half as long as if you boiled and hard-rubbed the clothes.

They'll be sweeter, whiter and cleaner.

Isn't it worth trying?

Be sure and use cool or lukewarm water in Winter or Summer—no boiling—according to directions on the red and green wrapper.

BENEDICT PARTY SAFE

Doubtful Whether Commodore's Yacht Can Be Successfully Floated

Havana, June 7.—Commodore E. C. Benedict and his party arrived here on board the wrecking steamer Premier from the American yacht Virginia, which is still aground on Colorado reefs, on the north coast of Pinar del Rio.

The Premier returned to the stranded yacht to make another effort to float the vessel, but its success is considered very doubtful. The members of the Benedict party intend to proceed north today. The yacht's crew remains on board the wreck.

WILL SUPPORT TAFT IN 1912

Roosevelt Will Not Allow His Name to Be Presented

FORCE OF HIS PERSONALITY

It Will Be on Side of Present Administration Even If Former President Does Not Enter Campaign as Active Stump Speaker—Friends of T. R. May Refuse to Abandon Hope of His Candidacy

Washington, June 7.—President Taft, in his candidacy for the presidential nomination in 1912, will receive the unqualified indorsement of former President Roosevelt, which will be uttered just as cordially as it was prior to the campaign of 1908.

This is the best political news Taft has received in many months, and it comes to him in a manner that leaves no doubt as to its authenticity.

The information that Roosevelt, under no circumstances, will allow his own name to be presented to the Republican national convention did not become known until last night.

That Roosevelt feels that the Taft administration should be continued was brought out partly as the result of a cordial greeting between the two men at the Cardinal Gibbons jubilee in Baltimore yesterday.

Whether the Roosevelt approval of Taft's candidacy will go far enough to take the former president into the campaign as an active stump speaker is problematical, but that the force of his personality will be with the president is assured.

The fact is not expected to prove pleasing to Republicans who have made no secret of their desire to bring Roosevelt forward as a formidable rival for the 1912 nomination. Many of these Republicans no doubt will refuse to abandon hope until Roosevelt himself, in quoted statement, announces his position and thus breaks the silence concerning the administration which he has maintained since landing in New York on his return from his African hunt.

The information that Roosevelt would be found aligned with the president, rather than against him, was brought directly to Taft from Roosevelt by a mutual friend high in official life who was connected with both the Roosevelt and Taft administrations in a capacity that enabled him to gain and retain the confidence—in fact, the warm personal friendship of both men.

WEDDING OF INDIAN CHIEF

Carlisle Graduate Takes a Boston Woman For His Bride

Boston, June 7.—At St. Joseph's church in the West End, the marriage of Miss Loretto Colombo and Chief Wolf Wanna, a full-blooded Navajo Indian, took place last evening. The romance began six years ago on a large ranch in San Antonio, Tex., where Miss Colombo, then but a little over 13 years of age, lived with her father.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Carlisle, has been with the 101 Ranch Wild West show, has played Indian parts in theatrical productions and for the past five years has traveled for the government about the world lecturing on Indian life in war and peace. His father was Chief Peter Wanna.

NO NEW INFORMATION

Probers Cannot Trace $1600 Missing From State Department

Washington, June 7.—Senator Root could not give the house committee which is investigating the state department much information on the disbursement of the $2450, approved for the payment of a picture of former Secretary Day, for which Artist Rosenthal received $850.

While secretary of state, Root said, he had the matter investigated. It resulted only in the finding of a paper showing Secretary Hay's approval of the payment of $2450 from the emergency or "secret" fund of the department. Payments from this fund were made upon approval of the secretary without receipts or vouchers.

GUILT NOT PROVEN

Woman Charged With Poisoning Husband Is Acquitted

Pittsburg, June 7.—Mrs. Minnie Strohacker was acquitted yesterday on the charge of having administered strychnine to her husband, George Strohacker, on Jan. 7 last. The verdict was ordered by Judge Evans, because the prosecution had been unable to prove the woman's guilt.

Strohacker refused to believe that his wife was in any way connected with the poisoning, and supported her throughout the trial.

Mother of Nine Children at 21

Calgary, Alberta, June 7.—Mrs. K. Kewalasky, 21 years old, yesterday gave birth to four children, all of whom are alive and well. The woman previously gave birth to triplets and twins.

COUNCILMEN ARE OUSTED

Nine Men, Three of Them Millionaires, Now Rule Pittsburg

Pittsburg, June 7.—Nine business and professional men, three of them millionaires, have been intrusted with the government of Pittsburg, to succeed the city councilmen turned out of office under the new Pittsburg charter bill.

There is not a politician in the commission appointed by Governor Tener, although the nine men represent the choice of Senator Penrose, Governor Tener and the state Republican organization.

This commission is vested with all the legislative functions that were held by the old councils. Nearly 100 councilmen lose office by the charter bill, thoroughly ridding the city of this method of legislative government, around which hinged so many graft scandals and penitentiary imprisonments in the last five years.

SEES VICTORY FOR FOSS

Mayor of Boston Is Not Looking For the Governorship

Boston, June 7.—Mayor Fitzgerald has capitulated to Governor Foss. The mayor made it plain yesterday afternoon not only that he will not fight Foss for renomination this fall, but that he believes that the governor will sweep all opposition from his path and will be returned to the gubernatorial chair by an overwhelming plurality.

He declared that another Foss victory at the polls this fall is inevitable. In addition to this he asserted that the indications now are that the entire Democratic ticket will sweep Massachusetts at the next election.

"Foss will be re-elected without any doubt, and the only thing that will prevent a Democratic landslide in this state next fall is a slip-up at Washington. I don't think this will occur," said the mayor.

LANDLORD IS HELD FOR THROWING ACID

Disturbed by Early Morning Visit of Harvard Students

Boston, June 7.—Acid thrown from a South End lodging house at a party of Harvard students who went there to take a woman lodger out for an automobile ride very early Sunday morning, is likely to result in the disfigurement, for life of one of the party.

William H. Crapo was held in $300 in the municipal court, after he had pleaded guilty to the charge of having thrown the acid.

At 3 o'clock Sunday morning the students went to the house and scratched with their finger nails on the window screens of a room occupied by three girls. Crapo, the landlord, who is 74 years old, was aroused and told the students they ought to be ashamed of themselves for calling at such an hour. There was considerable talk and acid was thrown.

Donald H. Clark was struck with the fluid on the side of the face and Stoddard Hoffman received some of the fluid on his clothing. Clark was taken to the city hospital.

Students Quit College

Cambridge, Mass., June 7.—As a result of the acid throwing fracas the four Harvard students who were targets for the vitriol alleged to have been thrown by the irate landlord resigned from the university following an interview with Acting Dean Wells.

EDWARD HARRIGAN DEAD

Was For Years Familiar to Patrons of American Theatres

New York, June 7.—Edward Harrigan, the veteran actor, playwright and manager, died at his home in Brooklyn. He had been ill for two years and had not appeared on the stage since the spring of 1909. He leaves a widow and six children.

Harrigan was born in New York sixty-six years ago. His first appearance as a player was in 1867 at the Olympic theatre in San Francisco. He played Irish parts almost continuously in New York from 1874 until 1894, generally writing and staging the plays himself. Since 1894 he had appeared in vaudeville also with a number of prominent stars.

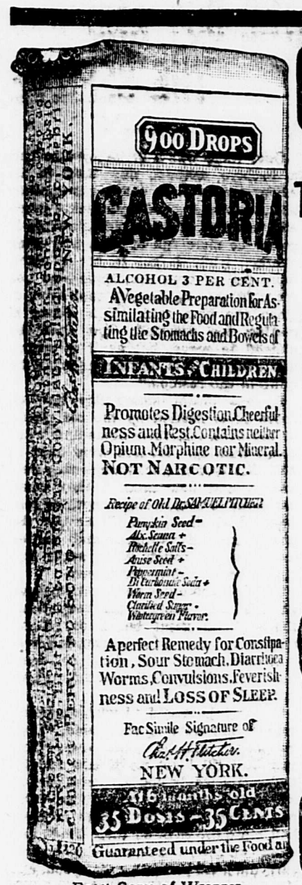

Former Lord Mayor Drowns

Pau, June 7.—Sir Wilfred L. Hepton, once lord mayor of Leeds, was drowned while trout fishing in Lac d'Estom, near Argeles-Gazost.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

LIFE IS SHORT.

Mark how fleeting and paltry is the estate of man—yesterday in embryo, tomorrow a mummy or ashes. So for the hair's breadth of time assigned to thee live rationally, and part with life cheerfully, as drops the ripe olive, extolling the season that bore it and the tree that matured it.—Marcus Aurelius Antonius.

THE BOY AND THE BEEHIVE

Once there was a little boy who had a beehive without any bees in it. About a mile away there was another beehive, which stood by a picket fence and was full of bees. After awhile it got to be more full of bees, and after another while it got to be so much more full of bees that there was not room for any of them to turn around. Then the bees said: "This house is getting too crowded. We shall be obliged to move, but as it is spring and everybody is moving we shall be quite in the fashion."

So one bright sunny day half of those bees, headed by the old queen of the hive, left their home and went house hunting. Houses were hard to find that spring, and, though they flew around and flew around, they could not seem to come across anything that just suited the queen till at last the queen got discouraged and settled down on the bough of an apple tree near a pretty white farmhouse.

Then all the other bees settled down on the same bough till they hung there like a great bunch of grapes, and all the bees kept murmuring over and over again: "Oh, dear; oh, dear; oh, dear! What shall we do for a new house?"

Some of them said, "I wish we hadn't come," and some of them said, "Let's go back," but the queen said, "Just you wait till I get my breath and I'll find you a lovely house." And just as she spoke out from the house there ran a man and a boy. Both of them had mosquito nets on their heads and gloves on their hands, and the boy was carrying a tin pan and a tin spoon, and the man was carrying a long blue box with a cover at the end. And as they came the boy beat on the tin pan with a spoon in a most terrifying manner, so that the bees were afraid to fly away in the air again.

"I wish," said the queen bee, "that that boy would stop making that noise. It frightens me so that I don't dare move. And I wish that that man would put down that box so that I could have it for a hive."

But the boy kept on beating on the tin pan, and the man did not let go of the blue box till they came and stood right under the branch where the bees hung. Then the man took the cover off the box and gently brushed the bees inside.

"There," said the queen bee, pretending she had expected it all along; "I told you I'd find a nice house for you. It's much better than our old one—made of wood instead of straw and painted blue, too, my very favorite color. Now let's put the house in order and start housekeeping."

While the bees were so happy with their new home the people in the house were, if anything, more happy. The little boy was dancing up and down and clapping his hands. "Just to think that I've got some bees now in my beehive!" he cried. "And I wanted them so much and took such a lot of trouble fixing up that old hive I found in the cellar!"

So both the little boy and the bees were contented, and the bees worked so hard that they made a lot of extra honey that they did not need, as bees generally do. So the little boy sold the extra honey and bought with his money a lot of things he had been wanting for a long time and that the rest of the family had been wanting for a long time, and one of the things he bought was an extra beehive, and when swarming time came the queen bee said: "How convenient! This time we can move right over the way."

Like the Man From Nantucket.

You remember, surely, the story about the "man from Nantucket who kept all his wealth in a bucket, but his daughter, named Nan, ran away with a man, and, as for the bucket, Nan tucket." Out in Missouri there was a man that had no daughter named Nan or anything else, but he did keep his wealth in a bucket—in several of them, to be exact. He was a hermit and lived in a poor house with ancient furniture that was found to be worth $9.15, and in this house he died, but before he died he told his relatives about the money he had hidden. There were pails full of it. He seemed to prefer pails to bags and banks. His estate altogether, including the furniture, was worth about $60,000.

An Indian Game.

The Indian children have many games, some of them similar to those our children play. The stick and the ring game is a favorite. The ring is covered first with buckskin and then with beads. Each boy has a stick, and he throws it at the ring, which is rolled along the ground. The game is to send the stick through the ring. This is a difficult thing to do, as each boy tries by striking up the other boys' sticks to prevent their companions from succeeding.

An Apple Lesson.

When teacher called the apple class they gathered round to see
What question deep in apple lore their task that day might be.

"Now, tell me," said the teacher to little Polly Brown,
"Do apple seeds grow pointing up, or are they pointing down?"

Poor Polly didn't know, for she had never thought to look,
And that's the kind of question you can't find in a book.

And of the whole big apple class not one small pupil knew
If apple seeds point up or down! But, then, my dear, do you?

—St. Nicholas.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington, June 2, 1911.

The United States is close to that postal Utopia, a one-cent sealed letter rate. For the first time in thirty years the post-office department is not only self-supporting, but is bringing a large revenue to the government. When we remember that only two years ago there was a deficit of more than seventeen millions of dollars and that there is now a surplus of three millions, involving a change of twenty millions, we can have some appreciation of what Postmaster General Hitchcock has accomplished. He can do much more if Congress will but second his efforts and by the establishment of a parcels post 99 per cent of the people of the United States will be benefitted and the federal government will turn what has heretofore been a loosing business into one of great national profit. At the present time there is besides the three million dollars turned back to the Treasury, a full million in the national post-office and upless the expenses during this month should prove extraordinary, the surplus will be still greater for the fiscal year. Let it not be forgotten that the present administration inherited a deficit of more than $17,500,000 dollars, the largest in the history of the postal service. This deficit was soon changed after Postmaster General Hitchcock took charge. In the past it always has been the custom for the government to set aside at least ten millions to meet the deficit of the general post-office, but Mr. Hitchcock found that he would not have to use any part of the amount and sent it back to the Treasury. An accounting plan was adopted about a year ago, which insures the prompt deposit in the Treasury of postal funds not required for disbursement at post-offices, and to this reform in the financial system of the post-office department the present much desired condition is in part indebted.

To be able to send a sealed letter for one cent will mean something to almost every man, woman and child, in the country. To large business organizations which spend thousands of dollars yearly for postage stamps, it will mean a great saving, but it is not at all improbable that the government will make more through the one-cent postage and its effect in largely increasing correspondence than under the old system. Now, let us have the parcels post. Of course, there will be a swarm of lobbyists opposing it, headed by the Express companies and the railway companies and all who have stock in them but 99 per cent of the people of the United States, while they may not now know it or foresee it, will be greatly benefitted by the parcels post.

There has been no little interest in an apparent fight within the Democratic house majority, concerning the tariff on wool in the new bill which Mr. Underwood is expected to present early next week. Mr. Bryan has been in Washington and has tried to influence the Ways and Means Committee in favor of free wool. Mr. Underwood holds that a small tariff on wool is necessary for revenue. The contention was waxing warm and Mr. Bryan has been criticized for his interference, Mr. Underwood pointing out that whn Bryan was in Congress he voted for the Wilson bill, which levied a tax on wool. It is expected that the Democratic caucus will approve the Underwood measure and that Mr. Bryan will as usual be defeated.

The Attorney General stated last week that the Department of Justice in its efforts to control all unlawful combinations in inter-state trade, would bring criminal charges under the Sherman law against responsible persons. The Attorney General gave this information in his testimony before the House Committee on Expenditures in the Department of Justice. He then declared that as a result of the Standard Oil and Tobacco cases decisions, juries will now be disposed to convict and judges to impose sentences under the penal provisions of the law. Representative Small of Texas had asked the Attorney General why there had been so few criminal convictions under the Sherman anti-trust law. The Attorney General answered that in the past juries had shown a reluctance to convict and the courts to impose prison sentences. He attributed this to the uncertainty as to the import of the law, now made clear by the Supreme Court decisions.

An Early Spring.

WALKS 475,000 MILES.

Youth Must Go 25,000 More to Wi $30,000—Started In 1897.

Julius Rath of St. Louis was starte out in 1897 by the St. Louis club t walk 500,000 miles by 1915. Rath say he has already been three times aroun the world and has walked 475,00 miles.

Rath started off without money pledged not to beg. He makes his wa selling cards, trinkets or lecturing.

Rath, who was fourteen years o when he started, has visited nearl every country in the world. Leavin St. Louis, he walked to Mexico, the to Honduras and Brazil, and then wen to England. When he travels on shi board Rath must walk twelve hours day to fill his contract.

Once in Mexico he was held up b bandits, he says. When ordered to hal he shot one man and received a bulle in the leg. This caused him a dela of four months in a hospital. He tell a thrilling tale of having been capture by savages in Africa. They bound hin to a tree with grass ropes, he said, bu he escaped while they were makin ready, as he thought, to eat him.

"I have found traveling the easies in this country and Canada and worst in Turkey and Siberia. In Russia you have to show your passport in every village you enter," he said. "Then they search you at intervals on susplcion that you are a spy."

One condition of his walk is that he must bring back a dog. He has already had three, and Jack, the present one, has already covered some thousands of miles.

Rath says he has worn out 433 pairs of shoes in his long tramp. He must end his walk with $1,000 in his possession. So far he has saved up $40 If successful in his accomplishment he expects to receive $30,000 from the St Louis club.

TO GROW CAMPAIGN FUND.

Acres of Cotton to Furnish Oklahoma Socialists Money For 1912.

The Socialists hope to carry Oklaho ma in 1912, and they purpose doing it by growing cotton. William Crawford owns a tract of land near Muskogee He has turned over five acres of thi to the Socialists. They have plowed and planted it to cotton. This work i contributed free of all cost by the local Socialists. They will cultivate the crop, pick and sell it, and the entire gross receipts will be contributed to the state campaign fund for the next election, which will be in 1912.

This plan, which is being followed all over the state, is likely to create a tremendous campaign fund. Five acres of cotton ought to bring $250. The shortage of funds always has been the great handicap of the Socialist party.

But the cotton patch product is not all. Following the request of leaders individual Socialists where there are no local organizations are setting aside the gross receipts of one acre of land or one steer, one hog or some other livestock which will be sold and the money given to the campaign.

The class was under examination, and little Johnny Fillows was the last one on the line. Teacher started with the head, and asked what was the feminine of "hero."

Number one shook her head. It passed to two. She missed it; so did three. As it came nearer and nearer to Johnny he became very much excited, apparently knowing the answer, and waved his hand frantically.

"Well, Johnny," said the teacher at last, "everybody has failed now. Can you tell me the feminine of hero?"

"Shero!" shouted Johnny, exultantly.—The Visitor.

DEATH OF CITY CLERK HARRISON A. KEITH

Was Mayor in 1899. Trustee of Thomas Crane Library 40 Years

Master of High School 22 Years. An Enthusiastic Yachtsman

HARRISON A. KEITH
City Clerk

A death that has caused a widespread feeling of regret throughout the whole city was that of City Clerk, Harrison A. Keith who passed away Wednesday night after an illness of a few days duration. Mr. Keith had a severe attack of the grip last winter and has never been in the same good health since, his last illness was due in a great measure to his weakened condition occasioned by his sickness in the winter.

Mr. Keith was a man of rare ability and experience. Methodical in everything his books and papers were a model for neatness. With him ti was a place for everything and everything in its place. His long connection with affairs of the city made him a man with a fund of information on matters pertaining to Quincy and it was a common saying if one wanted to know the facts about matters in Quincy to see Mr. Keith.

Before his appointment as City Clerk, by Mayor Bryant, that office had always been looked upon as a political one, but with his appointment the office practically passed out of politics for like ex-Mayor Bryant, every Mayor since his time has recognized the fact that here was a man fitted for the office, and his reappointment has followed, and it had become to be a recognized fact that as long as he desired the office no man would rise up and try to take it away from him.

Mr. Keith was born in Quincy and has practically made this city his home. Receiving his early education in the public schools of the then town, he, at the age of 15 years entered Antioch college, then under the presidency of Horace Mann, and graduated four years later.

After a few years in mercantile affairs he returned to Quincy and in 1863 was appointed as master of the High School which position he held for 22 years. During the greater part of this time he was annually appointed auditor and had charge of the books of the Assessors and Selectmen.

In 1890 he was nominated for Member of the School Committee-at-large, and was one of the very few Democrats on the ticket elected that year.

At the inception of the Quincy Public Library in 1871, Mr. Keith was elected a Member of the Board of Trustees, and has held that office ever since, being nominated and elected by both parties and receiving an appointment from each Mayor since Quincy became a city.

In 1894 Mr. Keith was appointed City Clerk by Mayor Hodges, serving under him for two years and under

BROWN—O'NEIL

Another pretty June wedding took place Wednesday evening at St. John's church when Miss Ellen Theresa O'Neil, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick A. O'Neil was united in marriage to Chester Don Brown of 48 Washington street. Rev. John J. Coan of St. John's church performed the ceremony, using the single ring service. The bride who was handsomely gowned in white messaline, carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley. She was accompanied by her sister Miss Mary E. O'Neil who was gowned in dove gray and carried a bouquet of pink roses. The bride was given away by her father, Patrick A. O'Neil. Miss Annie O'Neil, a sister of the bride was the flower girl. Elmer Woodworth of Cambridge was the best man.

After the ceremony all assembled at the new home, 208 Franklin street, where a reception was held from 8 until 10 o'clock. The ushers were Arthur O'Neil, Milo Franzie and William O'Neil. The pretty home was decorated with roses and was filled to overflowing with friends who came to offer their felicitations. Wilson's orchestra furnished music during the evening and a collation was served. The popularity of the young people was attested by the great number of presents they received. Among the many beautiful and useful gifts were a silver service, dinner set, electric lamp, cut glass, china a mahogany music cabinet and a pedestal, silverware, pictures and numerous other things of beauty and value. Mrs. Brown was employed by Alden, Walker and Wilde of Boston who remembered her handsomely. Mr. Brown is in the employ of the Quincy Avenue Granite Co. from which the young people also received a beautiful present. Both Mr .and Mrs. Brown are popular in this city and have numerous friends in other localities. Mr. Brown is well known as a cornet player having played on the High school orchestra when he was a pupil at the school and since then has had an orchestra of his own.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown will be at home after July 1 at 208 Franklin street.

An entertainer, automobile rides, games and entertainment of all kinds will attract children to the Adams Academy grounds from two until five o'clock Saturday afternoon. A large corps of members of the Education committee and Quincy Women's club have planned a grand good time for the children.

MERCHANTS ASSOCIATION

Donation of $25 to Firemens Relief Association

A meeting of the Merchant's branch of the Board of Trade was held Wednesday afternoon at the rooms of the Board, W. G. Shaw presiding.

There was a general and informal discussion of Merchants' week plans.

It was voted that the stores in City Square should be opened every evening during Merchants' week.

It was also voted that as the general sentiment seemed to be in favor of decorating stores during the week that the decorating should be general.

The question of giving prizes for the firemen came up and it seemed to be the general impression that the awarding of ribbons was as a whole unsatisfactory.

After some informal discussion it was voted that the sum of $25 be forwarded to the treasurer of the Firemen's Relief association as an appreciation of the departments turning out on the last day of Merchants' week.

An informal shop talk followed before adjournment.

MANSION SCHOOL GRADUATION

Reception and Dance to Graduates by Alumnae

Mrs. Willard is to be heartily congratulated on this, the fifteenth annual commencement of the Quincy Mansion school. The graduation exercises were held Wednesday afternoon in Livermore hall which was filled with pupils, teachers, parents and friends of the students. Soon after two o'clock lavender and green cords were drawn down the aisles during the singing of the processional "Angel of Peace" accompanied by piano and violin. The voices drew nearer and nearer until the juniors and pupils were within the hall. They continued to the front where they faced the audience as the seniors in handsome white gowns made their appearance. Mrs. Willard spoke briefly of her regret that the time had now come for the last exercises of the school year. She as well as the late Dr. Willard liked the old-fashioned graduation. The students were young not yet orators, but she knew the audience came as friends, not critics. As they sang the chorus "March on, ye soldiers true," it was very apparent they had cultivated the singing voice. Prayer was offered by Prof. Marceau. Mrs. Bertha Cushing Child sang the Aria "But the Lord is mindful" by Mendelssohn and the Folk song. As usual Mrs. Child's command of technique and the lovely quality of her voice were well displayed.

Miss Christian delivered the salutatory address, and her "Silhouettes from Virginia" telling of the matrimonial experiences Mary Bird, the negress and Mary Ellen's visit to Washington, tales of superstition were amusing, but the passing of all this in the south is leaving only the silhouette framed in golden memory.

THE WIDENING OF WASHINGTON STREET

Board of Trade Discusses this Important Question at Monthly Meeting

Committee Appointed to Get Plan and Estimate of Land Damages

That all important question, the widening of Washington street came up for discussion Wednesday evening at the meeting of the Board of Trade. President E. R. Stone presided and after the routine business the treasurer reported the financial standing of the Board and that several members were very much in arrears for dues. It was voted that these members be notified that unless their dues are paid before the July meeting that they will be suspended.

John R. Richards for the special committee on derrick at South Quincy reported that the special boom derrick was in position but that there was no work for it to do at present.

President Stone reported that it did not look as though the Board would be given much of a hearing on the separation of the grades at Saville and Water streets, and that it looked very much as though the so called railroad plans would be the ones adopted. He stated however that he had seen ex-Governor Bates, chairman of the commission and that he had promised the Board that they should have a hearing, President Stone said however that he did not think it would amount to much.

The question of widening Washington street was then taken up. Mr. Thompson chairman of the committee on that question said he had communicated with the street railway company, and their stand on the question had been stated in writing to the Board, and he did not see jus t what there was now for the committee to do.

President Stone thought that the first thing to be done was to get a plan of the proposed widening.

A. L. Whitman stated that it was understood that the City Engineer was preparing a plan for the city and he thought that the City Council should be petitioned to attend to the widening immediately.

Paul R. Blackmur stated that the widening should be done at once. Land would never be as cheap as today. He thought that there should be a committee of real estate men to go ahead and get a copy of the plan from the city and then make an estimate of the cost of land damages. The question of cost is the one that everybody wants to know. He believed that a committee could see the abutters and talk with them personally, and that in this way thousands of dollars could be saved the city. He suggested the adoption of a resolution to this effect. Also that the committee consider how the widening should be done, by what is known as the betterment act, or by the old method. When you find out the approximate cost, the railway will tell you frankly just what they will do An association like this can push this matter and accomplish much good.

It was then voted that the sense of the Board of Trade be that Washington street should be widened from Temple street to Chubbuck street.

HONESTY IN EVERYTHING

In the death of Harrison Alonzo Keith the city has lost a man widely known and one who will be mourned by many. During the years he was master of the High school hundreds of pupils, now widely scattered, attended the school who will today be saddened to learn of his death. Although active in town and city affairs Mr. Keith was unassuming; an official it was a pleasure to transact business with as he was courteous and always a gentleman under most trying situations, whether as Mayor of the city or as City Clerk.

For years he has been a trustee of the Public Library and here his education and training made him one of the most valued members of the board

Mr. Keith was of the old school and everything that it became his duty to do was well done; his books of record were models of neatness and accuracy. He had no use for the hurry and rush of the present generation. In his death the city loses its most faithful official and one whom it will be almost impossible to replace.

TOWN GROWTH.

There are two ways in which business men and property owners can become more prosperous.

The first method is by pushing at their own business with all their might. That is always necessary.

The second method is by so uniting with other merchants to make their town grow, that all existing property owners and business plants become more prosperous, through the growing value of real estate and the growing volume of trade that results from a larger population.

Both these methods of expansion are needful. The men who adopt the first method only soon find that they are up against a blank wall. They find that there is only about so much trade in a town. They may get some of it away from their less hustling neighbors. But when these neighbors wake up and see their trade dwindling, if they make special inducements and show good judgment in advertising, they get their old customers back.

The general pull for town betterment permits every business man to grow without trenching on his neighbors' business. Thus it avoids those bitter rivalries that occur where retail traders are scrambling for the same customers without effort to create a wider market in which all shall share alike.

Are our local organizations active and alert enough to get all the chances that are falling into some one's lap all the time?

The business of chasing up new industries is one attended by many discouragements. Three quarters of the propositions in the market are from professional floaters, who are looking for tax exemptions, subscriptions of capital stock, and free rentals, and who will move elsewhere as soon as they find some place to raise the bid.

There is, however, a constant percentage of hopeful propositions always looking for a little assistance. There are constantly bright and competent young men, who are given no opportunity in the close corporations that are employing them. Are we making the constant study of trade papers and other sources of information to get all the promising new enterprises that might come our way?

MUZZLING THE NEWSPAPERS.

Newspapers are a mighty unhandy thing to have around, just as the police are. At least, for people who have deals to put through in the dark, or burglaries to commit.

The latest attempt to gag the newspapers is in Ohio, where a bill has been favorably reported in the Legislature to put editors and publishers in jail, if they exact a promise from candidates for office. There is also a fine of $100 to $500.

It is a newspaper's business to record the buyings and sellings in the market, and legislators whose votes are put up at auction will no doubt favor a law that will harass honest publishers.

No doubt some men will vote for such a bill thoughtlessly, or from honest motives. Gov. Harmon favors the proposed law, and no doubt he honestly thinks it will remove an evil.

Let such men think how such a proposal would hamper the publishers seeking to defend the rights of the people.

The people naturally want to know how their representatives are going to vote on important public matters. Any citizen has a perfect right to ask a candidate to pledge himself to vote a certain way. The candidate has a perfect right to make such a pledge, or to decline to make it, just as he sees fit.

Newspapers naturally want to know something about a candidate's point of view before wasting their good space on supporting him, just as the voter hates to cast his ballot for a man who afterwards acts against his wishes.

The question whether candidates should or should not pledge themselves in advance is not one that can be settled in a sweeping way. As a general thing, the independent legislator keeps his mind open until the final show down, and dislikes to tie himself up in advance. But occasionally there come square issues of right and wrong, where the voters want the sheep and the goats lined up before the ballot box by definite pledges. In seeking to secure such pledges, the newspaper is simply the agent of the people.

IGNORANT DRINKERS.

Statement is made that a surprisingly small number of persons know how to drink from the "bubble fountains" which in other cities have been installed in many public schools. We should suppose that the exercise of a modicum of common sense would give all the instruction necessary, but this does not appear to be the case. The Springfield Union relates, for example, that at "Forest park last Sunday it was noticed that many persons on taking a drink of water placed their mouths firmly over the metal cap and then turned on the water. In at least one instance a woman was seen to place her handkerchief over the cap and saturate it with water preliminary to washing her child's face." This would not be quite as objectionable, perhaps, as the common drinking cup, but such doings are not calculated to make the bubble drinking fountain attractive to persons of cleanly inclinations. That drinking from one of these fountains without touching the lips to the metal cap is perfectly easy can be demonstrated by the simplest experimentation. In fact, drinking by touching the lips to the bubble is more comfortable and pleasanter than drinking by putting the mouth over the metal cap. This is so obvious that it sems ridiculous to explain it.

We suspect that the real trouble is that large numbers of people are not careful about the habits of personal cleanliness. Not much in the way of attention to the niceties of cleanliness, they are oblivious with respect to what they consider the small things. This accounts for many practices which are similar to drinking from the metal cap of a bubble fountain. The moral is that cleanly habits must be acquired in many directions if they are to be enforced in any one direction.—New Bedford Standard.

SIX THOUSAND OUT

Recognition of Union Demanded by Cleveland Garment Workers

Cleveland, June 8.—Six thousand union garment workers have gone out on a strike here. The strike is an exact duplicate, it is said, of the one in New York a year ago—not so much a question of dollars and cents as a demand for recognition of the union.

The garment workers not only demand that their unions be recognized, but insist that the manufacturers, instead of dealing with each individual workman, shall deal with the union as a whole.

NEXICO CITY BADLY SHAKEN

Earthquake Kills Sixty-Three and Injures Seventy-Five

PROPERTY LOSS IS $100,000

Most of the Victims Are Soldiers Who Were Quartered In Artillery Barracks—Shock Lasts Fourteen Minutes—Madero Hailed as Conquering Hero as He Enters Capital Shortly After Disaster Occurs

Mexico City, June 8.—Sixty-three persons were killed, seventy-five wounded and property worth $100,000 was wrecked by an earthquake which shook the Mexican capital and injected a note of tragedy into what was to be a day of rejoicing over the arrival of Francisco I. Madero, Jr.

When the work of searching the ruins is completed it is possible that the list of dead will be somewhat increased, for hiding here and there throughout the city are doubtless many wounded, who, with traditional fear of the authorities and government hospitals, are anxious to evade discovery.

The property loss estimate is based on calculations made by owners and contractors. Little of the loss is covered by insurance.

According to the meterological observatory the greatest intensity was reached at the end of the first minute, but the instruments continued to record shocks for fourteen minutes more. The disturbance was vacillatory and almost free from trepidatory motion.

More than half of the dead accounted for were soldiers. They were caught beneath the falling walls of the artillery barracks at San Cosma, near the Mexican Central station.

Another place where the earthquake was unusually deadly was at the city power plant of the street car company. There six persons were killed and six were wounded. The others were found in the debris. This debris consisted partly of steel rails which had been stacked in the iron and wood departments. The victims were inhabitants of shacks, built alongside the structure.

With these two exceptions the death list was made up of single cases, or in a few instances of two or three persons caught beneath falling walls in unsubstantial buildings.

Although the shock was plainly felt in all parts of the city, few realized the magnitude of the catastrophe until late in the forenoon, because the casualties were confined to a comparatively small area. Being accustomed to earthquakes, which are usually harmless, the populace were slow to realize that this was the most serious shock the capital has suffered in twenty years.

No personal property of Americans was damaged, and, with the exception of one Chinese killed, no foreigners were injured.

In the barracks where the soldiers were killed, twelve women also lost their lives. They were the wives of artillery men. These women had the privilege of spending the night within the walls of the barracks, an old structure. It was unlike many of the older edifices of the city, as its walls were comparatively thin.

In the section known as Santa Maria, cracks show here and there in pavements throughout the area affected, and now and then asphalt is buckled into ridges from three to five inches high.

Though terror caused by the earthquake drove thousands from the city before the arrival of Francisco I. Madero, he was nevertheless accorded all the honors of a conquerer when he reached here in his special train.

Two hundred thousand persons wildly cheering for the man of the hour marched, jostled and all but fought through the streets of the capital to get a glimpse of Madero. Miles of bunting, thousands of flags and multi-colored blossoms brought from the forests of the coast made the capital resemble a gigantic operatic scene set in the emerald of the grass-covered hills.

Scores of automobiles, laden with the fighting chiefs of the army of the south, followed a heavy federal guard of honor down the principal streets to the station, but rebel troops were barred from the city and only the red stripes and brass buttons of the federals gave a military aspect to the day.

Outside in the towns of Centrera, Guadalupe, San Angel and Huipulco lay 5000 picked rebel troops, ready at the slightest signal of trouble to march down and restore order. With each outpost were three machine guns.

BOARD OF TRADE

Mr. Whitman brought up the fact that at the lower end of Washington street the original laying out of the street was 66 feet wide and that several buildings had been erected on the street line. He did not see why these parties would not have to give up the land.

Mr. Blackmur stated that he was right and that unless the parties occupying street land could prove that they had occupied it for forty years without interruption they would have to give up. It would be up to them to prove their claim.

It was the general opinion that the city should stop building on the land until the question was settled as to ownership.

It was then voted that a committee be appointed to get the city plan, or adopt a plan, and take steps to get an estimate of the cost of land damages by the widening of the street, the president of the Board to be a member of the committee.

PUBLIC DOCKS.

The question of public docks was discussed informally. Mr. Whitman stated that he had been informed that Fred Tupper had offered to give the city five acres of land on the Sea street side of Town river. If located here, more than one hundred acres of land would be placed on the market. The condition of the giving of the land was that the city should build a street to it. He suggested a street crossing the river near the Quincy Home. Mr. Whitman believed that a tunnel should be made under Hancock street so that the railroad could run trains to the dock also that the trolley freight should run there.

He believed that a tunnel could be built for $15,000. It was argued that shore property was in great demand and that the proposition of Mr. Tupper was worth considering.

It was voted that as the next meeting came the night following the Fourth that this meeting be omitted.

It was also voted that the rooms of the Board of Trade be open July Fourth for visitors and that the directors be instructed to provide refreshments.

The meeting then adjourned.

How to Clean a Straw Hat.

To clean a straw hat in the easiest way mix cornmeal to a thick paste with a strong solution of oxalic acid and water. Rub paste well into the straw and let dry, then brush out the meal. Hats which have been sunburned must be bleached with sulphur. Remove the trimmings or hatband and tack hat to the bottom of a wooden tub, barrel or box. Then invert box over a dish containing burning sulphur. Lemon juice and powdered sulphur make an excellent combination for cleaning white straws. Brush the dust from the hat, rub it with a stiff brush dipped in lemon juice, then with sulphur, then once more with lemon juice. Brush it clean, then dry in the sun. When hats have become grayish and shabby they can be brightened by rubbing over them a flannel sprinkled with a few drops of kerosene.

BATTLESHIP MICHIGAN HAS BEST GUNNERS.

They Win Championship Trophy Over All Battleships and Cruisers.

The battleship Michigan, commanded by Captain Nathaniel R. Usher, is the premier shot of the American navy. In the spring battle practice the Michigan scored 99.929 points of merit and will be awarded the gunnery championship trophy, a red pennant with a black ball in the center, which will fly from her masthead until the honor is wrested from her by a sister ship.

The Michigan far outclassed every other battleship or cruiser in the navy, the nearest approach in marksmanship being the North Dakota, with 72.948 points. The New Hampshire, whose splendid firing battered the old battleship San Marcos into a mass of twisted steel and sent her to the bottom of Chesapeake bay in the recent ordnance tests, made the poorest record of all the ships in her general rating, being credited with only 14.380 points.

VOCATIONAL TRAINING AT MILTON HIGH SCHOOL.

Four Short Courses Adopted—Carpentry and Woodworking, Printing, Dressmaking and Domestic Science and Arts.

Quincy parents and educators may be interested in what is to be undertaken in the Milton High school next fall as outlined in the Milton Record. The school board of that town has decided on four short vocation courses and the school now offers seven four-year courses—classical, scientific, general, commercial, carpentry and woodworking, printing, and dressmaking, and four short vocation courses—carpentry and woodworking, printing, dressmaking, and domestic science and arts.

The short vocation courses are primarily intended for two classes of pupils: For those pupils who for various reasons have been delayed in their work in the elementary schools until they are of an age when they should be in the second or third year of a high school and for those who know that they will not be able to remain in high school longer than a year or two, and who want to pursue a course consisting of subjects of the most immediate economic value.

Four courses are provided, carpentry and woodworking, printing, dressmaking, and domestic science and arts. The various vocations whose names are given to the courses are the center or core of the courses. The other work largely grows out of these centers, and is made to contribute towards making each pupil an intelligent and efficient worker. To this end all work is made as practical as possible and is closely correlated.

A pupil who does satisfactory work in a short vocation course may change to a regular course and receive such credit as the work done in the short vocation course entitles him to.

A pupil who satisfactorily completes a short course will be awarded a certificate.

These courses are not intended to take the place of the four-year high school courses, neither are they in any way the equivalent of the full high school courses.

The arrangement of the short courses is as follows:

GRADUATION

"The mountain brook" by Miss Neal discriptive of the stern and mighty hills, murmuring water, rippling cascades, jagged rock and the little stream on and on, was well written.

"The mountain Whites" at the foot of the Catskills by Miss Mears where an artist and his wife came to recuperate and did such a noble work among the shiftless people, as well as several stirring incidents in their lives was listened to with much interest.

A delightful variation in the program was a vocal solo by Miss Hutchinson which was very pleasingly rendered.

Miss Willey's class history told of the many good times during the past year and of the enjoyment of several noted guests.

Miss Farnham gave a fine description of Ellis island and the interesting sights presented by the immigrants, who soon make their way in this part of the world.

A piano solo by Miss Parsons showed the result of most careful instruction and her natural ability and was fully appreciated.

Miss French on "The cost of living" said it was not a case of more money to spend but how better to spend what we have. Her paper showed a careful study of economic conditions and she paid a tribute to the late Ellen H. Richards.

"Friendship" by Miss Day was an ideal and well written paper," and showed that the fruits of friendship are numberless.

Miss Fortier's paper showed a careful study of the S. P. C. A. She gave a brief description of its origin and this God inspired work. Her love of dogs was apparant as she told of noble faithful creatures true even to death.

Miss Scharff gave a glimpse of her home and the rapidly disappearing old colored mammy; how so many singular melodies originate by these impulsive people in a most spontaneous and child like way. Her negro dialect and the singing and crooning of several melodies with all the sweetness and warm touch of nature of the south land left a longing for more.

Miss Gillam, valedictorian spoke of school days ended, of the noble and beautiful character of Mrs. Willard, how much they owed the teachers was remembered with deepest gratitude.

Mrs. Willard then presented the diplomas. The class picture was presented by Miss Abercrombie in a few well chosen words and unveiled by Miss Taylor. The benediction was given by Rev. Father Field S. S. J. E. of Boston.

A pretty feature of the graduation was the massing of bouquets of flowers in front of the platform instead of passing them over the footlights to members of the class. After the exercises there was a beautiful and gorgeous bank of flowers.

The graduates planted their class tree, a larch, around which they joined hands and gave their class cheer. Very beautiful were the spacious lawns in all the luxuriance and freshness of foliage and bloom made famous by generations of Quincys, before the school was founded in 1896.

The school alumnae gave a reception to the graduating class in the gymnasium and the annual dance followed in the evening.

The graduates and their part in the exercises were as follows:

Helen Louise Abercrombie, Braintree —Edward Everett Hale.

Margaret Davis Christian, Lynchburg, Va.—Silhouettes from Virginia.

Marion Elizabeth Day, Sioux City, Ia. Friendship.

Ruth Richardson Farnham, Richmond, Hill, N. Y.— Immigration—A glimpse of Ellis Island.

Elsie McClure Foretier, Norfolk Downs—"He who made Thee made the Brute."

Jessie Alma French, Atlantic—The Cost of Living.

Beatrice Arkell Gillam, Canajoharie, N. Y.—Field Day in Rural Grove

Marion Esther Hutchinson, Haverhill —A Sunday in Old New England.

Alice Bovard McCartney, Washington, Penn.

Grace Mildred Neal, Buffalo, N. Y.—A Mountain Brook.

Genevieve Louise Parsons, Binghamton, N. Y.—The Influence of Music

Bertha Scharff, Natchez, Miss.—Negro Melodies.

Gladys Ames Willey, Atlantic—Julia Ward Howe.

Edith Standish Robinson, New York, N. Y.

COMMITTEE GETS $750

Mayor Allows that Sum for Music and Fireworks

The committee appointed by the general Fourth of July celebration committee to wait on the Mayor in relation to the money appropriated by the City Council for the celebration of the National holiday met His Honor in his office at City Hall this morning.

After some discussion the Mayor announced that he would allow the committee $750 for music and fireworks at the present time.

There were some incidentals that would have to be provided for and the balance of the appropriation he would reserve at the present time for that.

CRAPO FINED $100 FOR THROWING ACID

Judge Says Students Deserved Reasonable Punishment

Boston, June 8.—William H. Crapo, the keeper of the lodging house at 574 Massachusetts avenue, who threw sulphuric acid at four Harvard students early Sunday morning, was fined $100 by Judge Burke on a charge of assault. Crapo appealed and was held in $300.

In imposing sentence, the court said: "If you had used your boot, or thrown a pail of water, or used a broomstick, some of us would have applauded, but the use of sulphuric acid was unreasonable."

The young men, who called at Crapo's home twice to request three young women lodgers to take an automobile ride, were Donald H. Clarke, Stoddard Hoffman, Charles C. Adsit and Benjamin S. Gantz.

BIGELOW IS VERY ILL

Aged Author Not Considered Likely to Recover His Health

Highland Falls, N. Y., June 8.—John Bigelow, the author and former minister to France, is able to read his mail and dictate letters. The fact that he can accomplish this much, however, is said to warrant no assumption that he is less seriously ill than has been reported.

Dr. Bigelow himself has talked frankly with his family of his belief that his life work is about finished. His children, who are with him here, have no fear of an immediate loss of their father, but at his age of 93 years they doubt if he can rally from his present enfeebled condition.

HOW TO WASH HAIRBRUSHES.

Cold Water and Ammonia Should Be Used, Keeping Backs Dry.

The best of hairbrushes may be ruined by careless washing, and if the bristles are allowed to become soft a hairbrush becomes practically useless for its intended purpose. Many persons cleanse hairbrushes by covering them with wheaten flour and simply rubbing the bristles together. This method, however, is not thoroughly satisfactory.

To keep your brushes in good condition proceed in the following manner: Have two dishes of cold—not hot—water. To the first dish, which contains, say, a quart of water, add a dessertspoonful of ammonia.

Now take your brushes one by one and keep dipping the bristles up and down in the water, being careful not to wet the backs, and in a minute or two the dirt and dust will come out of them as if by magic, leaving them beautifully white. Now dip up and down several times in the second dish containing the clean water to rinse them. Shake well and place to drain across a rack or towel horse.

No soap is needed and no rubbing with the hands. If you adopt this method of cleansing your brushes you will find that they will last three times as long as if cleansed with hot water and soap and that the bristles will preserve their stiffness.

Mayor Adams for two years. He went out with the advent of Mayor Sears in 1898 and was employed as an expert accountant for various business houses until 1903 when upon the death of City Clerk James F. Harlow he was appointed by Mayor Bryant as City Clerk a position he has since held having been reappointed every year by Mayors Thompson and Shea.

In the fall of 1898 he was nominated by the Democratic party as its standard bearer in the municipal campaign, having as his opponant ex-Mayor Russell A. Sears. Many thought his campaign a forborn hope, but there were surprises in politics those days and when the votes were counted at the municiapl election it was found that Mr. Keith had been elected. He served as Mayor one year having been defeated by ex-Mayor John O. Hall, in December 1899.

Outside of town and city affairs Mr. Keith has always been interested in yachting and athletic sports. He has been a member of the Quincy Yacht club since 1874 and was one of the clubs few life members. He served the club as secretary in 1875-1876 as vice commodore in 1874-1877 and as Commodore in 1878-1879. He was the owner of, what in her time, was one of the crack boats of the club the Wildfire which he sailed to many a victory.

He was also a member of the Washington M. French Hose association and could always be found at gatherings of this association.

Mr. Keith leaves a widow and two sons, Arthur Keith of the geological survey at Washington and George P. Keith of Hudson, Mass. He also leaves a brother ex- Councilman Aubrey R. Keith and a sister, Mrs. George I. Jones of Edgwater, Ill.

Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the First church and will be conducted by Rev. Ellery Channing Butler.

Pauline, the White house cow, is exhibiting at a dairymen's convention in Iowa this week, and it would be awkward if Mr. Taft had to come on from Washington because she would let no one else milk her.

Open Windows at Night.

While sleeping one should always be assured of sufficient air, some permanent means of ventilating the bedroom. At least one window should always be open, where it is possible two windows.

In the search for air at night do not be careless and sleep in a draft. If your room is so arranged that you cannot get your bed away from a direct draft a screen in front of the window will be found sufficient to divert the current of air. A person predisposed to tuberculosis, especially consumption, should never go to a concert hall, a saloon, to a club smoking room or any other place where the air is fetid through many contaminations.

ACT OF FRENCH HEROINE

Keeps Lighthouse Lantern Burning While In Great Distress

Paris, June 8.—The attention of the French government has been called to a dramatic incident demonstrating the faithfulness to duty of the family in charge of Kerdonis lighthouse on the southeast point of Belle Ile-En-Mer, a wind-swept spot on the Brittany coast.

Matelott, the keeper of the light, while cleaning the revolving lamp was stricken with illness. He continued his work until he was carried by his wife in a dying condition to his bed. The woman was unable to abandon her post or her four young children to seek help. As dusk came on she mounted the tower to light the lamp and returned just in time to hear her husband's dying words.

One of the children discovered that the light was not turning, and the woman, realizing the danger of disaster to mariners, who might mistake Kerdonis for other fixed lights, worked vainly for an hour to repair the mechanism. Finally she set the two eldest children, aged 7 and 10, to work, and throughout the night, with a fierce storm raging, they turned the heavy lamp with their puny strength.

ASKED TO SUPPORT TREATY

Lodge and Crane Receive Tip From Massachusetts Legislature

Boston, June 8.—The house of representatives, by a vote of 138 to 65, adopted the order introduced by Representative Wells, calling upon Senators Lodge and Crane to support the Canadian reciprocity treaty without amendment and in the form as presented by President Taft.

An acrimonious debate of half an hour preceded the vote. Wells, speaking for his order, urged its passage "for the support," as he put it, "of a courageous and patriotic Republican president and a conscientious Democratic house."

Representative Wood attacked Senators Lodge and Crane and urged the passage of the order as necessary to bring the senators from Massachusetts to a sense of their duty.

Representatives Haigis and Washburn opposed the order as unnecessary, declaring that the United senators from Massachusetts didn't need advice.

WEALTHY HOTEL MAN SHOT BY TWO WOMEN

Stokes Entered Their Room to Get Certain Letters

New York, June 8.—W. E. D. Stokes, the wealthy owner of the Hotel Ansonia on upper Broadway, was shot three times last night in an apartment occupied by two young women at 225 West Eightieth street.

It is charged, and the police say it is admitted by the accused, that Ethel Conrad, 19 years old, and Lillian Graham, an actress, 23 years old, both had a hand in the shooting. They are under arrest.

The hotel proprietor received bullet wounds in the right thigh, in the right leg and the calf of the left leg. In all three cases the bullets had passed clean through. He clutched a revolver in one hand when he was picked up.

According to Stokes' version of the shooting, told through an attorney, he went to the room occupied by the young women to run down a report that they had some letters he had written, and to his surprise "they demanded $25,000 for the return of the letters."

The presence of a revolver in Stokes' hand was accounted for by the attorney's statement in his behalf that he had wrenched it from the Graham woman's grasp.

CHANCE IS PARDONED

Was Serving Life Sentence For Murder In Second Degree

Boston, June 8.—Governor Foss signed a pardon yesterday afternoon for John H. Chance, who was sentenced to life imprisonment in state prison on Sept. 11, 1899, for the murder in the second degree of Charles L. Russell, clerk in the drug store of the United States hotel.

The pardon results from a confession made a month ago in Chicago to Captain Dugan of the Boston police by Arthur Hagan, who was tried with Chance for the murder of Russell. Hagan was acquitted. Chance was convicted on circumstantial evidence.

ON THE GROUND FLOOR

By M. QUAD

Copyright, 1911, by Associated Literary Press.

Aunt Mary Davidson was a farmer's widow, and she ran the farm with the help of a hired man. She had always been given credit for being a sharp, keen woman. People said that she knew twice as much about business as her husband. The husband was industrious and hardworking, but the buying and selling were left to her.

When Aunt Mary found herself a widow and entirely responsible for her actions she determined to make money a little faster by speculation.

The Blue Jacket proposed to let a limited number of people in on the ground floor. Aunt Mary was one of them. She sent for a "free book," and when it came the picture of the president of the mine was on the cover. He had the look of a foxy swindler, but his vanity was stronger than his prudence. Aunt Mary held her breath for five minutes over the startling promises made in the book and then sent on $100. When she received her stock certificate it looked so nice that she forwarded $200 more of her cash. When all the fools in the country that could raise money had been gathered in and the swindlers had made fortunes the postal authorities stepped in.

It so happened that two or three of the swindled were after the president of the Blue Jacket so closely that he thought it better to go into the country for awhile than to take steamer to Europe, which is the usual way. Aunt Mary read of the affair in the papers. She had been robbed of her $300. It hurt her to lose the money, but it hurt her to have been taken in and done for. The worst of the matter was that she had advised others to grab a good thing, and, of course, she would be held responsible. She was gritting her teeth and wishing she could get her "paws" on the rascals when a stranger knocked at her door. It was a summer day. If she took summer boarders and if she had none at the time he would like to come for a couple of weeks. He was a business man from the city whose nerves had been shattered by too close application.

Aunt Mary took a long look at the man and invited him in. She took another long look at him and made him a low rate and added that he could depend on fresh eggs and unwatered milk. At the dinner table she scanned his face for the first time. He said he was connected with a Bible publishing house, but she didn't quite believe him. After dinner Mr. Coles, as the stranger called himself, sauntered about. He inspected the wagon shed, the barn and the milk house and finally came to the smokehouse. As he was peeping in he was given a push and the door slammed and locked on him. It was Aunt Mary who had done the business. When she had her man fast she brought out a chair and sat down by the door.

"I want to know what this means?" was shouted at her from inside.

"Why, you are locked in the smokehouse," was the reply.

"But what for?"

"So that I can have a talk with you. If you wasn't locked in you might run away as soon as I began to say things. And, too, I want you where the constable can find you when he arrives. How does the Blue Jacket silver mine come along these days?" she asked.

"I know nothing about it. I told you I was in the Bible line."

"Have you got a Bible in the suit case?"

"No."

"You ought to carry one with you. Are you still dealing in ground floor silver stocks?"

"My good woman, you are making a terrible mistake and one that may cost you every cent you are worth. In the name of the law I demand that you unlock this door!"

"Shoo, now, but what a hurry you are in! I don't expect the constable for an hour yet. How much boodle did you get away with? I s'pose there'll be a reward offered for you, and in that way I'll get my $300 back."

"Look here, woman," said the man inside, "it's as I have told you. You are mistaking me for some one else. Perhaps you are not to blame, but don't carry things too far. I know nothing of your $300, but if you will let me out I'll give you that much money to go on. I have important engagements."

"What are Bibles selling at now?" quietly asked Aunt Mary in reply.

The man began to yell for help and kept it up for ten minutes. Then he saw it was no use and hoarsely asked:

"Woman, what do you want?"

"I want my money back and $200 for my worry."

"You shall have it."

"I want $50 for the people around here who invested on my advice and $25 extra for each one."

"You shall have it."

The strapping hired man was beckoned to come nearer, and when the smokehouse door was opened he took the Bible man by the collar and led him to his bedroom and saw him count out the money for Aunt Martha and then escorted him to the highway.

"About speculating," said the woman as she sat with the money in her hand—"no, I guess not any more. I think I'll stick to taters and corn. The next swindler might not come this way."

C. K. HAMILTON

Makes Sensational Flight In Burgess-Wright Machine

DARE-DEVIL AIR STUNTS

Hamilton and Atwood In Sensational Flight Near Boston

Boston, June 8.—Aviators Charles K. Hamilton and Harry N. Atwood, in a sensational dare-devil flight over land and water, flew from the Harvard aviation field at Squantum to the Todesco Country club in Swampscott last evening.

The distance as they traversed it, swooping, spiraling, racing with steam trains and climbing air currents, all with the utmost recklessness and daring, was estimated by themselves at a little over thirty miles.

Hamilton's new Burgess-Wright biplane was used, with double lever attachment, allowing either aviator to jockey. About half the distance was covered with Atwood handling the machine and about half with Hamilton in charge.

The time occupied by the flight was forty-two minutes, the machine leaving the aviation field at 7:08 o'clock and arriving at the Todesco Country club at 7:50.

TALKS ON "PEOPLE OF OPEN COUNTRY"

Family Is First In Citizenship, Says Roosevelt

White River Junction, Vt., June 5.—The need of turning attention to the welfare of the farmers, "the people of the open country," was the subject of an address by Theodore Roosevelt before a "get together" dinner party of 600 Vermont people and guests last night.

"We need everywhere in this country thoroughly efficient factory inspection laws, workmen's compensation acts, and laws for the protection of women and children who work," he said.

"I am a great believer in the conservation of our national resources, and the best of all our natural resources is our citizenship.

"The unit of citizenship must be the family, not the individual. The man and woman must perform their duties in the family first or else they cannot perform them in the state as a whole."

GERMANY APPREHENSIVE

Warns France That Integrity of Morocco Must Be Respected

Berlin, June 8.—German apprehensions over the possibility of serious developments on the Moroccan question have not been allayed by the progress of the French campaign. The German government has addressed a note to France again emphasizing the limitations of the Algeciras agreement and Germany's insistance upon the sovereignty and integrity of Morocco being respected.

The note recognizes that the French interest in Morocco is friendly, but warns the government at Paris of the danger in yielding to a policy advocated by a section of the French press and politicians.

POPE IS AGAIN ILL

Some Feeling of Uneasiness Because of His Advanced Age

Rome, June 8.—Pope Pius is again indisposed, this time as a result of the heat. The pope refused to obey the mandates of his physicians and held audiences despite their orders to the contrary.

Despite the official assurances of the doctors at the Vatican that a few days' complete rest will completely restore the health of the pope, there is a feeling of uneasiness on account of the advanced age of the pontiff.

Dies In His Carriage

Haverhill, Mass., June 8.—Death came to Samuel M. Witham, aged 68, a wealthy real estate operator of this city, while he was driving alone in his carriage. He was stricken with heart disease.

They cure kidney ills.

James P. Daugherty, Hammond Place Quincy, Mass. says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills and am glad to let other sufferers know what they have done for me. I was bothered a great deal by backache and had but little strength or energy to get through with my day's work. I took many so-called kidney cures, but did not succeed in finding relief until I began using Doan's Kidney Pills, which I procured at the Cox Drug Store. I was surprised and gratified by the prompt way in which they relieved me. My back was soon strong and free from pain and I felt better in every respect. I would go to considerable trouble to get anyone to use Doan's Kidney Pills, as I have so much confidence in their merit."

LA FOLLETTE'S BOOM DAMAGED

IS FOR TAFT'S RENOMINATION

Other Leaders of Insurgent Group Fall Into Line, Thus Disposing of Much Opposition to President—Washington Prophets Still Think Republican Candidate Will Be Defeated In Next Presidential Campaign

Washington, June 8.—Senator Cummins of Iowa will not support Senator La Follette for the presidency. He will do all he can in Iowa for the renomination of President Taft and will insist upon a solid Taft delegation.

In this brief statement may be found the most momentous development in Republican politics that could be imagined at this stage of the presidential campaign. It means, to a large extent, the disappearance of an opposition to President Taft within his own party which has been as determined as that of the Democrats, and it may point to the elimination or withdrawal of La Follette as a candidate for the presidency, although nothing definite upon this point can be stated.

The support of Cummins is vital to the La Follette cause, for Cummins represents the same element of Republican insurgency as La Follette himself, an element which must act as a unit within the Republican party to make any headway.

Senators Borah, Brown and Dixon, fellow-insurgents with Cummins and La Follette, have pronounced for Taft. If the La Follette presidential movement were to have a show of success the support of these men and of all others of the progressive group would be essential. But the defection of Borah, Brown and Dixon is not comparable in its influence upon the La Follette fortunes with that of Cummins. La Follette is the great agitator, the battering ram of the insurgent group. Cummins is the counsellor and executive.

For Cummins to announce that he believes the candidacy of La Follette to be ill-considered and useless at this time is to throw a wet blanket over the La Follette campaign that will leave very little sticking out at the sides, in the opinion of fellow-progressives, who are equally desirous that their ideas should prevail. What course La Follette himself will now pursue cannot be predicted, but the few men who have been aware of the decision of Cummins commend it as the only politics to play under the circumstances.

The approach to harmony indicated by the Cummins decision does not, however, imply increased confidence that Taft will be re-elected. A fever of prophecy that he will not be is now running riot among Republicans, and, while here and there a voice is heard announcing that the tide has turned and Republican fortunes are beginning to mend, it is still the fashion, at least in Washington, to predict that everything is lost.

What, if anything, can happen to turn the tide of dismal prophecy is a problem. It is said here that Roosevelt will support Taft for renomination, but Taft will look to William Loeb, Jr., and a few other Republicans, including some of Roosevelt's enemies, for the delegates from New York. It is much more important to Taft as a matter of fresh news that Cummins will not support La Follette for the presidency.

Roosevelt Not Pledged

White River Junction, Vt., June 8.—With reference to a story that Theodore Roosevelt would support Taft in the next presidential campaign, Roosevelt said: "There is no truth in the report that I have agreed to support any man for president in 1912. I have neither made any such statement nor even discussed the matter. The story is made out of whole cloth."

AS WILSON'S SUCCESSOR

Samuel McCall May Become President of Princeton University

New York, June 8.—Representative Samuel W. McCall of Massachusetts is being considered for the presidency of Princeton university.

This news, coming on the eve of the meeting of the university trustees in Princeton on Tuesday, is regarded as an indication that the nomination committee of the trustees is trying to reach an agreement.

Mr. McCall declined the presidency of Dartmouth college, his alma mater, in February, 1909. He is recognized as one of the most scholarly men in the public life of this country and as a speaker of exceptional power.

America to Recognize New Republic

Washington, June 8.—The American legation at Lisbon has been instructed to accord the official recognition of the United States to the republic of Portugal immediately upon the adoption of a constitution by the constituent assembly.

UNITED STATES' ANNUAL GIFT TO OLD WORLD IS $336,000,000

Amount Larger Than Total of Gold and Silver Coined In the Mints

Its Purchasing Power Equal to $100,000,000,000 of Productive Capital

THIS country must of necessity have a balance of trade in its favor of $290,000,000 to keep pace with governmental expenditures. During the two years last past it has been demonstrated as a nation we are spending more than we have earned. We must, therefore, pay a large amount of interest to other nations upon money we have borrowed. Travelers spend great sums abroad. The maintenance of our navy in foreign waters costs large sums of money. At least $150,000,000 a year is sent out of the country by citizens and residents who contribute to relatives and friends in the land of their birth. These figures do not appear in the custom house returns."—From Recent Speech by Governor John A. Dix of New York.

The facts indicate that Governor Dix has underestimated the drain on the United States through money spent or sent abroad. For a number of reasons it is impossible to do more than approximately estimate the enormous extent of this drain on America's active financial capital.

A combination of calculations based on immigration and postal statistics and on the observations of bankers and express and steamship officials shows the following approximations as to the extent to which American dollars take wings and fly away from their native country every year:

Sent abroad	$200,000,000
Carried abroad	136,000,000
Total	$336,000,000

This may be an underestimate of $25,000,000 to $100,000,000 for reasons stated later.

This yearly drain of American money abroad very greatly exceeds the total amount of gold and silver coined in this country in a year, as is shown by the following figures taken from the official report of the treasury department at Washington:

Gold coined	$59,273,000	$88,776,000
Silver coined	36,345,000	8,088,000

The drain just about offsets all the United States notes in circulation. It exceeds the total customs receipts, and it is more than twice as great as the total gold and silver production of the country, which in 1910 amounted to $127,242,000, of which $99,232,000 was in gold.

Money That Never Comes Back.

The constant outflow of money from the United States—the greatest outflow of the kind in human history—has been widely discussed in and out of congress, and many remedies have been proposed for what is generally called the country's vast loss of productive capital.

Practically none of the money sent abroad by immigrants to their relatives, it is asserted, comes back to America in any shape whatever. It is used abroad for the support of the immigrants' relatives and then finds its way into the commercial and industrial development of foreign countries.

Investigations in Europe by Marcus Braun and other agents of the United States government have shown that the hundreds of millions of American dollars sent or carried to Europe by American aliens have wrought wonderful changes in the national prosperity of hundreds of communities in all of the great continental countries—Italy, Hungary, the Polish provinces of Russia and Prussia, Germany, Denmark, Holland, Sweden and Norway, England and Ireland.

It is contended by many who have written and spoken on the subject that, as pointed out by Governor Dix, the money sent abroad and not used there for the purchase of goods which are to be sent here is a dead loss to America. It has been many times said that a dollar will buy $365 worth of things in the course of a year. The argument is that every dollar that goes abroad leaves the people of the United States with $365 less of cash purchasing power.

On that theory the $336,000,000 that last year went abroad took out of this country more than $100,000,000,000 of productive cash capital. While the figures differ on this point, there has been a general public agreement by those who have discussed the subject that the United States is seriously handicapped in its financial development by the constant drain of cash for which no return is received in goods.

Parallel Case In a Nutshell.

"When a railroad pays $20,000,000 in wages for its construction," said a congressman in a recent debate, "it expects to get back part of the money in fares or in some other shape. What it does not get back goes into the circulation of the community and brightens things up all around. It buys homes, education and luxuries for the workingmen. So long as that money stays in circulation here it is doing good, helping in the material progress of the people, but when that money is spent abroad it is utterly lost to the communities here. It is gone from them. They get none of it. It buys nothing for them. It is just like taking water out of the well and carrying it 3,000 miles away, where it can never run back into that well. Other people drink that water, not the Americans."

As for the many millions spent abroad by American tourists, it is asserted by public men that most all of that money is also lost absolutely from America's store of active capital, so that it has to be replaced by other money which otherwise would have been used in other ways.

The drain on America is unprecedented in the world's history. No nation ever before gained a million a year in population by foreign immigration, as this country is doing. There was never a country other than America from which 40,000 to 70,000 natives yearly went abroad on pleasure tours. The large immigration to Canada is mostly from the mother country, England. Outside of royalties, Europeans do not, it is reported, spend much when they go abroad. The exodus of tourists from European countries is comparatively small.

The United States, it is pointed out, has no compensation in money sent her by its own people who have emigrated to other countries. There are a few thousand Americans in the Philippines and Cuba and Porto Rico and Hawaii, but they cut no figure in international totals.

Balancing all the figures up, they show, the political economists say, that America is heavily burdened by the $300,000,000 to $500,000,000 sent abroad every year. To overcome it she has to gain an enormous trade balance in foreign markets.

Last year the figures were:

Total exports	$1,237,778,000
Total imports	893,967,000
Total	$343,811,000

This trade balance in favor of the United States was almost offset by the money estimated to have been sent or carried abroad by aliens and tourists.

Millions In Postal and Express Orders.

The records of the New York postoffice show that during the year ending Dec. 31, 1910, the following amount of money was sent to foreign countries in the shape of postal money orders:

Number of orders	3,955,541
Total amount of orders	$93,458,142

To this are to be added the amounts thus sent from Portland, Me.; Boston, Brooklyn, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Mobile, New Orleans, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Portland, Ore., Seattle, Denver and Rocky mountain mining camps. At all of these places as well as at thousands of smaller cities throughout the country American money is ever in a ceaseless flow from this country to the relatives and friends of the immigrants in New York.

Millions similarly destined are sent across the waters by the express companies, which for years have been in active competition with Uncle Sam's postoffice department. Millions, too, go by registered letters in the forms of checks and drafts. It is estimated that the total amount of money sent abroad yearly counts up something like this:

Postal money and express orders	$150,000,000
Checks and drafts and money in registered letters	50,000,000
Total	$200,000,000

There is evidence that even this total is far inadequate, for this reason: There are in this country more than 5,000,000 immigrants whose relatives are still abroad. If each of them sent home only $100 a year, a low estimate, the total would be $500,000,000.

To the money sent abroad is to be added the enormous amount personally carried out of the United States each year by returning immigrants and tourists. In 1910 the departures by transatlantic steamships from New York were as follows:

First cabin	65,029
Second cabin	59,655
Third cabin or steerage	136,932

When Men and Money Go.

It has been estimated that every immigrant that leaves America, temporarily or otherwise, takes with him an average of $300. This would have amounted to $41,079,000 in the case of the third class traffic last year. The second class travelers averaged, the steamship men guess, $500, a total of $29,762,500. Estimates vary widely as to the amount of money spent abroad by first cabin tourists from America. No estimates puts it lower than $1,000 a head—an aggregate of $65,029,000. This makes a grand total of $135,871,100.

The last winter was a fairly good one for foreign labor here. It is reported, and there are prospects of a larger exodus than usual of American dollars bound for a permanent resting place abroad.

New Railroad.

An all rail route between Montevideo and Rio de Janeiro has recently been opened by the construction and linking together of several disconnected railways. The distance is 1,967 miles, the actual running time 112 hours and the first class fare $76 gold.

GARY STICKS TO HIS GUNS

Favors Government Control of Great Corporations

PAYS TRIBUTE TO MORGAN

Admits That He Has Great Power In Financial Affairs of the Country—Roosevelt Entered Tennessee Coal and Iron Matter as a "Bit of Contractive Legislation" When Effort Was Made to Avert Panic

Washington, June 8.—The necessity for government control of great corporations was again the feature of the testimony of E. H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel corporation, before the house investigating committee.

The discussion on this subject was reopened by the effort of Representative Littleton of New York to learn whether J. P. Morgan controlled or could control a majority of the banks and trust companies in New York.

Without admitting that Morgan did have such control, Gary said he would not be frank with the committee if he did not say that Morgan had great power in the financial affairs of this country. After paying a tribute to Morgan's courage Gary said it was because one man or group of men did have the power to do great harm, if they saw fit to do so, that he urged government control. Gary's testimony was largely an elaboration of previous testimony concerning the absorption of the Tennessee Coal and Iron company.

After declining to discuss the published reports that the department of justice had decided to prosecute criminally the officers of the steel trust, Gary continued his recital of the details of the merger of the Tennessee Coal and Iron company and the steel corporation in the panicky days in 1907.

Referring to the Tennessee Coal and Iron case, he said ex-President Roosevelt entered the matter as a bit of "contractive legislation."

The committee was not quite satisfied with Gary's explanation last Friday that the absorption of the Tennessee company in November, 1907, was necessary to avert a ruinous panic.

In this connection Gary told of the midnight conference at the home of J. P. Morgan and the journey by special train of Henry C. Frick and himself to the White House, where the consent of President Roosevelt and the then secretary of state, Mr. Root, was gained for the merger.

The preliminary line of questioning indicated that the committee wants a more detailed explanation of how the merger averted a panic.

A new and striking feature will mark the great ceremony of the coronation. The standards of India, Wales and of the British dominions beyond the seas will be borne into Westminster abbey, in addition to those of England, Scotland and Ireland and the union standard.

FIVE BULLETS IN HER BODY

Vermont Girl Fatally Shot by Man Whom She Had Rejected

Burlington, Vt., June 8.—With the the words, "I am going to get drunk and kill her," Arthur Dosworth, a chauffeur employed in the Johnson hotel at Essex Junction, left his home yesterday. He returned later in the day and fatally shot Miss Mae Labell, aged 18. Five shots were fired into the girl's body. Dosworth is in jail. The girl is dying.

The girl has been acquainted with Dosworth for some time and had rejected his suit, as he was nearly ten years older than she. The man was despondent and had made repeated threats to end his own life.

DARING FLIGHT.

One o fthe most daring flight in an aeroplane seen in this vicinity was that made by Charles K. Hamilton and Harry N. Atwood Wednesday evening from the aviation field in Squantum to the Tedesco Country club in Swampscott. It took the machine which is a Burgess-Wright biplane, just 42 minutes to cross the harbor and land on the links of the Country club. Hamilton and Atwood took turns running the aeroplane and both took some long chances, swooping and spiralling and threatening to run down trains while above the land and skimming the waves while crossing the harbor. The daring aviators were given a great reception all along the line and after they arrived at their destination they were very cordially received and were heartily congratulated on their successful flight.

SPORTING NOTES.

The Quincy baseball club will meet the Olympia Royal Giants at theWater street grounds on Saturday. This is one of the fastest teams in the vicinity of Boston and last year was the champion colored team of New England. The Quincys will be up against a pretty stiff proposition for their opponents are noted for great team work, swift fielding and hard hitting. Asa Spades will probably come out from Boston to attend the game.

George Sullivan, the popular post office clerk will represent the South Boston A. C. in the municipal games in Dorchester Saturday afternoon. He will enter the 440 amateur handicap event and from his showing in the past should have a good chance to win. He has been doing close to 50 seconds in practice and his stride is improving every day. George is taking a course of training under the coach of the South Boston club and before he has been running many years more he will have a bigreputation. On June 17 he will go to Canobie Lake, N. H. to participate in the games at the K. of C. outing.

—The authorites at Atlantic City are using salt water in sprinkling the streets and are said to find it preferable to oily concoctions. It hardens the roads and keeps down the dust. Other cities in this section have tried salt water only to evoke protests from horse owners that it injures the animals' feet. If the ocean supply can be utilized for the purpose, and with no damage to horses, it will be a good thing for the towns along the coast. There is certainly plenty of it and it would cost little to fill the water wagons and sprinkling cars. Fresh water is pretty expensive for dust laying.—Framingham News.

Quincy Meets Defeat in Poorly Played Game

In one of the poorest exhibitions of baseball seen in Quincy this year South Boston defeated Quincy high Wednesday afternoon by a score of 11 to 4. The game was almost featureless and the spectators had to seek other amusement than watching the contest. Rice was in a trance throughout most of the game giving eight bases on balls and allowing eight hits. Manning and H. Chapman seemed to be the only players seriously interested in the game. Manning played a fast game at shortstop during the last few innings making several fine stops and catching a difficult fly. At the bat he led also with 2 hits. The one salient feature of the game was a one handed catch of a line drive by Grant, third-baseman for South Boston. The impact was so great that he turned a cartwheel after catching the ball. In the first inning the article of baseball put up by both sides was a fare but South Boston recovered to a certain extent while the home team continued playing its poor imitation of the game. Every team has its off days but yesterday it looked like indifference rather than a combination of circumstances. It is to be hoped that at the next game the team will at least try to play ball and that the rooters will show a little spirit.

CARE OF THE FINGERS.

How to Remove Stains and Keep the Nails Smooth

There are various preparations sold by manicures to remove stains under the finger nails. With careful use most of these can be relied upon, but if there is any doubt about a special preparation substitute lemon juice.

As a stain remover it is excellent, and the woman who keeps half a lemon on the stationary washstand where she washes her hands rarely will have to blush for the unsightliness of her nails.

Oxalic acid is also good, but it is injurious to some skins. It should be applied with a bit of cotton on the end of an orange wood stick. In using the lemon the tips of the fingers can be rubbed into a section of it. Later rinse well with clear water.

Stains on the sides of the fingers are quickly removed with a moist pumice stone. This is invaluable to get off the first blotches after preserving, painting or doing any disfiguring work. In cases where the skin under the nails has roughened a little powdered pumice can be moistened with lemon juice and applied with an orange wood stick.

Never scrape away a stain; it roughens both cuticle and nail and becomes a dirt catcher rather than a dirt remover.

Soaking the tips of the fingers in olive oil will help to keep the skin about the nail in good condition.

BABIES NOT WANTED.

French Landlords Ask Big Prices of Families With Children.

Life in Paris just now presents some humorous sides to the impartial foreigner. To begin with, there was the census, which in France is a source of irritation to almost everybody. Men as well as women dislike questions as to their age and occupation and in defiance of the threats of heavy penalties fill in the forms with considerable sarcasm, but a remarkably slack adherence to the truth.

Thus the papers returned by young and eminently respectable citizens describe them as being well over 100 years old and engaged in "assassination" or "burglary." The officials have taken no steps to enforce penalties. All the jokes and inaccuracies have gone into the returns, apparently to guide future reformers who look to statistics for light in framing legislation.

Then there is talk of a strike of apartment house dwellers. Especially to people with families rents are soaring higher every year, for the Parisian landlord does not encourage children. This affects all classes, so that the worker who in England or America would have a comfortable tenement has to put up here with one or two rooms, and even then he is bled most cruelly by the landlord if he has children. So he is talking of boycotting the flats and camping out till the rents come down to reasonable levels.

THE THEFT OF THE PENNIES.

On the way to school one day Bill saw the finest toy pistol, and it was just exactly the kind that he wanted.

He stepped into the shop and upon inquiring the price was told that it was 10 cents.

"Ten cents," he thought to himself. "Where shall I ever get the 10 cents? Mother needs all the money that she has, so I can't ask her for it."

That afternoon he ran an errand for one of the neighbors, and she gave him 3 cents.

The next day he bought six newspapers with the money and sold all of them.

As his mother was in rather straitened circumstances 6 cents seemed quite a large sum to the boy. It was very seldom that he had a penny to spend for toys or candy.

Each time on the way to and from school he stopped to look at the pistol. How he longed to possess it!

He really felt as if he had never wanted anything as badly as that toy pistol, and he still lacked 4 cents to buy it.

His mother had given him a nice red apple to take to school for lunch, but he sold it to one of the boys for a penny.

That afternoon while hunting for the cord of his top he saw three pennies in the sideboard drawer.

Here was his opportunity; just what he needed to make the 10 cents.

Then he thought, "No, indeed," and shut the drawer with a bang. But in a minute he opened it again and put the three pennies in his pocket.

Then he started to buy the coveted pistol.

A little voice inside of him said, "Say, look here, Bill, you have no right to take that money."

"Oh, yes I have," Bill answered. "Didn't I find it?"

"No, you didn't. You just took it, and that's plain stealing. Go put it back," the voice said.

Finally he reached the shop and placed the ten pennies on the counter.

At last the pistol was really his; but, somehow, he did not feel as happy about having it as he thought he would be.

He put it in his coat pocket.

That night his mother said to him, "Bill, post this letter for me and buy a postal card. You'll find the money in the sideboard drawer."

Bill made a pretense of hunting it, but, of course, it was not to be found.

After looking for it herself, she said: "Well, I'm sorry, as this is a very important letter about a better position. I'll have to wait until I'm paid tomorrow before sending it, and I'm afraid that will be too late."

Then Conscience said to Bill, "Own up, boy!"

But he was too ashamed to acknowledge that he had used the money and went off to bed.

It was a long time before he fell asleep.

Pretty soon he saw perched at the foot of his bed three pennies, which grew larger and larger.

Then the Indian heads on them began to talk.

"Let's take it away from him," one said.

"All right," agreed the others.

Then three headless Indian bodies walked into the room, and each head placed itself on a body.

With a whoop and a halloo, they pulled the pillow from under Bill's head, and one grabbed the pistol.

They stopped after awhile, and, pulling Bill out of bed, tied him to the bedpost.

This being accomplished, one of the Indians stepped back a few paces, raised the gun and fired, and Bill screamed.

As he did so he awoke to find himself on the floor and his mother trying to help him up.

She had heard him fall out of bed and had rushed in to see what the noise was.

Then Bill told her about his dream, saying that was his punishment for having taken the three pennies.

At first his mother could not believe that her son had done such a thing.

Afterward she talked it over with him in her kind way, and Bill was truly penitent.

—The supreme court of Massachusetts says it is not a crime ror any able-bodied man to work more than eight hours a day if he wants to and doesn't demoralize the community by such an apparently outrageous act. The court also suggests that if the men who made the country what it is hadn't worked more than eight hours a day, half the tired people would continue to be content with potatoes and salt with never a thought of oppression, or a grudge against a constitution.—Turner's Falls Reporter.

FOURTH OF JULY SPORTING EVENTS

Many Events Scheduled for Morning and Afternoon of Holiday

Committee on Athletics Meet and Arrange Program for Day

The committee on Athletics and Sports for the Fourth of July celebration met in the Board of Trade rooms Thursday evening and made good progress in planning the events of the day. From 9.30 to 12 in the morning will be given over to baseball games. There will be games on the playgrounds in Wards Two, Three and Four and in the lower and upper fields at Merrymount park. Probably a double header will be played in the upper field. Substantial purses will be put up for the winning teams and the competition will probably be keen for a chance to play. There will be an opportunity for 12 teams to play and all those teams which wish to contest are asked to send not more than two representatives to the meeting next Thursday evening at 8.30 in the Board of Trade rooms. Among the possibilities are Makaria, Copeland club, St. Mary's, Manets, Adams A. A., South Quincy A. A., Fore River Apprentices, St. John's A. A. Bigelow A. C., Orients, Colonials, Glover A. C. and others. Those clubs which wish to play on the Fourth are urged to send their representatives to this meeting for it will be first come first served and this will be the last opportunity to make arrangements for games. Mr. Neary has permits for all the fields in the city except the Ward Six playgrounds and a fair method will be used in assigning the fields to the different teams. The committee is better fixed financially than it was a year ago and good purses will be put up for the games.

The track and field events will take place in the afternoon from 2.30 to 5 o'clock. The events will be practically the same as last year's although two or three changes have been made for the better. The open events will include the 100 yard dash, 440,880, 1 mile and 5 mile runs. A year ago, the three mile run was scheduled but there were not many starters and on the whole the race was not considered a success. With a five mile run scheduled the committee is assured of a good entry list with competitors from Brookline Gym, North Dorchester A. A., St. Alphonsus and a number of other well known athletic organizations. Another open event which should attract a great deal of attention is the 1 mile open relay race. Last year the event was closed and it did not prove a success. The open field events will be the running broad jump, running high jump and the running hop, step and jump. The only closed event decided upon thus far is the 440 yard dash, closed for residents of Quincy. All the track and field events will be handicap, except, of course the relay race.

This meet is approved by the N. E. A. A. U. and the secretary of the organization, J. Frank Facey of Cambridge will do the handicapping. A well known official from Boston will be secured as referee and it is believed that things will run even more smoothly than last year.

The prizes will be as good if not better than are to be offered by any other organization running a meet in this state on that day. The first prizes will be gold watches with or without the stop hand attachment just as the winner prefers. The second prize winners will be given their choice of a travelling bag or a suit case. The third prizes will be silk umbrellas. In the five mile race, a special silver cup will be offered for a prize to the man making the best time.

The meet will be held in the third field at Merrymount park this year and some measures ought to be taken to have the track put in better candition before the holiday. Every effort will be made by the committee to make things as nearly perfect as possible. Lanes will be obtained for use in the 100 yard dash so as to prevent fouling as much as possible.

Competent judges will be secured and with such an attractive list of events and prizes and an assurance of the fairest treatment possible there is no reason why Quincy's Fourth of July meet should not be the best in the State. The athletic committee is as follows:

James E. Neary, chairman; Alden H. Blanchard, secretary, Geo. McKenzie, P. J. Rooney, George F. Crotty, William Butler, Harry Brooks, James Brogan, John Connor, Stanley Duncan Dan Driscoll, Leo Elcock, James J. Floyd, William Flynn, Charles W. Hanscom, Theodore Hermanson, Joseph Larkin, L. F. LaRose, Leo Noonan, John D. Smith, Peter M. Sullivan, William Mullane, John Winslow, Sam Young, Joseph Ford, J. T. McCue.

Chicago Business Men to Witness Launching

The launch of the submarine Sturgeon which was to have been held at the Fore River yards Saturday has been postponed until next Thursday, that the party of 150 Chicago business men who will be in Boston next week may witness the launch.

The visitors will be accompanied to the Fore River yards by a party of 500 from the Boston Chamber of commerce and it will be an all day excursion. In addition to witnessing the launch they will inspect the Fore River plant and see this immense plant at its best advantage.

The launch will take place at 1.30 so that ample time may be had to inspect the works during the morning hours.

CHILDREN'S FESTIVAL.

From one year to another the children of the city look forward to the May Festival. This year will be held in its place a June Festival which will be held Saturday afternoon on the Adams Academy grounds. The famous ventriloquist, Washington M. Coles will be on hand to amuse the children; his merriment is irresistible. The hurdy-gurdy which is provided by Miss Elizabeth Johnson each year, will be on the grounds at two o'clock. The Young Woman's club has solicited candy and will have charge of the candy table, Mrs. Charles M. Bryant has assisted them. The ice cream table will be under the supervision of the Education committee. Delcevare King, who is always the life of the party will have general oversight of the games with Miss Ruth Bass to assist him. A number of citizens have kindly loaned their autos, so that the children may enjoy short rides. There will be some dancing and a cat show. The latter is a new departure. The committee hope that there will be a large number of cats on exhibition and prizes are to be offered for the handsomest cats. Dr. Abele will take charge of any cat which is left after the festival is over.

LIBRARY TO CLOSE.

Out of respect to the late secretary of the Board of Trustees, Harrison A. Keith, the Thomas Crane Public Library will be closed on Saturday, the day of his funeral from 12 o'clock noon until 6 P. M.

The Branch Reading Room at West Quincy will also be closed on that day until 6.30 P. M.

Mr. Keith is the last member in the service of the Library of the original Board of Trustee, having been chosen by the townspeople and successive Mayors for 40 years.

DELIGHTFUL RECEPTION

Mrs. E. N. Hultman Receives in Honor of Daughter

One of the largest and most delightful affairs in the social life of the week was the reception on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Eugene N. Hultman given in honor of her daughter Mrs. Louis Eckert who came from Austria-Hungary a few weeks ago to spend the summer at her old home.

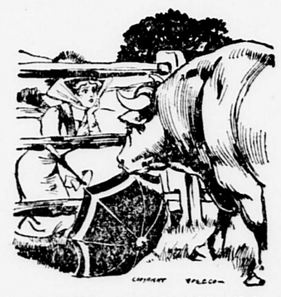

Mrs. Hultman and Mrs. Eckert received the guests who came from Boston and Brookline as well as Quincy and from two until five o'clock the house was thronged with guests who enjoyed the delightful informality of the occasion. Summer flowers, roses and palms added their brightness. Mrs. Eugene C. Hultman presided over the punch bowl most graciously.

The presence of Mrs. Eckert's small sons Adrian and Eugene, aged four and two added to the enjoyment, for they are most engaging babies, sweet and sunny in disposition. Adrian was born in this country while Eugene who is named for his uncle and grandfather is making his first visit to the home of his mother.

Mrs. Eckert will join her husband in Austria-Hungary in the fall, where his business will keep them residents of that country for a few years longer.

MANY GUESTS PRESENT.

Fully two hundred guests were present Thursday evening at the pearl wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence A. Rogers at their home 18 Washington street. Many of the guests brought handsome remembrances of pearl, cut glass and silver and Mr. and Mrs. Rogers were showered with congratulations and well wishes for the future.

FLY 27 MILES IN 25 MINUTES

Return Flight From Swampscott to Quincy

Harry L. Atwood and Charles K. Hamilton who flew in a Burgess-Wrigh t biplane from the Atlantic aviation field to the Tedesco club at Swampscott Wednesday night made the return flight to Atlantic Thursday evening, their flight being watched by thousands along the line of Lynn, Revere, Chelsea, East Boston, South Boston, Dorchester and Quincy as well as by many in boats in the harbor.

The aviators left Ewampscott at 5.12 and arrived at Atlantic at 5.37 having made the distance of 27 miles in 25 minutes although no attempt was made for speed. It was just a pleasant return trip home from their visit to the Tedesco club.

Before alighting on the field they circled low around Squantum Inn and inquired if dinner was ready. Informed that it was they returned to the field, alighted gracefully, and after turning the Moth over to the superintendent walked to the Squantum Inn to join a party of friends for dinner.

The Moth, which rested like a great bird on the links of the Tedesco club all day, Thursday was the center of attraction for the people of Swampscott and for hundreds of tourists who came in automobiles from every direction to see the aviators and their flying machine.

In fact it was with some difficulty that the crowd was kept away from the machine during the day, for nearly everybody had their curiosity aroused to such a pitch when they saw the machine that they wanted to touch it and feel of the planes and struts, the guy wires and propellers. And the small boys just camped around the machine all day and gazed on it with open eyed wonder, as they did on the aviators, who were more than human in their eyes.

It was due to the fine courtesy of the Tedesco club that the people h ad a chance to see the machine, and to that same courtesy the newspaper men were much indebted.

Shortly after 4 o'clock in the afternoon Harry L. Atwood got into the machine when the wind was blowing about 20 miles an hour, and took it up for a trial flight before starting on the fly to Atlantic. He rose to a height of about 300 feet and circled the field six or seven times, banking at sharp angles and flying over trees and houses and over the clubhouse on top of the hill, with the utmost monohalance apparently. It is a bad spot to fly in—for a timid aviator—but Atwood didn't seem to mind the currents of air that rebounded from the hills, from the clumps of trees or from the houses. He said, however, when he came down that there were bad winds eddies all around the field, and he had to be constantly on his guard.

He had some difficulty in landing, owing to the crowd on the field, and twice he flew low enough to warn the people to get off the center of the field so he could land. Finally a space was cleared and Atwood landed without much difficulty.

When the water compartment in one of the cylinders which leaked a little had been repaired both Hamilton and Atwood got into the machine and rose into the air at 5.12. They circled over the field several times, rising to a hight of about 800 feet, and then shot straight out for Squantum, flying quickly over Swampscott and Lynn, where they circled over the city hall and then started for West Lynn and flew up over the boulevard and the beach to Revere.

They descended from the 800-foot level to about 400 feet after crossing the Swampscott hills, and when they arrived at the beach, they flew very low, raced with automobiles and trains—and left both in the rear—and waved their caps and saluted the crowds at Revere Beach at they swept along at more than a mile a minute. They followed the railroad, but rose to about 2000 feet before coming to East Boston and flew across the harbor at this hight toward South Boston.

As they were expected, all the vantage points around South Boston, Dorchester, Savin Hill and Neponset were occupied, and there were cheers here and there and the whistles in the harbor tooted as the Moth swept gracefully toward the aviation field at Atlantis, flying as steadily as a great gull.

Other than being a little cold after their 27-mile ride, they were feeling first rate, in the best of spirits, and both had the kind of appetites that birds are supposed to have after a flight.

They had just one litle difficulty on their return flight. They were obliged to shut off one of the cylinders on account of the leakage of water, and they flew about half the way with three cylinders working instead of four.

Saturday Atwood is to furnish a novel sensation in flying in connection with the Dorchester day celebration. In the afternoon, weather permitting, he will start from Squantum and make a landing at the garden party to be held on the ground at the residence of Mayor Fitzgerald. Should the wind be too strong for him to make a landing there he will land at Franklin field.

HONESTY IN EVERYTHING

The University of Minnesota cashier was robbed of $13,000, probably by students looking for help to pay their spring clothing bill.

62 graft prosecutions are abandoned at Pittsburg, and once more the patriotic Pittsburgers will be willing to assume the cares of public office.

They want 18,000 harvest hands in Kansas, but until they provide some means of shading the wheat fields, we do not propose to apply.

Tobacco stock has dropped 120 points since the decision. They seem to find the 'Rule of reason" quite a handicap.

After Congress investigates the purchase of Tennessee Coal and Iron a little longer, they will probably get possession of such insides facts as are familiar to the office boy.

Judge Gary of the Steel Trust would be willing for the government to fix prices. No doubt Andrew Carnegie is all worn out getting towns to carry off his surplus in the shape of libraries.

The new Lorimer investigating committee is getting to work. We hope they make a thorough investigation by securing his picture, the size of his tax bill, and a full statement of his pedigree.

Col Goethals says gambling is demoralizing the canal employes. If those fellows want to bring any money home to God's country, they should stay at home evenings and read black covered government reports.

A fellow has been arrested at Juarez for trying to blow up Francisco Madero with a bomb. Mr. Madero may soon wish he had remained at home hoeing the potatoes day times and watering the geraniums in the evening.

THE LOT OF THE UMPIRE.

President Lynch of the National Base Ball League says that the language of offending players against the umpires is outrageous, and he will stop it by suspensions and heavy fines.

The majority of base ball attendants are not in a mood that promotes clear eyesight and justice to the hated visiting team. When you get purple in the face with your howls of derision, while the strangers get half of the close decisions, you can swear to the purchase money bulging out of the umpire's pocket.

No doubt umpires are occasionally bought and paid for. But in view of the lynch law which the crowd uses in such cases, there are probably fewer such transactions than people think.

It is more difficult to be an umpire than to put home runs over the left field fence or steal bases. The fellow who spikes the opposing base runner, or who sulks when the crowd jeers a strike out, will never succeed in this position. The good umpire may have an exterior bristling with bad manners. But at heart he must have the gentleman's love for the square deal.

The lover of clean amateur sport jostles elbows at the ball game with the brute whose words are a sewer of foul muckerisms. It would promote public comfort if the latter could occasionally be deposited outside the turnstile. Unfortunately the management think they need his dollars.

The principal difficulty arises from the players themselves. The bleachers consider themselves in the light of a supporting army, and if the generals do not declare war, there is nothing doing among the troops.

Busy men will not come to a ballfield where their time is wasted while the players gather in a knot and bait the umpire. Women come to the grounds hoping for the manners of the college athletic field rather than of the blind tiger saloon.

And these elements will never permit the bleachers to apply the political of the 'recall" to the office of umpire.

MINIMUM WAGE FOR MINISTERS.

Clergymen were urged to form a labor union, with the purpose of requiring a minimum wage, in a report to the Ministerial Union of the American Unitarian Association Monday.

The resolutions offered by the committee were to the effect that $15 a Sunday and expenses be the minimum payment.

The popular impression assumes, when a minister accepts a higher salary on the ground that "the Lord called louder," that he is dominated by mercenary ideals inconsistent with a religion which favors laying up wealth only in heaven where moth and dust do not corrupt.

But it hardly seems fair that the minister's children should have to remain satisfied with a high school education, while the neighbors' youngsters go to college. The minister has devised no method by which his children's teeth can be kept from decaying, and they are just as likely to have appendicitis operations as those having less sanctified surroundings.

How can a normal young man, full of robust conquering energy, be expected to enter a profession requiring a costly education, which may not afford his family as comfortable support as is obtained by the boiler maker or the locomotive engineer?

No doubt the folly of sectarianism has much to do with low ministerial salaries. It is an expensive habit to require ministers to fit your individual convictions about the cut of the clerical coat or the proper place to put a comma in the creed.

If a church can not pay a clergyman enough so he can look his grocer in the eye and smile, the powers that be of that denomination should suggest that it merge forces with some other religious organization. Local ministerial associations might very properly take this matter up, and put churches on an unfair list that offer less than a living wage.

We want the kind of men in our pulpits who would keep the wheels running in a mill or who would draw the clients in a lawyer's office. Lack of business capacity does not necessarily prove piety.

HOMES OFFERED TAFT.

President Is Deluged With Tenders of Summer Places.

The proposal of several Minnesota citizens to establish a summer White House on Lake Minnetonka has launched an "open season" for White Houses by the sea and White Houses in the mountains. President Taft is being deluged with offers from various parts of the country to establish summer White Houses, and if he were to accept all of the proposals he would spend only a week in each and most of his vacation on the train going to them.

One offer by a man whose name was not made public expressed the wish to give the president full title to one of the Thousand islands, in the St. Lawrence river, provided Mr. Taft should make a summer capital on it. Secretary Hilles replied that the president could not very well use an island at this time.

Representative Austin and a delegation of Tennesseeans from Carryville offered the president a fully equipped summer home on Bald Knob, in the Smoky mountains, about sixty miles from Knoxville. The home was described as a $25,000 mansion located on a model turnpike leading to Knoxville. Mr. Taft said he could not give a definite reply at this time.

Scores of other offers are reaching the White House from many states, but it is not likely that any of them will be accepted.

How to Make Prune Whip.

Soak one-half pound prunes overnight; in morning stew till soft with one-half cup sugar. Rub through sieve. Beat whites of four eggs to stiff froth and add sifted prunes, beating well together. Heap upon a platter and bake in a slow oven for fifteen minutes, allowing it to brown. Serve when cold with custard sauce.

BY THE KING'S EDICT

By MARTHA L. WRIGHT

Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

As to the matter of Edmond Koyle, yeoman, who was sentenced to be hanged in the county of Kent, in the reign of King Edward IV., this is the story:

Koyle had just come of age, and there was a celebration in honor of the event on his father's farm. The young men and maidens danced on the green, and it was noticed that Edmond Koyle and Margaret Manning, a comely lass of nineteen years, danced many times together. Moreover, some who were there saw old Simon Winter standing by himself looking on at the couple, scowling and tapping his foot angrily on the floor, for he had that day applied to Farmer Manning for Margaret to wife, and now he saw that her heart was going out to Koyle.

That night the church was robbed of the silver service plate, and, search being made, it was found hid in the barn on the farm to which young Koyle had the day before come to an inheritance, his father having died two year agone. And there were those who averred that they had seen Edmond carrying plunder from the church at dead of night.

So the young man was tried before the judge, and those persons who claimed that they had seen him carrying a load from the church swore to the fact, and Edmond was sentenced to be hanged by the neck till he was dead.

Edmond was defended before the judge by Montgomery, his advocate, in this wise:

"Most worshipful sir, there be a conspiracy on the part of Simon Winter to ruin my client, that the said Winter may put away a rival. This man, who has a farm and much cattle and sheep, did propose to Farmer Manning for his daughter, a comely wench, and the proposal was accepted by Farmer Manning.

"Then came the prisoner and on the day he was of age danced merrily with Margaret Manning, and Simon Winter, being jealous, did hire men for pay to rob the church and place the plate in Edmond Koyle's barn, that he might make it appear that the sacrilege had been done by Koyle, Winter having the intent to injure Koyle that he should cease to be a rival for the hand of Margaret Manning.

"Therefore, I pray you, most worshipful sir, to let my client go free, or if you are not satisfied of his innocence he will willingly decide whether he or Winter is guilty of this sacrilege by deadly combat."

But Winter, being no match for a young man, declined the combat, and the judge was constrained to pronounce the accused guilty and pass sentence upon him.

Then did Margaret, who was in the court, fall down in a swoon and was carried to her father's house.

When the day came that Edmond Koyle was to be executed the people in those parts came to see, some in wagons, some on foot and some on horseback, the women riding on pillions behind the men, so that a great crowd was collected. And there were present many friends of Koyle, who knew him to be innocent of the crime charged against him, and they murmured that he should be hanged for a crime he had not committed. Among the spectators sat Farmer Manning and his wife and between them Margaret, their daughter. And the people marveled greatly to see a maiden sitting by the scaffold on which the man she loved was to suffer death. But near her sat Montgomery, who had spoken in Koyle's behalf before the magistrate. All looked for Simon Winter, wondering mayhap if he would venture to attend the execution. But he dare not come, fearing the people.

Then came forth Edmond Koyle, being pale of countenance, but walking with a firm step and head erect. Before the cap was put over his face he stepped to the front of the scaffold and spoke the words which all who are condemned to die may at the last moment say to the people. But all he spoke was that he was innocent.

Then when the executioner was about to make ready for the hanging Montgomery looked at Margaret, and she, rising in her seat, said to the sheriff:

"I claim this man in marriage."

The people marveled, and the sheriff, paying no heed to Margaret's demand, told the executioner to proceed. But up stands Montgomery and cries out with a loud voice:

"I protest against the execution as illegal."

"In what respect?" asks the sheriff.

"There is an edict of our sovereign, King Edward IV., commanding that if a woman shall demand in marriage any man condemned to death he shall go free and be given to the woman."

And Montgomery took parchment to the sheriff and showed him the edict, and the sheriff read and ordered that the prisoner be given to Margaret.

Then all rose up and went to the church, consoled for not seeing a hanging by being given view of a wedding. But they were after all not satisfied without a hanging, and when Simon Winter came to see what was in the wind they made a rush for him, and, taking him to the scaffold, where all was in readiness for such a spectacle, they hanged him instead of his intended victim.

These things I have told not that I have heard them, but because I was present and saw them for myself.

TREASURE HUNTERS REPORT SUCCESS

Immense Cache of Gold Dug Up Off Honduran Coast

San Diego, Cal., June 9.—A message received here from a party of treasure seekers aboard the steamer Eureka says their expedition to recover an immense cache of gold hidden by the crew of a Chilean cruiser off the Honduran coast many years ago has been successful. The treasure has been variously estimated at from $15,000,000 to $65,000,000. The steamer is now headed for this port.

The Eureka is in command of Captain Burtiss and was taken on a thirty-day charter by a party of San Francisco people about two weeks ago. The expedition is said to have been financed by Henry Krelling, a clubman of San Francisco.

The map showing the location of the buried treasure is said to have been in the possession of a former resident of Honduras, who succeeded in interesting Krelling in his story of the buried gold. The result was the chartering of the Eureka.

Swiss Aviator Lands Unhurt After Series of Mishaps In Midair

Geneva, June 9.—The Swiss aviator Tadeoli, while monoplaning at Lausanne, had trouble with his machine while 2000 feet in the air. The machine turned two complete somersaults, each time unseating Tadeoli, but the airman managed to climb back and get control of the machine.

When within 300 feet of the ground the motor suddenly stopped and the monoplane began to fall. Tadeoli hung by his hands until within ten feet of the ground, when he dropped to earth unhurt.

IGNORE BISHOP'S BAN

Good Attendance at Convention Called by Interdicted Men

Biddeford, Me., June 9.—The convention of French-Canadians of Maine opened here and was well attended despite the fact that it had been called by the six French-Canadians recently interdicted by Bishop Walsh of Portland.

Despite his warning that any individuals or societies who should cooperate with these men would also be deprived of the rights and ministrations of the church, there are representatives at the convention from many points in New England.

The men who were interdicted endeavored to obtain legislation which would prevent the bishop of the diocese of Maine from being the sole owner of church property in his diocese.

The boy was taken there from the home of his parents last night.

WOMEN'S BATH HOUSE.

Commissioner Bainbridge has awarded the contract for the new bath house for women for which the City Council appropriated $2,500 to George E. Thomas who has already commenced work. It is expected that the bath house will be ready for occupancy in three weeks.

It was the original intention to mak ethe new bath house an addition to the present building but as the intent of the City Council was for a separate building the plans have been changed somewhat so that the two buildings will be entirely separate.

CITY HALL TO CLOSE.

Mayor Shea announced this morning that out of respect to City Clerk Harrison A. Keith that City Hall would be closed Saturday, the day of the funeral after 10.30 A. M. until Monday morning.

EXPRESSED REGRETS.

A telegram was received this morning from City Clerk Hall of Waltham President of the Massachusetts City Clerks' Association expressing the deep sorrow of the association at the death of Mr. Keith and the regret that the association would be unable to be represented at the funeral services owing to previous plans.

A LONG RECORD.

Francis H. McQuire of Weymouth with a record of fifteen arrests for drunkenness was arrested for the sixteenth time Thursday by Officer Butler. McGuire was also arrested by the same officer on Wednesday of this week and in court Thursday was fined $15. His sentence was suspended until Sept. 8 on the understanding that he keep sober and pay $1 per week on his fine.

Instead of taking heed to the good advice given him McGuire immediately begun to indulge again with the result that the arrest followed. This morning in court Judge Avery withdrew the suspension and allowed the fine of $15 to stand. The court also sentenced him to the state farm.

GETTING MEN FOR THE NAVY.

New Retirement Law Expected to Bring Recruits.

ECONOMY IN PENDING BILL.

Difficulty at Present Is Not Only In Enlisting Men, but In Inducing Them to Re-enlist—Too Many Green Hands Now.

How to induce men to enlist in the navy is one of the problems which the government has with it always. Mr. Meyer, however, co-operating with the members of the senate committee on naval affairs, believes that a satisfactory solution has been hit upon. The proposal is, in brief, to retire enlisted men after sixteen years' honorable service on part pay. The committee has already reported such a retirement bill favorably.

Ever since the United States started out to build a navy that could compete with the navy of any other power the great problem has been to supply the demand for enlisted men. Recruiting stations have been multiplied until they are to be found in every city of any consequence in the country. Large sums of money have been spent in advertising for men to serve in the navy. In spite of all this, it has not been possible for the department to keep the force of enlisted men up to the strength called for by the fighting vessels afloat. A still more serious problem has been to persuade men to reenlist after having served one term of enlistment. Naval officers point out that in the other great navies of the world most of the enlisted men, or the "bluejackets," whether enlisted or compelled to enter the service, are men of mature experience.

Large Proportion of Green Hands.

At present 26 per cent of the enlisted men in the United States navy are on their first enlistment, 16 per cent on their second and only 4 per cent on their third enlistment. Pointing to these statistics, the naval officials say that the United States fleet is therefore hardly better than a fleet for training green hands and that in time of need under present conditions its efficiency would be very materially lessened. The senate committee on naval affairs was influenced to some extent at least, members of the committee say, by a statement from Rear Admiral Dillingham in which he pointed out that the one great reason why men do not continue in the service of the navy is that with the present retirement and pension laws there is not a sufficient guarantee that some time in the future these men will be able to realize their hopes of an independent home life, with a habitation that they can support, as a result of their hard work for the government.

The Proposed New Law.

The bill that has been favorably reported proposes to retire the enlisted men at the end of sixteen years' service on three-fourths pay. The department estimates the average pay at which men would be retired at $66 a month, plus allowance amounting to $15.75. If all the enlisted men who have served sixteen years or longer should take advantage of the proposed retirement law the cost for the first year would, it is estimated, be $369,362. However, the navy department is proceeding on the theory that with the proposed retirement law the government would save a sum in excess of that required by the retirement law.

The department points out that the cost of transporting new recruits is now about $275,000 a year. The department believes that within three years from the passage of a retirement law the cost of transporting recruits would be reduced to $150,000. The appropriation for recruiting is about $130,000. The department believes that in three years four recruiting officers—one at New York, one at Chicago or St. Louis, one in the southwest and one on the Pacific coast—could supply all the recruits necessary at a saving of $65,000. The appropriation for first outfit to recruits now amounts to about $1,000,000. The department argues that if the need for recruits were reduced to, say, 6,000 a year this would be reduced to $360,000, a saving of $640,000.

REGISTRARS TRIBUTE.

Toll the bell softly, a good man is dead
Life from a great heart forever has fled;
A heart that beat always within his warm breast,
With wishes for fellow men only the best.
Large were his virtues and many had he,
From all forms of bigotry, this man was free;
Sincere in his friendships, faithful to each trust,
Firm of convictions, straight forward and just Promptness and neatness and pride in his work
Were some of the virtues of our City Clerk.
Then toll the bell softly that all men may hear,
And pay their last tribute to his passing bier
As slowly it wends to the last home of all
Till Gabriel shall rouse him with his trumpet call
O'er his grave may wild birds their sweetest songs sing;
And there may the flowers bloom first in the spring
Sweet be his repose may he sleep there, our friend,
With all of life's cares and life's troubles at an end.
His soul to his God we commend with the prayer
That a crown and a harp are awaiting him there.

CHARITIES AND CORRECTION.

The national conference on charities and correction, which meets in Boston for a week, should be of real value in study and in stimulating interest and support of the work the country over. Those who are engaged in the work will see and hear and will gain new information. The series of meetings with an attendance of over 1000 delegates from other cities may well attract the attention of the whole of New England to social work to a greater degree. The practical side of it will be shown clearly and in its relation to the community at large. The keenness of the enterprise and the wisdom of the methods under investigation should make it easier for every charitable agency depending upon voluntary contributions for support to get greater backing. Each public institution and department which depends upon municipal or state authorities should find readier understanding of their needs. But chief of all is the educational and enlightening feature of it. Social service has a very definite and constructive program, but it has not as yet received the thorough interest of the outsiders or laymen which it deserves. This is an admirable opportunity to develop it in detail in a community ready, we are confident, to grasp and join.—Boston Record.

DIARY TELLS HOW HE DIED.

Prospector's Body Found Where He Starved Two Years Ago.

This is the grim record in the diary of F. B. Fisk, a prospector, who died of starvation more than two years ago and whose body was found in a cabin across the glacier forty miles from Valdez, Alaska:

"Feb. 1, 1909—No grub yet. I am awfully weak.

"Feb. 17—No grub yet. May the Lord have mercy on me. I thank him. Amen.

"Feb. 20—No grub yet.

Beginning on Feb. 1, 1909, Fisk has marked out the dates from an almanac of that year. It was found in his sleeping bag. He went to Alaska from Boston. He was about fifty-five years old. He left Valdez to cross the glacier in the fall of 1908.

How to Clean a Purse.

Any woman who owns a silver purse, either sterling or German, and who constantly pays the jeweler for cleaning it, in order to save gloves and light dresses, will be very glad to know that common baking soda will clean it in a few minutes. That is what most jewelers use. Just take plenty of soda and a little water and wash between the hands or with a brush, rinse and dry—and think of the money saved.

HEALTH HINT FOR TODAY.

Diet if Bilious.

The question of diet is all important to the person prone to biliousness. When the liver is secreting an excess of bile it is a certain indication that the albumen in the dietary is beyond the body's requirements and should be lessened. This is seen from the demonstrated fact that the bile itself is produced from albuminoids and that with reduction of albumen the secretion of bile is correspondingly reduced.

COMMUNICATION.

Kenosha, Wis.
June 3, 1911.

Editor Ledger:

Though absent from good old Quincy I have not forgotten her, and remembering that one of Woodward's brightest graduates has been directing the Physical Culture work of the Kemper Hall school for Girls in this beautiful city I visited it today, in company with Mrs. Fay, only to find that it was Gymnastic and Field Day with Miss Mary A. Elcock as director.

Thinking that Miss Elcock's many Quincy friends would like to know how highly she is prized I interviewed some of the Sisters (it is an Episcopal school) one of whom is known to many Quincy people being a sister of Mrs. J. Francis Hayward of Ponkapaug, and aunt of Miss Feodora Hayward who is well known among the younger set, and they with the townspeople all with one accord speak of her and her work in the highest terms of praise.

The work done by her pupils today surely evidenced a good reason for her incumbency of the position of director for seven years and for the Sister's testimony as to her up-to-date fertility of brain and ability to obtain results.

The school buildings have spacious shaded lawns and a fine athletic field all on a beautiful broad street and are on the shore of Lake Michigan where with the average thermometer throughout the U. S. at about 90 degrees it was comfortable all of the week.

William H. Fay.

BODY QUICKLY CREMATED

Mrs. Bull's Wish Carried Out Two Days After Her Death

Alfred, Me., June 9.—That Margaret E. Noble favored the immediate cremation of the body of Mrs. Ole Bull, and that the latter's daughter, Mrs. Olea Bull Vaughan, expressed an opinion that the body should be held in a tomb for a period, contest that the daughter is making contest that th edaughter is making over her mother's $500,000 will.

Joseph G. Thorp, brother of Mrs. Bull and an executor under the will, stated that Miss Noble and himself were in favor of the immediate disposition because they believed the retention of the corpse would only add to the sadness of the occasion.

The body was cremated on Jan. 20 of this year, two days after death. Mrs. Vaughan, he said, was informed of the plan and at first opposed it, but afterward acquiesced. Mrs. Bull in her will requested cremation.

CORONATION REHEARSAL

Peers and Ladies of Court Are Practising Their Various Parts

London, June 9.—The first actual rehearsal of the coronation of King George was held yesterday afternoon in Westminster abbey, although King George himself was not present. The scene was a brilliant one, with the peers and ladies of the court who will take part in the ceremonies on June 22 going through their various parts.

To the Duke of Norfolk, as earl marshal, falls the duty of stage managing the great spectacle, and under his direction those who participate must study and learn their parts just as actors preparing for a theatrical production.

The procession from the palace to the church was also rehearsed, and a large force of police was necessary to keep back the crowds of curious spectators.

SAYS HIS NOMINATION WOULD BE CALAMITY

Roosevelt Quoted Again as to Presidency In 1912

White River Junction, Vt., June 9.—Wallace Bachelder, member of troop K, Rough Riders, and active in connection with Theodore Roosevelt's visit to Vermont, is authority for the statement that he had asked Roosevelt whether he would be a candidate for president in 1912.

Colonel Roosevelt at once replied that he emphatically would not be, that he should regard it as a calamity if he were nominated.

New York, June 9.—"Every word there is correct," declared Theodore Roosevelt when shown a dispatch from White River Junction that he would not be a candidate for president in 1912.

"You are quoted as saying that you would regard it as a calamity, if you were nominated?" was asked Roosevelt.

"Not another word," replied Roosevelt, "and there will be no more statements regarding the matter."

TEACHERS' BILL KILLED

Governor Hotly Scored by Member of Massachusetts Senate

Boston, June 9.—The senate, late yesterday afternoon, by a vote of 25 to 14—one less than the required two-thirds majority—failed to pass the Boston teachers' salary bill over the governor's veto.

Senator Lomasney of Boston, who worked for the nomination of Mr. Foss for governor, opened the debate with a speech in favor of overriding the governor's veto of the teachers' bill for an increase of salary.

"I propose to tear from this governor's face the mask of hypocrisy, insincerity and chicanery which has covered his face since he became governor," he said. He then attacked Foss with the bitterest vituperation with which a governor of this state has been assailed for years on Beacon hill.

FOR FALSE IMPRISONMENT

State Will Be Asked to Compensate Man Who Was Pardoned

Boston, June 9.—Friends of John H. Chance, who served eleven years in the Charlestown prison for a crime he did not commit, and was pardoned by Governor Foss, have started a movement to have the state pay him for the time he was an illegal prisoner.

The only way that this may be brought about, it is declared on good legal authority, is to have a special act passed by the legislature to provide such compensation.

WOMEN HELD WITHOUT BAIL

Actress and Illustrator on Verge of Collapse When Taken to Police Headquarters — Their Statements and That of Wounded Man Differ Essentially—Hotel Man Says That $25,000 Was Demanded For Letters

New York, June 9.—The shooting of William E. D. Stokes, millionaire proprietor of the exclusive Ansonia hotel and well-known horseman and man about town, in the apartment of two young women, who have been held for examination next Monday, has created a sensation in New York. While it is generally agreed that Stokes went to the apartment to secure certain letters written by him, the full story of the affray is yet to be told.

It is known that Stokes had received a telephone message at the Ansonia at 5 o'clock, asking him to visit the young women's apartment to talk to them regarding some letters in their possession. He went at once and met the women in the parlor of a three-room suite they have occupied for the last fortnight. As to what happened immediately thereafter Stokes has given one version to the police, while the girls have made statements which differ essentially.

The young women, Lillian Graham, an actress, and Ethel Conrad, an illustrator, formally charged with the shooting, were taken to police headquarters yesterday on the verge of collapse. Three Japanese servants in the apartment house on West Eightieth street, where Stokes was shot, will appear as witnesses.

It is said that Stokes will not be able to appear in court for about ten days. In court the two women were held without bail for examination next Monday, and the three Japanese servants were discharged, but they will be called as witnesses when required.

In their statements to Inspector Russell each of the girls insisted that she alone had done the shooting, but both agreed that Stokes had come to the apartment in a rage and that in his fury he had attempted to choke Miss Graham before the shots were fired.

A clear story of what happened, according to the millionaire, was given out by Stokes' attorney, C. J. McManus, who was summoned soon after the shooting.

"I reached the Varuna a few minutes before 6 o'clock. Miss Conrad opened the door of her apartment for me. I spoke to her and entered. Miss Graham was in the adjoining room, but came out as soon as the door closed behind me.

"Then one of the girls—I can't be sure which—sprang to the door and locked it.

"Lillian Graham went to a trunk immediately, took a revolver out of it, and said: 'Now, Mr. Stokes, you know I have some letters belonging to you and you want them back. Well, you can have them for $25,000 cash.'

"I told her I would not give $25,000 or any other sum for the letters. Then she said: 'You had better write and sign an agreement giving me $25,000.' Again I refused and then she began firing.

"Somehow I managed to stagger out of the apartment into the hallway. There I ran into three Japanese. They began beating me over the face and head with their fists. I was unable to combat them, and sat down helplessly on the stairway. I did not become unconscious; but everything after that is very vague in my mind."

Miss Graham declined to go into personal details, either about herself or about Miss Conrad. As to the shooting itself, she said:

"We were armed when Mr. Stokes came to the house because we live alone and we have to have revolvers to insure ourselves protection. He came to the house to get some letters I had. I refused to give them to him when he demanded them and he grabbed me by the throat.

"I was in danger of violence at his hands, and I picked up my pistol from the mantlepiece and shot at him as he came at me again. I don't know how often I shot, but I think it was twice. It was a dreadful affair, and as I was shooting he wrenched the pistol from my hands and shot at me."

BILLY PAPKE

He Stops English Champion In Fast and Furious Fight

PAPKE WHIPS SULLIVAN

Gains Title of Middleweight Champion of the World

London, June 9.—Billy Papke, the American middleweight, otherwise known as the "Illinois Thunderbolt," took the measure of Jim Sullivan, the middleweight champion of England, in nine rounds of fast and furious fighting last night. Again it was the fighter against the boxer, and the fighter won with ease.

The contest was for the middleweight championship of the world, a purse of $10,000 and a side bet.

Toward the close of the ninth round Papke landed a savage uppercut, which sent Sullivan to the floor. He took the count of five, and when the bell rang, staggered blindly to his corner. When the call to the tenth round sounded, he was unable to stand up, and Referee Corri awarded the fight to Papke amid great applause.

CHINA WILL DEMAND $500,000 INDEMNITY

Mexico Must Also Settle For the Killing of 303 Chinese

Juarez, Mex., June 9.—China will uphold the assertion by Chinese residents of Torreon, Mex., that they did not fire on the insurrectos prior to the massacre of May 15, and besides indemnity for the killing of more than 300 Chinese will enter a claim of $500,000 against the Mexican government for property loss. Of this loss the stores owned by Juan Maa, who was killed, represent $100,000.

This is the substance of the official report received from Wu Lan Poo, of the Chinese legation, who has been investigating the Torreon massacre. Wu reports 303 Chinese were killed.

WIELDS A HORSEWHIP

Woman Thrashes Husband and Widow and Then Brings Suit

New Bedford, Mass., June 9.—Mrs. George W. Bourne, who is 24 years old, the mother of three children, and weighs 140 pounds, had her husband arraigned in court on a charge of non-support as a sequel to a horse-whipping she gave him in his drug store on North Front street.

The case was continued because Mrs. Margaret R. Damon, who is 50 years old, a wealthy widow, and Bourne's partner in the drug store business, refused to appear in court until the welt across her face heals.

Mrs. Bourne whipped Mrs. Damon after she had finished chastising her husband. Then she attached the drug store and other of the widow's property for $10,000 and filed suit in that amount for alleged alienation of her husband's affections.

He was carried part of the way by a violent gale.

Aviator Averigo flew from Orleans to this place yesterday in 55 minutes (distance approximately is 85 miles). He traveled at a height of 7500 feet in a northwest wind.

Red Blood For Pale People!

A big supply of red blood corpuscles is what helps to make any man or woman have a healthy, pink complexion and cherry red lips. Resort to paint and powder are totally unnecessary and besides that, are harmful. Three-grain hypo-nuclane tablets, if used regularly for several months, seem to create a greatly added number of millions to the red and white corpuscles of the blood, and not only improve the color, but add increased flesh to the thin and frail body. These tablets promote assimilation, absorption and digestion, and this splendid aid to nature's forces transforms the complexion and figure. They are prescribed by physicians, but being of a perfectly harmless character, self-administration is being followed by many, who obtain them direct from any well-stocked apothecary shop.

SAID TO HAVE SERVED TIME

Police Say "Duke" De Clemacy Has Record as Crook

DETECTIVES ARE AFTER HIM

Head of Pinkerton's Agency Identifies Man Who Was Entertained by Leading Men of Boston and Then Disappeared After Passing Worthless Checks—Leaves Wife and Young Child Destitute

Boston, June 9.—More facts about the bogus French "duke," "judge" and man of many other titles and professions, who recently left Boston in a hurry, after having been entertained by city officials, court officers, judges and others, and who cashed worthless checks for $400 at the Touraine, where he was a guest for several days, were learned yesterday.

It has developed, according to The Post, that the man has a criminal record. He has served time at Sing Sing prison and Blackwell's island. General Superintendent Leith of Pinkerton's National Detective agency yesterday identified the "duke" as Charles Francis, alias "Count de Nevers," alias Philip Les de Clamacy.

The "duke" was first arrested in this country in Chicago in 1902, under the name of Charles Francois, according to the Pinkertons. About 1903, as Charles Francis, he was arrested in London for obtaining money by false pretences and sentenced to eighteen months' imprisonment.

March 7, 1905, he was arrested in New York under the name of Charles J. Francis for securing money under false pretences. On that occasion he claimed to be an official of a company having contracts in connection with the construction of the Panama canal, and on the strength of these claims secured large sums of money.

He was discharged May 12, 1905, and June 30 of the same year was arrested under the name of Charles de Nevers for perjury.

He was sentenced to five years at Sing Sing. June 9, 1909, he was arrested in New York under the name of Charles Francis on complaint of the County Medical society for illegally practising medicine and was sentenced to one year at Blackwell's island and fined $500.

The Pinkerton agency is interested in the capture of the "count," as some of the bogus checks he left behind in Boston were drawn on a bank which is one of the subscribers to the Pinkerton's Bank and Bankers' Protection.

A woman who claims to be the "count's" wife has been located in a boarding house in Boston. She almost went into hysterics when she learned through the newspapers that her husband was wanted by the police. A daughter 2 years old was also left behind by the "count."

Mrs. de Clamacy says she met de Clamacy in New York city three years ago. They were married after one week's acquaintance. Mrs. de Clamacy is in poor health and is dependent on charity of neighbors.

Easterly on lot No. 11 on said plan, being other land of this grantor, one hundred sixty-nine 2-10 (169.2) feet. Easterly on lot No. 26 on said Faxon's plan, being land of this grantor, sixty-two 1-2 (62 1-2) feet. Southerly on a private way that connects Granite street with Center street, fifty-three (53) feet. Westerly on land of T. J. Milford, one hundred and six (106) feet, more or less.

AMUSEMENTS

DOINGS ON THE STAGE OF

LOCAL AND BOSTON THEATRES

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE.

It was expected that "Little Lord Lord Fauntleroy" would be successful at the Castle Square, but its triumph has far exceeded all anticipation. In consequence Mr. Craig announces that it will be continued for a second week, and that Henrietta McDannel will repeat her notable performance of the title character. Miss McDannel's success in this play has been as remarkable as her success as Peter in "The End of the Bridge" and she contributes no small proportion of its triumph. The other leading roles are acted by Mr. Hassell, Mr. Meek, Miss Binley and Miss Colcord.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE.

Still another sensational novelty is announced for B. F. Keith's Theatre, following "Consul." This time it is nothing short of a most remarkable kangaroo, who puts on the gloves and engages in a boxing contest with two sparring experts. The Boxing Kangaroo furnishes one of the most novel entertainments seen on the stage in many a day, and it is of a character that will appeal to all classes, especially the young folks. On the same bill will be another star attraction, Eddie Leonard, the famous minstrel man, probably the most initated entertainer on the stage. His famous "Boolah" song has become a classic, and on this occasion he will present a number of new songs that are especially written for him. Still another big attraction will be Mac Melville & Robert Higgins, "the thin feller who can't stoop," and Miss Melville is one of the funniest character ocmedienne now before the public. Other features will be Linton & Lawrence, in a musical comedy called "The Piano Shop;" Arthur Whitelaw, the monologuist; Martinnetti & Sylvester, knockabout comedians; the Misses Marian Merrill and Louise Hilton in their operatic production, "The Maid of Cinnibar;" the Bert DeVoie Trio of wire Walkers; and others yet to be announced.

PARAGON PARK.

Seventh season opens June 10th, with a bang. Manager George A. Dodge has made most elaborate preparations for the opening, of the seventh season of what he picturesquely describes as "The world's seventh epicurean wonder," Paragon Park and the Palm Garden at Nantasket Beach. At no time in the history of this popular resort, it is promised, has so much been done in the way of improvements as for this season. The constantly increasing patronage of the Palm Garden has necessitated still greater accommodations and although the dining capacity was enlarged to accommodate 1000 diners at one time last season, the largest on the New England coast, the addition of a Roof Garden and pavilion will accommodate at least 500 more.

As in past seasons the Palm Garden patrons will be regaled with the concerts of Mace Gay's band from the band stand on the lagoon, while from the balcony within the guest will hear the enlarge Viennese orchestra, with Marie Ungvarsky as the sporano soloist, and the new Paragon quartet.

A decided innovation this season will be 12 sea lions from the Cataline Islands and from the famous Cliff House at San Francisco. Among the free circus acts this season will be Will Hill, who gives a sensational exhibition of riding a bicycle on a high wire over the lagoon; Bigney, the famous high diver; Paul Spessardy, with his trained bears; and Mlle. Stella H. Morrisini, with her trained ponies and Russian wolf hounds. Elaborate exhibitions of fireworks will be given as a special feature every Wednesday and Saturday night, and every Sunday evening there will be an Italian illumination.

AVIATION AT WALTHAM.

Aeronautical stunts, new in the history of that sport in New England, are to start next week at the Metz Aviation grounds, Waltham, when the first aero meet of the year begins on the old Governor Gore Estate. Aeroplanes of every possible description, manned by the best American aviators obtainable, are to participate in the competitions arranged. Between now and the beginning of the meet next Thursday, June 15th, the aviators will be flying in their machines, and Waltham will be the center of attraction as far as aeronautics go for the next two weeks.

Earl Ovington, the West Newton aviator, whose fame has preceded his arrival, has signed a contract with Charles H. Metz to make a 50-mile cross country flight during the meet. He will sail from the Metz Field to President Taft's summer home, crossing all of the cities along the route. Never in the history of aeronatics in New England has a flight of this magnitude been attempted by an aviator. Aside from this flight, Ovington has entered in all of the competitions that are to be held on the old Governor Gore Estate. He will use a Bleriot monoplane in all of the events.

James V. Martin, Vice President of the Harvard Aeronautical Society, and his wife, who is an aviatress of fame, are already at the new Aerodrome and are planning an innovation that will be introduced during the meet. Prof. Martin will use a baby White biplane in most of his flights, while Mrs. Martin will use a Farman biplane that has already arrived on the field.

Semeniouk, the Russian aviator, Cromwell Dixon, who will fly in both a biplane of the Curtiss type and his dirigible baloon that he used in his flight from Squantum to Boston last year, and Joe Downey are already here for the events that start next Thursday and in the interval other airmen of note are expected to arrive.

The old Gore Estate has been converted into what the aviators call a model field for flying. The old Gore Mansion, one of the landmarks of the state, is to house one of the most influential aviation clubs yet organized in this country, and the efforts of the entire body will be to promote the sport and to perfect machines that will make travelling through the air a safe mode of transportation. The efforts so far have been crowned with success, and the meet which starts next week is the first of the big meets that America will see this year.

THINK THEY PRESAGE WAR

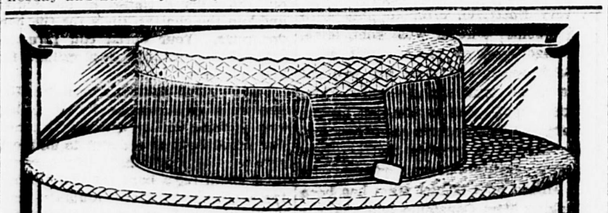

Country Folk Alarmed Over Appearance of Dreaded Locusts

Tuckerton, N. J., June 9.—The appearance of the Cicada or 17-year-locusts in large swarms in this section and near-by towns has caused much alarm among the inhabitants of the villages in the vicinity of Tuckerton.

The old story that a war will immediately follow the arrival of these locusts seems to cause more alarm than the locists themselves, though they destroy much valuable timber.

Convicted of Manslaughter

Worcester, Mass., June 9.—A verdict of guilty of manslaughter was returned against Magia Usen for killing Peter Marke at Southbridge. He was sentenced to state prison for not less than four nor more than five years.

MEASURE NOW UP TO SENATE

No Recommendation on Reciprocity by Committee

ROOT AMENDMENT PREVAILS

Proposition Retained In Canadian Agreement by Vote of Eight to Six—Knox Says It Is In Conformity With Original Pact With Our Northern Neighbor—Expected to Pass Senate as It Came From House

Washington, June 9.—Disregarding the opposition of President Taft to any amendments to the Canadian reciprocity agreement, the finance committee of the senate agreed to report the measure with the Root amendment. Senator Lodge voted for the amendment in spite of the protest of the Massachusetts house.

The committee announced that the measure will be reported to the senate next Tuesday.

The Root amendment was adopted by a vote of 8 to 6, as follows—For the amendment, Senators Lodge, Smoot, Gallinger, Clark, Heyburn and La Follette, Republicans; and Bailey and Simmons, Democrats. Against the amendment: Penrose, Cullom, McCumber, Republicans; Stone, Kern and Williams, Democrats. Senator Johnson was absent.

Other amendments offered by Senators Nelson and Gallinger in the open senate and referred to the finance committee were voted down.

Senator Stone voted to report the bill favorably, and Senator Heyburn to report it adversely, but as neither proposition had a majority the measure will go before the senate without recommendation, the vote in each instance being a tie.

Secretary of State Knox, when he was before the committee, it is learned, declined to approve or disapprove of the Root amendment. He said, however, that it was in conformity with the original agreement with Canada, while the bill in its present form as it passed the house he considered a deflection therefrom.

Senator Root's amendment was designed to make pulp and paper free on both sides at the same time instead of allowing the importation at once of free pulp and paper from those provinces in Canada in which there are no restrictions regarding the exportation of these articles.

His amendment would add to the wood pulp and paper provision the stipulation that Canada may have the right to import these articles free only "when the President of the United States shall have satisfactory evidence and shall make proclamations that such admission of wood pulp, paper and boards, being the product of the United States, are admitted into Canada free of duty."

Senator Lodge of the committee had inserted into the proposed amendment the following words after Canada, "and all its provinces." Lodge contended that as the bill stands the action of one province in imposing restrictions would not prevent all the rest of Canada from exporting to this country free paper and wood pulp, but would not allow the United States to export these articles into any part of Canada. He said that we could not deal with Canada by provinces any more than Canada could deal with the states in this country.

It is the belief of the members of the finance committee that the Root amendment will be lost in the senate and that the bill will pass the upper branch as it came from the house.

WASHINGTON'S ANCESTRY

First President's Father May Have Been Native of Lancashire

London, June 9.—Dr. Solloway's researches, which have resulted in the discovery of Washington's coat of arms in Selby abbey, Yorkshire, are not yet at an end.

Dr. Solloway says there is good reason to discredit the usually accepted account that Washington was the son of a Northamptonshire family. He believes that the two brothers, John and Laurence Washington, who went to Virginia, were born in Lancashire about 1625 and 1627, and were were 30 and 32 years old at the time of their emigration.

—The Methodist clergy of Cincinnati are not pleased that a judge holding office under favor of the Cox machine should have gone to great pains to liberate Boss Cox from an indictment for perjury which they think was eminently deserved. They have frankly said so in a ringing resolution, whereupon the judge threatens them with contempt proceedings and recommends that they "study their Bible more and let the law alone." Perhaps they ought not to reveal their contempt of that court so openly; but the Bible mandate "Thou shalt not steal" ought to apply to a millionaire political boss fattened on graft as closely as to the humblest thief.—Boston Common.

SPORTING NOTES.

The Manets play the Wellingtons of Weymouth on Garfield park Saturday afternoon. The Wellingtons have a very fast team composed of former Deweys of Weymouth and members of the old Wellington team of Dorchester. Last Saturday they were defeated by Winchester 1 to 0 in a highly exciting contest. Although the Manets suffered defeat last week, the team was not of equal strength with the one that defeated the Adams A. A. Kerr is laid up for some time, possibly for the rest of the season, with rheumatism in his arm but the services of Canavan have been secured and the team will be as strong as before.

"Shimmer" O'Brien, the old Taunton pitcher, will be in the box for the Quincy's on Saturday. The game against the Olympia Royal Giants promises to be one of the fastest of the season.

The Fore River Apprentics have a hard game at Merrymount park against the Aero Club of Braintree a team which has not been defeated this year. Neary's boys will endeavor to break the ice and take the game. Williamson is pitching good ball these days and he is receiving gilt edged support.

The Makaria-Norwell game will be watched with great interest by Quincy fans for about half of the Norwell team is Quincy talent. The Bates brothers and Troupe have been playing with the team for several weeks and "Link" Elcock is to play with them tomorrow. Stan Bates is to have another tryout with Lowell very soon and it is not known whether he will be on hand to pitch tomorrow or not.

The Manet Baseball club is planing to go to Wellfleet on the Fourth of July. Last year the Ramblers went down there and had the time of their lives. The Ramblers won the first game 2 to 1 and lost the second 4 to 3. The Manets will try to get victories in both games this year and will take down one of t he best teams that has ever represented the club.

The South Quincy A. A. play the team representing the Boston exchanges of the New England Telephone Co. on Saturday at the Ward Three playgrounds. The "Hello" boys are said th have a very fast team and "Dodes" charges will have to put up a stiff battle to win.

The second duel between Adams A. A. and t he Manets will take place on June 17 at the Ward Three playgrounds. This game will be awaited with much eagerness by the supporters of both teams and it promises to be hotly contested all the way through.

QUEST OF THE MAGIC MIRROR

Prince Rupert was the only son of the king and queen of Navaria. He was twelve years old and had been utterly spoilt by his parents. One night his fairy godmother came to him and gave him a ring which if he turned it twice on his finger and wished at the same time would enable him to go anywhere he pleased. With the help of this ring she hoped he might find the magic mirror, which showed its possessor any one or anything he wished to see.

In the morning Prince Rupert asked his mother for a holiday. She at first refused, but he flew into a rage, and then she at once consented, for she feared passions were not good for his health. He next, to the queen's horror, put some jam tarts and strawberries in his pocket and started for the highest mountain in the land. As he reached its summit Rupert was dazzled by a blaze of light, and he did not see a pink cloud which floated near him until he heard the voice of a sky nymph who was sitting on it calling to him to jump up beside her. He did so, and she said, "I am the nymph of the setting sun; I shall lead you through the land of sunset, where perhaps you may find the magic mirror."

The sun had long since descended into the sea, and Prince Rupert's little cloud had reached the edge of a great gulf of black sky, so the sky nymph told him he must cross it alone, as she and her cloud could go no farther. Just then the full moon burst forth in all its splendor, illuminating the countless towers and minarets of a splendid cloud castle. Prince Rupert, turning his ring twice on his finger, wished to be on the flights of steps leading up to the great hall door. Immediately he was there, and in front of him, in a chamber of state, sat the King Mentrocius and his queen, Volumina, on thrones of piled up clouds. Before them danced crowds of sky nymphs, holding in their hands clouds wreaths, which they wound around themselves as they glided through the mazes of the dance. All eyes were turned on Prince Rupert but he walked straight up to the king and asked leave to search the palace in quest of the magic mirror. The king consented and went with him in the first room they entered the walls were draped with a strange gold tapestry. "Long ago," said Mentrocius "there was a revolution in the moon The women were all turned out and came down here to beg the hospitality of the cloud king, who shut them up in his room, but they, cutting off their golden hair, made a rope of it and escaped through the window. Their hair, however, they were obliged to leave behind, and it was made into tapestry for this room."

Opening a door leading from this room, Prince Rupert saw a large, handsome bedroom, with a curtain across the farther end. "This was Venus' bedroom when she lived here many years ago," said the king, and, pulling away the curtain, he displayed a beautiful statue of Venus brushing her hair. She held in her hand a golden mirror. Prince Rupert, looking into it, wished to see his pony Prancer, but instead of that a magnificent rainbow appeared outside the window. It was composed of long colored stripes of every description and stretched right down until it was lost to sight in the clouds below. Prince Rupert wished to be on it. He found himself seated on a golden stripe, which was traveling downward at a great rate. The prince's stripe was carrying him toward the deep blue sea, which sparkled underneath him. Just as he reached the place where the rainbow struck the water a little golden boat, steered by a mermaid, appeared. He jumped into it, and the mermaid held up before him a tiny ivory wand, on top of which was an enormous pearl; in the center of this pearl was a little piece of crystal. "Behold," said the mermaid, "the magic mirror." Prince Rupert looked through the crystal center of the pearl and wished to see his mother. There she sat by his bedroom window, crying bitterly. Suddenly the prince felt sorry for the grief he had caused her by disappearing, so, seizing the wand and turning his ring, he wished to be with her. Instantly he stood beside her, and, throwing his arms around her neck, he kissed away her tears.

From that day onward Prince Rupert was never again known to lose his temper.

She is considering the offer from the western team management and it is possible that she will accept. Irving Carson, pitcher on the Milton high school team has been coaching Miss Considine and she has mastered several curves. In the high school series she depended entirely upon speed.

ARRESTED IN ALBANY

Inspector Goodhue received a telegram this morning from James L. Hyatt, Chief of Police of Albany, N. Y. announcing the arrest of Alexander Samaar who is wanted by the Quincy police for jumping his bail.

Samaar was in court last April on a complaint of Inspector Goodhue for violation of the liquor law at Quincy. He was found guilty and sentenced to six months in jail and to pay a fine of $200.

Samaar appealed and deposited $300 cash bail. He then skipped and had not been heard from since. An officer will go to Albany and bring him back to Quincy.

RAN OVER A CHILD.

Walter Gregory of 64 Field street was arraigned in court this morning for the reckless driving of an automobile at Quincy, May 31, and for not stopping after running down a little child.

Gregory is an engineer and it is alleged that late in the afternoon of May 31 he came down Granite street at a rapid rate of speed. His car a Stanley struck a 2 year old child named Yoro Saari and knocked her down. Instead of stopping to see how bad the child had been injured it is alleged that Gregory continued on his way home. The number of his machine was obtained however and a complaint issued against him.

The child was attended by a physician who found that fortunately no bones were fractured although she was pretty generally shaken up. Gregory was fined $15.

How to Make Canna Bed.

As the canna is a deep rooted plant the bed should be dug deep. It is also important to provide plenty of plant food. Three inches of well rotted manure spaded into the soil is not too much. Do not elevate the center of the bed, but leave it level so water will not run off.

If the bed is to contain several varieties of cannas much care should be given to the selection of varieties. If the bed is to be viewed from all sides put the taller varieties in the center and use the shorter kinds for the border rows. Your florist can give advice about varieties best suited for your purpose.

Do not plant too many varieties. Unless it is an exceptionally large bed two or three will be better than more. For small beds of a dozen to eighteen plants it is good taste to use some other plant for a border. If tall growing cannas are used the fountain grass is unsurpassed, and for dwarf kinds such plants as coleus dwarf salvias and Dusty Miller are serviceable.

As cannas are subtropical they thrive only in the warm months and should be planted only when the season is well advanced. May 20 to June 15 is best for the territory between latitudes 40 and 45. The plants should be set a foot to a foot and a half apart each way, according to their size.

—Eggs are four cents a dozen in China. Why not import some, particularly as they would be fresher when they got here than the cold storage kind they hand out in winter?

RECITAL BY MUSIC PUPILS

Large Audience Hear Pupils of Mr. Buckingham

The pupils of John D. Buckingham were greeted by a large audience at the musical given in Alpha hall last evening, and the enthusiasm displayed at the conclusion of each number of the program was well founded. All the pupils showed the proficiency which is to be expected of those under the tutelage of Mr. Buckingham. All those who participated in the musicale were Quincy pupils with the exception of Miss Beatrice Turner who was from Boston. The Concerto in G. minor by Mendelssohn was one of the best things on the program. Mr. Buckingham supplied the orchestral part on a second piano.

Doris Sampson, who was the "littlest girl" played her two selections with the same skill displayed by the oldest and most experienced.

The musical as a whole was one of the most delightful treats to music lovers that has been given in Quincy for some time. The young people played the different pieces by eminent composers with great ability and a fine display of the sense of rhythm and harmony and a splendid exhibition of technique.

A recital will be given by other pupils of Mr. Buckingham on Monday afternoon, June 19 at 4.30.

The program of last evening was as follows:

Theodore Lack — Waltz Impromptu No. 2 — Albert Parker
(a) Whelpley — Album Leaf
(b) Kolling — Snow flakes
Miss Doris Torrey
(a) Chopin — Nocturne op. 9
(b) Mendelssohn — Spring Song
Miss Mildred Newcomb
Leschitizky — Two Skylarks
Miss Anna Alden
Willie Pape — Fantasie on Irish airs
Miss Amy Fallon
Song, Metcalf — Absent
Miss Anastasia Harkins
Mendelssohn Concerto in g minor (1st Movement) Miss B. Trepanier
Liszt — Venezia e Napoli (Tarantelle)
Miss Beatrice Turner
Bishop, Soprano Aria Tell me my heart
Miss Esther Dasha
Mozart — Sonata in F final movement
Miss Mary Faxon
(a) Martin Frey — Little Wanderer
(b) Burgmuller — Barcarole
Miss Doris Sampson
(a) Von Wilm — Confession
(b) Ph. E. Bach — Solfeggietto
Miss Eleanor Gow
Verdi — O Don Fatale
Miss Teresa Keating
Raff — Suite op. 91 Finale—March
Miss Clara McClure

There is something doing in a business way in spite of the quietness in some industries. The dividends and interests to be paid this month amount to $94,000,000. In June last year they were $87,000,000. The gain is quite remarkable and, it must be said, was scarcely looked for. But the wants of ninety odd millions of people create business and business makes money.—Framingham News.

INDUSTRIAL EXHIBITION

Splendid Progress Made by High School Pupils

The industrial exhibit in Quincy high school Friday afternoon and evening was attended by over 600 people all of whom were high in their praises of the work and were very deeply impressed with the splendid opportunities offered to the pupils. On the lower floor of the building, the work of the manual training classes was exhibited.

Mr. Goddard, head of the department was present to explain the work and two of his pupils also served as guides. The grade of work turned out by the pupils is surely something to be proud of and the pupils may congratulate themselves on the efficiency of their instructor and on their own adaptability to the work. The articles on exhibition were of all kinds and sizes ranging from pen trays and candlesticks to a life sized glider built by W. E. Crosscup and Edward Taylor, two of the pupils of the school. Some very handsome desks were on exhibition also and several of the mechanical drawing desks which the pupils are making for the school were there. All the work was finished up beautifully and made a very noteworthy exhibit.

On the third floor, there were exhibitions of the work of the cooking and sewing classes, freehand and mechanical drawing, painting, stencilling and sketching. The work done by pupils in the commercial department was also displayed.

The cooking department showed the progress made in the work as the pupils advanced. Lesson 1 was on toasting and making cocoa, 2 and 3 were on cereals, 4 cream toast, 5 popovers, 6 griddlecakes, 7 muffins and brownbread, 8 gingerbread, 9 cream of tartar biscuit, 10 cup custard, 11 graham muffins, 12 cheese c rackers, 13 bread, 14 raised biscuit, 15 currant jelly, 16 marmalade. The advanced work was on cake, plum pudding, pies, puddings and pudding sauces etc. In the domestic science room, a number of the pupils were demonstrating putting up preserves etc. In this room also were samples of the cookery of that day, a salmon loaf, pea soup and other delicious looking morsels. In one corner of the room was a table set for four to demonstrate the instruction given in serving the food and setting the table. This department was one of the most popular in the exhibition for the young ladies served punch and a number of the fortunate ones received samples of the cooking which were pronounced excellent. Miss Sarah C. Ames is in charge of this department and it is a matter of regret that she is to leave this year.

The sewing department with Miss Francis M. Whitcomb in charge had the prettiest exhibition, but for one whose mind is untutored in the art of sewing it would be nothing short of madness to attempt to tell about the work. A four years course is offered to pupils in sewing and dressmaking and samples of the work at all stages in the progress of the classes were on exhibition. Apron, sewing bags, embroidery, and the work of the more advanced pupils, garments made from original designs and so on.

In the same rooms with the sewing exhibition, was the work of the freehand drawing classes. Miss Harriet B. Whittaker has conducted this work during the past year and splendid results have been accomplished. Besides the pen and ink sketches, charcoal drawing, tinting and painting, an exhibition of stencilled curtains, pillow covers, table runners etc were on exhibition as well as some tooled leather. The curtains on the windows

The result of the competitive spelling match that was held Wednesday, between teams representing each of the five upper grades in all the grammar schools of the city was announced by Superintendent Barbour this morning. The result shows that in grades four, fire and six the Adams pupils won while the Cranch school captured the seventh grade and the Willard the eighth grade. Each team consisted of one-half of the class, chosen in a previous contest. The words used were all taken from the spelling book. The results were as follows:

GRADE FOUR.

First—Adams School 95.7 per cent.
Second—Adams School
Third—Willard School.

GRADE FIVE.

First—Adams School 96.5 per cent.
Second—Willard School
Third—Willard School

GRADE SIX.

First—Adams School 93.3 percent.
Second—Willard school
Third—Lincoln school

GRADE SEVEN

First—Cranch School 96.8 percent
Second—Willard School
Third—Washington School

GRADE EIGHT.

The contest aroused a great deal of interest among the children for weeks previous and brought about much independent study. The experiment will no doubt be repeated next year.

REAPERS CIRCLE.

The last meeting of the season for Reaper Circle of Kings Daughters was held last evening at the home of Mrs. Weston W. Osborne, Bigelow street. At the business session, preliminary plans were made for the fall, and money was voted to Rev. F. B. Allen, Boston city missionary, the Gordon Rest and the King's Daughters vacation home for aged people.

After the business was transacted, a social hour was enjoyed with songs by Miss Ethel Osborne, Mrs. Armstrong accompanying. Refreshments were served in the latter part of the evening. Every member of the Circle was present at the meeting and the work of the year closed very pleasantly with this gathering.

HONESTY IN EVERYTHING

Gov. Wilson is back at Trenton, but has he learned how to drive the skeeters from Newark flats by counting the telegraph poles of Arizona?

Let us hope that the man who is to do the crowning of King George does not make a slight error and put it on Jack Johnson's head instead.

An election is appointed for Mexico Oct. 1, but the real choice will not take place until the ballot counters get to work.

A final farewell is being said to Sarah Bernhardt this week but as Sarah is a free spender, we do not doubt she will soon be back to the base of supplies.

The average price of farm labor is said to be $25 a month and board. We have moments when that would look attractive if we felt sure they wouldn't give us any prunes to eat.

Chief Justice White is trying to reform the delays of the equity courts. The trouble is that in all other professions people get paid for doing things quickly, but in the law they get paid for doing things slowly.

Less is said about the 17 year locust than formerly, perhaps because now the farmers are scooting around in their automobiles, instead of leaning over the fence looking despondently at ruined crops.

The Providence Journal complains that the Democratic Congressmen have been wearing paper collars. Considering Washington climate, we are inclined to give them credit for wearing any collar at all.

Thirty Senate speeches are to be delivered on reciprocity. The poor stenographers will have to stick it out, but the senators are familiar with the location of the ball grounds which are aimed to meet just such exigencies as this.

THE HOTEL MEN.

Over 1000 hotel men from all over the country have been holding the annual convention the past week of their Mutual Benefit Association. Last year they met in Los Angeles by the shores of the sleepy Pacific; this year they hie them to Boston's grouchy east winds and golden baked beans.

The business success of any community is vitally dependent on its having some well kept hotels. So we have been watching with keen interest the reports of these meetings, to see what suggestions these assembled bonifaces might have to communicate on the art and science of inn keeping.

An assemblage of hotel men is however, always a display of the prowess of the chef of the house that entertains them. The newspaper men are stuffed to the teeth with toothsome dainties and hence they seem to overlook the inner significance of the gathering.

But we are not without faith to believe that in secret council these landlords have anxiously discussed the weighty responsibilities resting upon them. For it is a pretty serious blow to any town when its landlords fail to keep in touch with the refinements of modern inn keeping. Every traveller that visits the place judges the quality of the town by the entertainment offered at its public houses. We have known travellers to return from Venice, the very capital of ancient art and beauty and romance, thoroughly disgruntled with the place, because their hotel happened to give them tough cuts of meat and hard beds. Discomfort in such vitals of life throws its dull gloom over whatever business or pleasure may bring the traveller to the city.

Travelling men are keenly sensitive to graduations of hotel service. Their leisure hours are largely spent in cursing this man's doughy pies or lauding that man's willing servants. When they get down on a certain inn, their animosity goes out to the whole town that shelters such a place. They regard the decline of its hotels as symptomatic of general ebb tide in business life. They spread the news far and wide that the city is going down hill.

Our state has its share both of good and poor hotels. And every man who maintains a clean, homelike hostelry, with cooking like what mother used to make, renders as much of a public service as the board of trade that lands a new industry.

BIBLE STUDENTS ASSOCIATION.

The Bible Students Association, undenominational, holds divine services every Sunday in Colonial hall at 3 P. M. On June 11th Mr. T. E. Barker of Boston will lecture on the subject "God's Plan for Man's Future." It is estimated that 20,000,000,000 have been born in sin—lived in more or less depravity and imperfection and died with more o r less of pain, sorrow and hopelessness. The tomb the great prison house of death is well filled with almost enough to reasonably populate the earth. Mr. Barker will present scriptural proofs in the treatment of his subject and a cordial invitation to be present on this occasion is extended to all. Seats free. No collection.

ILLINOIS IN LINE.

Illinois has just followed the action taken by Massachusetts last year in refusing to allow the employment of children on the stage under the restrictions proposed by the theatre interests. Prominent workers for child(is Adams) career, when he prevented House opposed this legislation from the start. Representatives of the Chicago Juvenile Protective Association, The Mothers' Congress of Illinois the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs, the Illinois Federation of Labor, State and National Child Labor Committees opposed the bill.

On the other side the theatre interests were strongly represented. Prominent theatre people—actors, playwrights and managers came from New York. In opposition to the theatre interests was the strong statement of a leading American actress, Blanche Bates, appearing in the Dramatic Mirror of May 3d. Miss Bates said, "A child is more apt to be completely and irrevocably ruined by the artificiality of the stage than to elevated and ennobled."

The bill was decisively beaten in the Senate. Illinois has decided to remain in the list with Massachusetts, Louisiana and other states whose laws forbid the exploitation of young children on the stage.

CONFLICTING TALES CONCERNING WIFE

Told by Scheib to Witnesses Who Appear In Court

New York, June 10.—Several witnesses examined in police court said that Harry A. Scheib explained the absence of his wife last January by saying she had gone to her home in Springfield, Mass., for hospital treatment. About this time, according to the coroner's physician, she lay dead in the bathtub of the deserted flat where the body was found four months later. Scheib is charged with murdering her.

John H. Wyoth, Scheib's employer, said that a week before his recent arrest he said his wife had recovered.

May Blake said that last March Scheib had told her his wife was dead. Scheib told her, she said, that he had paid $400 to send the body to some town near Springfield. She could not remember the name.

STOKES WILL SOON RECOVER

May Be Able to Leave Hospital In Ten Days

WILL PROSECUTE TWO GIRLS

Millionaire Denies Their Statements, Claiming That He Was Lured to Their Apartments For Purpose of Blackmailing Him Out of $25,000—Three Versions of the Shooting Case Briefly Summed Up

New York, June 10.—W. E. D. Stokes, clubman, turfman and proprietor of the Hotel Ansonia, who was shot Wednesday evening by Lillian Graham and Ethel Conrad, was informed by the physicians at the Roosevelt hospital that he will soon be out again. The millionaire immediately declared that as soon as he was released from the hospital he would press the prosecution of the two girls. Nevertheless it is believed that the matter will be dropped after the ordinary routine of court procedure.

The only element of danger in the condition of Stokes is the possibility of blood poisoning. The physicians believe that if it does not develop, now the bullets have been extracted, he will be able to leave the hospital in ten days. He will be unable to appear against the girls when they are again arraigned on Monday.

The mystery surrounding the shooting is still as deep as ever. Miss Conrad now declares that Stokes had been pursuing her with unwelcome attentions. The turfman denies this, as he has denied every other statement made by the girls.

There are three versions of the case. They are:

1. That of Stokes—That he was lured to the Varuna apartments by Miss Conrad at the instrumentality of Miss Graham for the purpose of blackmailing him out of $25,000 for affectionate letters he had written to Miss Graham before his marriage.

2. That of Miss Conrad—That he went to the apartment in pursuit of her.

3. That of Miss Graham—That he went to the apartment to force her to surrender the letters which she intended to use as the basis of a breach of promise suit.

The case is still further clouded by the failure of the telephone record of the Varuna to show that any call went out from the house to Stokes at the Hotel Ansonia, which he owns.

Stokes charges that Miss Conrad telephoned to him a number of times on that day and that she finally prevailed upon him to come to the apartment upon the plea that she was starting for New Orleans to join her brother and that she was offering him a last chance to get back the letters which had been entrusted to her by Miss Graham, who, he says, Miss Conrad told him was gone to Europe.

KAISER IS PARTICULAR

Not Satisfied With President's Choice For Berlin Embassy

Washington, June 10.—One reason for the delay in announcing the appointment of an ambassador to Germany to succeed D. J. Hill is that the German emperor has suggested that he did not care to receive in Berlin the man whom President Taft had selected for that post.

It will be recalled that some time ago the president made up his mind regarding this appointment and that the German government was asked whether the selection would be acceptable. His identity is lost in half a dozen names mentioned for the position.

EXHIBITION

of the room were stencilled by members of the class. The charcoal drawings were especially good also and the classes in painting showed great proficiency.

The commercial department, Robert S. Schoonmaker, instructor, exhibited work in penmanship, book-keeping, stenography and so on. Some interesting contrasts were noted in the work at the beginning of the course and that turned out near the end. A number of sketches made altogether by means of the scroll motion were also very interesting. A hen and rooster drawn by Artemas Dingwell, an Indian done by Alice Drumgold and a maltese cross by Ethel Hatfield were among the best productions.

In the mechanical drawing room which was in charge of Arthur Ray, the instructor, some very fine specimens of work were exhibited. The development of accuracy and knowledge were brought out by means of the specimens of work at the different stages in the course. After the elementary principles are learned the pupils begin to work in conjunction with the manual training department making working drawings for them to follow in constructing the footstools, book racks, sewing tables, desks etc. Instruction is also given in tracing and several fine pieces of work were exhibited, those by Philip Halvosa being especially good.

In this room also were models of airships made by the builders of the glider and by a number of other boys. These were very cleverly constructed and commanded a great deal of attention.

The exhibition was an education in itself and parents, friends and even some of the pupils expressed great surprise at the quality of work done by the pupils in the different departments. Great credit is due the heads of departments as well as to Mr. Howlett, head master of the school for the splendid progress made during the past year.

He let a piece fall on his waist and said "What a careless boy am I,
But I needn't worry about this stain,
Fels-Naptha'll make it all clean again."

Did you ever think of the difference between washing and cleaning?

You can wash with any kind of soap in any kind of water, hot or cold.

You can boil clothes and rub them on a washboard until your back aches.

All that is washing.

But it isn't always cleaning.

Most soaps are just washing soaps.

Fels-Naptha is a cleaning soap.

It works all by itself in cool or lukewarm water, saving all the trouble and discomfort of boiling and hot suds.

Fels-Naptha Soap cleans your clothes.

It really reaches the dirt and dissolves it.

It does this while the soaped clothes are soaking in cool or lukewarm water, while you are thinking of something else or resting.

When Fels-Naptha Soap gets through with them—thirty minutes or so is long enough—you rub lightly, rinse the clothes and they're cleaner, sweeter and whiter than you could get them by washing all day in the old-fashioned manner.

You'll find directions for using Fels-Naptha printed on the back of the red and green wrapper.

Mr. Richards on invitation of the G. A. R. gave a description of his visit to the battlefields of the South, in G. A. R. hall on Decoration day.

—It is noted that 10 per cent of all Vassar undergraduates are Massachusetts girls. That is a surprisingly large percentage for this state, with five colleges for women within its own borders. Careful investigation would probably show that it has a higher percentage of liberally educated women than any other state.—Bos-Record.

IN MUSICAL COMEDY

Report That Mrs. Frank Gould Will Again Become a Star

London, June 10.—Frank J. Gould's desire to acquire control of the Gaiety theatre is explained by the statement of some of his friends that Mrs. Gould, formerly Edith Kelly, wishes to star again in musical comedy.

Before leaving for Paris Gould said he desired only to be represented on the board of directors. "I am friendly with Mr. Edwards and have the greatest respect for his genius," he said.

DIRECT PRIMARY TO BE GIVEN TEST

Passed to Enactment In the Massachusetts Senate

Boston, June 10.—The direct nominations bill passed the senate to engrossment without opposition. This means practically that the bill is sure of becoming a law and that next fall's elections will be under it.

The bill provides the direct nomination of the state ticket, the members of the legislature, county officers, congressmen and councillors, for the direct election of state and district committeemen and delegates to the state convention.

The state convention under the new law will have nothing to do but draft a platform of the party principles. The bill now goes back to the house for concurrence in the amendment. The governor favored the measure in his inaugural address.

DEATH LIST OF FIVE THOUSAND

Indicated by Late Reports of Earthquake In Mexico

WHOLE VILLAGES WIPED OUT

Streams of Blazing Lava Pouring From Mount Colima and Mount Bacalar—Latter Was Supposed to Be Extinct—Few Who Lived Within Zone of Colima's Wrath Escaped Death—Agents of Red Cross Doing All They Can to Alleviate Suffering

Mexico City, June 10.—The great volcanic disaster has terrorized the greater part of Mexico. News of the eruptions of Mount Colima and Mount Bacalar, coming in yesterday afternoon, confirmed the estimate of about 5000 dead as the result of the seismic disturbance first manifested in the earthquake shocks that shook the capital.

The full force of the horror is just beginning to be realized as the reports come in from the stricken districts outside of Mexico City.

Mount Bacalar, in the interior of Yucatan, has erupted, pouring forth great streams of molten lava. Many Indian villages were swept from the earth and all of their inhabitants killed. Those who tried to escape perished in a forest fire that caught from the volcano and burned unchecked over thousands of acres.

An estimate of the dead as the result of the earthquake of Wednesday and the attendant eruptions of the volcanoes is placed at 5000, but as further facts reach this city it is believed that the death list will amount to a greater figure.

The new government which has undertaken to cope with the situation is appalled as the news trickles in from every direction, much of it brought in by courier, telling the havoc wrought by the earthquake's shock and the molten lava that poured from at least two volcanoes that have suddenly become active.

The volcanoes that are belching forth great streams of blazing lava are the the Mount Colima and the Mount Bacalar. For a distance of fifty miles or more the earth is strewn with the wreckage and dead bodies resulting from the eruption of Mount Colima.

It has become known that the activity of Mount Bacalar was almost as fatal as that of Mount Colima.

It was generally believed that Mount Bacalar was an extinct volcano, but the news reached here that it had suddenly opened a great fissure from its side and spouted forth flames and ashes that fell with horrifying and deadly effect upon the numerous Indian villages for many miles around.

The eruption and earthquake were attended by a gigantic tidal wave on the shore of the bay of Campeche which was terribly destructive of life and property.

The facts go to show that on the western coast of Mexico a tragedy has been enacted which is only second to that of historic Vesuvius.

The thousands of residents who live within the shadow of Mount Colima had begun to believe that they were safe from the fire that slumbered beneath the crust of the mountain. There was but a faint rumbling to presage the awful visitation of Wednesday. This was not sufficient to warn the inhabitants of their danger. They were overtaken by the fiery rivers of lava as they ran in their terror for safety.

The volcano first poured out a blinding, suffocating cloud of ashes that fell upon the villages and smothered the vegetation of the fertile valley. Then came the leaping, hissing streams of lava that completed the work of destruction.

Of hundreds and hundreds of villagers who lived in the zone of the volcano's wrath, but few escaped to relate the tragic story of their peril.

The natural agents of devastation are even continuing their work today.

Landslides cut off all railroad traffic between the city and Colima and Manzanillo. This will hamper the work of relief, but the Red Cross is active wherever it has ever been able to penetrate.

President De La Barra and Francisco Madero are putting forth superhuman efforts to cope with the unprecedented disaster.

Trains carrying supplies and nurses to care for the wounded have been dispatched to the Mount Colima district. Agents of the Red Cross are on the scene and doing everything that human being can to relieve the suffering.

Unexpected Guests
The farmer and his wife were about to sit down to a cold supper when they saw some old friends driving towards the house.
The good wife was equal to the occasion—thanks to her New Perfection Oil Cook-stove.

She never could have managed it with an old-fashioned range. The New Perfection is the quickest, most convenient and best cooker on the market.

Red Eyelids---
A Result of Eyestrain
Red, irritated or swollen eyelids are usually caused by some form of eyestrain.
Astigmatism of the eyes is the most frequent cause.
Persons having astigmatism can usually see well—do not realize that there is any imperfection in the eye. (The strain is there constantly!)
Our system of examination of the eyes demonstrates clearly as to whether you have eyestrain, and our scientifically fitted glasses will correct it!

WEAK KIDNEYS MAKE WEAK BODIES

Kidney Diseases Cause Half the Common Aches and Ills of Quincy People.

As one weak link weakens a chain, so weak kidneys weaken the whole body and hasten the final breaking down.

Overwork, strains, colds and other causes injure the kidneys, and when their activity is lessened the whole body suffers from the excess of uric poison circulated in the blood.

Aches and pains and languor and urinary ills come, and there is an ever-increasing tendency towards diabetes and fatal Bright's disease. There is no real help for the sufferer except kidney help.

Doan's Kidney Pills act directly on the kidneys and cure every kidney ill Quincy cures are the proof.

Mrs. J. Boyle, 8 Marsh St., Quincy, Mass., says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills and can say they are unequaled for curing kidney disorders. They built up my system and in six weeks, freed me from kidney complaint from which I had suffered for a long time."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster—Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

A BOSTON GIRL'S BUDGET.

Hub's Glorified Solomons More Resplendent than Usual in Annual Parade—They Are attended by New York's Old Guard that Never Surrenders—Work Begins on Boston's Aquarium and Zoo—Even Youngsters' Artistic Efforts Get Critical Appreciation—Suffragists Are Encouraged by Tidings from over the Water.

Not Solomon in all his glory was ever arrayed like one of these. Nor would he and his attendants have drawn more stenographers to the office window. Grey old Boston has for more than two centuries had a liking for scarlet coats and gold braid, but has never been more enlivened than by this year's annual drum head election on the Common, parade, banquet and other attendant festivities of Boston's Ancient and Honorable Artillery Corps. Representatives of the Old Guard of New York, that dies but never surrenders before the most formidable array of bottles, and of the Veteran Corps Artillery, long habituated to the diapason of the Hotel Astor cannonade, paraded faultlessly through streets whose zigzag precisely corrected the effects of their own. It was a glorious survival of the spirit of olden times, but one in which Governor Foss, with an eye on the prohibition vote, somewhat departed from antique traditions. Though he may have acquired a kink in his elbow from continued acknowledgments of public salutations, there were no evidences in his bearing of his having crooked it.

After the artists, the art students. "About this time of year" in Boston look for exhibitions of the work of future Raphaels and Rembrandts who have been learning to draw and paint in the art schools or in private classes. Boston has almost as big a colony of art students as of prospective musicians, and the annual exhibitions of the school of the Museum of Fine Arts and the Massachusetts Normal Art School are events that interest hundreds of New England homes. The youngsters, too, have their art shows—such as one of paintings and drawings by school children in progress the first two weeks of this month at the Carig-Rohan shop, Copley Hall, the work of classes taught by Mrs. Hermann Dudley Murphy and Miss Edith King. That these contributions of juvenile artists to the gayety of the art season are not unworthy of critical notice is shown in an appreciation by a very well known art critic who says in part: "An agreeable half-hour may be well spent at this unique exhibition. We note the card of a well-known professional painter scribbled over with the compliment: 'A remarkably interesting exhibition,' and we do not experience the slightest surprise that he should find it congenial, for his faults as an artist and his merits are singlarly like those of the youngsters. There is something divinely inimitable and fresh in their naivete: Matisse cannot equal it. Here are delicious pictures in watercolors of picnic parties and similarly Watteau-like motives, sometimes 'from life' and oftener done 'out of my own head.' The color is in some instances fine, and it is put on the paper with fine candor and brightness and purity. Judging from the internal evidence, we should say that the little artists were left very largely to their own devices while at their work, though the subjects may have been suggested to them."

"Obstacles become pedestals to the man determined to overcome them," is the motto on one of a number of "Votes for Women" documents which a Boston suffragist has received from England. Truly the obstacles on that side are being surmounted from every direction. Here are leaflets of the Church League for Women's Suffrage, of which the Bishop of Lincoln is president and having for its objects (1) to secure for women the Parliamentary vote as it is or may be granted to men; (2) to use the power thus obtained to establish equality of rights and opportunities between the sexes; (3) to promote the moral, social and industrial well-being of the community. This Church League has a suffrage litany which indicates the religious feeling that many of the British suffragists are putting into their work. The Men's Political Union for Women's Enfranchisement is another powerful agency at work in England. From the Women's Social and Political Union comes the menu of a great banquet in honor of the Lord Mayor of Dublin and the Lady Mayoress on the occasion of their visit to London in connection with the presentation of the petition of the Corporation of Dublin in support of the Woman Suffrage bill at the bar of the House of Commons. An evidence of the interest in the agitation appears in the extensive advertising that is given to Jerome K. Jerome's new play which is on the subject of "Votes for Women" and which is called 'The Master of Mrs. Chilvers." The English antis, represented by the National League for Opposing Woman Suffrage is evidently hard put to it, for in palpable imitation of a very popular suffrage play, they are presenting a one-act piece entitled 'When the Vote Was Won."

Wild animals and "ocean butterflies," the resplendent fish of the tropics are soon to be added to the carfare tempting attractions of the Hub. The Boston Elevated Railway Company will forthwith need to insert two important items in its comprehensive and informational booklet about the places to visit in greater Boston. Contracts have just been let and ground is being broken for the new zoo at Franklin Park and the aquarium at Marine Park, South Boston. Both these urban parks are already very beautiful, interesting and well worth the stranger's inspection, especially if he happens in Boston in summer time to have a spare hour or a day or a week for going about. At the park in Roxbury, easily accessible by any one of several car lines through Dudley Street station or by way of Roxbury, he finds the shaded drives, walks, vistas and recreation grounds appropriate to what was originally intended to be a "country park," and perhaps gets the incentive to walk over a short parkway to the delightful Arnold Arboretum, the living tree museum, Harvard University. As for City Point, South Boston, hundreds of thousands of New England people know it as the finest cooling off place within Boston's five cent fare limit—a charming seaside park, between Boston harbor, picturesque with the argosies of commerce and Dorchester Bay, alive with the yachts and motor boats of a pleasure loving population. Soon wonders of science will enhance the allure of the playgrounds of all the people. At Franklin Park the park commission has just begun work on the world's largest flying cage—so capacious as to enclose four tall elm trees in which the birds may nest, and four large enclosures for bear. As further funds become available out of the income of the Parkman bequest other sections of the park commission's plan will be completed, one by one, until Boston at last has a zoo worthy of a metropolitan city. The aquarium in the same way will be gradually brought to completeness when, with a large building and adjacent aquarial gardens it will be one of the favorite resorts of New England.

PARESIS KILLS CARRIE NATION

Dies In Sanitarium Which She Entered In January

WAS KNOWN THE WORLD OVER

First Husband Was Drinking Man and She Became Militant Enemy of Saloons—Appeared Unheralded In Kansas Towns and Smashed Barrooms—State Prohibitory Law Strengthened by Her Actions

Leavenworth, Kan., June 10.—Carrie Nation, the Kansas saloon smasher, died here last night. Paresis was the cause of death. For several months Mrs. Nation had suffered from nervous disorders, and on Jan. 22 she entered the sanitarium in which she died.

Carrie Moore was born in Kentucky in 1846. In early life she married a man addicted to intoxicants. This created in her an intense aversion to saloons. When he died she determined to devote her life to the suppression of barrooms. Later she removed to Kansas and married David Nation, who sympathized with her prohibitionist principles. After considerable peaceful labor to stop drinking of alcoholic beverages, she decided to become militant.

Mrs. Nation's first saloon smashing was done in the barroom of the Carry hotel at Wichita, on Dec. 27, 1900. She remained in jail several days as a result. On Jan. 21, 1901, armed with her favorite weapon, a hatchet, she made another attack in Wichita. This time she smashed two saloons.

In the next three months Mrs. Nation surprised liquor sellers in various Kansas towns, appearing unheralded, and leaving a trail of ruined barroom fixtures wherever she went. Few saloonists used violence in ejecting her, although she was assaulted and hurt while wrecking a place at Enterprise, Kan.

Aroused by the acts of the woman the people of Kansas began to demand that all saloons be closed. Smashing parties were organized all over the state, as a result of agitation, bills were passed by the legislature strengthening the prohibitory law.

After her activities in Kansas, Mrs. Nation became a lecturer and the editor of a paper called the Smasher's Mail. She did little smashing outside of Kansas. While lecturing in New York city, she created excitement by appearing at a horse show in Madison Square Garden and demanding that the occupants of the Vanderbilt box contribute money for a home for drunkards' wives, founded by her in Kansas City, Kan.

Mrs. Nation made herself conspicuous in many cities by entering saloons and resorts and delivering talks on the evils of drinking.

SUGAR HEARING NEXT WEEK

Head of Mormon Church Will Be Called Upon to Testify

Washington, June 10.—The house special committee to investigate the American Sugar Refining company has decided to summon Joseph Smith, president of the Mormon church, to testify as to the dealings of the so-called sugar trust with the beet sugar interests controlled by the church.

Subpoenas will be issued for leading beet sugar men in the west. Chairman Hardwick of the committee says that the committee will begin its public hearings Monday.

MORMONS IN BAY STATE

Hundred Missionaries Will Seek Converts to Their Faith

Boston, June 10.—One hundred Mormon missionaries, armed with tracts and pamphlets, have invaded Massachusetts to make converts, according to J. F. Smith, who, as second counsel to Joseph Smith, head of the Mormon church, is one of the three members of the hierarchial body controlling the church.

The missionaries, Smith said, would appeal merely to the intellect of the public. He denied that plurality of wives would be held out as an inducement to men to bring about their conversion. He also denied that agents of the Mormon church were in Boston for the purpose of inducing immigrant girls to settle in Utah for the purpose of becoming the wives of Mormons there.

ACTING WITHIN HER RIGHTS

Spain Finds It Necessary to Restore Order In Morocco

Madrid, June 10.—Premier Canalejas informed the chamber of deputies that Spain's projected military operations at El-Araish, Morocco, were not inconsistent with the treaty of Algeciras or any other agreement. It was necessary, he said, for Spain to restore and preserve order in that part of Morocco.

It is understood that the government plans the occupation of Tetuan, Morocco, also, because Spanish subjects have been killed or maltreated by rebellious tribesmen. In both the Tetuan and El-Araish regions Spanish interests are endangered.

The French government is endeavoring to dissuade Spain from these military movements.

MAE LABELLE DIES OF BULLET WOUNDS

Charge of Murder Will Be Preferred Against Dosworth

Burlington, Vt., June 10.—Nine bullet wounds, inflicted at Essex Junction on Wednesday night, resulted in the death yeasterday afternoon of Miss Mae Labelle. Arthur Dosworth, who was employed at the same hotel as Miss Labelle, has been held by the police since the shooting, and a charge of murder will be preferred against him.

The police allege that Dosworth had said, previous to the shooting of Miss Labelle, that the young woman, by her complaints to the hotel management, had made Dosworth's life miserable. It is also alleged that Dosworth has said, since his arrest, that the revolver with which Miss Labelle was shot was purchased by himself some time ago, to be used if certain persons continued to persecute him.

TROUBLE ALREADY BEGUN

Seamen May Call World-Wide Strike at End of This Month

London, June 10.—It is announced that the International Seamen's union will call a world-wide strike on June 29, just one week after the coronation of King George and while the bulk of foreign visitors are still on British soil.

Reports from Southampton say that shipping troubles are spreading. Coal heavers have struck and sailors and fireroom attendants on liners engaged for the New York trip have threatened to quit if non-union men are employed.

AMERICA KEEPS POLO CUP

Game With Britishers In Doubt Up to the Last Moment

New York, June 10.—In the final match for the international polo cup at Meadowbrook the dash, aggressiveness and brilliant individual playing of the American team was responsible for a glorious victory over the steady going quality of the British army officers by the very narrow margin of 4½ goals to 3½.

It was the greatest game of polo ever played in this country and the closeness of the battle kept the vast crowd in a frenzy of excitement. The result was in doubt until the final whistle sounded.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

SIXTY FIRST ANNIVERSARY

It is a very rare thing that a couple live to celebrate their 61st marriage anniversary but that is what Mr. and Mrs. Napoleon B. Furnald did yesterday for it was on June 9, 1850 that they were joined in wedlock by Rev. S. A. Davis of the Universalist church.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Furnald have now reached a ripe old age Mr. Furnald having been born Aug. 24, 1828 and Mrs. Furnald May 20, 1832 and Mr. Furnald is the last of a family of twelve children.

Mr. and Mrs. Furnald are now both quite smart although they had not been remarkably well doing the winter months. For this reason the observance of their anniversary was entirely informal.

All day long until late in the evening they had a constant stream of callers who came to extend their congratulations. Others who could not come sent letters of congratulations. Aside from this they were the recepients of many remembrances from friends.

GERTRUDE A. BOYD AUXILIARY

At the regular meeting of Gertrude A. Boyd Auxiliary held Friday evening in G. A. R. hall about 75 were in attendance. Special guests were members of John A. Boyd Camp, S. W. V. A pleasant and interesting evening was enjoyed, the entertainment consisting of piano solo by Mrs. Lucy Morton; remarks Commander W. F. Carman of the S. W. V.; solo Mrs. E. E. Nason; reading Mrs. E. E. Marnock, President of Paul J. Revere, W. R. C.; remarks Past Commander George Wardell; solo Mrs. Belle Morton; reading Mrs. Sarah C. Williams; closing with remarks by Commander McKinnon and Past Commander Colligan.

Paul R. Blackmur who was appointed by President Stone of the Board of Trade as one of the committee to consider the cost of land damages that would be incurred by the proposed widening of Washington street between Temple and Chubbuck street has declined to serve as a member of that committee.

Mr. Blackmur is counsel for the Old Colony Street Railway Co., and feels on that account he should not serve although interested in the proposed widening from the standpoint of a citizen.

Editors of the Quincy Daily Ledger,
Quincy, Mass.

Dear Sirs:—I observed in last night's issue of your paper that the President of the Board of Trade did me the honor to appoint me on the Committee for the Washington Street widening.

Though interested as a citizen in the widening of Washington street, I feel that my relations with the Old Colony Street Railway Co., are such that it would not be advisable for me to act in such a capacity and I have therefore declined the appointment.

Yours very truly,
Paul R. Blackmur.

JOY RIDING AT SQUANTUM

Magneto Fails but Aviators Land Safely

Harry Atwood and Charlie Hamilton made a number of flights Friday in the latters Curtis-Wright biplane Moth which included joy rides around Quincy and Dorchester bay. They had one little accident late in the afternoon while over Quincy bay. They were up about 300 feet and 150 feet from shore when the magneto gave out and the motor stopped. Atwood immediately turned the machine diagonally toward the shore and glided onto the beach where he landed gracefully.

Getting a new magneto he put it in place and the aviators resumed their joy riding about the bay.

When the spectators along the shore saw the biplane descending after the magneto gave out, they thought the machine had fallen and they ran toward the machine ready to render assistance to the aviators. They were assured however that everything was all right.

The last flight of the day was made at 7.15 when pupils of the school were taken up.

This afternoon the two aviators will fly from Squantum to the lawn party which is to be held on the grounds of Mayor Fitzgerald and the Mayor will go joy riding with them during the afternoon.

RAND CLASS BALL TEAM.

The young men of the Rand class of the Wollaston Baptist church have organized a baseball team and hope to make a creditable showing among local amateur and church organizations during the summer months.

Harold Thomas has been elected captain and will make a fine leader. Mr. Thomas formerly played first base for and captained the Arcadia University base ball team. Because of his ability and experience he is e xpected to develop a fast team.

Captain Thomas will give his charges their first real tryout this afternoon when they line up against the general office team from Fore River on the Ward Two playgrounds.

MILTON

Owing to too much publicity the base ball games of the girls of the High school have been discontinued.

Next week is commencement week at Milton academy. Exercises in the lower school will be on Tuesday, in the girls' school on Wednesday and the boys' school Saturday.

The tax assessors expect to announce the tax rate early in July.

In order to improve the appearance of East Milton square, especially in the vicinity of the new Kidder fountain, the poles and overhead wires in that locality are to be removed. The Boston Edison company is agreeable to the plan and has petitioned the Selectmen fo r the right to construct and maintain a conduit for its wires in Adams street, easterly from Granite avenue, about 120 feet. The Selectmen will give a hearing on the petition Friday evening.

QUINCY HIGH 7 BRIGHTON 1

Slow Game With Occasional Brilliant Play

Quincy High defeated Brighton high in a well played game at Merrymount park Friday afternoon by a score of 7 to 1. The game was slow but occasional brilliant p lays enlivened it a little and Manning's hitting was one of the features. In the first inning with no one on base Finnegan centre fielder for Brighton hit a long one to right field which was good for a home run, giving the Brighton team its only tally. Manning opened the batting for Quincy first time up and got a hit every time he came to bat after that. Two of his hits were two baggers. Hill got two hits, one of them a two bagger and Blackmur got a single. The fielding of the home team was good, with only one error registered against them. Pfaffmann contributed the best play for Quincy catching a long fly after running a good fifty yards.

For the visitors, Carroll made the star play, stopping a hot grounder over second base with his bare hand and getting his man at first. The Brighton team worked a triple play in the fifth inning. With men on first and second Pfaffmann hit a liner between shortstop and third base. The shortstop caught it put it to second and the second baseman relayed it to first, catching both men some distance off the bag. "Pete" Chapman was in the box for Quincy and pitched a good game striking out nine men and allowing but six hits. He had a good line of curves and showed good control.

Rev. Ellery Channing Butler Pays Tribute to City Clerk Keith

Nearly Every Member of City Government Attends Services

The funeral of Quincy's most popular City Clerk, Harrison A. Keith w as held Saturday afternoon from the First church. It was a notable service and was attended by people from all walks of life, including as it did practically all of the present city officials, as well as officials of other years, members of the present and past city government school committee, library t rustees and those who in their younger days had been numbered among his pupils at the High school.

It was a short but impressive service and there was many an eye that was dimmed with tears as Rev. Ellery Channing Butler spoke a few words of eulogy, and they realized that their eyes would never rest again upon the features of him whom they knew and loved so well, and to whom they were indebted for so many kindnesses.

The city officials assembled at City Hall and a few minutes before the hour of service marched to the church. in the party were ex-Mayors Henry O. Fairbanks, Charles F. Adams 2d, Russell A. Sears and Charles M. Bryant who acted as bearers, while behind them came Mayor Shea, City Treasurer Curtis, Assessors Duggan and Mitchell, City Solicitor McAnarney, Commissioner Bainbridge, Tax Collector O'Hara, Overseer of Poor Elcock, Inspector of Buildings Parker, Chief of Police Burrell, City Engineer Sargent, City Physician, Henry C. The lady clerks employed at City Hall also came in a body and occupied seats in the rear of the church as did the clerks at the library.

During the services the Temple quartette sang "Eternal Goodness" "Nearer My God to Thee" and "My Heavenly Home."

JUNE FESTIVAL AT WOLLASTON

Grounds Brilliantly Illuminated in Evening

The fourth annual June Festival of the Wollaston Unitarians was held Saturday afternoon and evening on grounds bounded by Safford street, Elmwood and North Central avenues.

In the evening over a thousand electric lights transformed the grounds of Charles T. Baker, the Misses Foster and Rufus F. Leach into a most brilliant illumination.

The chief attraction was the midway under the direction of the young men of the parish and which resembled a slice of Revere or other popular beach.

In charge of the "Wheel of Fortune" was John E. Simmons while David T. Whiton presided over the "Tivoli Board."

"Ringing the canes" were indulged in under the direction of Arvin Page and Raymond Hall while at the "Japanese Rolling Game" were George E. Brown, Selden George, Axel Nelson and Winslow Weston.

The "shooting gallery" was looked after by Percy Hull and Clifton H. Baker while "Lou's Babies" were looked after by Louis B. Weston and G. Ernest Carr.

During the afternoon a childrens playground was in full operation under the direction of the Misses Gertrude and Ninon Lacey.

Exhilarating rides were enjoyed in the automobiles of Dr. Charles S. Adams, Eugene H. Sprague, Samuel Couch, Rufus W. Poole, James B. Geddes, Albert W. Fay and Dr. Chas. L. Monroe.

Ice cream was in charge of Mrs. Jesse I. Litchfield, Mrs. Ralph W. Oldham, Mrs. G. Ernest Carr and Mrs. Herbert Childs. Miss Iva Briggs headed the committee in charge of the candy table.

An event which caused much interest and attracted no little attention was the wager between Dr. Monroe and Charles H. Brooks to the effect that the latter would not wheel three popular young matrons of Wollaston over the town in a wheelbarrow.

Nothing daunted Wollaston's druggist transported the three ladies mentioned one at a time over a long distance accompanied by a cowbell and the cheers of the spectators.

The route covered Taylor, Brook, Safford, Beale, Newoprt avenue, Brook and Safford streets and the result added a tidy sum to the coffers of the festival.

The June Festival was in charge of the parish committee consisting of Charles S. Adams, William H. Boynton, Walter J. Wellington, Edward J. Cummings, David T. Whiton, William M. Chase, Charles E. Monroe and John E. Simmons.

Much credit is due the decorating committee, composed of young men headed by John E. Simmons, for the splendid effects accomplished.

Mrs. Charles S. Adams, Mrs. John Morgan, Mrs. Charles T. Baker and Mrs. White were in charge of the snips and toys for children.

An appetizing supper was served by a committee headed by Mrs. W. R. Atwood among whom were Mrs. Fred C. Merrill, Mrs. Frank A. Page, Miss Alimra E. Simmons, Mrs. Samuel Chapman, Mrs. C. A. Jameson, Mrs. W. M. Chase, Mrs. G. B. Damon, Mrs. Harrison Loud, Mrs. E. Tyler Brigham, Mrs. Winthrop Southworth.

The lemonade committee consisted of Mrs. Edward J. Cummings chairman, Judith Page, Gretchen Horst, Helen Thompson, Dorothy Stevens, Dorothy Sprague, Mildred Gardner, Marion Gardner, Barbara Johnson, Gladys Glover, Lorna Weston, Helen DeNormandie, Margaret Park, Ruth Sanborn, Priscilla White, Elizabeth and Emma Couch.

Owing to the downpour of rain which somewhat dampened the ardor and the garments ofthose present the festival was adjourned to Tuesday evening when it will again blaze forth in all its glory.

HOME TRADE WILL HELP QUINCY AND EVERY ONE IN QUINCY.

EX-COUNCILMAN FOR CITY CLERK

Charles J. McGilvray to Succeed Mr. Keith

The vacancy in the office of City clerk occasioned by the death of Harrison A. Keith has been filled by Mayor Shea who this morning appointed ex-Councilman Charles J. McGilvray as city clerk for the remainder of the year . The importance of the office of City Clerk made it necessary to fill the vacancy as soon as possible. Mr. McGilvray assumed office this morning.

Mr. McGilvray the new City Clerk is a Quincy boy having been born in this city Nov. 26, 1883, and he has always made Quincy his home.

Attending the public schools of the city he obtained his early education graduating from the Willard school. He then entered the High school graduating with the class of 1901, being the class orator.

He then entered the law office of David A. Ellis of Boston and begun the study of law at the evening school of the Boston Young Men's Christian Association.. He was a close student practically completing the four years' course in two years. He passed the bar examination the following June and was admitted to practice. He opened an office in the Board of Trade building in Boston where he has since followed his profession.

He was elected to the City Council in the fall of 1905 from Ward Four and represented that ward three years during which time he served on the standing committees of Finance, Public Buildings and Grounds, Fire department and Police and Legislative Matters.

In politics he is a Democrat and has served as the chairman of the Democratic Ward and City Committee.

He is a member of the Knights of Columbus having received his degrees in Quincy Council. He was one of the active members in the formation of Ave Maria council which was instituted at West Quincy early this year and is now serving as Grand Knight of that Council.

He is also a member of Quincy lodge of Elks and of St. Mary's Total Abstinence society.

There are few more popular young men in West Quincy than is the new City Clerk and while it is realized that it will be hard to find a man to fill Mr. Keith's position his friends feel confident that the Mayor has made no mistake in naming him as City Clerk.

School Teacher—What lesson do we learn from the busy bee?

Tommy Tuffnut—Not to be stung.

CHILDREN'S FESTIVAL

Cat Show Auto Rides, Games and other Features

The children's festival under the auspices of the Educational Committee of the Quincy Women's club which took the place of the usual May festival held at Music hall, but which was this year omitted on account of illness among the children, was held Saturday afternoon on the grounds of the Adams Academy. The object was to raise funds to carry on the work of the summer school and a goodly sum was netted.

There was a very large attendance of young people and they had a grand good time. There were but two tables. One of these was for the sale of ice cream and was of course well patronized and the other was the candy table which was also well patronized. These tables were in charge of the young women's club.

For entertainment there was something doing from 2 until 5 o'clock. Washington A. Coles, the noted blind entertainer, was present and delighted the children. Then there were numerous games which were in charge of Miss Ruth Bass and Delcevare King. Miss Constance Fryer also delighted the young people with her fancy dancing. Then there was a hurdy gurdy provided by Miss Elizabeth Johnson.

One of the pleasing features of the afternoon was a cat show. Many brought their pets and some of them were very handsome. The prettiest were adorned with colars and other trinkets which were given as prizes. The cat show was in charge of Miss Dorothy Kitson who furnished the prizes.

Then there were automobile rides for the children and the ladies in charge desire to thank Mr. Nathan Ames, Dr. Anderson, Dr. Abele and Mr. King for bringing their automobles to the grounds and devoting a large part of the afternoon to giving rides to the litle ones. It was an exhibition of the spirit of helpfulness by busy men of affairs. Mr. Sears' little daughter brought her pony cart and placed it at the disposal of the Committee. Guy Shaw brought his and made himself generally useful; as did Johnnie Kitson who may always be depended upon to lend a hand. Mrs. King was there with her private carriage and took cargoes of precious human freight away for a ride and back again. Bruce Saville gave valuable assistance.

Mrs. John D. Mackay had charge of the festival this year and deserves great credit for the success of the festival.

For the coming year Mrs. Charles R. Safford is the chairman of the Educational committee and intends that there shall be no retrogression in the work of the summer school.

INVITED TO BRING WIFE

Mayor Finds time a Little Short to Get one

Mayor Shea is attending the annual meeting and outing of the Massachusetts Mayor's club at Holyoke today. Saturday Mayor Shea received a letter from Mayor White of Holyoke saying that rooms had been reserved for Mayor and Mrs. Shea.

Although numbered among the eligibles of the city Bill has not yet reached the point where he would have to promise to provide the necessary new hats, hobble skirts etc. that go with a wife let alone the wherewithall to furnish foods, so that he made the journey to Holyoke without a Mrs. Shea.

He of course desired very much to ful the program, as laid out for him by Mayor White, but thought the time a little short, as he might experience some difficulty in getting a girl to say "Yes Bill I will be yours for better or worse."

SURPRISE PARTY.

Mr. William Dunbar of Gilbert street was pleasantly surprised Saturday evening by a large number of his many friends. After being made welcome the guests proceeded to enjoy themselves. There was vocal and instrumental music, games, dancing and refreshments all of which made the hours slip off all too quickly. While the festivities were at their zenith Mr. Dunbar was presented with a handsome accordian, the presentation speech being made by John Harland.

HONESTY IN EVERYTHING

The Supreme Court adjourned until fall, with only one third of its cases disposed of. We know what would happen if the Printer's Devil did that.

The troops are being withdrawn from Texas, feeling much like city sportsmen when the game wardens warn them that it is a closed season.

As our last warship has been taken out of the Great Lakes, our Canadian friends can now give their flint lock muskets to the historical museums.

Mr. Taft says he will spend the month of August at Beverly, but whom does he propose to leave behind to spank Congress?

The Stand-patters of the Senate are peering around them in bewilderment, as unable to adjust themselves to a new day as Rip Van Winkle after his 20 years sleep.

Col. Roosevelt told the Vermont farmers W ednesday that the country districts are lagging behind. True Probably not a single bobble skirt in his audience.

They are trying to get Roosevelt to indorse Taft, arguing that having picked out a tenant for the White House, he should not try to take his place while the garden vegetables are only half grown.

63 killed in the Mexican earthquake. There would have been many more if the skyscraper habit had caught on. But unlike us, these half civilized neighbors don't try to build their nests in the thunder clouds.

Quincy has long been famous for its granite and as the birthplace of two presidents, but is getting new honors as the birthplace of triplets, there having been two sets of triplets born within about six months.

An exchange says "Every town has its advantages and should make the most of them. Every town is fitted for some one enterprise more than another, and as soon as it discovers what that is it should take hold of the matter and push it for all there is in it. One man cannot make a town. The newspaper cannot do it. But one man on a newspaper with the club of the wideawake men of the place, all pulling toegther, can make a wide difference in the place. Every man who succeeds in a town is a help to it. The more money he makes, if he spends it, the better for the community. The larger business he builds up, the more he advertises, the more attention is called to the town. A man cannot build up an honorable business in a town without helping the county. The interest of one is the interest of all. The rivalry that sometimes exists between towns in the same county is short-sighted policy.

RUTLAND AND IRIS WINNERS

Close Finishes in Saturday's Yacht Club Race

Two classes participated in the race of the Quincy Yacht club Saturday. The start of the race was somewhat delayed as the club house was closed during the hour of the funeral of ex-Commodore Harrison A. Keith.

The breeze was light from the easterly at the start but freshened somewhat as the race progressed and the yachts finished in a moderate gale.

There were five starters in Class B and it was a close race between the Rutland and Anemone. But ten seconds separated the boats at the finish and corrected time brought it down to one second.

In class D the Iris continued her winning streak. She had for her rival the Dolly III the boat that accompanied the Iris to Narraganset Bay last August.

It was a pretty race between these two boats. The Iris won the race by 42 seconds actual time and 9 seconds corrected time. The summary:

WHY NOT A WOMAN?

Editor Daily Ledger

I see by your paper that the Mayor has appointed Miss Ross (the assistant clerk) Clerk pro tem. Now I would like to ask why not make her clerk permanently, she being fitted to fill the office? Quincy would thus be on the map with one of these [illegible] before it.

STOKES GAVE MONEY TO GIRL

Miss Graham Received $200 After Making a Demand

ADMISSION BY HIS COUNSEL

McManus Says Payment Was Made "Out of Sympathy" and Does Not Deny That Chorus Girl Had Previously Received Substantial Sums From Millionaire—Friends Ready to Furnish Any Amount of Bail

New York, June 12.—Counsel for W. E. D. Stokes when his two young chorus girl assailants are arraigned in court will demand, if they are released pending the appearance of Stokes in court, that they furnish $25,000 bail.

It is now admitted by Stokes, who was shot by Lillian Graham and Ethel Conrad in their apartment at the Varuna, that he gave Miss Graham $200 several days after she called at his office in the Ansonia to demand, as he charges, the sum of $500 for the return of the mysterious letters which have been figuring so prominently in the case, and failing to get the money, tried to frighten him by a "stage" attempt to commit suicide.

This admission was made through Stokes' lawyer, Terence J. McManus, after a conference with the police. Nor is McManus willing to deny that Stokes gave the girl considerable sums prior to this payment and that he furnished her with the funds for her recent visit to Paris. McManus says, however, that the payment of $200, which is the only one he knows about, was made to the girl "out of sympathy."

When Lillian Graham and Ethel Conrad are rearraigned in court on the charge of having "shot with intent to kill," a strong effort will be made by their counsel, Hermann Phillips, to have them admitted to bail.

No matter how high the amount fixed it will be furnished by relatives and wealthy friends who have rallied to the support of the two prisoners.

Mrs. Alice Andrews, the widowed sister of Miss Graham, will arrive here today from San Francisco, having started to her sister's support as soon as she heard of the young woman's plight.

Other friends of Miss Graham, whose names are withheld, have come to her assistance, and Phillips has announced that he has at his command unlimited means for the defense of both girls.

Miss Conrad's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nagel, who on the night when their daughter was made a prisoner utterly repudiated her, have reconsidered and come to her defense. They will be in court prepared to give the young girl such aid and comfort as is in their power, in addition to the help she will receive from Miss Graham's friends.

The condition of Stokes, at Roosevelt hospital since the removal of the bullets from his legs, has been improving so rapidly that it is expected he will have entirely recovered in a few days.

Through his lawyers he still sticks to his story that he was lured to the girl's apartment in the Varuna in the furtherance of a plot to compel him to pay blackmail.

READY FOR OCCUPANCY

Summer White House Awaiting Arrival of Taft Family

Beverly, Mass., June 12.—Spick and span, inside and out, the "summer White House" on the cool North Shore is all ready for President Taft. It is a real "White House," as it stands in its groves of pine and fir, painted white to the last inch, this 22-room colonial mansion—the Henry W. Peabody estate—Parramatta.

The chief glory of this newest summer home for the president is its superb frontage on the broad Atlantic. The grounds form a beautiful park in which are set groves, gardens, golf links, a teeming trout brook and acres of velvety lawns.

BURNS OFF FOR EUROPE

Says There Is More to Come Out In the Dynamite Cases

New York, June 12.—William J. burns, who made the McNamara arrest in the Los Angeles dynamite case, sailed for Europe at the request of a foreign government, he intimated. He will be gone three weeks.

Regarding the McNamara case Burns said: "I won't talk about the dynamiters. Yes, there is more to come out in the story. I've not told all I know. We'll send those men to jail."

Auto Turns Turtle

Lexington, Mass., June 12.—Dr. Harry C. Gleason of Boston was probably fatally injured and J. F. Anderson of Brookline and Jesse E. Ames of Allston badly cut up, when their auto swerved into an embankment on the state road last night, first hurling them out and then turning turtle.

not to be moved at such a time as this. We can not forbear weeping and we ought not to. To mourn with reason is right, not to mourn is insensibility. Let us therefore make the best of our friends while we have them, for that which is present we are sure of. It is better to have loved and lost than never to have loved at all.

Continuing he said "many have vanished since I first had the pleasure and honor of knowing him. We were boys together. Belonged to the same university and his teachers were my teachers. He took his degree before I did and then vanished and I knew nothing of him until I came to Quincy seventeen years ago. Then we came into close relationship in the library, We served on nearly every committee together, and I was brought into close relationship with him. I knew nothing about business and he knew all and I always went to him and he received me as you all know how. We were together hand in hand. Not always agreeing but always fast friends. And as I think over the years since I came to this church and think of the good friends that have gone, there seems to be a little feeling of emptyness. The world is getting a little lonely and I a little homesick. For this world give me a loyal friend such as Mr. Keith was to me and as such I cherish him."

The remains encased in a black broadcloth casket rested in front of the alter and were surrounded with a wealth of floral tributes whose delicate odor penetrated every nook and corner of the edifice.

On the casket rested a wreath of sweet pease, flat bouuets and roses and galax leave wreathes from the immediate family.

Some of the other floral pieces were:

DYNAMITE PLOT FOILED

Outrage Would Have Shocked World Had It Been Successful

Havana, June 12.—It has become known that a secret raid conducted by government detectives averted a dynamite outrage that would have shocked the world.

A body of anarchists had plotted to dynamite the presidential palace during the marriage of Lieutenant Colonel Goello to the daughter of President Gomez, while the entire diplomatic corps was in attendance.

The conspiracy was betrayed by a woman just in time to prevent its being carried out. The bombs which the conspirators had planned to use had already been placed in position.

—Arbitration treaties are being negotiated with England and France, but the Senate would rather see a war some day than give up any of its traditional privileges to vote on it.

CALVARY BAPTIST.

At the Sunday morning service the pastor preached from Matt. 5:7. "Blessed are the merciful for they shall obtain mercy." In developing his thought Mr. Davis first defined "mercy" and showed that it was comparatively a new thing in the world, coming with the Christian era. Thus if mercy was an attribute of Christianity the Christian should be the most merciful. All philanthropic movements came from the church originally and the people in the church should interest themselves more and more in all good works. In illustrating the power of the mercy of God Mr. Davis referred to a little pamphlet entitled "The Man who died for me." He pointed out that the mercy of God toward us is so great that we should be the most merciful to others.

Owing to the concert in the evening the Junior Christian Endeavor exercises were omitted.

The regular meeting of the Y. P. S. C. E. took place at 6 o'clock with Miss Eva Abbott as leader.

The Children's concert in the evening was very well attended and the parts were all well executed. Songs by classes and individuals, recitations, exercises and so on made en excellent program.

The Davis Men's class will hold its monthly business meeting Wednesday evening at 7.30.

The regular mid-week prayer meeting will be held Thursday evening.

The Davis class will give a lawn party at the home of Benjamin Williams, 429 Granite street, Friday evening.

THE OLD FLAG FOREVER.

She's up there—Old Glory—where lightnings are shed,
She dazzles the nations with ripples of red,
And she'll wave for us living or droop o'er us dead—

The flag of our country forever!
She's up there—Old Glory! How bright the stars stream!
And the stripes, like red signals of liberty gleam;

And we dare for her living or dream the last dream
'Neath the flag of our country forever!
She's up there—Old Glory—no tyrant dealt scars.

No blur on her brightness, no stain on her stars!
The brave blood of heroes hath crimsoned her bars,
She's the flag of our country forever!

Fifty Years Ago---Defenses of Washington

THIS wartime photograph, taken in 1861, shows vividly the nation's preparation for defense. The scene is a portion of Fort Corcoran, near Washington, one of those hastily constructed defenses which served to check the advance of the encroaching Confederates whose objective point was the national capital. The men in the picture are Colonel Michael Corcoran and his officers. Observe the man immediately back of the stack of ammunition near the left end of the picture. His right arm is missing. Already he had suffered for his country.

BIG EAGLE BATTLES WITH A GARDENER

King of Air Not Vanquished Until Filled With Shot

Hackensack, N. J., June 12.—An eagle swooped down from the top of a tall tree in the woods near Teaneck upon James Zeloff, a gardener, and for fifteen minutes bird and man engaged in a battle royal.

With a stout stick Zeloff drove off his feathered assailant again and again, but the eagle returned each time to the fray and sank its talons and beak into the gardener's face and shoulders. Zeloff finally beat a retreat.

He returned with a shotgun, and the king of the air again gave him a battle. The contents of one barrel crippled the bird, but it did not diminish its lust for fight, so Zeloff fired the second charge, ending the encounter. The wings measured six feet from tip to tip.

"WHICH ONE IS ME"

Depew Meets His Double as He Is About to Sail For Europe

New York, June 12.—Chauncey M. Depew and Mrs. Depew and her sister, Miss Mildred Palmer, were passengers on the Philadelphia. They are bound for Paris, where the ex-senator expects to spend some time in settling up the affairs of his wife's mother, who died there some weeks ago.

Rev. Dr. Lea Luquer, rector of St. Mathew's church at Bedford Hills, N. Y., also sailing on the Philadelphia, so closely resembles Depew in height, size, face and manner, that the ship news reporter at first mistook the clergyman for the other. When Depew was introduced to Luquer he said laughingly: "Which one is me?"

"Do you—er—ever tell fibs?" asked the lady who had advertised for a maid.

"Not for myself, ma'am," answered the applicant. "Only for the missus."—Chicago News.

THE UP-TO-DATE WAY

is to cook with gas. Nowadays housewives and cooks won't bother with messy troublesome wood or coal stoves. What's the use of breaking your back and spoiling your temper when you can simply turn on the gas, light it with a match and not give the fire another thought? Besides, the meal will be better cooked, when it's cooked by gas.

BODY FOUND IN FOREST GRAVE

Maine Woman Apparently a Victim of Murder

MISSING FOR THREE WEEKS

Remains Discovered by Accident, Following Which Husband of Mrs. Taylor and His Housekeeper Are Arrested—Suspected Man, Noted For His Skill In Woodcraft, Little Interested In Wife's Disappearance

Farmington, Me., June 12.—A forest grave in Freeman—discovered yesterday—revealed the remains, when opened, of Mrs. Etta Taylor, 41, who had evidently been murdered in a most brutal manner about three weeks ago.

For three weeks Mrs. Taylor has been missing, but when her husband, Marshall Taylor, was shown yesterday afternoon the mangled body of his wife he looked at it coolly but made no comment.

Taylor, who is well known as a guide, was taken into custody, as well as his housekeeper, Gida Searles, who served a jail sentence about three years ago for a statutory offense, and both were taken to the county jail in the village.

A search has been made for Mrs. Taylor for the past three weeks, although it is said that her husband has not displayed much interest in it.

When he was arrested he showed the officers, including Sheriff Small and Deputy Sheriff Richardson, a note, in which she had declared that "she was sick of this life and did not want to live any more."

The discovery of the murdered woman's remains came by accident. The heavy rains of the past few days had washed over the ground, and while Silas Dunham was walking near the railroad tracks, about 100 yards from the Taylor home, he noticed a spot where the earth appeared to have been freshly turned.

Dunham at once summoned a searching party that soon located the body after prying aside a huge rock and digging down through dirt and underbrush.

The back of the head was entirely gone and decomposition had far advanced. When the body was examined by Coroner Adams, Dr. Pratt and County Attorney Blanchard, it was the general opinion that the remains must have been in the ground three weeks.

It was the opinion of these men that the gaping wound in the back of the head must have been caused by either a gun shot, the gun held close to the head, or else by the blow of an axe. The Taylor home was searched carefully, but no weapon was found.

Some time ago, after Mrs. Taylor disappeared, Taylor wrote to Attorney Richards of Farmington, asking him if it would be proper for him to hire a housekeeper. On Richards' replying that it would, Taylor engaged the services of Mrs. Searles.

Taylor is widely known throughout this section of the state for his skill in woodcraft. He has been something of a farmer.

GROUNDHOG DUG SAMPLES

Two-Hundred-Acre Deposit of Fullers Earth Is Discovered

Ellensburg, Wash., June 12.—On the ranch of James Hewitt at the headwaters of Squaw creek, a 200-acre deposit of fullers earth has been found. Samples have been submitted to assayers, who declare the mineral to be excellent. The find is one of a very few of the kind in the United States.

Pieces of the mineral brought to the city show a fine, white, chalky substance, which crumbles between the fingers to a soft powder. The vein, which is ten feet wide and covers all of 200 acres, was discovered by accident, an obliging groundhog having dug into the ground and brought samples to the surface.

Big Blaze at Biddeford

Biddeford, Me., June 12.—A fire started in the box shook factory of the Deering-Proctor company in this city and damage estimated at from $60,000 to $75,000 was done and forty families were driven from their homes.

Oak Bluffs, Mass., June 12.—The 25-foot yawl Sea Bird, manned by T. Fleming Day, Fred S. Thurber and T. R. Goodwin, set sail Sunday on its long trip to Italy. The trip is expected to take about forty days.

Forces to Return From San Diego

Washington, June 12.—The fleet and marines stationed at San Diego, Cal., since the Mexican war, will be withdrawn June 18, according to an announcement at the White House.

SKIPPER OF BARGE SLAIN IN HIS BUNK

Mysterious Sea Tragedy to Be Unravelled at Boston

Boston, June 12.—A hunchback, with great gnarled hands and powerful long arms, and possessed of abnormal shrewdness, is the stolid pivot around which will revolve a mysterious "murder on the high seas."

The captain of a coal barge, Charles D. Wyman, asleep in the bunk of his cabin on the Glendower, was murdered ten miles east of Minot's light. The murderer crushed his skull into pulp, presumably with a belaying pin. He then wrapped the captain in his blanket and went about his routine duties on the barge, mingling with his two companions. The barge was one of three being towed to Boston by the seagoing tug Monocacy.

The three men who were on the boat with the dead captain have all been turned over to the United States government, charged with murder on the high seas. They are William de Graff, employed as a cook on the barge; Antonio Priskich, who operated a donkey engine, and William Nelson, a deckhand.

SOUVENIRS AT $1 EACH

How Sulzer Would Have Remains of the Maine Disposed Of

Washington, June 12.—Representative Sulzer of New York is contemplating a scheme by which the wreck of the old battleship Maine may be cut into souvenirs and sold to the people of the United States at $1 each instead of being towed out to sea and sent to the bottom. The idea was suggested to him by Bert W. Kennedy of Michigan, special messenger of the house.

Mr. Dickinson, until recently secretary of war, reported to congress a few weeks ago that unless the army engineers in charge of raising the Maine were directed to do otherwise the wreck would be cleared of bodies and all articles of intrinsic or historic value and then sunk in mid-ocean.

LETS $225,000 SLIP AWAY

Chicago, June 12.—Real estate men are talking about the way Mrs. Hetty Green lost $225,000 in her recent sale of the 480 acres of the Sage farm in the southwestern limits of the city.

F. H. Bartlett heard that Mrs. Green wanted to sell. He offered her agent, J. W. Cremin, $475,000 and it was accepted. He sold the property next day to Cobe & McKinnon for 700,000. The contract with Mrs. Green was made in the name of Ernest V. Smith, a clerk in Bartlett's office.

Mrs. Green took over the property thirty years ago on a mortgage for a trifling amount compared with the price she received.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

REYES CASTS CROWN ASIDE

Refuses to Be Candidate For Presidency of Mexico

IS IN SYMPATHY WITH MADERO

He and De La Barra Have Consented to Accept Positions In Cabinet of Madero Should He Become President—Frank Discussion of Grave and Delicate Situation Follows Meeting of the Three by Accident

Mexico City, June 12.—"If I should be elected president, Senor De La Barra will be minister of foreign relations and General Reyes will be minister of war in my cabinet."

Thus spoke Francisco I. Madero, Jr., following a visit to the presidential residence at Chapultepec castle, where he talked with both De La Barra and Reyes. Both men have consented to accept these portfolios and their decision was announced in an official bulletin issued at the national palace.

The meeting between the three men was accidental. Madero had been conferring with De La Barra about the political situation and was about to step into the elevator when Reyes appeared. Madero was asked to remain. A frank discussion of the situation ensued.

General Reyes was seen at his home later. "It is true," he said, "that I am going to be minister of war if Senor Madero is elected. I am not going to be a candidate for the presidency or participate in the elections."

"Just before you came," he said to the interviewer, "a committee called on me to ask me to be a candidate for the presidency, but I have told them I intend to be a member of Senor Madero's cabinet if he is elected.

"I know that Senor Madero has the support of the popular element in Mexico and I am in complete sympathy with his principles. To offer myself as a candidate might mean a confusion which would produce anarchy, and I can assure you both President De La Barra, Senor Madero and myself will work earnestly and incessantly to prevent such a contingency. We must work for the union of our fatherland, for it is a grave and delicate moment in Mexico."

Madero's remark that De La Barra would return to his recent post of minister of foreign relations is looked on as an indication that the new government will contain representatives of all elements and will have more stable effect on the future administration.

Several days ago De La Barra confided to friends that he probably would go to Italy as the special ambassador to thank Italy for its participation in the Mexican centennial. It was a mission to which he was appointed while ambassador at Washington.

President De La Barra's intention after completing his visit to Italy was to return to private life, practising law. The conference is believed to have persuaded him to stand by the new government and lend his influence in establishing tranquility.

STEAMER HITS A WHALE

Prow Wedges Itself Into Side of Monster of the Deep

Boston, June 12.—Some 150 passengers aboard the steamer Prince Arthur, which arrived in Boston from Yarmouth, N. S., yesterday afternoon, were aroused from their sleep early yesterday morning and thrown into a panic when the steamer hit a huge whale broadside.

The sudden collision with the sea colossus jarred the whole ship, throwing some of the passengers out of their berths. The sudden impact with the whale reduced the speed to less than one-half.

The sharp prow of the steamer wedged itself into the monster's side. The whale struggled violently to free itself. For about ten minutes the whale lay athwart the ship's bow. Finally the whale managed to free itself and was swept out of the ship's course.

TRAGEDY STOPS CONTEST

One Man Killed and One Badly Hurt In Illinois Auto Race

Hawthorne, Ills., June 12.—Following the death of Basle and the injury of Jagersberger at the "death turn" at the Hawthorne course the managers of the auto races called the event off.

Basle's car, an Abbott-Detroit machine, turned completely over as it was rounding the "death curve," the southern turn of the track.

He was going at a speed of eighty miles an hour when he hit the curve. His machine skidded and jumped the track, dashing into the ditch and turning completely over, Basle being caught partly underneath it.

Hardly had the spectators recovered from the horror of the accident to Basle when Jagersberger ran into the fence at the same death turn in the final of the second race. He is badly hurt.

JACOB H. SCHIFF

Kaiser Said to Favor Him For Ambassador

KAISER WANTS SCHIFF

But Banker Would Not Accept the German Ambassadorship

New York, June 12.—What purports to be an authentic story has been circulated here, and throws some light on the alleged action of the kaiser who, reports in the newspapers state, has shown a disinclination to approve, as United States ambassador, any of several prominent names submitted by President Taft.

It is said that during a personal chat with Jacob H. Schiff, the New York banker, the kaiser suggested that the millionaire banker become ambassador to that country.

Schiff, so the story runs, replied that a matter of this kind lies wholly in the hands of the president, but even if appointed he would be obliged to decline the post, as his vast business interests will not permit his acceptance.

SEVEN LIVES LOST BY BOATS UPSETTING

Two Were Children Paddling In Home Made Craft

Bangor, Me., June 12.—The bodies of three young men who started out for a Sunday fishing excursion were brought to this city. They were drowned in Sunkhasse stream by the overturning of their canoe. They were Harry Shirland, 17; Harry Pelkey, 27, and Colbert Curtis, 23, all residents of Costigan.

Belfast, Me., June 12.—While paddling about in a boat which they themselves had fashioned, Minnie and Manley Robbins, 13 and 10 years of age respectively, were drowned in Goose river yesterday afternoon. The boat overturned while the children were some distance from shore.

Haverhill, Mass., June 12.—Just as she was going to the baccalaureate sermon, which was given to the high school senior class of which she is a member, 19-year-old Ethel B. Smith was told of the death by drowning of her father, James F. Smith, whose boat had capsized in Johnston's pond. Henry Bachelder, a companion of Smith, was also drowned.

HUMAN SKELETON MARRIES

He Tips the Scales at 38 Pounds, While His Wife Weighs 136

Chicago, June 12.—The thinnest man in the world was married here by Municipal Judge Newcomber at city hall.

The man is Arthur Atherton, 24 years old. Though five feet high he weighs only 38 pounds. He married Blanche Buckley, 19 years old, who weigs 136 pounds.

"I asked the bride if she thought she could find her husband after I had married them," said Newcomber, "and in reply she wrapped her arms around him and gave him two or three good hugs. The man's facial muscles are well developed, but when you feel of him he feels as if wind would blow him away."

WATCH IN 'GATOR'S STOMACH

Found by Son of Man Who Lost Timepiece Fifty Years Ago

Galveston, Tex., June 12.—A large, open face silver watch of the build known in old days as a "turnip," lost fifty years ago by Frank Strome, has been curiously recovered. An alligator was killed in Double bayou, and the timepiece was found in its stomach.

William Strome, son of the man who lost the watch, shot the alligator, which is estimated by its hide to be more than 80 years old. The elder Strome was capturing alligators in the same waterway when he lost the watch, which fell into the bayou.

IT TURNED OUT ALL WRONG

By ELLEN BANKHURST

Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

Effie—Effie is my niece—is a good girl, but impractical. She is an orphan and was left to my care and guardianship by my sister, who was five years older than I. I promised to bring Effie up properly, do the best I could with her property and see that she married well. She is now eighteen, and I'm very much afraid she is leaning toward that beggar Lawrence Beckwith. Therefore I am going to attempt to throw her in the way of Martin Sayler. Mr. Sayler is thirty-six, well off and has an excellent social position. I don't believe in girls marrying men of their own age. A girl needs a man older than herself to keep her in training.

* * * * * * *

Summer has come, and I have a house party at my cottage at Lake G. I left Beckwith out of my invitations and included Sayler. Sayler is getting bald, and there are a few grey hairs about his temples, but I don't care for that. Of course I haven't said a word to Eff about what I intend for her—that would spoil it all. But I've told Sayler. Of course he couldn't say anything definite. He only remarked that to win my niece should make any man very happy and very proud. I am well satisfied with the way the affair is progressing.

Eff proposed that we go up to the end of the lake on a picnic. We went in boats, pulling up in the morning, having our lunch in the woods, and back in the evening. As our party consisted of eleven we required six boats, for we proposed to have only two in each boat. When we went down to get into the boats, Effie said that she would pull the boat with only one in it herself. What did she do but get into it and pull away, leaving Mr. Sayler standing with me. He very politely handed me into a boat and got in himself. The others paired off as they liked.

We hadn't gone a mile before I saw Eff ahead, making a landing at the point where the railroad station is located. Before we reached her a man got into the boat with her, and she pulled on up the lake. I wondered who he was and what it meant. I couldn't understand Sayler's action at all. He didn't seem a bit huffy when Effie pulled away alone or when she took in a companion. He made himself as agreeable to me as if I had been Effie. But men have a way of concealing their feelings. I wish we women could do that.

When we reached the end of the lake who should help me out of the boat but Lawrence Beckwith. I was never so astonished in my life.

"Why," I exclaimed, "what brought you here?"

"The purest luck. It's mighty strange how things happen sometimes. I was on a train that stopped at a station. At that moment your niece rowed up to a landing. I waved my handkerchief to her and called to her. She asked me if I wouldn't like to go on a picnic. I said I would, and here I am."

"That's a very strange coincidence," I said coldly. "I wonder how it could have happened."

"Strangest thing in the world!" he replied.

Mr. Sayler turned and looked out on the lake.

Eff went off with Lawrence, and Sayler couldn't very well do anything else than attend upon me. You see, all the others were mere boys and girls, and Sayler and I were the only elderly persons in the party. I was very much mortified at Eff's action. It put me in an unpleasant attitude towards the man I had told I wished him for her husband.

However, he didn't seem to feel so awfully disappointed. At any rate, he made the best of it, not showing any displeasure. All the boy and girl couples of the party went off in different directions, leaving Sayler and me alone to get what supplies we needed for lunch. He took the ice out of our boat and put the champagne and butter on it, and together we unrolled the bundles containing the luncheon. I was leaning over a case of sardines when I felt an arm around my waist and, turning my face, looked right into Sayler's.

"What do you mean?" I asked. "I brought you out here to make love to Effie."

"And I came to make love to you."

"To me?"

"Yes, to you."

"But I'm old enough to be your mother."

"I wasn't aware that sons were born before their mothers. I'm a couple of years older than you."

"How came that Beckwith boy here?"

"Your niece and I cooked up a plan to get him here. I sent the telegram myself, telling him just what to do. Effie aimed to meet the train at the station."

"Well, upon my word! This beats anything I ever knew. So you were in the plot."

"I certainly was. I have been wishing for an opportunity to speak to you for some time. I certainly couldn't have done it today if I were to be assigned to your niece for the occasion."

Never did a picnic turn out more unexpectedly from what was intended than that one. On our return Eff was engaged to Beckwith and I to Sayler. And I'm going to do just what I said I'd never do—marry a man about my own age.

MILITARY GARDEN PARTY.

Gay Throng of Fashionables at Governor's Island—Sham Battle Witnessed by Notable Assemblage.

One of the prettiest functions of the year in New York is the annual garden party at Governor's Island. Though hardly more than a stone's throw from the lower end of Manhattan this has on ordinary days such an atmosphere of quiet remoteness that it is difficult to believe that only a few minutes boat trip separates it from the rushing city. Except on rare occasions the boats ply back and forth with very few passengers on either deck.

REGULAR GOVERNOR'S WEATHER.

Regular "Governors" weather, clear, warm and sunny, with light breezes just enough to freshen things up a bit, is usually provided and throngs of the city's prettiest and most distinguished people crowd boat after boat to share in the festivities. This year there was a sham battle so exciting in its counterfeit of a real fight, that had anything but blank cartridges been used, there would surely have been serious carnage among the ladies who pressed forward quite beyond the boundaries in their eagerness to see the whole engagement. Even General Grant's party took part in the forward rush much to his apparent astonishment.

PRETTY FROCKS GALORE.

The prettiest toggery came out for the occasion and everything was worn from tailormades of linen and serge, and satin to filmy chiffons and embroidered muslins, all of course topped by pretty hats. Even the army girls living on the Island, who did the honors at the various refreshment booths, and bazaars wore dainty light hats to match their dresses.

SATIN AND SILK TAILORMADES.

Among the tailormades worn black satin and blue serge of fine weave were most popular, and both were worn as much by girls as by the older women. A well known matron from the Tuxedo colony had the newest wrinkle in silk tailormades. A coat and skirt costume of changeable taffeta silk in which royal blue predominated. The small high crowned hat of black hemp was trimmed with a made feather of white ostrich, in spikes like cat-tails each tipped with black.

A HANDSOME COSTUME.

A strikingly handsome costume was worn by Mrs. Grant who as wife of the Commanding Officer headed the receiving party. Blue chiffon cloth over a yellowish green silk was the material, a deep hem of royal blue satin finished the bottom of the skirt, and the edge of the chiffon overdress was weighted with one of the little ball fringes in matching tone that are so fashionably worn just now. Transparent white lace formed the upper part of the bodice, and the hat was particularly smart and becoming. This was of rough black straw braid edged at front and sides, with a full border of small royal blue velvet flowers with their yellowish green stems extending up onto the hat. At the back was a large bow of royal blue velvet, and over the left ear a cluster of small pale pink roses.

MISS HELEN GOULD.

Miss Helen Gould, who assisted Mrs. Grant in receiving, wore a black and white foulard, more white than black, a large black crin. hat with white feathers, and carried a mauve satin throwover. These long, loose easily adjusted satin coats are worn by everyone and many of them are made of black with a lining in contrasting color that reverses when it suits the convenience of the wearer, thus giving a dark or light effect at will. Never was there a wrap with so many possibilities of variation adapted to so many occasions so it's no wonder everyone wants or has one.

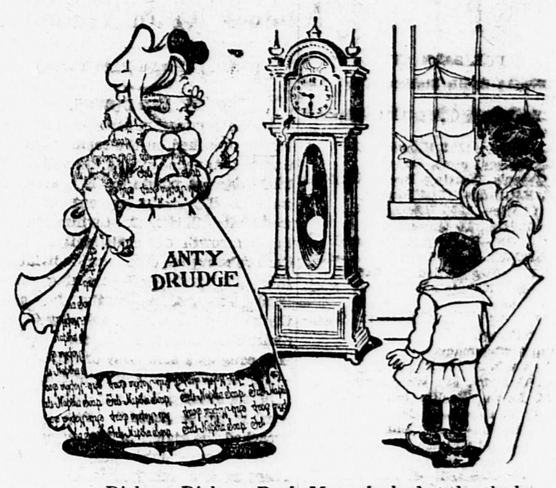

GIRLISH TOILETTE.

Against the background of blue sky, and the fresh green of trees and lawns nothing seemed quite so pretty as the printed organdies and lingerie frocks worn by most of the post girls. Wide thin hats of black or white straw were most seen but there were also some coquettish lingerie models with quaint Mother Goose crowns, and not much brim made of row after row of pleated muslin edged with lace, and with little other trimming than a flat placque of a pink rose surrounded by forget-me-nots or violets or some other combination to go with the dress worn.

PARASOLS.

It was a great day for parasols and there was an endless variety including one solor styles of lavender, blue and coral, beside the always popular green. Black and white stripes in borders and in centres bordered with floral ribbons were smartly carried, and very flat, many-ribbed Japanese shapes in both round and square outlines were more sparsely seen but were on that account more distinctive. Some of the best looking get-ups were carefully matched up in color throughout but where the hat contrasted the parasol was apt to match this rather than the suit.

Rosalind May.

"Only half past nine and the clothes on the line,
I tell you washing with Fels-Naptha is fine,
And every last piece, even to baby's frock,
Is clean and white." Dickory, Dickory, Dock.

Ask any doctor if there is a quicker way to catch cold than to get all steamed up and then go into the cold air.

Some women folks get colds like that nearly every washday.

They do their washing in the old boiling way with a hot fire and steaming suds.

The Fels-Naptha way of washing is a wonderful health-saver.

The washing is done in cool or lukewarm water—no boiling or steaming, no hot suds.

It's much easier, too.

You don't wear yourself out because the Fels-Naptha does all the work—no hard rubbing.

There are other reasons why you should use Fels-Naptha Soap.

It doesn't take half as long as the old way; saves fuel; much easier on the clothes and makes them cleaner and sweeter.

But, if you value your health, that alone is good reason for doing your washing the Fels-Naptha way. In the Winter or Summer.

There were several Quincy people among the thousands that visted Holm Lea, the Sargent Place; in Brookline on Saturday afternoon and Sunday. Each year Prof. Sargent opens his estate to the public when his magnificent rhododendrons and azaleas are at their best and flower lovers enjoy the privilege.

ELEVEN YEARS LATE.

Chocolate Sent by Queen Victoria In 1900 Just Reaches Destination.

After eleven years of wandering one of the boxes of chocolates sent by Queen Victoria in 1900 to the wounded soldiers in South Africa has been received by Alfred Cussell, a grenadier guardsman, now living at High Wycombs, Bucks.

There was hardly an inch of the wrapper containing the box of chocolates without a postmark of some kind or other, mostly English. Cussell said that, although he missed the chocolate very much while in Wynberg hospital, his disappointment was discounted by a Christmas card made out of khaki sent to him by the children of the district whence he came. It is mounted in a pretty frame in the front room of Cussell's snug little lodge on Lord Carrington's estate.

"I wouldn't sell it," said Cussell proudly, "for its weight in gold, nor," pointing to the chocolate tin, "that either."

How to Clean Blankets.

Shave up half a bar of any good laundry soap, add four tablespoonfuls of borax and a little water and melt over the fire. Then add four tablespoonfuls of household ammonia, put in tub and half fill with cold water. Put the blankets in and let them soak for about half an hour. Then rinse in cold water contaiuing four tablespoonfuls of borax and four tablespoonfuls of ammonia. Do not wring. The blankets will be just like new.

SUNDAY SERVICES

PARK AND DOWNS.

At the service Sunday morning, the pastor preached on the topic "Christianity's influence among the nations." The principal points in his sermon were 1—The enlightenment of the world after Christ. 2.—Civilization as the outgrowth of christianity. 3—Christ's influence over the individual life. The music at the meeting was good. The choir sang "How fair are the lilies" with anthem solos by G. A. Smith and Artemus Dingwell. T. C. Hay sang as a solo "Day of Peace."

The service was well attended.

In the evening Mr. Hay sang "The Lord is my shepherd." The pastor preached the eighth of his series of sermons on "John the Baptist." There came a man sent from God and his name was John." John was the revelation of God. His entrance into the world on his divine mission, the full blossoming of his life, the divine note in his message, its parallel in history, its lesson for the youth and the call to service were emphasized with splendid effect in the sermon.

The Y.P.S.C.E. service, an honorary members meeting was led by Mr. Tucker. "Why I love Christ" was the topic and the meeting developed into the most spiritual one ever held by the society.

The Lookout committee will meet with Mr. Matchner, Tuesday evening.

The regular prayer meeting will be held Friday evening at7.30.

HOUSEHOLD RECIPES.

Inexpensive Pineapple Preserve. While watermelon rinds are a drug in the household market just now, it is well to remember that they may be utilized to make a variety of preserves to add to the winter's store and this with but little extra expense. Watermelon rinds take the flavor of other fruits when cooked with them and an old recipe for inexpensive pineapple preserves is well worth recalling in these days when economy must be the watchward. Peel the watermelon rinds, cut in dice the size of pineapple peeled and diced, allowing one-third as much melon rind as you have of the pineapple. Allow a pound of sugar to each pound of the mixed fruit and simmer until both melon and pineapples are clear and tender. The cubes of watermelon become so thoroughly incorporated with the pine in the cooking that they can not be detected excepting by their superior tenderness.

Individual Shortcakes. Sift two cups of flour, three level teaspoons of baking powder, and one-half level teaspoon of salt together. Add two well beaten eggs and one half cup of melted butter. Beat and pour into greased muffin pans until they are two-thirds full. Bake in a hot oven, then split with a hot knife and butter. Crush a quart box of any kind of berries, sprinkle with one-half cup of sugar and use as a filling for the little shortcakes.

Rice Souffle. Boil one-half cup of rice in one quart of boiling salted water for 15 or 20 minutes and drain it. Then cook the rice in one pint of milk in a double boiler for 10 minutes. Add the yolks of four eggs beaten with four tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar, and one tablespoonful of butter. Cook for five minutes and let cool. Flavor with lemon or vanilla. Beat the whites of the eggs stiff and fold in lightly, and bake in a buttered dish for 30 minutes.

Maple Ice Cream. One cupful of rich maple syrup, one pint of cream, yolks of four eggs, and white of one egg. Heat the syrup to the boiling point, pour it slowly on the well beaten yolks, and cook in a double boiler until it is thick. Let it cool and add the cream and the beaten whites. Stir well together and freeze.

Chocolate Cream Frosting. One cup sugar, one-half cup water, one-fourth level teaspoon cream of tartar, whites two eggs, one and one-half squares melted chocolate, one teaspoon vanilla. Place the chocolate over hot water to melt. Boil the sugar and water until the syrup will thread when dropped from the tip of a spoon, then add cream of tartar and pour it slowly on to the egg whites beaten stiff, beating constantly. As soon as added pour the mixture on to the melted chocolate, add vanilla, and beat until stiff enough to spread.

Charles P. Taft was presented to King George the other day. Some people supposed they talked about international law and arbitration, but more likely Charley asked him if his wife had tried the new fireless cooker.

Trinity church in New York has $13,700,000 worth of property. Gosh, what a lot of cake sales the Ladies Aid Society must have in order to keep it all in repair.

ROYAL GIANTS DEFEATED

Quincy Takes them Into Camp By Score of 9 to 2

The Quincys won another splendid victory on Saturday defeating the Olympia Royal Giants 9 to 2 in a well played game on the Water street grounds. In the first inning the visitors started off well getting two runs on a base on balls, a two bagger and a single. After that they were not in the running. Neagle pitched a fine game for Quincy striking out 15 men and allowing but five hits. The lucky seventh figured in this game for Quincy scored 5 runs on three two-baggers and a couple of singles.

Duggan made the star play of the game catching a foul fly in deep left field after a long run. Ganzel stabbed some difficult throws on first and led at the bat with three hits. Neagle was strong at the bat as well as in the box getting two hits good for two bases.

"Rus" figured strongly in the victory for Norwell getting two good hits. "Stan" pitched good ball striking out ten men and allowing but two hits. He also started a double play.

MANET—WELLINGTON.

One of the fastest games ever played by a Quincy team was that at Garfield park, Weymouth on Saturday when the Manet Baseball club of this city beat the Wellingtons 6-3 in one of the cleanest and most sensational contests of the season.

The work of Gillis and Canavan was ermarkable to say the least. Canavan had Wellington in hand at the start except in the 3d when they get 4 hits and two runs but after that Canavan and the all around fielding of the Manets kept them from reaching third again. In the 8th Ellis hit the ball in some bushes and got a home run out of an easy fly, the field in right being a poor one. Conway and Kerr had some difficult chances but each played a wonderful game, Kerr starting a double play at one time.

Canavan was on the Q. V. at all times and was responsible for two other double plays.

Dunner, Spiller and Dam assisted the home team greatly in its fast field work.

This game was played in the short time of one hour and fifteen minutes and was ably umpired.

The next and most interesting to the Quincy fans will be on June 17th at Ward 3 between the Manets and Adams and is sure to bring the crowd.

REVERE—NORTH QUINCY.

At Oak Island grove in Revere the Revere A. A. defeated the North Quincy A. A. on Saturday by a score of 8 to 3. The teams hit about evenly but the home team played a snappier fielding game. The North Quincy had a rally in their half of the ninth but it was short lived and netted but two runs. The score by innings:

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9

EXTENSION CLUB.

The South Quincy Extension club was defeated by the Lynn Employed Boys at Merrymount park on Saturday by a score of 6 to 3. The game was continued right through in spite of the rain and although the ball was wet the pitchers had good control. Carl Carlson played the best for the home team pitching a good game and hitting well. "Tiser" Carlson at short stop was strong both at the bat and in the field.

For the visitors Turner, the second baseman was the star getting a two bagger and a home r un and fielding his position well. Katzes pitched a good game holding the home team well in hand.

The score by innings:

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Lynn	0	1	0	1	0	2	0	2	0— 6
So. Quincy	0	0	0	1	0	2	0	0	0— 3

Batteries:—Katzes and Berry. Carlson and Veale.

APPRENTICES—AERO.

The Fore River Apprentices defeated the Aero club of Braintree in a seven inning game on Saturday by a score of 5 to 0. The game was played at Merrymount park before a small crowd which dispersed when the rain began to fall and the game was called at the end of the seventh. Williamson pitched a great game and his work was one o fthe best features. Lang did fine work in the field. For the visitors the catching of Gunville was especially good.

The score by innings:

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7
Apprentices	0	1	0	2	0	0	2— 5

Y. M. C. A.—CLAPP.

The Y. M. C. A. Intermediates were defeated by Clapp Memorial at Weymouth on Saturday by a score of 6 to 5 The game was won under protest however for the umpire made a poor decision in the ninth which decided the game in favor of the home team. Tirrell pitched good ball and received pretty good support form the team.

Sam Prout did well in fielding and Roberston and Cranshaw were the best at the bat. Bumpus was the star for Clapp Memorial.

The score by innings:

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Clapp	0	0	2	0	2	1	0	0	1— 6
Y. M. C. A.	2	0	0	1	2	0	0	0	0— 5

Batteries: Curtin and Fulton, Tirrell and Holmes.

RAND—FORE RIVER

The Rand class of the Wollaston Baptist c hurch started its season Saturday by winning over the Fore River Office team on Ward Two playgrounds, in what developed into a farce contest by a 19-11 score.

The game was close for the first four innings, the Rand class leading 4 to 3 when rain set in and continued throughout the contest. With a slippery ball and muddy field fast playing was impossible and heavy hitting developed. From then on, the scorer was kept strictly on the job and had a strenuous time keeping track of the tallies.

"Shrimp" Morrissey the Fore River pitcher did good work in the early innings until the Rand batsmen bumped him hard and drove him from the box. Gallagher relieved him but fared little better. Plesch did good work for the Rand class and Captain Thomas played a consistent game at first base.

Batteries for the Rand class, Pletsch and Floyd; for Fore River, Morrissey, Gallagher and Allison.

SPORTING NOTES.

George A. Sullivan of Quincy representing the South Boston A. C. took third place in the 440 yard run at the Dorchester Field day on Saturday.

How to Make Pulled Bread.

The following recipe for pulled bread is given by a high authority: Have ready a loaf of dough such as would be used for ordinary bread and divide the loaf into eight equal parts. Roll these pieces into strands the length of the bread pan. Braid these strands as if they were strips of tape. Press out this braided mass until it is about the size of the pan. Let it rise in the pan and then bake it like an ordinary loaf. After it comes from the oven let it stand undisturbed for about ten or fifteen minutes, then tear it apart into long, thin pieces. Spread these over the bottom of a large dripping pan or upon a tin sheet. Bake again, this time in a very hot oven until crisp and brown. It will take about a quarter of an hour. Serve hot. This bread, so popular with a soup or cheese course, may also be served at simple luncheons with coffee or chocolate. To be just right at mealtime the work of preparing it must be carefully timed. The bread should be ready to slip into the oven about one and three-quarter hours before time for serving. The bread, however, may be prepared, so far as its first baking is concerned, at any time and then reheated when desired, but it is not quite so nice as when newly prepared.

—It is recalled that 1816 was the year of the cold summer in New England. The Providence Journal Quotes from a writer in Bristol, Conn., who spoke of snow falling for an hour on the 7th of June, and the Fourth of July was so cold that men pitched quoits in the middle of the day with their overcoats on. Of course there was a general failure of the crops and much suffering ensued. Such a summer fortunately is rare; there has been none like it since. The records we are now making—or the weather for us—have more to do with dry seasons. It looks as if the present year may establish a new one for small rainfall. So far this year it is six inches or more less than the average. A summer too dry may be as harmful as one too cold.

HISTORIC ADDRESS BY BROOKS ADAMS

In Commemoration of Father, Charles Francis Adams Minister to England

An unusually interesting address was given before the Quincy Historical society, in the chapel of the First church Monday evening by Brooks Adams, president of the society, in commemoration of his father Charles Francis Adams.

There was a good attendance at the lecture although the stormy weather doubtless prevented some from attending. The address had to do with the life and incidents of Mr. Adams during the time he was ambassador to England and when this country was passing the most critical period of its history, during the civil war with the Confederacy.

Aside from members of the Historical society present there was a delegation from Paul Revere Post 88 G. A. R. Bellamy Storer recently ambassador to Spain, Mr. Brown of Little, Brown & Co. Hon. Charles Francis Adams of Lincoln and others.

In opening his address Mr. Adams said that his father always impressed him as the strongest man he ever met, and he would try and explain what it was in his father that so much impressed him, and for that reason he had chosen the affair of the Confederates trying to get the Confederate ram out of Mersey. Born in 1807 and the speaker in 1848 he recalled him best in his study in Boston. I was one of the trials of my fathers life , said the speaker yet he liked to have me with him on his walks. He was very domestic and never left home without his wife and he impressed on me the importance of marrying, for without mother he said he would have been lost.

Mr. Adams then spoke of his early remembrance of his father, the election of Lincoln as President and the sending of his father to England, which mission was a most important one.

Although my father had no experience he was impressed with the remarkable insight into character that Secretary Sayward had. He accompanyed his father to England during the early days of the war. The men in English public life at that time were all politicians of long experience and the aristorcacy was active. My father went before that body alone and it gave him the opportunity of his life.

Mr. Adams then spoke of how his father had impressed himself on these men and the effect in England at the news of the fall of Sumpter and the battle of Bull Run. Mr. Adams then referred to the attempt to build a confederate navy in England and the efforts of Mr. Adams to prevent it. How Lord Palmerston desired to send his father back to the United States and of the letter sent to his father by Lord Palmerston when the famous order of general Butler in New Orleans became known. This letter was a most extraordinary one and it caused Mr. Adams to reply in a letter asking Lord Palmerston if the letter was a private note or was official. On being advised that it was from the Prime Minister my father declined to receive any more correspondence.

There was no scandal over this correspondence however and Mr. Adams remained in England to prevent the building of the Confederate navy. The sentiment in England at that time was clearly with the Confederacy. The speaker then told how the Confederate ram Alabama in spite of his father's protests teamed down the Mersey.

Then came the second battle of Bull Run, and the speaker told of the stirring times in England on the receipt of that news and the discussion on intervention that followed on the recognition of the Confederacy should Washington fall. In November 1862 the United States demanded redress for allowing the Alabama to depart and the famous letter of Mr. Adams to Lord Russell in which he said England was at war with the United States and not the United States with England. Then followed the seizure of the Alabama and the incidents of the trial to determine the standing of the Alabama, and of the ruling of the Lord Chief at that trial.

With the fall of Vickburg came the last days of the Confederacy and of the English aristocracy. No one could tell what would have happened had the Confederacy had the money to build a navy.

With the death of Lord Palmerston in 1865 came the end of the old and the beginning of the new era.

The speaker spoke at length of the many incidents during the period of the war and of the correspondence of his father several of whose letters, which are now matters of history, he read. He never knew where his father learned law or diplomacy yet the men of England were as children in his hands.

The address was an exceedingly interesting one and one that might well be read with profit by all, and it will doubtless appear in full later in some historic magazine.

At the close of the address Mr. Adams was given a rising vote of thanks.

THE UP-TO-DATE WAY

is to cook with gas. Nowadays housewives and cooks won't bother with messy troublesome wood or coal stoves. What's the use of breaking your back and spoiling your temper when you can simply turn on the gas, light it with a match and not give the fire another thought? Besides, the meal will be better cooked, when it's cooked by gas.

DROWNED IN BACK RIVER.

The body of an unknown man was found in Weymouth Back river on Monday by James Hanniford at the foot of Wharf street, East Weymouth where his power boat was moored. As he started to pull up the anchor he saw the body of a man lying across the anchor rope in about four feet of water. The body was taken ashore and Medical Examiner Fraser was called and he said death was due to drowning. The corpse was removed to Dunbar's undertaking rooms on Board street where it awaits indentification.

The man was 5 feet 11 inches tall and weighed about 140 pounds. His complexion was dark and hair and mustache were black. He wore a light mixed suit made by the Besse, Baker Co., and a colored negligee shirt. A key was all that was found in his pockets. A pair of gold bowed spectacles were over his eyes. The medical examiner said that the body had been in the water but a few hours. The man's right hand was calloused showing that he was a cobbler or something of the sort.

REMEMBERED BY KNIGHTS.

City Clerk, Charles J. McGilvray who was sworn in to the faithful performance of his duties as City Clerk this morning, was pleasantly remembered about 10 o'clock when a messenger appeared at City Hall bearing a massive floral piece of pink roses and carnations representing a standing horse shoe, an emblem of good luck. From the centre of the horse shoe was a long pink ribbon upon which were the words "Good Luck." A card attached to the floral piece conveyed the information that the message of good luck came from Ava Maria council Knights of Columbus.

FLAG DAY.

The devotees of Flag Day, which is by common consent on the 14th of June, do not propose to make the day a legal holiday, but they do ask for a law that it be observed in pursuance of a proclamation by the governor and by suitable exercises. We have noted with much interest the development of Flag Day observance from the merest suggestion to a pretty wide recognition by the simple method of displaying the flag on that day. So far, with a little gentle urging, this notice of the day is about as spontaneous as such a thing well can be, and there is every indication that the observance will grow into general adoption. Whether there is necessity for any more formal action seems to us to be exceedingly doubtful. Very much of the virtue of Flag Day is in the fact that there is nothing official about it—that it is not forced by any decree of the law—that people hoist the flag because they want to out of their free will and their respect for the flag as a symbol of great ideas. One of the best things about Flag Day is that it is not perfunctory; but one of the surest ways of making it perfunctory is to incorporate it into the official ritual. Every one of our set holidays suffers from exactly that influence. A few days might be reserved in which the official pressure should not be felt at all—and Flag Day is one of these.—New Bedford Standard.

RETURNED TO DEDHAM.

Inspector Goodhue returned from Albany, N. Y. Monday night having in his custody Alexander Samaar who was wanted on default warrant by the grand jury. Samaar was arrested in Quincy for violation of the liquor law and fined. He appealed and gave bonds for his appearance before the superior court. When the superior court came in however Alexander was among the missing. Nothing more was heard from him until last week when a telegram was received announcing his arrest in Albany. Inspector Goodhue went on after him and took him back to Dedham where he will remain in jail until the next setting of the superior court.

HEAVY SHOWER MONDAY NIGHT

Was Heaviest at Midnight Little Damage Done

An unusually heavy shower passed over Quincy early this morning. The shower was accompanied by the heavy roll of thunder and sharp flashes of lightning that caused the windows to rattle and the wires to snap. It was a little after midnight when the shower commenced and it appeared to grow heavier and heavier. At first the thunder appeared to be some distance off and there were some few seconds between the rolls of thunder and the flashes of lightning.

About 1 o'clock the storm appeared to be directly overhead. The thunder grew heavier and the flashes of lightning were sharp and vivid causing timid ones to set up and take notice.

The fire alarm and telephone wires cracked and snapped and some telephones were put out of commission. As far as could be learned however the lightning did not strike in Quincy.

With the shower came a heavy fall of rain and it seemed at times as though the floodgates of heaven had been opened.

The rain was very much needed however and no one regets the shower although the electrical display many would be willing to dispense with.

WHIST PARTY.

An enjoyable whist party was held Monday evening at St. Mary's parochial residence at West Quincy in aid of the West street table at the coming lawn party. The party was in charge of Miss Mollie and Miss Annie Galvin whe were assisted by Mrs. Neil McDonnell, Mrs. John Dakers, Miss Catherine Barry, Miss Mary Dillon, Miss Anna Lyons, Miss Ita Sullivan, Miss Mary McCue, Miss Martha McDonnell, Miss Cecelia Shea, Miss Rose and Miss Alice McDonnell.

Ten tables were in play from 8 to 10 o'clock after which prizes were awarded to Mrs. Doherty and John Reardon. The special prize was captured by Mrs. Michael McDonnell. Refreshments were served by Barry & McDonnell after which there was vocal and instrumental music and a social hour until 11 o'clock.

THE CHAIN GANG.

Officer Avery did a good job Monday evening when he lit into the chain gang that hang about the Adams Academy grounds and make a nuisance of themselves. It was a little after 7 o'clock when the officer appeared on the scene and found six of the gang engaged in a free for all fight. He managed to secure three of the gang whom he placed under arrest. The other three were successful in getting away. The three arrested were Daniel J. Doran, William Craig, and Jeremiah Cullinan. They were arraigned in court this morning for drunkenness.

—Boston is pursuing methods that if continued are likely to give New York a race for greatness as an ocean city. The state is joining the city in the construction of docks to cost $3,000,000, large enough to accommodate the largest vessels building and likely to be built, and the governor and city officials have held a conference with the railroads, mapping out a comprehensive future program, and the railroads pledge their cooperation. Boston is going ahead smoothly with this and other metropolitan plans, while according to newspaper reports, arwring factions are cutting each others throats over similar propositions of docks and transportation facilities in New York. It is easy to see which method will win.—Richmond Journal.

MONTREAL PUBLIC DOCK SYSTEM

Report of Dock Commissioner Cranes Recent Visit of Inspection

Over Two Million Tons of Freight Handled in Five Months of Year

Dock and Water Front Commissioner Frank Fessenden Crane who accompanied the Massachusetts Real estate Exchange to Montreal, as a representative of Mayor Shea, to inspect the dock system of that city made his report of the trip to the Mayor this morning. As Quincy is vitally interested in the question of public docks his report will be read with great interest.

To His Honor, Wm. T. Shea,
Quincy, Mass.

Dear Sir:—

At your request I accompanied the Members of the Massachusetts Real Estate Exchange on their visit to Montreal to inspect the Dock and Water Front System of that City, and beg to report as follows:—

The Montreal Docks are situated one thousand miles from the ocean and are available for use a little over five months in the year. They are managed and controlled by three commissioners, who act as trustees and have full control of the entire dock system of the Harbor of Montreal, with no possible interference from either of the political parties, corporation interests, or individual interests.

The funds for their use are loaned to them by the Canadian Government at 3 18 percent, future loans to be at 3 1-2 percent and the Commissioners give in return 25 year debenture bonds.

The work is carried on by day labor, men being employed by the day only, with a daily pay roll. These men are employed under the following heads:—

Wharf Works Department
Freight Handlers and Railroad Men
Harbor Yard Department
Carpenters and Blacksmiths.
Machine Shop Department
Machinists and Blacksmiths.
Shipyard Department
Carpenters and Laborers
Dredging Fleet Department
Crews of Dredges, Tugs and Scows.
Grain Elevator Department
Foreman and Operators.
Conveyancer Department
Iron Workers and Carpenters.
Shed Repairs and Maintainance Dept.
Carpenters and Laborers.

The working day in general is ten hours, Victoria Day, Dominion Day and Labor Day are kept as holidays, the men being allowed 1-2 a days pay on these days. The maximum number of men employed is 806 and the average number 408.

Over two million tons of freight are handled annually in the time the river is open.

The stages by which the present superb system has been acquired are as follows—First the Commissioners decided to formulate a plan for a twenty-five year development of Montreal Harbor and sent to England for the best Dock and Water Front Engineer that could be had, showed him the location, told him of the future possibilities and had him furnish a plan for a twenty-five year development. Later the Board hired an Engineer of its own, and without letting him know they had a plan for development, asked him to prepare one. When it was ready they asked for the appointment of an Advisory Commission to consider and report as to which was the best plan for the development of Montreal Harbor and the Commission reported in favor of the plan of the Dock Commission's own engineer, and work was started at once.

I consider it worthy of note that the first step taken was to prepare a plan of definite development for a period of twenty-five years. The Canadian Government took both sides of the river for 18 miles below Montreal and put it in the hands of the three commissioners without any limits or reserves.

The Channel was dredged and lighted on each side every 300 feet from Montreal to Cape Race and Montreal has today the best lighted harbor in the world. A railroad line was built which connected all the railroads in the City with the docks and the Dock Commissioners now own and operate a complete railway system having under their exclusive control over 28 miles of Railway Trackage, a 75 ton floating crane is used. They also have a number of Coal Handling Machines on a railroad track running from dock to dock, which can be shifted at any time as desired. Also scales and other weighing appliances right on the Water Front edge of the Docks in easy reach of the vessels.

The Dock Commissioners have a grain elevator with a capacity of one million bushels which elevated about twelve million bushels last year and have in process of construction another elevator with a capacity of two million bushels.

The freight sheds and storage warehouses are built in the best possible manner, of structural steel frames, cement floors and corrugated iron roofs; fine examples of fire-proof construction.

The docks are built of concrete and have about thirty feet of water. The Commission is dredging a large basin for a dry dock, which will be built and

HONESTY IN EVERYTHING

The more worthless a man is, the more fish he can catch.

The good old Presbyterian church is no place for religious insurgents.

President Taft finds that the "nigger in the woodpile" is the trust.

We hate to miss the coronation, but our potatoes must be hoed.

The rain is needed and we welcome it but a midnight thunder shower every night—well that is a different matter entirely.

President Taft will not spend this summer in Minnesota, and the small boys of that state lose the chance to make money finding his lost golf balls.

The government paid $2450 for a portrait of ex-Secretary Day, but it remains to be seen whether it looks any more like him than an enlarged photograph costing $10.

We had been getting discouraged about the progress of the world, but the annual mighty uplift from the graduation exercises is only a fortnight away.

A million people gathered at Rome to see the Victor Emmanuel monument dedicated. They were probably all qualifying to become guides to American tourists.

"What has become of the old-fashioned dog that used to trot under the farmer's wagon" demands the Toledo blade. He is now riding on the hood of the auto.

It has cost the Steel trust $200,000 to answer the government's demands for information, while if they had declined to answer they would perhaps have been stuck only $10 and costs for contempt.

TEACH CHILDREN HOW TO CROSS STREETS.

School Instruction Might Lessen Number of Accidents.

The Automobile Club of America will probably make a request of the New York board of education in the near future that it include in its drills a method of teaching children how to cross a street properly. A very large percentage of automobile accidents are the result of carelessness on the part of children rather than the fault of drivers.

"Children are taught the fire drill and other things for their own safeguarding," said an official of the Automobile Club of America. "It would be an easy matter to impress upon their minds the necessity of looking in each direction for automobiles or other vehicles before stepping off the sidewalk. A child is naturally heedless of anything that is not stamped in some manner as a danger. To my mind the risks to children are as great from street accidents as from fire.

"It is a fact, of course, that a majority of injuries to children caused by automobiles are the result of the youngsters suddenly jumping in front of the vehicles while at play. In such cases the drivers are utterly powerless to avert trouble. It seems to me, however, that warnings in school and a simple demonstration once a week or oftener on the street would help to remind the youngsters while they are at play of the necessity of constant watchfulness.

"Now that the fine weather is here and children are using the streets as playgrounds the necessity for care is greater than ever. Many times a day there are narrow escapes. In addition to the accidents that are recorded. Much of the trouble could probably be avoided were steps taken to teach the children to exercise caution on the streets and while crossing them."

How to Whiten Clothes.

A simple but easy method of whitening clothes is when boiling them to drop in a few peach leaves tied up in a muslin cloth.

HOW DID GENERAL MORGAN ESCAPE?

Pretty War Story Appears to Have Been a Myth.

NO SECRET TUNNEL FOUND.

The Confederate Raider Did Not Gain His Liberty by Method Generally Supposed—His Daring Exploits Along the Ohio River.

Further investigation in the Ohio state penitentiary at Columbus has failed to reveal any secret tunnel by which General John H. Morgan and his five Confederate followers escaped from prison, and the manner of their escape probably will never be known, as General Morgan, who led the escape, has been dead almost fifty years.

John H. Morgan of Kentucky was the leader of a band of guerrilla raiders who kept the Federal farmers and townspeople living along the Ohio river in a constant state of terror in the early years of the civil war. Morgan's raids started in Kentucky, but the Ohio river was no protection to those living on the north side of it, for the Confederate leader dodged from one side of it to the other with marvelous agility. When there was no bridge convenient, and often there was not, a river steamboat would be captured to carry the guerrilla troops.

His First Exploit.

General Morgan's first exploit was the invasion of Kentucky from eastern Tennessee in July, 1861. He had a force of 1,200 men, and he hoped to stir the young men of the race horse state up to joining the Confederacy. Many of them did, but Morgan's plan to sweep Kentucky into the ranks of the seceded states was unsuccessful. Morgan rode north across Kentucky at the head of his band of raiders, living on the country and forcing contributions for the support of his army from friend and foe alike. The friends were glad to turn over to the Confederate "liberator" whatever they had of horses and provisions, and his foes were afraid not to. The guerrilla leader planned to plunder Cincinnati, and the inhabitants of that pork packing town were in a state of great alarm until the news came that a Federal force under Green Clay Smith, a Kentuckian, had forced Morgan's band to turn back and retreat south.

In the summer of 1863 Morgan planned an organized invasion of the states north of the Ohio for the purpose of stirring up a counter revolution there. In the northwest the Knights of the Golden Circle, an organization of the peace party, which objected strongly to the payment of war taxes, was ready to aid him. Morgan crossed the Ohio late in June. A strong Federal force was victorious in a fight July 3, and the Morgan band retreated south again.

Plundered as They Went.

His ranks were swelled by recruits from Kentucky, and with an army of 4,000 men he again crossed to the north side of the Ohio a few days later. Through Indiana the rebel army marched, plundering as it went. The farmers were not the only ones who were forced to contribute to the maintenance of the guerrilla troops. Factory owners were compelled to pay $1,000 apiece to receive a guarantee that their places of business were not destroyed.

Indiana was aroused and with the news of the victories of Gettysburg and Vicksburg was more than ever determined to drive Morgan and his army south of the Ohio. Governor Morton issued a general call to the citizens of the state, and within forty-eight hours 65,000 of them turned out "to repel invaders."

His Capture and Escape.

Morgan was surrounded at Buffington Ford when he tried to escape into Virginia, and there 800 of his men surrendered. The rest escaped with their leader. At Belleville about 300 escaped by swimming their horses across the Ohio. Morgan himself fled inland, fighting militia, plundering and burning bridges in order to delay his pursuers. New pursuers sprang up in front of him. All Indiana was eager to have a share in the capture of "Morgan the raider." Morgan struggled on until July 20, when he was forced to surrender. With a half dozen of his men he was confined in the Ohio penitentiary at Columbus.

There he stayed until Nov. 17, when the officials of the prison suddenly discovered that "the raider" and his officers were gone. Various romantic stories of the escape were told. According to almost all of them, the Confederate officers had escaped by tunneling. A favorite tale was that the spoons which they were given to eat with were the instruments of their escape. For four months, the story went, the little band of men spent all their waking time, which extended far into the night, scraping out a way to freedom.

Japan's Imports.

Japan bought $28,808,000 worth of American goods in the nine months ended March, 1911, or $12,800,000 worth more than in the preceding similar period. Japan is increasing imports right along now that the "financial squeeze" there has eased up.

WEAR ROSE FOR FATHER

Third Sunday In June Is Established as "Fathers' Day"

Spokane, Wash., June 13.—"Fathers' day" will be observed in this city next Sunday and in other cities of the state to which the observance has spread since its origin last year.

Mrs. J. B. Dodd is the "mother of Fathers' day," taking her cue from Miss Anna Jarvis of Philadelphia, whose suggestion several years ago to set aside a day in honor of mother has been taken up in all parts of the world.

Mothers' day has its white carnation, the emblem of mother. Fathers' day has its rose—red for the father who is still in the land of the living; white, for the father who has passed away. If you wish to give outward evidence of honor and respect for the father who held you lovingly in his arms when you were a baby, wear a rose on Fathers' day, the third Sunday in June.

POSTAL CLERK ARRESTED

Employe at Beverly Charged With Stealing From Mail

Boston, June 13.—Accused of the theft of marked money from letters in the Beverly postoffice, Leroy B. Foster, a postal clerk, was arrested and brought to Boston for arraignment before United States Commissioner Hayes.

Several complaints have been received from Beverly concerns that their mail has been stolen. Postoffice inspectors went to the Beverly postoffice and deposited decoy letters in the mail. When charged with the theft, Foster was examined and the marked money was found upon him.

The prisoner is about 24 years old, and has been employed as a clerk at the Beverly postoffice about four years. It is said that he was planning to be married.

Salem, Mass., June 13.—Fred L. Snow, the Westford paving contractor on trial in the Lawrence "graft" cases, turned state's evidence, implicating all his three co-defendants, on the witness stand of the Essex county superior criminal court yesterday afternoon.

Snow said that he paid $1000 to Patrick J. Lyons, superintendent of streets of Lawrence, Dec. 15 last, as a present for giving him a big order, and later "remembered" Michael Flynn, Lyons' clerk, with $250. On a previous occasion Lyons was given $100 as a bribe, Snow testified.

District Attorney Atwell drew out the confession detail by detail, and Snow was still confessing at adjournment time.

Duchess of Marlborough May Return to America For Good

London, June 13.—From news that Marble House at Newport is being prepared for occupancy this summer, it is believed here that the Duchess of Marlborough is to quit England and make her permanent home in her native country.

There is ample ground for this belief, and especially that the coming coronation ceremonies will advertise and emphasize the fact that the American duchess is excluded from the court of King George and Queen Mary.

Almost from the day of her wedding in New York, the millionaire's daughter has endured the snubs of an indifferent husband.

JOHNSON RECEIVES GREAT RECEPTION

Champion Fighter Makes a Decided Hit In London

London, June 13.—Encased in a dressing gown whose kaleidoscopic colors rivaled Joseph's famous coat, Jack Johnson, champion pugilist of the world, received guests yesterday afternoon in the swellest flat in all London.

Johnson is the sensation of the metropolis. Landing at Plymouth yesterday morning he was nearly mobbed by an enthusiastic multitude, and when London was reached the crowd about the station was so dense that a special police guard was necessary to get the black champion through the press and into his waiting automobile.

Johnson and his wife went direct to the magnificent Alexandra Mansion. Here Johnson will have his headquarters while in England, and here it was that he last night received a big delegation of British sporting men.

"Open house" of the kind known in Chicago, but never before encountered in chilly London, was the order, and the "bubbly stuff" was as common at the Johnson reception as is beer at a yegg convention on the Bowery.

DIRECT VOTE IS PASSED

Senate Approves Amendment to Constitution by Good Majority

Washington, June 13.—The senate last night by a vote of 64 to 24 adopted the resolution amending the constitution to provide for election of senators by direct popular vote.

The Bristow amendment, giving to the federal government supervision of such elections, was adopted, 45 to 44, the vice president casting the deciding vote. The house has already adopted the resolution.

Senator Reed of Missouri protested against the vice president casting the deciding vote. An amendment by Senator Bacon, qualifying the Bristow amendment to prohibit federal supervision of elections unless a state legislatures refuses or fails to act, was defeated, 46 to 43.

STEEL vs. WOOD

Your old black-walnut desk may be a good looking piece of furniture but it isn't the modern place to keep your valuable papers, your jewelry, or money. It can burn readily, its lock is easy to pick or break, its concealment is insufficient. A steel box in our burglar-proof, fire-defying vault will cost you $5 a year—(only half the cost of a similar box in Boston). Use one and stop worrying.

HALL PLACE M. E.

Rev. W. B. Fiske of Stoneham occupied the pulpit of the Hall Place M. E. church, Sunday morning in the absence of the pastor. He took for his text 2 Cor. 13-5. "Examine yourselves, whether ye be in the faith, prove yourselves."

Sunday school was held at 12 M. The last session of the Junior League for the summer was held at 3 P. M., with an extra large attendance.

Miss Ada Williams lead the Epworth League.

Devotional service at 6.15 on "Religious training and leadership."

Miss Miles of the New England Deaconess Association conducted the evening service in the interests of the Deaconess. Time and space would not permit of the telling of the wide scope of Deaconess work. There are three institutions connected with Deaconess work in the City of Boston, the Deaconess Home on Massachusetts avenue, the Training school on Longwood avenue an dthe Deaconess Hospital. At the Home on Massachusetts avenue classes are conducted for cooking, sewing, stenciling, brass work and other practical subjects, having an enrollment of about 300.

There are about 53 Deaconnesses in New England, engaged in different branches of the work.

At the Training school young women are given a course which fit them for the highest, noblest Christian service. All who attend the Training school are not obliged to become deaconesses, but many young women take this training ocurse that they may be able to do better work for God.

The Deaconess Hospital is one of the best equipped hospitals in Boston. A great deal of good work is done here, many free patients being cared for as well as those who are able to pay. One of the best things in connection with this free work is that no one knows, not even the nurses who are paying patients, this being the highest type of Christian charity. A recent gift from a man whose wife died at the hospital is 100 acres of land and $20,000 dollars to erect a hospital at Concord, Mass., this being already under construction.

Miss Miles favored her audience with a beautiful solo, playing her own accompaniment on the autoharp. She was very much enjoyed and appreciated by this congregation who never tire of hearing of the good work of the Deaconess. These consecrated young women are a great power for good and their noble lives and deeds speak volumes for Him who came "not to be ministered unto but to minister."

WOLLASTON METHODIST

Sunday was observed as Children's day at the Methodist church, Rev. Wesley Wiggin, the pastor, preached on "The Children the Hope of the Church for the Future." The large chorus choir was at its best with Mrs. F. G. Bonnett as organist. An unusually large audience was present.

Mrs. George Crothers, superintendent of the primary department had a large attendance with many new members. Miss Nettie Snowden, who is in charge of the kindergarten had a full attendance.

At 6 o'clock the Sunday school gave a concert with an audience that filled the seating capacity of the church and many chairs had to be brought in.

The decorations consisting of flowers, evergreens and flags, were in charge of Mr. Belcher's, Mr. F. G. Bonnett's and Mr. F. A. Sutermeister's classes. The program was in charge of Mr. S. N. Belcher's class with Mrs. Belcher as chairman. Great credit is due the committee for the excellent concert. The children who took part were well trained and each took the part assigned with great credit to themselves and the committee who had in charge the exercises.

BETHANY CHURCH.

The childrens concert was held Sunday morning at Bethany church with a very large attendance. The children took part in songs and recitations, and Rev. Langley B. Sears gave a short address.

The Y. P. S. C. E. meeting at 6.15 was led by Deacon Forsythe who gave a very inspiring talk on "The Love of Christ."

In the evening Mr. Sears preached from Rev. 1:10. The Tides of Religion was his subject and his thought was a very fine one indeed. He pointed out that if John, the beloved disciple and Jesus himself had the ebb tide of religious belief in their experience need we be surprised if it comes to us. Mr. Sears pointed out i ts inevitability and then gave his ideas relative to overcoming it and getting the flood tide again. He also pointed out that there was great danger in the flood tide also for we are so prone to make mistakes.

The final meeting of the year for the Philatheas class w ill be held this evening in the chapel.

At the prayer meeting Thursday evening Mr. Sears will be present to conduct the service.

QUINCY POINT CHURCH.

An unusually good Sunday school concert was given by the children in place of the regular morning service. Songs, recitations and selections by the church choir all contributed to the enjoyment of a large audience.

The church was beautifully decorated for the service.

In the evening the pastor preached a fine sermon on "The pearl of great price." Matt. 13:44-45, was the text. Life is a marketplace where we all go to get what we can. Be sure that what you get is the best. Strive to find this pearl of great price and then treasure it as your greatest possession.

The regular mid week prayer meeting will be held Friday evening at the usual hour.

CHRIST CHURCH.

At the service Sunday morning Dr. Jeffrey Brackett gave an address on "The significance of the National Conference of Charities and Correction." In the evening the Rector preached on "Practical aspects of the Trinity."

There will be a meeting of the vestry this evening at 8 o'clock in the rectory.

The Galahad Brotherhood will hold a special meeting in the Rectory, Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock.

Rev. James A. Thompson, rector of the Church of the Epiphany will be resident clergyman during the absence of the pastor, the last week of July and the month of August.

The date of the Sunday school picnic has been set for June 28 or if it is stormy on that date, on June 29. The picnic will be held at Glen Echo park, Stoughton.

used by the Vickers Sons & Maxim Company of England, who will also build and operate a shipyard in connection with the dock. The Canadian Government paying a subsidy to this company of 3 1-2 percent on the capital needed to construct the dry dock.

The sources of income are as follows:—the Commission received $2.50 for taking a car from any railroad in the city and shunting it to any wharf in the harbor, whether the distance be one mile or eighteen; this also includes two other movements of the car if needed. If the car is taken to any other railroad than the one from which it is received the charge is five dollars, the time limit being 72 hours after which demurrage charge is one dollar per day. Another source of income is the rental of storage space in the sheds at a rate of ten cents per square foot or eighteen cents per square foot if both upper and lower floors are taken. Wharfage charges of eight cents per ton for sand, three cents per ton for coal, twenty cents per ton for cotton, or express and general freight matter and twelve cents per 1000 feet for lumber.

About 670 vessels come into the port of Montreal in the five months it is open, navigated by 42,684 seamen.

The Commissions emphasize the fact that any extensions must be demonstrated as 1st Necessary, 2nd Feasible, and 3rd Financially justifiable. The dock system has paid from the start and is self sustaining. The Harbor Commissioners have the confidence of the City of Montreal, the Canadian Press and the Canadian Government, and they have today unlimited credit and can borrow all they need on twenty-five year debenture bonds at from 3 1-8 to 3 1-2 per cent.

Respectfully submitted,
Frank Fessenden Crane.
Commissioner of Water Front, Water ways and Navigation.

Preparations are being made to have band concerts here Saturday evenings and Sunday afternoons and evenings. Clarence Putnam has bought the Togo, a large power dory.

The Yaarab made a trip down to Lynn and back Sunday. Outside the boat found the water pretty choppy.

Mrs. North who has been ill some time with bronchitis is still in a serious condition.

Miss Ethel Wentworth of Dorchester spent Sunday here with friends.

Sunday was a poor day for the beach, a strong east wind blowing all day. In spite of the weather many boats were out carrying good numbers.

Wednesday evening the Ladies' Aid and Men's club of Union church are to hold a strawberry festival. On Thursday evening the regular Bible study service and choir rehearsal will be held and on Friday evening a meeting of the Ladies' Aid society.

How Ladies Improve Looks!

"Many ladies, old and young, suffer a round of tortures with their nerves, and many are so frail, thin and bloodless, that their splendid features are lost sight of, while a vain attempt to conceal the angularity of the figure deceives no one but themselves and really excites the pity or ridicule of the world," said a well known, largely employed practicing physician, in a recent lecture at a young ladies' college. "I do not mind exposing a little secret of mine to all such, as it can do no harm and may result in much happiness and health. It is simply this: Any thin, bloodless, nerve-tortured man or woman can become as fit as the fittest by taking regularly for several months an easily obtained pharmaceutical product known by the profession and pharmacists, as 'three-grain hypo-nuclane tablets,' but up in sealed packages with directions for home use."

A MEAN PLOT THAT FAILED.

Seated in a corner of the playground of St. Charles college was a group of boys laughing, joking and funmaking. Among these boys was Jack Simms, the funniest person on earth (in his own opinion) and the black sheep of the college. If any mischief were done or moonlight excursions occurred—indeed, any kind of wrongdoing that could be thought of—Jack Simms and his followers were undoubtedly the perpetrators. But Simms had another great fault, and that was an uncontrollable bullying spirit.

Presently Pat McGuire, a boy who a short time before had come from Ireland, entered the yard and sat down with them. He had the ready wit with which his countrymen are so gifted and was liked by nearly all who knew him.

Simms started to play tricks on Pat, whose handkerchief was tied into a knot, his pockets filled with stones and his books hidden. Beans were thrown down his neck, his collar detached from his shirt—in fact, everything that could make him uncomfortable was done. Pat rose and went to get a drink at the pump. Simms in the meantime placed a tack in an upright position on the seat lately occupied by the young Irishman. In a few moments Pat returned and sat down, but got up again mighty quickly. His eyes flashed angrily, and, addressing Simms, he said, "Did you do that?"

"Well, if I did?" was the answer.

"You're a mean fellow, and I've a mind to thrash you."

"Have you?" said Simms, and with that he dealt Pat a blow on the cheek. He had cause to regret it a moment later, when Pat gave him a tap on the nose that made stars flash before his eyes. The prefect of discipline came into the yard at this moment, and the youthful fighters and their backers lost no time in making themselves scarce. But ever after that Simms was a bitter enemy of Pat.

Pat and Simms were in the same class and were contestants for the annual prize offered for the best English composition. The subject of this composition was "Heroism." All compositions were to be given to the teacher on June 10.

As that day approached Simms began to have fears as to whether he would win the prize or not. However, he felt certain that his essay was better than any of the other boys' compositions with the exception of Pat McGuire's, and so he resolved that if he could not win by fair means he would by foul. One night he called Tom Blake, a crony of his, who had not an ounce of brains or moral courage, and told him that Pat McGuire had been getting "too fresh" and needed "to be called down" and said he would give him a dollar if he stole that "Irish fool's" composition on June 10 and gave it to him. Now, if the plan succeeded Pat would not have time to rewrite his essay and Simms would probably be the winner.

Little did Simms dream that his plot would be overheard, yet such was the case, for the rector had unwittingly heard every word of the wicked scheme, and he resolved to spoil the game.

In the morning of June 10 Pat and Tom Blake walked together to school. Tom was very pleasant, and while telling Pat a story he contrived to steal his composition and place in its stead an envelope filled with a newspaper.

Having arrived at the college, Tom and Pat separated, the former going, as was agreed, to the back of the infirmary, where he met Simms, who was delighted with Tom's success. Simms took a crisp dollar bill from his pocket and handed it to his agent and was about to burn Pat's composition when the rector came forward and said, "Simms, give me that paper."

Simms turned pale when he saw that reverend gentleman, but did as he was bidden. The rector told the culprits he had overheard their scheme and as it was not their first offense of that kind they must leave St. Charles' college that very day, that very hour. In vain they pleaded for mercy. The rector told them that it was his duty to expel them, and so he did.

The winner of the prize was Pat McGuire, and neither he nor anybody else in St. Charles' college except the president ever knew why Jack Simms and Tom Blake were expelled.

A TEST

A Story For Independence Day

By SARA GOULD AMES

Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

There is a house at Dobbs Ferry, N. Y., where cannon planted and the stars and stripes flying from a staff in the yard indicate that to the premises is attached something of national importance. It was in this house that Washington had one of his headquarters, and it was here that he planned the Yorktown campaign, which resulted in American independence.

Close by this place and on the opposite side of what was then called the Albany road lived a Tory family named Treat. A young lieutenant in the patriot army, John Rathbone, was a suitor for the hand of Marian Treat, and the girl returned his love. But her father, who had been born in England, was so stalwart an adherent of the king's cause that he would not consent to the marriage of his daughter with a rebel. On the contrary, with that vigor common in family affairs, especially at that day, among Englishmen, he insisted on his daughter accepting Captain Reginald Winstead of the British army in America.

One evening Lieutenant Rathbone, whose regiment was stationed at Kingsbridge, rode over to Dobbs Ferry to see Marian Treat. His object was to induce her to brave her father's anger by becoming his wife. He was obliged to knock twice at the door, when it was opened by Marian herself, who seemed very much disturbed.

"What is it, sweetheart?" he asked.

"Father has told me since you were here last not to receive you again."

"Is that all?"

"Yes—no. I think you had better go."

"Not till I have said what I have to say and received your answer."

She had lingered in the hall, but he strode into the living room, where she followed him.

"I have come," Rathbone continued, "to make a last protest against your marrying this Englishman, who is one of those who are endeavoring by force of arms to subject us to slavery. Come with me now to the parsonage of Dominie Van Vorst and let him tie the knot. That is the only way by which you can escape a marriage with this Captain Winstead."

"I cannot go. If father should come in and find you here something awful would happen."

"Marian, sweetheart, come with me, I conjure you!"

He seized her hand and was attempting to draw her toward the door when a man stepped from behind a screen and with wrathful mien confronted him.

"I am Reginald Winstead," he said, "the man to whom you have referred in such uncomplimentary terms. Do you consider it honorable to attempt to win a lady in such fashion?"

"I consider it honorable to attempt to win in any fashion a lady who prefers me and is kept from me by a father's tyranny. Let me ask you, sir, if you consider it honorable to act with her father against his daughter's inclinations."

"Let her decide here, now, between us," replied Captain Winstead, "and if she decides in your favor"—

The words were cut short by the violent opening of the outer door. Marian, white as a sheet, thrust Winstead behind the screen. One of General Washington's aids entered the room hurriedly.

"Mistress Treat," he said, "information has been brought to headquarters that a British soldier is within our lines and harbored by some of the Tory families hereabout. I must search the house."

"Captain," said Rathbone, "will you accept my statement that there is no such spy here?"

"You may not know of his presence."

"I do know of the presence of a person here, a friend of mine. He has recently come from the enemy's lines and proposes to return there. Will you oblige me by permitting him to go free on my promise that no information goes with him?"

"I will refer the matter to the general."

The officer strode across the road and in a few minutes returned with the information that "General Washington, in view of his confidence in Lieutenant Rathbone, grants the request."

Meanwhile Captain Winstead had appeared from behind the screen.

"Lieutenant Rathbone," he said, "permit me to thank you for what you have done for me. Had I been taken within your lines in citizen's dress, though there are no incriminating documents on my person, I would have been in danger of being hanged for a spy. Marian, do what I was asking you to do when we were interrupted. Decide between us."

Marian threw herself into Rathbone's arms.

"Now," said Rathbone to Winstead, "I will conduct you out of our lines."

"I beg that you will allow me to go out the way I came in," replied the Englishman. "If there is anything to lighten my disappointment at my loss it is that the girl I love shall marry a man who would not stoop to take advantage of a rival."

Winstead took his departure and found his way to his own army. When he had gone the girl Rathbone had so suddenly won said to him:

"An hour ago I had firmly resolved to yield to the wishes of my father. When you were so suddenly put to the test and your nobler instincts at once came to the front I was conquered."

FRYE A DESERTER.

Senator Declares Extra Session of Congress a Blunder.

Anticipating the failure of the senate to do anything that will require his presence in Washington and characterizing the extra session as a "political and business blunder," Senator William P. Frye of Maine, who not only holds the record of the senate in point of service, but who has been in congress longer than any other man now a member of either branch, has gone to his home and will remain there until congress meets for the regular session next December.

"The senate is a lonesome place to me nowadays," Senator Frye said. "There is not a man in either branch of congress who was there when I entered congress. To me the senate seems a younger body than it used to be, but that is simply because I am growing older, I suppose.

"I don't see how the senate can accomplish anything. Its inability to choose a successor to me as president pro tempore shows that the Republican insurgents can hold the whole senate up whenever they want to. I have a foot that is giving me great trouble. I cannot get about easily, so why should I remain in Washington during the hot weather? If a situation arises in the senate that creates a need for my vote I shall come back. But I anticipate no such contingency.

"As a matter of fact I think this extra session a great political and business blunder. So far as I can see nobody wants reciprocity with Canada. What the senate will do about it I cannot predict, but I am sure it will not take long to prove what a great mistake this extra session is."

How to Preserve Leather.

Leather furniture, especially when placed near the register, is liable to dry and crack. An excellent method of keeping it from looking old and showing cracks is to go over the leather with a soft rag dipped in olive oil and then going over the whole surface again with a dry rag. It is not necessary to go over the leather more than once in three or four months, just enough to keep it soft.

NERVE GIVES WAY AT LAST

Taylor Weakens and Confesses to Killing Wife

ASKED HER TO GO HUNTING

She Complies and Back of Her Head is Blown Off Shortly After She Leaves Their Home—Body Tumbled Into Rough Sepulchre and Slayer Coolly Returns to House and Prepares Evening Meal

Farmington, Me., June 13.—With tears streaming down his bronzed and furrowed cheeks, Marshall Taylor of Freeman, held in the county jail since the finding of his wife's body in a forest grave Sunday, near the Taylor home, confessed that he murdered her with a shotgun on the evening of May 12.

He will be arraigned on the charge of murder this afternoon.

In the next breath he told County Attorney Blanchard and Sheriff Small that the motive for his crime was his great hate for the woman who for a number of years had been his wife.

Taylor told the county officials how he led his wife to the grave that was already prepared for her reception, and there, just as the sun was sinking behind the great pines to the west, shot the back of her head off with a heavy load of shot.

It was only after an hour's grilling that the officials were able to break the nerve of the man who looked Sunday on the mangled remains of his wife without the quiver of an eyelash. But when the confession came it came with a rush.

Simple though the words were, they were intensely dramatic as Taylor poured them out in a full confession of his crime.

He told the officers that he hated the woman and had hated her for years. He intimated that she had tried to keep property from him that should have been his by right and that she was anything but a loving companion and helpmate. Finally, he said, he decided that she must die.

On the evening of May 12 Taylor asked his wife to accompany him to the woods at the rear of their home to hunt. She agreed. Taylor took with him his shotgun. The couple walked across the clearing back of the house and had taken only a few steps through the trees, when he told her to go ahead of him on some pretext, and holding his shotgun close to the back of his wife's head he fired.

The skull was shattered and Mrs. Taylor fell without a word, her husband said. Taylor declared that he fired only one shot, and that he did not club his wife over the head after she fell. The fact that the entire back of the woman's head was missing when the body was discovered had led the authorities to believe that the skull must have been beaten away by some heavy instrument.

Immediately he saw his wife was dead, Taylor said he set about hiding the body. The place where she fell was within a few feet of the grave he had dug for her.

Into this rough sepulchre he tumbled the bleeding body and then hurried to pile dirt, boughs and stones on the remains. Still cool and unmoved by his terrible deed Taylor returned to the house, where he set about preparing his evening repast, as though nothing had happened.

Seldom, has the old jail office in this town seen a more dramatic scene than that enacted there yesterday afternoon. Taylor is bronzed and dressed in the fashion of the Maine guides, his hair falling low about his head in ringlets. For some time after Blanchard and Small commenced the third degree the man gave evasive answers.

But after a time the rapid fire questions seemed to have an effect on him and finally he burst into tears and said that he would tell all.

Whether or not he admitted he was sorry for the crime he had committed the officers refuse to say. Miss Guida Searles, who had been Taylor's housekeeper since the murder of his wife, and who has been held as a witness, will be detained at the county jail, although Blanchard said that he believes she is not implicated in the matter in any manner.

Miss Searles, who figured some years ago in a sensational court case that resulted in her being sent to jail for a term of months, has taken the matter very coolly and willingly posed for her photograph. She has been seen much in Taylor's company of late.

That the murder of his wife was not a deed prompted by the impulse of the moment, but was carefully planned some time before, appears from the fact that the grave in which the murdered woman was found appears to have been dug on the day before the crime was committed. On that day Taylor was seen with pick and shovel in hand by Burt Whitney near the place where the grave was found. The communication of this fact to the police authorities finally led to the discovery of the grave.

WOMEN FORCE OUT SECRETS

Held a Majority of Stock In the Sugar Trust

THE NEW ENGLAND COMBINE

It Disclosed Fact That Havemeyer Maintained Supremacy With Stock Valued at $200,000 of a Total of $90,000,000—Purpose of Combination Was to Do Away With Competition—Testimony of Atkins

Washington, June 13.—So carefully guarded were the operations of the American Sugar Refining company up to less than two years ago, E. F. Atkins, vice president and acting head of the corporation, told the special "sugar trust" investigating committee of the house, that stockholders were accorded no information as to how the company was being conducted.

The conditions grew so onerous, the witness said, that the New England stockholders combined and obtained control. When they did so in 1910 they discovered to their astonishment that H. O. Havemeyer, the presiding genius of the organization, had maintained his supremacy with only 2000 shares of stock.

The holdings of Havemeyer at the time of his death, Atkins said, were valued at about $200,000 of a total of $90,000,000 in the American Sugar Refining company.

"That was a surprising discovery," he declared. "It had been generally supposed that Havemeyer owned the greater part of the stock."

Mr. Atkins said that the New England interests obtained control after a committee discovered from an examination that of the stock owners of the American Sugar Refining company 63 percent were New Englanders. "We found that there were 18,000 New England owners," said Atkins, "and 10,000 of these were women. They were helpless as far as representation was concerned and I was urged to take a place on the board, which I did."

He explained how control for the New England holders was secured by his election and the election also of Samuel Carr, C. H. Allen, W. B. Thomas and Edward Marston, all of whom now represent that majority of the stockholders known as the New England syndicate.

The Bay State refinery of Boston, which was owned by his father, was one of the seventeen concerns taken into the Havemeyer combination in 1887, the witness testified. The value of the property, he said, was about $500,000, for which $900,000 was paid by the Havemeyer company. Atkins said he was induced to go into the Havemeyer combination in 1887 because the business was not profitable, largely due to overproduction throughout the country.

"The purpose of the combination," said Atkins, "was to strengthen the best houses, and to dismantle the others."

"Was it the purpose of the combination to do away with competition?" Chairman Hardwick asked.

"I suppose so," replied the witness.

Representative Hinds endeavored to learn the increase in the capital at the time of the combination and asked especially why $900,000 was paid for the Bay State Refining company when its physical value was only $500,000. Beyond stating that the $400,000 represented in part the good will of the company and the value of its property, Atkins could give Hinds little information on the subject.

FREED OF MURDER CHARGE

Scheib Is Now Held on a Charge of Grand Larceny

New York, June 13.—After a special hearing before Magistrate Corrigan, at which Harry A. Scheib was freed of the charge that he murdered his wife, he was immediately rearrested upon a warrant charging him with grand larceny.

The complainants in this case are Mr. and Mrs. John Wyeth, for whom Scheib formerly worked as a chauffeur. They charge him with having stolen a fur coat valued at $60.

The complaint made by the Wyeths was all that prevented Scheib going away from the criminal courts building free to leave the state if he desired.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

HEAVY BAIL IN STOKES CASE

Misses Graham and Conrad Held In $25,000 Each

ATTEMPTED MURDER CHARGE

Will Be Changed to Murder In First Degree If Millionaire Should Not Recover, Serious Symptoms of Blood Poisoning Having Developed —Sisters of Chorus Girl Are Hurrying to Her Defense

New York, June 13.—Lillian Graham and Ethel Conrad, the chorus girls accused of shooting W. E. D. Stokes, millionaire proprietor of the Hotel Ansonia, at their apartment on Wednesday evening, were admitted to bail by Magistrate Freschi in West Side police court.

Bail was set at $25,000 each, one of the highest figures ever recorded in a similar case in New York city. This was because of the fact that serious symptoms have developed in the wounds of the injured millionaire and he is now threatened with blood poisoning. The charge against the girls is now that of attempted murder, which will be changed to murder in the first degree if Stokes should die.

Mrs. John Singleton, a sister of Miss Graham, who was acquainted with Stokes, is racing across the Atlantic with documents believed to be additional letters written by Stokes to Lillian Graham. It is intimated this evidence will play an important part in the evidence.

Mrs. Alice Andrews, another sister of Miss Graham, is crossing the continent as fast as steam can bring her to be near the imprisoned girl. She is also expected to reveal some of the secret chapters in the life story of the younger sister, who, in a public statement, has charged Stokes with having wrecked her happiness and then cast her aside.

To one of the police detectives who visited the hospital, Stokes said: "I feel I was mighty lucky to escape out of this affair with my life. What the girls say about me does not bother, but in view of all that has happened I am going to see this fight to the finish."

With the support of the relatives and several mysterious friends, Miss Graham and Miss Conrad have announced a similar determination to fight.

Lawyer Phillips of the defense left town Saturday, but has returned. It is generally understood that he had visited a nearby town to meet one of the wealthy friends who volunteered to finance the defense of Miss Conrad. The name of this man has been as carefully concealed as have many of the circumstances surrounding the shooting.

All efforts to locate the wealthy western senator, who is known to have befriended Miss Graham during her recent visit to Europe, have been without success. He is said to have been in communication with the young woman's attorney, but his exact whereabouts are unknown.

In any event, this senator is due to be in Washington early this week to attend several several important committee meetings. His friends say, however, that if he fails to show up they will not be surprised. The senator is married.

President Pardons Man Who Rendered a Great Service

Washington, June 13.—President Taft has granted an unconditional pardon to Lorenzo D. Barnes, an inmate of the government hospital for the insane here, who recently prevented a wholesale delivery of insane convicts from the institution by overhearing their plans and notifying the guards.

Barnes was convicted of killing a man who had defamed his wife. While serving a life sentence he became insane, but has since regained his reason. Attorney General Wickersham recommended his pardon with the observation that he had "taken the life of one scoundrel but saved the lives of several government officers."

An Interval

By F. A. MITCHEL

Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

"It's queer how little difference ten years will make in the look of persons when you're with 'em all the time and how much difference it makes when you don't see 'em. And if you don't see 'em for a matter of twenty year, why, you don't know 'em at all."

The words were spoken by Joshua Sparks to his friend, Mahulda Stickler.

"Yes, Mr. Sparks, and that's the reason I don't take stock in the idee that love is anything more'n livin' together."

"I knew of a case of that kind onct. It came under my own observation. You know Martha Wrinkles, don't you?"

"Yes, I know her; she's a skinny old maid."

"Waal, when Martha was a gal she was as purty as any on 'em. I was a leetle soft on her myself then. But I didn't have no chance. She was sot on Ben Higgins, as fine a lookin' young man as ever handled a pitchfork. And Ben was sot on her. They was the lovenest couple I ever see. They was goin' to git married when Ben was tuk sick. He was sick a long while, and when he got well the doctor said he'd better go off somewhere else to git a change of air.

"Ben, he went to Colorado, where the air is dry and pure. He tuk a pictur' of Martha with him, and they both said their love was the undyin' kind. It didn't matter how long they might be separated, neither of 'em would marry any one else, and they would marry each other when they come together ag'in.

"Ben was twenty when he went away and Martha was nineteen. The separation was longer than either of 'em had any idee of when they parted. Ben was five years gittin' back his health. By that time he thort he'd come to an age when he'd like to have a little somepin laid up before he got married. So he worked and worked, but somehow riches didn't come. It was twenty-one years before he got back.

"Neither he nor Martha was much at writin', even when he went away. First off they wroto onct a month, then onct a year, and after that it was onct in five years. But they was true to each other all these years.

"Ben was forty-two years old when he come back. He come to me fust before seein' Martha at all. I didn't know him. Some men looks purty young at forty-two, and some looks purty old. Ben was one o' the old lookin' kind. He wore specs, his head was smooth as a billiard ball, and what hair there was on the sides was grizzly gray.

"'Don't y'know me, Josh?' he said. 'I'm Ben Higgins.'

"Waal, to be perlite I told him I'd had trouble with my eyes.

"He told me that he'd come home to marry Martha. He'd made some money during the last few years and was lookin' forward to the reel'ization of the dream of his life. He tuk the pictur' of Martha out of his pocket and showed it to me. My sakes, how far away it seemed! There sat a purty young gal that I'd known twenty years before. Now she was gray in the front of her head, and the wrinkles she's got now was beginnin' to spread over her face and neck and arms and hands. I guess it makes a woman sour lookin' to wait for a lover. Anyway, she looked just as if she could bite off a tenpenny nail.

"'Ben,' says I, 'Martha's changed a bit since that was taken.'

"'Mebbe,' he said, 'she might have changed somewhat. I'm goin' to see her tonight, and I'll see how much she's altered.'

"'Come round to my house to supper,' I said. 'You can go to see Martha afterwards.'

"'All right,' he answered; 'I will.'

"I asked Martha to come to supper, not tellin' her she was to meet her old lover. I wanted to see 'em when they first saw each other. I didn't go to no trouble of introducin' 'em, as city folks do. Martha she sot at one end of the table by my wife, and Ben sot by me, the yunkers between. Consequence was that Ben and Martha didn't have nothin' to say to each other. Fact is they didn't appear to take no interest into each other. When Ben and I got up from the table I asked him if he wouldn't like to go out and look at the stock. He said he would, and we went to the barn.

"After awhile Ben said he guessed he'd go and see his old love. Then I told him Martha had been settin' at the other end of the table at supper.

"You ought to seen the way he looked at me. There was a pained expression, as though he had built a beautiful structure over him away up into the sky and it had collapsed and come down on his head. The first thing he said was:

"'Did she know who I was?'

"'No, but my wife has told her by this time.'

"I saw he'd better not go to see Martha right off, and I told him so. He agreed with me. When my wife told Martha that she had set at the same table with her old lover she acted about the same way as Ben did. She didn't go home that evenin', fearin' he would go to see her.

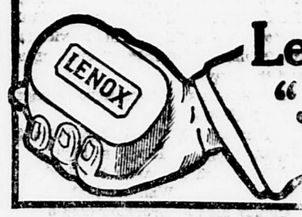

"Ben stayed around here for awhile. He and Martha used to meet onct in awhile, but they pertended not to know each other for what they was when young. Bimeby Ben went back to Colorado, and Martha said she could breathe free onct more."

FILTHY OIL ON STREETS.

Editor Quincy Ledger:

I wish to add my protest to hundreds of others which are daily heard against the filthy mixture which is spread over our streets from time to time under the guise of "laying the dust." It is not only offensive to the smell but spoils women's clothing and is constantly being tracked into the houses over costy rugs and carpets. In some cases the damage is irreparable, as the mixture which our city officials are using is, as I understand it largely composed of crude petroleum or some similar oily substance.

Why our Commissioner of Public Works should stick to this nasty, obsolete method of holding down the dust when there are other preparations which our neighboring cities are using, which are free from objectionable features, is beyond my comprehension.

For example take "Tarvia" of which there are three grades in use, running from the expensive form of application to the "B" grade where an economical and serviceable material is desired for cold application for road surfaces. These preparations or binders are being used on the Charles River Basin system or roadways; at Worcester, Newton, Arlington, Boston's suburban streets; on the State Roads; at Watertown at Weymouth, Chelsea, at Newton and at hundreds of other places.

Newport avenue from Adams street to Lincoln avenue was covered with it or a similar binder last year and the surface is still in good condtion. Why hasn't its use been continued on a larger scale in this city? How much longer are our streets going to be sprayed with that filthy oil? I hope that the Council will look into this. H. M. M.

Ages of Development

FOR nearly three hundred years the people of New England have been manufacturing goods. Cut off from an older civilization, and with all the complex needs of life to be supplied, almost the first necessity and duty of the Pilgrims was to learn to make things. For the first hundred years their best thought and energy were devoted to supplying from their own resources and with their own labor the varied necessities of life.

Another hundred years were devoted to the selection of the fittest—of those lines of manufacture for which the natural resources of the country and the genius and environment of the people best fitted them—and to the elimination of those activities which might more successfully and profitably be conducted elsewhere.

And now we are nearing the close of the third hundred years—a century devoted to specialization. This period has seen the genius of a people turned to detail; to the invention of wonderful labor-saving devices; to the discovery and utilization of by-products; to the detection and elimination of every item of waste; and so finally to a rare perfection in the manufacture and quality of its goods.

Thus today New England offers to the world an infinite variety of goods that are the perfect fruition of three centuries of development. These goods find their way into every corner of the world, and answer every need and necessity of mankind.

You will find "New England Made" stamped upon huge shovels in Panama that are biting a way through the backbone of a continent; upon the sextant and chronometer that after so many years have guided the weary foot of man over frozen wastes to the apex of the world; upon the diamond drill which bores down and down even into the eternal heat of the earth; and upon the great reflector whose giant eye searches the mysteries of unmeasured space and etches out the canals on Mars.

LITIGATION COST HEAVILY.

Mrs. Mabel H. Slater of Milton will have to pay $3,074.04 in taxes instead of $2,495.50 for fighting the matter in court for five years. Mrs. Slater who is the millionaire widow of Horatio N. Slater objected to paying the taxes since she was a resident of Webster, Mass., at the time the tax was levied. Judge Fessenden of the Superior court ruled that while she may have been living in various other places Milton was in reality her home and she had to pay the taxes and the interest accrued in five years.

WHERE TO ADVERTISE.

"When you advertise you want to reach the people, all the people, the oldest inhabitant, the man who moved to town yesterday, the young people just married, the young man or woman who has just earned the first dollar and is itching to spend it. You want them all, the rich, the poor, from the cradle to the grave, and the only advertising medium that reaches them all the time is the newspaper."

HALLEY'S COMET.

Lick Observatory Says It's Now 500,000,000 Miles From the Sun.

W. W. Campbell, director of Lick observatory, in a report on Halley's comet says:

"Halley's comet, which was nearest to the sun and to the earth and its greatest brilliancy more than a year ago, has been followed on its journey into distant space with the telescopes of Lick observatory.

"The comet is now a little farther than Jupiter is from the sun—that is, about 500,000,000 miles—but Astronomer Curtis photographed it with the Crossley reflector on two nights last week exactly in the predicted position. The comet is now 60 per cent farther from the sun than it was when its approach to the sun was discovered photographically in September, 1909."

How to Wash Gloves.

Girls who wear the convenient washable gloves—either wash kid ones or, on warm days, silk gloves—will find that the easiest and most effective way to get them clean is to wash them on the hands. They should be carefully drawn on so that they are smooth over the fingers; then the hands are washed with a good white soap just as if they were bare. Make a thick lather and rub them thoroughly together. If the ends of the fingers are especially soiled use a soft nailbrush for them. After rinsing off the soap it is a good plan to give them a second gentle rubbing with soap and another rinsing to finish the process.

If the owner has time to let the gloves dry on her hands that is the best way. But they can be taken off wet by turning them inside out and re-turning when off the hands. But do not pull them off by the fingers—it will stretch them badly.

The Game of Animals.

One player is blindfolded, and the other players station themselves around the room. The blind man feels his way around until he touches some one, and that person must at once give an imitation of some animal sound—a horse neighing, a donkey braying, a cat, dog, fowl, pig, bird, etc. The blind man must guess the name of his prisoner by the voice. If he guesses right the prisoner becomes the blind man. If not the blind man releases the prisoner and begins again.

The Flyaway Bird.

There's a flyaway bird in Lullaby Town
Whose feathers are fine to see.
They're pink and purple and yellow and brown,
And it lives in the lollipop tree.

So close up those two little twinkling stars
And shut them up tight in your head.
Put your thoughts in your nightcap, jump on the cars
And find Lullaby Town in your bed.

All good little dollies who go to their rest
With brows free from wrinkle or frown
Catch flyaway birds from a pretty red nest
Way off in sweet Lullaby Town.

So close up those two little twinkling stars
And shut them up tight in your head.
Put your thoughts in your nightcap, jump on the cars
And find Lullaby Town in your bed.

KING CARL'S KINDNESS

"What a big sigh for a little boy!" exclaimed mother as James came in and threw off his pasteboard crown and the crimson shawl that had served for robes of state while he ruled from his throne in the apple tree. "Are your subjects planning a revolution?"

"Oh, I'm tired of playing king," answered Jamie. "Percy threw a handful of pebbles and aimed them straight at my crown because I would not make him a knight."

"You are tired now," said mother. "Suppose you curl up here and drop affairs of state while you hear the story of a real little king."

"Tell it!" exclaimed Jimmie eagerly.

"Well, this baby ruler," began mother—"we will call him King Carl—was walking one morning through a path in the palace grounds that was not so densely guarded as most of the inclosure that formed his playground. Suddenly a stone—not a handful of peb bles, Jamie, but a sharp, ugly stone—crashed through a myrtle hedge and fell at the little king's feet.

KING CARL ASKED JAMIE WHY HE HAD THROWN THE STONE.

"The call of the governess brought the palace guards to the scene, and a quick search revealed the culprit."

"Was it a conspirator?" interrupted Jamie in an awed tone.

"A very small one," continued his mother, "a boy no older than King Carl himself, but the guards would have seized him if the little ruler had not interfered. Going up to his enemy, he asked him in a friendly way what his name was and gently persuaded him to tell why he had thrown the stone.

"The tiny conspirator could not understand King Carl's kindness, for he had been taught to hate all the members of the royal family; but, trying to keep back the tears, he explained that his father, once a laborer in the palace gardens, had been discharged through no fault of his own.

"During the long months of idleness and want that followed the man had grown more discouraged each day, and he talked bitterly against those who held the power to deprive him of his living.

"At last, so weak from hunger that everything looked wrong and strange to him, the little boy made up his mind that the surest way to help his father was to punish the king.

"King Carl did not banish the offender, Jamie. The two boys quickly became good friends, and when the laborer's son went home he carried a basket of good things to his brothers and sisters. The next day the father went back to work for the king, and after that he taught his children to be loyal subjects."

"Is that a true story?" asked Jamie slowly.

"Yes," replied his mother. "It is the true story of a king who did not forget that 'there is nothing so kingly as kindness.'"

Jamie was thoughtful for a moment. Then he put on his cap instead of his crown and started for the door. "I'm going to show Percy my harmonicon," he called to his mother.—Youth's Companion.

SUICIDE OF A CAT.

Leaps Into Blazing Firebox of a Locomotive at Washington.

Climbing into the cab of a Southern railway locomotive getting up steam in the roundhouse near the Union station at Washington, a large black cat committed suicide by leaping into the firebox of the engine as the fireman was shoveling in coal. Harry Withers, the fireman, made an effort to save the cat's life, but the attempt was futile, as the body of the unfortunate animal was immediately enveloped in flames.

The cat was the pet of the railroad men at the station and spent much of its time playing about the tracks.

A Kansas Forest.

The record for planting in the Kansas national forest this year will probably be about 125,000 trees, including all varieties. This will make about 1,000,000 trees now growing in the forest in the sand hills south of the Arkansas river.

The Secretary Bird.

One of the most interesting birds in both appearance and habits is the secretary bird, from the dry and open parts of central and southern Africa. The male is fully four feet high, the greater part of that length being contributed by his neck and legs. The general color is ashy gray, the breast white, the wings, thighs and abdomen black. The middle tail feathers nearly reach the ground, and on each side of the head are two long black tufts, which give the bird its popular name of secretary, because in the days when quill pens were used writers were in the habit of carrying them stuck over their ears.

The bird's food consists of snakes, rats, lizards and other living animals, which it kills with its feet and swallows whole unless too big, when the beak tears them to pieces. When ready to kill, the bird lifts either leg, as may be convenient, and brings down the foot in a terrific blow, like that of a great hammer, usually striking the victim on the head. If the first blow fails to kill, the bird follows it with others in rapid succession.—St. Nicholas.

CHINA WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Friends Surprise Councilman and Mrs. Sandberg

Ten years ago on June 13 a large party of friends gathered at the home of Edward J. Sandberg, 20 Buckley street, to join Mr. and Mrs. Sandberg in celebrating their tenth wedding anniversary. A very pleasant evening was spent and as the guests were departing they assured their hosts that they would return in ten years. As time passed on the promise was forgotten by Mr. and Mrs. Sandberg but not by their friends and last evening over one hundred people from Quincy, Boston, Cambridge and Somerville took the Sandberg home by storm and gave the inhabitants thereof such an enjoyable anniversary celebration that it should stay with them in memory for the next ten years.

EDWARD J. SANDBERG
Councilman at Large.

Mr. and Nrs. Sandberg had planned to have a little reunion with their relatives and a few of their most intimate friends, and when the party which arrived proved to be more than a hundred strong, they did not know what to think. After the hosts had regained their equilibrium, an informal reception took place during which all were given an opportunity to congratulate them. A number of the friends from Cambridge were good singers and they favored the gathering with a group of songs which were greatly appreciated by all. At about this time a telegram arrived from Mr. Koen of Boston who was master of ceremonies at the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Sandberg. He regretted his inability to attend and extended his heartiest congratulations on their anniversary. Peter Fallon came forward then and after a short introductory speech, presented the hosts with a valuable dinner set in behalf of all those present. Mr. Sandberg replied briefly thanking his friends for their thoughtfulness and good will. Dr. John Ash was also called upon to speak and he talked at some length much to the delight of all. During the evening all sorts of good things were at the disposal of the gathering, sandwiches, ice cream, cake, candy, punch, coffee and so on.

Mr. and Mrs. Sandberg were the recipients of numerous other presents besides the dinner set. There were articles of cut glass, roses, sweet peas and bouquets of various other kinds of flowers as well as many useful presents. It is needless to say that it was one of the most enjoyable occasions in the lives of Mr. and Mrs. Sandberg and that the party did not break up until a late hour. The committee in charge was Peter Fallon, chairman, Alexander Larson, Charles W. Erickson, Andrew Johnson, Wilson Ekson, Charles Payson, Guld Brandson, John Nelson and Andrew Anderson.

LIVELY RUNAWAY.

Thre was a lively runaway in City Square Tuesday afternoon, just before the heaviest of the shower, and only by good fortune and the quick work of Charles Leavitt was a serious accident averted. The express team of Tim Cashman was backed up to Johnson Bros. store when, for some unknown reason, the horses became frightened and ran away. The driver was in the store at the time and the animals turned into Maple street.

As they turned into Maple street Leavitt climbed into the back of the wagon and going forward secured the reins. Just as he did so however the top of the wagon struck a tree in front of the residence of Mrs. Gill and in an instant there was a crash and the top fell over into the street. Leavitt hung onto the reins however and brought the horses to a stop near the post office.

ELECTRIFICATION BILL PASSED.

In the House Tuesday the bill authorizing the railroad commission to compel the electrification of railroads entering Boston within a radius of ten miles was passed to be engrossed without debate. This means that the smoke and dust nuisance from trains will be abolished on the railroads through Quincy and also that quicker and better service may also be looked for in the future.

JULY FOURTH PARADE PLANS

Some of the Organizations that will turn Out

George A. Wardwell, chairman of the Fourth of July committee writes as follows concerning the parade to take place on the morning of the Fourth of July:

Editor Daily Ledger:

A very enthusiastic meeting of the July 4th parade committee was held at the rooms of the Board of Trade Monday evening and it is an assured fact that Quincy will see some very interesting features in the parade.

Among the organizations who have signified their intentions of taking part are the Loyal order of Moose, who will not only put a float of a very beautiful design in the parade, but will turn out 150 strong both mounted and on foot.

The Sons of Veterans will parade 80 men, 35 of whom will bear arms as the Sons of Veterans reserves.

The Improved order of Red Men will present the evolution of the United States flag, consisting of ten different flags of this country up to the present Old Glory. Each flag will be carried by a member of the order wearing the uniform of the period the flag represents. The tribes from Campello and Whitman will also take part with features of historic events and Indian life.

The Spanish War Veterans are confident of having Grand Gu. Gu. Arthur Blair of Boston and his Philippine degree staff of the Military order of the Serpent, with all the instruments of torture that go with the order.

The British Military and Naval Veterans of Boston will parade 50 men. Other organizations and individuals have pledged themselves to participate.

Now you citizens of Quincy it is up to you to help out. If you are a member of any order that has not decided to turn out, see to it that it does, thereby doing what any order or citizen should do, celebrate the grandest day of all, the Fourth of July.

You will also put yourself and order before the public in a way that will be appreciated by all. Do you realize, Mr. Citizen of Quincy, how much money and property will be saved in this city by having a celebration? Do you realize how much it means to the poor man who has children, who if there was no celebration would feel that he ought to have fireworks, etc for them? But by the city having a safe and sane celebration he may take his children to see it and thereby save money and not put his children in danger.

Now for the good of all let every one who loves his country and flag take hold and make this the grandest celebration that there ever was in this vicinity. Do not wait to be asked to contribute or take part, it is your duty as an American citizen to help out. Come to the committee meeting Saturday evening in the Board of Trade rooms.

Talk it over with your friends. Plan up some original feature for the parade. Let the city know you are alive and patriotic enough to honor the day that our Republic had its birth. Do not let any differences or personalities enter into this celebration. Let the motto of the three guardsmen "All for one and one for all" prevail.

Get busy and enter this event with the spirit that your ancesters entered the struggle of 1776. Fling Old Glory to the breeze and say I will do all in my power to make the celebration a grand success.

Parade committee respectfully requests and urges that all entries to the parade be made as soon as possible.

George A. Wardwll
Chairman.

QUINCY PARKWAY REJECTED.

After much consideration and debate in the house the bill appropriating $50,000 for completing Furnace Brook parkway in Quincy, was in the legislature Tuesday rejected on recommendation of the ways and means committee. As this would have connected the two parkways in our city; the Wollaston boulevard and the Blue hill it is a disappointment that the bill was killed.

FLAG DAY IN QUINCY

National Emblem Being Generally Displayed

For over twenty years Flag day has been observed in the schools of Massachusetts by special observance, and by patriotic minded citizens who on June 14 of each year have unfurled their flags to the breeze, but on this, the 134th anniversary of the adoption of the flag by the Continental congress of 1777, the day will be observed by the official proclamation of the Governor. The patriotic societies working in conjunction with the American Flag association have been working insistently to have legislative measures adopted in the various states of the Union for the purpose of increasing reverence for the flag and preventing its desecration by thoughtless and unpatriotic citizens. During the last few years more and more has been made of Flag day in our State and this year by act of the state legislature, it is made an official day for displaying the national emblem. In Quincy there are hundreds of flags waving in the breeze today from public buildings, schools, residences and so on. In the schools, special emphasis is being laid on the significance of the day. The proclamation made by Governor Foss is as follows:

A PROCLAMATION.

"Under authority of chapter 5 of the legislative acts of 1911, I hereby designate and set apart Wednesday, June 14th, as Flag day, and recommend that it be observed by the people of the commonwealth in the display of our national flag and in such other ways as will be in harmony with the general character of the day.

"June 14th is the anniversary of the adoption of the national flag by the

TUESDAY'S HEAVY STORM

Streets Badly Gullied by Great Flood of Water

It certainly did rain some Tuesday afternoon. For an hour it rained in torrents. The water came down by the bucketful flooding cellars and turning the street gutters into running rivers. It was a little before 4 o'clock when the sky darkened and the rain began to fall. There was some thunder and lightning with the storm but the thunder seemed too far away to do much harm. Not so the rain however.

City Square for nearly an hour was almost impassable. In front of the Savings Bank building the catch basin was soon plugged up and there was a river of water six feet wide flowing along the front of the building and down Chestnut street. At times the water almost flowed over the curbing onto the sidewalk. On the opposite side of the street and near City Hall the conditions were about the same. People who did venture out would hesitate when they came to a street crossing, for to attempt to cross meant wet feet. One man more venturesome than others attempted to cross, slipped and fell headlong landing on his stomach in a river of water. His feelings can better be imagined than expressed. Of course people laughed even if he did not.

Umbrellas were well nigh useless, for the rain fell so hard that it took a strong umbrella to withstand the downpour. Rushing along Hancock street the water turned into Granite street and this street soon became a running river. There is a culvert under the bridge but this became clogged early in the storm and the water began to accumulate under the bridge until it reached a depth of nearly four feet. Teams in passing through found the water up to the wheel hubs.

After the worst of the storm had passed members of the street gang attempted to clear the catch basin so that the water hight run off. They were obliged to wade in and it was found that at that time the water came to their waist line.

Some of the cellars became flooded. One of these was the news store of L. A. Chapin. The gutter pipe on the rear of the building went out of commission for some reason and the great volume of water from the roof was diveted into the cellar of his store and by the time the storm was over there was two feet of water in the cellar and considerable damage had been done.

Down by Dimmock street the water came down the hill in rivers but beyond making the crossings impassable for a time no damage was done. So it was all over the city streets and sidewalks being gullied out so that the street department will be kept busy all day patching up.

Saturday, June Seventeenth, being a holiday, the office of the Daily Ledger will be closed all day and no paper will be issued.

The girls scouts have been organized now, and they will soon blaze a distinct trail to the nearest ice cream parlors.

The fuss over Thomas R. Ryan's boil makes us shudder at the consequence if J. Pierpont Morgan should have the toothache.

The June college orator feels competent to write a guide book of life, but by the time he marries he is reconciled to a personally conducted tour.

The general attitude of Congress and the Legislatures resembles that of the boy who is ordered to go to church on circus night.

The governor of Arkansas threatens to call out the militia to keep peace in the Legislature. Our theory would be to send home for the wives of the representatives.

The new president of the Chicago stock exchange was a former blacksmith, but he will have to say something more forcible than "Whoa" in order to shoo those bulls and bears.

New York is worried about its water supply, but if worst comes to worst, Harlem river water would be better than a lot of things they drink now, and they can go down to Coney for a Saturday night bath.

To make the Blue Hills reservation and the Wollaston boulevard of use to our citizens at large they should be connected and it is a pity that the so called Furnace Brook parkway bill was turned down by the legislature on Tuesday. Quincy pays more than its share for parkway improvements which are of little use as they are not available to most of our residents.

George A. Wardwell has set forth so clearly in his letter in another column why we should all take hold and make the Fourth of July observance a success, that there is little we can say editorially, except to add our endorsement of the sentiments there set forth and to recommend that our patrons read the letter. After reading we feel quite sure every one will see their duty and do it.

Rainy weather and dull skies have not dampened the ardor of Quincy merchants and they are busy in their preparations for "Merchants Week" which begins Monday. Their advertising sheets are being distributed not only in our own city but in the neighboring towns where they are eagerly read. The bargains offered will be sure to bring out a large crowd of buyers. It would hardly be possible to have another week like the present, so good weather and a gala time is predicted. With a display of attractive merchandise, band concerts and the stores open every night Quincy centre will look pretty much as though something was doing.

ADVERTISING HAS CHANGED.

All the business men can recall a form of advertising that was very prevalent about 10 to 20 years ago.

The idea was to fool a reader against his will to peruse an advertisement. It was assumed that the reader was hostile to all advertising, and that the only way to get him to read it was to perpetrate a fraud. An advertisement would start in like a news article, as if it was some sensational or tragic happening. With more or less ingenuity the reader would be led on to the advice to buy Quackerjack's pills or Cheatham's corsets.

The practical results was to anger the reader at so childish a deception, and few goods were sold in that fashion.

The big dry goods merchants were the leaders in modern advertising. They were early with the discovery that the public does not have to be cajoled, teased or defraunded in order to get advertising read. They found on the contrary that the public was eagerly turning to the advertising to get its questions asked, that the man who did not answer those questions was slighted, and the man who did answer them got the business.

The public does not turn to advertising for wit, humor or monkey capers. It simply asks a merchant to tell them about some of his most attractive offerings, to describe them so clearly that they can know just about what they are and what they will cost.

You no more need to work off a fraud on your readers to get them to read that kind of advertising, than the editor needs to play fool tricks on them to get them to read any other good live news.

The department store men have built up their great business by recognizing that the public wants the news of the stores, and is governed in its purchases by the presentation of that news in the advertising. They found out that the store that does not advertise is as much out of the game as the newspaper that should print articles out of the encyclopaedia on its first page.

About Stilts.

Walking on stilts is not a common form of amusement in this country, and yet we do occasionally see a crowd of boys following one or two of their number who are lucky enough to have found an old pair of stilts or have contrived to make some. How high and mighty these boys feel as they walk through the air far above the heads of their friends!

This is boy play with them. They never dream that there are several countries in the world where men, women and children go about their affairs the entire year on high stilts. In Gascony, in France, there are hundreds of acres of waste land that would be absolutely impassable in wet weather if the people did not walk on stilts. They carry bundles and baskets as easily as if they were walking in the ordinary way. In fact, they are so accustomed to the use of stilts five feet long that they think no more of walking in this manner than American children do of wearing their shoes and stockings.

Killing a Fashion.

The muff reached its highest point in the reign of Louis XV. Then fashion declared for a cloth muff instead of fur, and the furriers made a great uproar. Finally some ingenious merchant bribed the headsman to carry a cloth muff on execution day. The women shrank from such association, and the fur won the day.

CRIMINAL SUIT MAY BE FORCED

House Expected to Take Action In Tobacco Case

AMENABLE TO PROSECUTION

According to Resolution Introduced After Wickersham Had Declined to State Reasons For Failure to Bring Action—Two Big Companies Sued For $500,000 Damages by New York Tobacco Brokers

Washington, June 14.—De Lancey Nicoll and W. W. Fuller have submitted a tentative plan for the reorganization of the tobacco trust to Attorney General Wickersham for his opinion.

As soon as he learned that Wickersham had declined to give the reason for the failure of the government to bring criminal action against James B. Duke and the other twenty-eight individual defendants in the tobacco trust case recently decided by the supreme court of the United States, Representative Byrnes of Tennessee presented a resolution in the house to direct Wickersham to go after these men under the criminal section of the Sherman anti-trust law.

There is every reason to believe that the house will pass this resolution in a few days. What the senate will do with it is another matter. In declining to state his reasons in a communication to Speaker Clark, the attorney general said that to do so would not be "compatible with the public good."

In his resolution Byrnes says the supreme court decreed in effect that the American Tobacco company and sixty-four other constituent corporations, and also James B. Duke and twenty-eight other individual defendants, have united to form a combination in restraint of trade and conspired to monopolize a substantial part of the commerce between the states and with foreign nations, and that under the Sherman law they are amenable to criminal prosecution.

In New York yesterday Louis, August and Samuel Simon, until May 1 doing business as tobacco brokers in New York, filed suit against the American Tobacco company, the Metropolitan Tobacco company, and Adolph M. Bendheim, the president of the last-named corporation, for $500,000 damages under the Sherman anti-trust law.

The action has been started in the United States circuit court for the southern district of New York by Samuel J. Rawak, the attorney for the plaintiffs. Rawak said that the summons to answer had been served upon Percival S. Hill, one of the vice presidents of the American Tobacco company, and Henry Bendheim, vice president of the Metropolitan Tobacco company.

The complaint states that the Simons, who did business as M. Simon & Sons, up to May 1 of this year, did a prosperous business as tobacco brokers from the year 1886 until they were forced to retire from business as a result of practices of these competitors which were in violation of the Sherman law. Until the year 1898, the complaint states, the firm did a large and prosperous business. Then, according to Rawak, the defendants began to make business headway difficult for the plaintiffs.

RAILROAD IS RESPONSIBLE

Must Account For Passenger's Loss of Property Valued at $1500

Albany, June 14.—The New York Central and Hudson River Railroad company, as lessee of the Boston and Albany Railroad company, was held responsible by the court of appeals for the loss of property valued at $1500 from the suit case of Mrs. Julia M. Hasbrouck at Worcester, Mass.

Mrs. Hasbrouck claimed that jewelry and two $10 bills were taken from her suit case while in the possession of a trainman who carried the case from the train to the station steps in Worcester.

Tax Collector a Suicide

Newmarket, N. H., June 14.—George O. Hodgdon, aged 58, town tax collector and a former member of the New Hampshire house of representatives, committed suicide by cutting his throat with a razor at his home last night. Friends say that family troubles were responsible for the act.

Texas Town Swept by Fire

White Wright, Tex., June 14.—The greater part of this town was destroyed by fire. Forty-three business houses and twenty-seven residences were wiped out and a large number of others badly damaged. There was no loss of life. The loss is more than $300,000.

Woman Slain After Struggle

White Plains, N. Y., June 14.—The body of Mrs. William Simon, wife of a railroad engineer, was found in bed with a towel and pillow case bound around her throat. There were marks of violence on the body indicating a struggle against her assailant.

JOINING THE ARMY

Opportunities That Are Open to the Enlisted Man.

HIS PAY AND HIS PROSPECTS.

Even as a Private He Can Run His Salary Up to $35 a Month, and as a "Noncom" He Can Double That and In Time Retire Rich and Pensioned.

There are many opportunities open to the man who enlists in the United States army and wears the uniform of Uncle Sam with honor to himself and his country. The pay is good, the food is good, and the chances for advancement are numerous. It is up to the individual man himself to make good and to take advantage of the situation.

Writing in the Columbian Magazine on army affairs, Edward Marshall in discussing the status of the enlisted man says:

Summarized, this is what a man who thinks of marching for his Uncle Samuel as an enlisted man has to consider:

On first enlistment the soldier for Old Glory nowadays gets $15 a month, far better pay, for instance, than the average clerk's, for board, lodging and clothing are furnished by the government. If he qualifies as marksman he adds $2 to his pay; if as a sharpshooter he gets $3 in addition; if as an expert rifleman a full third more. Thus he may at once get $20 monthly cash and found if he is able and keeps busy.

If he enlists as a musician he gets $21 monthly to start off with, the highest "rookie's" pay. In the signal corps, the hospital corps and the engineers' corps first class privates get $18 monthly, and second class privates get $15.

Upon enlistment every man is allowed $83.70 for his uniforms, etc., and afterward $13.54 twice annually. At least one-half the men save money on their clothing allowance, which is more than ample. Privates' pay increases $3 a month for each three year enlistment. An expert rifleman who never gets to be a petty officer, therefore, can run his pay up, with good conduct and intelligence, to $35 a month and all his necessaries "found" in five enlistments covering fifteen years.

Noncommissioned officers are taken from the ranks on recommendation of their company or troop commanders and are often given their posts upon their first enlistments. These men are really well paid. A sergeant major is allotted to each regiment. He receives $45 monthly when he is appointed and $4 additional per month each time he re-enlists. Regimental commissary sergeants, regimental quartermaster's sergeants and the three battalion sergeants in each regiment get the same high pay. Each company has a first sergeant at $45, with an increase of $4 upon re-enlistments; a second sergeant at $36, with $3 increase for each re-enlistment; a corporal at $18, with $3 each for re-enlistments. The government acts as banker for the soldiers, too, if they desire to have it, and noncommissioned officers have left the service with as much as $20,000 saved—not one, but many. If he sticks tight to the service for full thirty years a noncommissioned officer is entitled to retirement on pay ranging from one-half to three-quarters of his service pay. Seventy dollars monthly is not unusual pay for a "noncom" to retire on. And every year of service seen outside the United States counts as two years at a home post. A man, therefore, after fifteen years of service in the islands may retire on his half pay.

The food the "noncoms" and the other enlisted men are given is wholesome and well cooked, the medical attendance free and able, post and garrison schools have been provided at all posts for the primary branches, and at several posts trade schools have been established. A worthy man, no matter where he may be stationed, is almost certain to get transfer to a "school post" if he asks for it. Cooking, baking, blacksmithing, veterinary surgery, electrical and stationary engineering, all are taught at these trade schools, as well as many other things. Thus a boy who has had little chance to get an education may, after he has joined the army, get a very good one.

There seems to be but one thing which army life does not offer to the enlisted man. But that one thing is home.

In its degree indeed the life of the enlisted man now offers more inducements than the life of the West Pointer. The commissioned officer's pay is small when his expenses and the effort he must make to get commissioned are considered, and, furthermore, the noncommissioned officer is not so subject to political influences as the West Pointer, who gives him his commands.

DALZELL ATTACKS WILSON

Says Governor Is Writing Backward the Record of His Life

Washington, June 14.—Governor Wilson of New Jersey was characterized in the house as the college president who had become "New Jersey's peripatetic governor, engaged in writing backward the sane and respectable record of his life."

The speaker was Representative Dalzell of Pennsylvania, who, in opening the debate on the Democratic wool bill in the house, arraigned that measure as "indefensible from every point of view." He said Wilson's indorsement of it was not unexpected in view of his recent political statements.

SURE OF IMMUNITY IN LAWRENCE GRAFT

Contractor Was Told That Detection Was Impossible

Salem, Mass., June 14.—The climax in the "graft" confession of Fred L. Snow, a contractor, who has turned state's evidence in the city of Lawrence bribery conspiracy cases, came just before Snow left the witness stand in the Essex county superior criminal court yesterday afternoon.

Snow testified he gave $1250 in bribes because he was assured by Michael J. Flynn of the Lawrence street department and a co-defendant that all concerned were sure of "getting away" with the "graft" plot.

"Flynn told me," Snow testified, "that detection was impossible because of the confusion that would result from many shipments of stone from different quarries. He gave me perfect assurance that if one item was questioned it could be so confused with others that the deal would look perfectly on the level."

The contractor had previously startled the courtroom by telling of making "grafting" apure proposition of business.

Oysters as Rat Traps.

Catching rats with oyster shells is the unique method employed by some pearlers round about Broome, Western Australia. They leave a large oyster on the floor of the cabin at night. It opens for a breath of fresh air, and the smell of fresh meat attracts the rats. When the rodent thinks he'll try a little supper, the oyster suddenly decides that he doesn't like fresh air. Next morning the shell is pried open and the dead rat thrown overboard.

OLDER FRIENDS ENTERTAINED

Reception by Unity Circle Kings Daughters

The annual reception to the older friends of King's Daughters was given by Unity Circle in Bethany chapel, Tuesday afternoon. Owing to the hard rain many of those who had planned to attend were disappointed but even so there was a fairly good attendance. After the guests had taken advantage of their opportunity to renew old acquaintances, a very pleasing entertainment was given. Miss Elizabeth Pattee gave violin solos, Mrs. Emma S. Moore, vocal solos, Miss Helen Sparrow recitations and a song was sweetly sung by little Ruth Bishop.

After that, all were seated about the tables in the back chapel which were beautifully decorated in green and white with gorgeous butterflies here and there among the flowers. After the blessing was asked by Rev. A. M. Thompson, pastor of the United Presbyterian church, ice cream and cake and tea were served by members of several of the Tens. Each of the guests also received a box of candy. The chapel never looked prettier than it did yesterday with its garb of roses and lotus and numerous other flowers which served to emphasize the cheerfulness of the occasion. The Flower and Distributing Tens had charge of these decorations.

At half past five, carriages came to the door and the older friends were taken to their homes to live over again the happy hours spent during the afternoon.

BIRTHDAY PARTY.

A most enjoyable children's party was held on Saturday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Scouler, Jr., Washington street, the occasion being the birthday of their little daughter Mary. The little guests began to arrive about two o'clock and were greeted on the lawn by their young hostess. All of the childish games were played and the hours passed far too quickly for the little folks.

The children sat around in a circle while the refreshments were being served and the large, round birthday cake, ornamented with colored candles was placed in the centre of the group. Small fans were used as favors and the little girls wore these in their hair the remainder of the afternoon. Several snap-shots were taken of the children which will serve as a pleasant reminder of the happy occasion.

Mary was the recipient of many dainty little gifts from her young friends. Among those invited were: Marion Marshall, Bessie Graham, Ina Hendry, Burvel Smith, Jean Anderson-Katie Graham, Una Barnes, Virginia Shorter, Margare t Waddell, Alice Cook, Jessie Graham, Cederic Pierson, Charles Carter, Agnes Waddell and Charlotte Scouler.

—No attempted feat in local aeronautics has caused as much discussion as the proposed flight on Saturday from Readville to the top of Blue Hill. It is planned to use an aeroplane carrying an aviator and a passenger. Already there is no doubt but that thousands will go to the Blue Hills for June 17 to see this remarkable flight. Many students of the conquest of the air say that it cannot be done without smashing the machine, as there is no place for a suitable landing on the top of Blue Hill.—Boston Record.

Continental congress in the year 1777 and is therefore a day of great significance.

"The national flag is not only emplematic of the dignity of our government, but it represents the power and dignity of individual citizenship. It stands for personal, individual right to life and liberty under a government by the people. It is literally the pledge and token of a great people, dedicated to self government.

"Republics do not always succeed in ensuring either national peace or personal liberty. Hence, the failure of other government through conspiracy intrigue or popular revolt, must be a warning to us. We must peserve inviolate the fundamental rights which our constitution promised to us and observe faithfully the fundamental duties which every citizen owes to his flag and his country. Hence, as the national emblem is unfurled on flag day let every citizen pledge himself anew to a ceaseless and vigilant share in the duties of government and to a keener realization of the meaning and majesty of our flag.

"Given at the executive chamber, in Boston, this second day of June, in the year of our Lord 1911, and of the independence of the United States of America the 135th."

EUGENE N. FOSS.

By His Excellency the Governor:
ALBERT P. LANGTRY,

PARISHIONERS GREET PASTOR

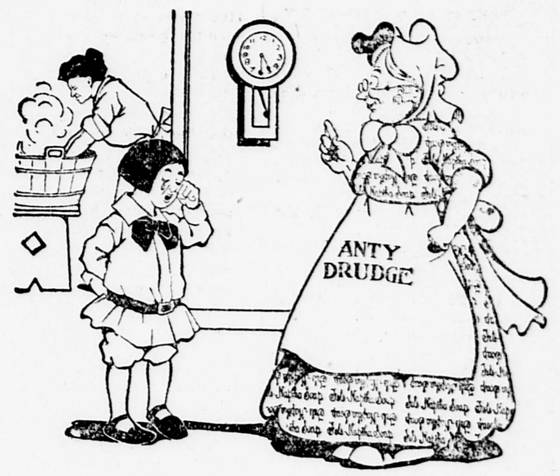

Rev. Lillback Receives Warm Welcome

Rev. John Lillback, pastor of the Finnish Congregational church, returned Tuesday evening from an extended tour of the middle West. After visiting Niagara Falls and points in Illinois, he went south to attend the national conference of Finnish Congregational churches, and the national convention of Finnish Y. P. S. C. E. Societies. As Vice President of the National association of Finnish Congregational churches he conducted several of the meetings of the conference and also delivered two lectures to the young people in their convention In the absence of the scribe of the conference Mr. Lillback took the minutes of the meetings and has sent items of interest to the Finnish papers throughout the country.

During the last week and a half he has been preaching to the Finnish people in parts of Ohio, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and New York. While in western Pennsylvania where there are 10,000 Finns in four good sized cities he was offered a position as missionary among them by the American Missionary association at a good salary but his love for the people here and the knowledge that his work here is unfinished kept him from accepting the offer tempting as it was. In Ashtabula, Ohio where the conference was and in Fairport, Ohio he conducted very successful revival services.

Last Saturday evening while a service was in progress in Jersey City a terrible electrical storm arose. Trees were torn up by the roots, the sidewalks were ripped up, streets gutted and the city was never before so much upset by a storm. Mr. Lillback continued with the service singing songs and talking to the people until after midnight when the storm abated and the people were able to go to their homes. On Sunday evening, in New York city a storm almost as bad as the one encountered in New Jersey arose and the damage which was done was almost as great.

When he returned last evening, a few of the people were holding a prayer service in the church. As soon as it was found that the pastor had returned word was spread among the Finnish people and inside of half an hour the church was filled and a very enthusiastic meeting followed. Beginning next Friday evening, Mr. Lillback will hold outdoor services in different localities among the Finnish people and an effort will be made to reach the Socialists as well as the people of his own church. During his trip throughout the country farther west he found Socialism among the Finns in a decadent state and fast losing its grip because of the vice and degradation into which the people of that belief have fallen.

Little Tom Tucker sings for his supper,
But it's doubtful whether he'll get it,
His mother washes the old-fashioned way,
Boiling and rubbing the livelong day.
She has no time for cooking on Monday,
And little Tom Tucker goes hungry.

What has become of the dirt?

That's the first question you ask when you rinse out the clothes after they've been soaped with Fels-Naptha and soaked in cool or lukewarm water.

The clothes are white and clean.

The dirt's gone.

What became of it?

Here's the answer.

Fels-Naptha Soap acts on dirt like water does sugar; dissolves it; separates it into tiny particles that are carried away by the rinsing water.

Fels-Naptha Soap takes the place of boiling.

Makes the clothes whiter and cleaner without it.

Dirt doesn't need to be rubbed out when it's dissolved.

Do you wonder that women who use Fels-Naptha Soap in Winter or Summer are able to do their washing in one-half the time with one-fourth the work required by the old way?

When you try it yourself, follow directions printed on the red and green wrapper.

KNOX TO TELL ABOUT CHECK

Hale Got $5000 From Canadian Boundaries Fund

CONGRESS TAKES MATTER UP

Subpoena Served on Secretary of State to Explain Payment to Son of Former Maine Senator—Voucher For Payment of Day Portrait, Which Disappeared From Files, Is Found on Floor by a Messenger

Washington, June 14.—In response to a subpoena Secretary of State Knox will appear before the house committee on expenditures in the state department to explain the payment of $5000 from the Canadian boundaries commission fund to Frederick Hale, son of former United States Senator Hale of Maine.

The money was said to have been paid on the sole authority of Knox's "O. K." on a piece of paper attached to an unsigned voucher.

The disclosure as to the Hale payment was but one of a series of surprises before the committee yesterday. Thomas Morrison, disbursing clerk of the state department, declared that the missing voucher for $2450, drawn in payment of a portrait of former Secretary Day and of which the artist derived only $850, had been found by a messenger on the floor of his office. How it got there he had no knowledge, but it was his impression that some one interested in the matter was responsible.

The voucher, as found on the floor, appeared complete, Morrison said, and contained former Chief Clerk Michael's explanation of how the $1600 difference had been expended. Morrison asserted that when the voucher disappeared from the files it had no such explanation on it. The explanation was not made public. It has been contended that the $1600 was spent in secret service.

In regard to the Hale payment, Morrison said that all he knew about the matter was his direction from Knox to pay over the $5000.

O. H. Titman, Canadian boundary commissioner, called before the committee, declared that the $5000 payment to Hale had never been explained to him. He said his original estimate for an appropriation of $20,000 had been increased to $25,000 by the state department, without his knowledge, and that he later learned the extra $5000 had been paid to Hale.

The subjoena served on Secretary Knox is returnable today.

FIRE HEADS RAPPED

Methods Pursued In Fighting Big Blaze Declared Inexcusable

Malden, Mass., June 14.—Criticism of the chief and captain of the Malden fire department and the methods pursued by the fire department in fighting the fire in the Converse Rubber Shoe company's factory was contained in the report of the joint special committee of the Malden city council, appointed to investigate charges against the fire department, which was returned last night.

Chief Turner and Captain Coombe were severely criticised. The committee also said that the failure to utilize the high pressure water system until an hour after the fire started was inexcusable. It recommended changes in the fire department manual.

The report was referred to Mayor Fall by both branches of the city council.

TEACHERS AGAIN LOSE

Foss' Veto Is Sustained by the Senate on Reconsideration

Boston, June 14.—Boston elementary teachers lost on their last possible stand in the senate yesterday afternoon when the motion for reconsideration of the vote sustaining Governor Foss' veto of their salary-increase bill prevailed and the question then recurred on passage of the bill over the veto, the vote being 24 yes to 15 no, less than the two-thirds necessary to override the veto.

The first time the vote was 25 to 14. Senator Grainger, who the other day did not vote until the second calling of the roll and then voted with the teachers, when his vote would not override the veto, changed and went with the governor yesterday.

This bears out the boast of the governor's friends, made the day after the first vote, that they could then have had Grainger's support had it been necessary.

Arrest of Man Credited With About $800,000 Forgeries

Grand Rapids, Mich., June 14.—Following the arrest here of Frank G. Jones, president of the American Electric Fuse company of Muskegon, it is announced that he has admitted forgeries committed in different parts of the United States that may total $800,000.

It is alleged that his system of raising capital was to forge acceptances of accounts receivable and hypothecate them in the open market, redeeming them as they fell due with others of a like nature.

Jones was arrested on a warrant sworn out by an official of the Old National bank of Grand Rapids, charging him with having obtained $50,000 from that bank through false pretences.

LOWER PRICES FOR SUGAR

Predicted as Result of Reduction of Tariff on Raw Product

Washington, June 14.—A reduction of the sugar bill of the American people as a result of the reduction of the tariff on raw sugar was predicted by Edwin F. Atkins of Boston, head of the American Sugar Refining company, in testifying before the house special sugar committee.

Free listing of sugar, however, he said, would result in driving many sugar beet producers in the United States out of business and seriously crippling Louisiana cane producers.

Representative Madison tried to get the witness to fix a point to which the duty might safely be reduced. He declined.

REMARKABLE SERMONS.

Some Were Cruelly Long, and Others Were Models of Brevity.

Sermons are not so lengthy as they used to be, and one seldom sees in the comic prints the joke, so familiar in other times, wherein the minister was chided for his "fourteenthly" remark, which was supposed to mark a period in his sermon somewhat toward its close.

It is said that Thomas Hooker thought his duty ill performed if his sermon did not consume three hours. Once it is related that the famous divine did deliver a really short sermon—preaching exactly fifteen minutes. He sat down, but after a brief rest was up and at it again for two hours more. Every one of Cranmer's sermons was a small volume in itself, and Bunyan, Calvin, Baxter and Knox are all said to have been only a little more merciful to their hearers.

In striking contrast to these long winded discourses may be mentioned some startlingly brief sermons of late years. Perhaps the shortest of all was that delivered by a clergyman at Ocean Grove, N. J., who, after announcing his text, impressively surveyed his congregation and then said:

"Don't worry; it's wicked." He then sat down.

It would be difficult to exceed this in brevity and effectiveness, but a north of England vicar in the last century closely approximated it. He gave out the text, "God so loved the world," etc., to which he added this observation:

"My friends, did I speak an hour I couldn't make that message any plainer. I'll just leave it with you."

Another example of a brief but extraordinarily effective sermon was furnished by an aged and feeble clergyman in Ohio. He had been requested to deliver a charity address on behalf of orphan children, but his strength was unequal to the task. It was therefore an inspiration indeed that moved him to stretch forth one feeble arm in the direction of the little unfortunates sitting near the pulpit and to exclaim with no little pathos, "Whence shall we find bread that these may eat?"

So impressed was the congregation that the collection was the largest ever taken in that vicinity.—Chicago Record-Herald.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.
We give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

STRIKE THREAT IS CARRIED OUT

Long Standing Trouble Leads to Final Action by Seamen

GOES INTO EFFECT TODAY

British Sailors' Claim That They Will Tie Up All Great Ports Does Not Appear to Worry Shipowners—Leaders of Seamen In Rotterdam Doubt Success of International Strike Movement

Southampton, Eng., June 14.—The long threatened strike of the International Seamen's union has been definitely fixed to commence today.

A long-standing dispute between the National Sailors' and Firemen's union of Great Britain and the Shipping Federation of Great Britain led to the threat that a general strike of seamen would be called this summer, possibly during coronation week, when shipping interests would be most seriously inconvenienced.

The claim of the British sailors that they would receive support in other countries sufficient to enable them to tie up the operations of all the great ports have not been taken very seriously by the shipowners' organizations, which have refused to make the concessions in wages and working conditions demanded by the men.

Three weeks ago notices were posted at the ports throughout the United Kingdom warning the seamen and firemen to be ready to strike on the receipt of a signal from headquarters. At the same time one of the leaders of the British union said that longshoremen in America had agreed to go out in sympathy. This assertion was subsequently denied by G. Brown, business agent of the Atlantic Seamen's union at New York.

A dispatch from Rotterdam stated that the leaders of the seamen there expressed doubt of the success of an international strike movement. German, Danish and Norwegian shipowners, they said, had already made concessions to their employes, while France, Austria and Italy were not represented in the seamen's committee, and therefore would not be likely to participate in a strike.

Prepared For Trouble

New York, June 14.—At the offices of the steamship lines which would be affected by a strike of the International Seamen's union it is said that preparations have been made for any emergency. Managers of the International Mercantile Marine, which controls the White Star, Red Star, American and Atlantic Transportation lines, say that if the crews on the ships now in port and those of steamers to arrive go on strike, as is expected they will, their places will be taken by other men and these men will be kept on board. It is not believed by the managers that any of the boats will be tied up or prevented from sailing on scheduled time.

ESCAPE FROM PRISON SHIP

Three Long-Term Men Make a Clean Get-Away From the Southery

Portsmouth, N. H., June 14.—Three prisoners confined aboard the prison ship Southery at the navy yard escaped by swimming a half-mile to shore in their night clothes after sawing through the bars from their cell and jumping through a gun port.

It was the most daring escape at the yard since the prison ship has been stationed here. The men are Leo Schultz, Charles A. Dennis and Lafayette Warne, all serving long sentences for desertion.

The officers at the yard are aroused over the daring escape. At the time the men swam to the Kittery shore a fast tide was running and the water was very rough.

AIR CRAFT BARRED

Must Not Sail Over London During Coronation Ceremonies

London, June 14.—Acting under an act recently passed by parliament, Home Secretary Churchill has issued an order prohibiting navigation by aircraft of any description over the county of London on the three days of the coronation processions next week, and also over Windsor and London on the three other days devoted to events connected with the coronation.

The penalty for failure to observe this law is pulshment by imprisonment for six months or a fine of $1000.

COLIMA AGAIN BUSY

New Eruption by Mexican Volcano Destroys Homes of Farmers

Mexico City, June 14.—The Colima volcano is again in eruption. Two new craters are apparently forming, while a new peak is rising on the west side of the mountain. Slight earthquakes still shake the region near by. The inhabitants are fleeing by hundreds.

Molten lava is running through the corn fields and destroying the homes of farm laborers on the slope.

HIDDEN FROM VIEW

Nelson Buried Under Protests Against Reciprocity With Canada

Washington, June 14.—When the senate convened Senator Nelson of Minnesota was nowhere to be seen. Some one later spied the top of the senator's head above a massive bulwark of paper surmounting his desk and unearthed him.

Mr. Nelson indignantly denied that he was hiding and explained that the protecting screen was a protest against Canadian reciprocity signed by 30,000 Minnesota and Dakota farmers. He presented it later in the day.

THINKS HE IS A LION

Man In Lockup Imagines Teddy the Mighty Is on His Trail

Atlantic City, June 14.—The police found a man on Kentucky avenue trotting about on all fours and roaring in imitation of a lion. He is caged in the city lockup, where he disports attired only in his birthday suit. His identity is a mystery.

His first move when placed behind the bars was to rip every stitch of clothing from his back, tear it into strips and toss it into the corridor. He raves about being a lion and imagines Roosevelt is pursuing him.

RECORD PRICE FOR COTTON

Bale of New Crop Brings $1015 on the Houston Exchange

Houston, Tex., June 14.—A bale of Cameron county cotton of the new crop, received on the Houston Cotton Exchange from the farm of Ernest Matz, was sold at $2.05.84 per pound, the total weight being 493 pounds and the price $1015.

This was the highest price ever paid on the exchange for a bale of cotton. It was classed as strict middling.

TRICKED BY OLD GAME

Farmer Induced by Fake Race Tipsters to Part With $6000

Boston, June 14.—The operations of a gang of fake race tipsters were made public by the police after the arrest on an indictment warrant at Dracut of Joseph Gagnon.

Gagnon is specifically charged with conspiracy to steal $6080 from Rockwood Snow, a Pelham, N. H., farmer. He was brought to Boston, arraigned in the superior court and held in $2000 for trial.

The farmer was induced to come to Boston by the old, old story of easy money at somebody else's expense. He claims he was first approached by Gagnon, who said the manager of a telegraph company had agreed to hold up each day the race track returns for a few minutes, tipping off the gang so they could place bets on the winners at pool rooms before the returns were finally released.

Snow said he was told they would let him in on the graft. So he sold his farm for $5000, drew out $1000 he had saved in the bank and added his pocket roll of $80. In three days he had parted with all his money and the gang kicked him out of their rendezvous in this city.

FACTORY FIRE PANIC

Three Persons Hurt by Jumping From Windows In Providence

Providence, June 14.—Two girls and one man were hurt by jumping from windows during a $15,000 two-alarm fire in the Owen building in the heart of the jewelry manufacturing district.

Miss Ethel McKenna, aged 18, started to jump from a second-story window, thirty feet from the ground. A horse blanket was spread to catch her. She jumped, but the hem of her skirt caught on a grating. The girl pitched over head down and was held by her skirt while she screamed shrilly.

Then the skirt hem parted and the girl plunged downward, striking the blanket on the edge and bounding off to the pavement. One of her arms was broken and she was injured internally.

POLICE BAFFLED BY BARGE MURDER

Have Guilty Man In Custody but Cannot Identify Him

Boston, June 14.—The murder of Captain Charles D. Wyman on his barge, the Glendower, on the high seas last Friday, is proving an unusually baffling crime to the United States authorities in spite of the fact that they have the guilty person in their custody.

The three who were on the boat miles from land when the murder was done are under arrest. But it is not believed that the crime was the act of collusion. Which one of the trio is guilty there is no evidence yet to show.

The prisoners are William De Graff, Antonio Priskich and William Nelson. They are locked up in the Cambridge jail and each asserts his innocence. In spite of several seaches of the barge, which still lies down the bay, the weapon with which the crime was committed has not been found. It was probably thrown into the sea.

CHICAGO A WICKED CITY

Not Safe For Women to Be on Streets Alone at Night

Chicago, June 14.—Conditions have become so bad in Chicago that Chief of Police McWeeny has ordered police escorts for women out at night.

"A woman who goes out at night without an escort is in a very bad way. If she does so without necessity she needs an escort to see that she gets home safely," said the chief.

"When a woman through necessity must be out in an emergency she must be protected. If they cannot get other escort and really have any business on the streets the police will see that they get home safely. Just let them call up the nearest station."

THE UNCANNY STRANGER

By SHIELD ESTHER DUNN

Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

In the good old colony times when travelers, instead of spinning along smoothly in a parlor car, were bumped over dirt roads in a stagecoach on the post road between New York and Boston, in the state of Connecticut, there stood a tavern. Before it swung a sign on which, under a portrait of King George III., were the words "The Royal Arms." In the room which in those days was called "the bar" sat a number of persons, some drinking from pewter mugs.

"The up coach will be late tonight," said the landlord, going to the door and looking out. "The road is bad enough at any time, but on such a night as this it is well nigh impassable."

As he spoke a gust of wind shook the building, and those in the room fortified themselves with a pull at the mugs before them.

"A bad night to be on the road," said a man in a brown coat and buff breeches.

"And a merry one for ghosts," put in a red headed, bleary eyed person whose wig, being awry, gave evidence that he had drank too much.

Those about him looked at him protestingly and with something of awe.

"If there's any of 'em about," spoke up a fresh importation from the Emerald Isle, "you're the first of us that they'll be visitin'."

A creaking and a splashing were heard without, and the coach drew up to the door of the tavern. A man of somber appearance descended from the vehicle and stalked into the bar. His eyes were set deep in his head and surrounded by dark circles, his cheek bones high, complexion a whitish gray.

"Luggage, sir?" said the landlord inquiringly.

"Luggage! I need no baggage. I wish lodgings for the night only, and on the morrow I shall proceed on my journey."

The stranger attracted the attention of every one present.

"There's something queer about him," whispered the man in the brown coat to the Irishman, who was crossing himself with his finger under his coat. The landlord, who was looking over the keys to his rooms with a view to selecting one for the stranger, turned and said:

"No chamber vacant tonight, sir. Sorry."

"I sleep tonight," replied the guest, "in No. 12."

His back was turned to all save the landlord, so that no one could see his face, but they all saw the landlord turn pale and take down the key to No. 12. The stranger took it, put it in his pocket and, sitting down at a table, called for a glass of hot punch.

In a corner sat a young man with a hook nose, a little newspaper and a mug of grog before him, who did not seem to share the superstitious dread of the others for the mysterious stranger. Instead of shivering this young man looked at him almost insultingly. The somber man returned his gaze with his great melancholy eyes, but failed to strike terror into him.

"What d'ye mean," whispered the Irishman, "by angerin' the man? Mebbe he's a ghost."

"Ghost!" replied the other contemptuously. "I'll pull his nose for a shilling. There are no such things as ghosts."

The somber man turned. "You would pull my nose for a shilling?" he cried, his deep set eyes lighting up with a flare. "I'll give you a chance to pull your grandfather's nose for £20."

"My grandfather has been dead these thirty years and is not likely to come back to earth for the purpose of getting his nose pulled."

"For £20, I say, I'll have him here. If I fail, £20 is yours."

"I have but 5s. 6d. Will that serve?"

"No. Now cease your talk."

"Come, neighbors," said the man with the hook nose, "can't you help me to show up this pretender?"

The cupidity of those present overbalanced their superstition, and they began to feel in their pockets for coins.

Twenty pounds was made up among them, each man to receive as much in addition at the winning of the bet as he put in, and handed to the man with the hook nose. The stranger produced as much.

"Who shall hold the stakes?" asked the hook nosed man.

"Hold them yourself."

"Will not one of the gentlemen do as well?"

"No; you alone will know which wins."

"All right." And the hook nosed man pocketed the money.

"Now," said the stranger, handing him his key, "go to No. 12 and stay there till the bet is won or lost."

The hook nosed man did as he was bid, and the stranger, sitting down in the corner left vacant, apparently sank into a slumber. Presently a terrible shriek was heard on the floor above. It was repeated again and again. When those in the bar had mastered their terror they rushed upstairs to open the door of No. 12. It was locked and bolted. The shrieks had ceased. Then the landlord brought an ax and battered in the door. The room was empty.

Then a mild suspicion began to take hold of those present that they had been swindled. Running downstairs to the bar, they found that vacant also.

"The spalpeens," cried the Irishman, "they've done us illegant."

THE UP-TO-DATE WAY

is to cook with gas. Nowadays housewives and cooks won't bother with messy troublesome wood or coal stoves. What's the use of breaking your back and spoiling your temper when you can simply turn on the gas, light it with a match and not give the fire another thought? Besides, the meal will be better cooked, when it's cooked by gas.

HOUGHS NECK

A slight fire started in the cafe connected with the Bungalow, Tuesday night at eight o'clock, caused by the non-commission of the electric wires. The side entrance was broken and the main switch pulled which probably saved considerable damage. As it was, the damage was but slight. All over the beach the electric service was poor.

The storm caused considerable excitment especially at the time when the heavy report of thunder and vivid flash of lightning came together. Women and children ran into the streets, thinking that their houses had been struck by the bolt. The storm was the heaviest here for years.

NOT ONE OF CHAIN GANG

William Craig, one of the three men arrested near the Adams Academy grounds by Officer Avery Monday night regrets very much that he should be classed as one of the chain gang, although unfortunately he happened to be present Monday night. Mr. Craig is regularly employed Monday being the first day that he has not worked for several months, and it was only by a little indiscresion on his part that he happened to be with the party when the arrest was made. It has been a good lesson to him and he says no further opportunity will be had to name him as one of that class of loafers.

☞Don't go away for the holidays or for the summer and leave valuable jewelry or silver in the house when for a small sum you can rent for a whole year a safety deposit box at the National Granite Bank. This box is available to you at any time during banking hours, so that if you need anything in your box, it may be easily got and put back again when through with it. A box in the Granite Bank certainly frees ones mind of all worry regarding ones valuables.

BROTHERHOOD ENTERTAINED

Are Guests of Rev. and Mrs. Armstrong

The Galahad Brotherhood of Christ church was right royally entertained by the Rev. R. E. Armstrong and Mrs. Armstrong last night. The first part of the evening was given to a heart to heart talk. The talk was varied and the rector and laymen agreed and disagreed. The spirit of discussion was on the verge of bursting out into a fire of eloquence by certain members who tried to define the almost invisible line between right and wrong. The diversity of opinion was so strong that had it not been for the timely intervention of Mrs. Armstrong who informed the Brotherhood that the delicacies that awaited their sensitive palates must be consumed without further delay. After indulging in the nice things that had been prepared for them the evening was then turned over to music and song. Miss Brown who is to leave Quincy today rendered three beautiful ballads, which were more than appreciated by the members. Mr. A. McLeod sang "My Loves like the red red rose." It was sung with that loveliness and passion that only a Scotchman can give to it. The Brotherhood then rendered several songs collectively. Mr. H. Nicholson and F. Wrigley, Jr., culminated the evening with piano selections. After Auld Lang Syne had been sung at an almost midnight hour the Brotherhood gave Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong a unanimous vote of thanks for the enjoyable evening that they had given the members.

A TRIP IN A CANDY BOAT.

One rainy day in the spring when Herbert and his sister Martha were tired of staying in the house and fidgety because they had nothing to do their mother said to them, "Well, children, how should you like to go down in the kitchen and make some molasses candy?"

"We surely would!" cried the children, clapping their hands, and down the kitchen stairs they clattered and burst in upon the cook, crying, "Mother says we can make some molasses candy!"

So the cook got out the molasses and sugar and butter and told the children how to mix them together, and the candy was soon boiling on the stove. When it was done and had grown cool enough for them to touch it the children rubbed butter all over their hands to prevent the molasses from sticking and pulled and pulled it till it turned from a dull brown to a bright yellow.

After they had done this for quite a while Herbert had a new idea.

"Let's make it into fancy shapes," he said. So Herbert made a candy slipper, and Martha made a candy cup and saucer, and then Herbert made a candy canoe. When it was finished he decorated it with swirls and quirls of molasses so that it was beautiful to behold. Then he set it on the window sill to cool and went back to make some more lovely candy things. By the time they had pulled all the candy the canoe had hardened. It was so pretty that Herbert could not bear to eat it.

"I wonder if it wouldn't float like a real boat?" he said.

"Let's take it down to the brook and try," said Martha, for by this time the rain had stopped and the sky was blue again.

Down they ran to the brook, where they set their tiny craft afloat. It looked so pretty bobbing up and down on the ripples that the children clapped their hands with glee.

"I wish we were small enough to go for a sail in it," cried Martha.

No sooner had she said the word than she heard an elfin chuckle behind her. She turned and saw a queer little man dressed in green perched on the branch of a hemlock.

"You have your wish!" he cried. "Jump in as fast as you can."

So the children clambered into the boat, which immediately began floating down the stream.

Since they had suddenly grown so small the brook seemed to Herbert and Martha to be like a wide river and the bushes at its edge towered above them like mountains. The familiar scenes seemed strange and new to the children, and they enjoyed it immensely. But in the midst of their fun they noticed that their boat was getting soft. It was only made of candy, they remembered, and the water was melting it.

They had no sooner discovered this peril than a still greater one presented itself. Close at hand they heard the roar of a waterfall.

"Oh, oh!" cried Martha. "We shall go over the falls!"

But they did not, for, as they came near the leap of the water, out from the bushes blundered a little fox terrier, who sprang into the creek, caught their boat in his mouth and paddled back to the shore. As soon as they touched land Herbert and Martha regained their natural size, greatly to the astonishment of the fox terrier, and they were so grateful to him for rescuing them that they gave him the whole of the candy boat to eat and promised him a lump of sugar every time he should come to the house.

Origin of the Marines.

Marines are really soldiers serving on shipboard and not sailors. They are a part of the armament of the ship, not a part of its crew. The marine system began in the British navy about the year 1665, when an order in council authorized the raising of 1,200 soldiers for sea service. The system, however, of having soldiers exclusively for service at sea was not carried into effect until 1698, when two marine regiments were formed.—Marine Journal.

SPORTING NOTES.

Arthur Robertson, the old Swarthmore pitcher who is to be in the box for the Y. M. C. A. is to pitch in a big game at Nahant on the holiday. A year ago he pitched for the same team and won in a sharp fifteen inning contest.

A large number of entries have been received for the club doubles of the Quincy Tennis club to be started on the 17th.

"Stan" Bates makes his debut in the box for the Lowell New England league team today. Here's hoping.

The Y. M. C. A. track team meets at Merrymount park next Monday at 6 P. M. to practice for the State meet which is to be held at Wood Island park, East Boston on Saturday, June 24.

The members of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. are getting to be quite proficient bowlers. A number of them meet in the alleys of the association every Tuesday and a number of very good scores have been made in candle pins.

The holiday promises to be a busy day in Quincy athletically with track meets, baseball games etc. to take up the attention of the fans and athletes.

The cups and medals for the St. John's field day prizes are on exhibition in the window of Hearn's drug store.

The newly organized Y. M. C. A. Senior team wish to arrange games with baseball clubs in Quincy, Milton and Braintree. L. F. LaRose, the manager would like to hear from such teams as the South Quincy A. A., Fore River Apprentices, Adams A. A., Manets, Wellingtons of Braintree and so on with regard to arranging games. Address L. F. LaRose, Y. M. C. A. Quincy.

An Old Time Champion.

Robert Barclay Allardice, a Scotch captain in the British army, who was born in 1779 and died in 1854, was a noted pedestrian. At the age of fifteen he walked six miles within an hour. When he was twenty he covered 150 miles on foot in two days, and in June, 1801, in excessively hot weather he walked 300 miles in five days. His most surprising performance was walking 1,000 miles in 1,000 successive hours. A half million dollars was staked on the result.

GRADUATION EXERCISES WOODWARD INSTITUTE

Address by Rev. O. P. Gifford D. D. on "Education for Efficiency"

Isidora Beal and Rachel Hardwick Honor Pupils Receive Wands

The graduating exercises of the class of 1911 were held at Woodward Institute Wednesday evening and a class of twenty-seven young ladies received diplomas. After the processional by the school three songs were sung under the direction of Mr. John D. Buckingham. All three were beautifully rendered by the young ladies, the parts were well balanced and the harmony and melody pleasing. The Senior class then marched to the platform.

Horace W. Rice, principal of the school, introduced Dr. O. P. Gifford of Brookline who spoke on "Education for Efficiency." The address was at the same time entertaining and filled with great and good common sense. Dr. Gifford spoke largely in epigrams and illustrated his points with intensely humorous stories. It would be well worth while to give the address verbatim but this is of course impossible so we will give the three principal points of the address as summarized by the speaker himself. "Education is the drawing out of the powers, the disciplining of the powers, and the fiting of the disciplined powers to the age in which you live."

"Efficiency is doing the thing that is needed in the best way with the least possible friction." "Cooperation is the crown of educated efficiency."

The diplomas were presented by Rev. Ellery Channing Butler, pastor of the First church and chairman of the Board of Directors of the school. In presenting them he impressed upon the minds of the young ladies that a diploma did not count for very much, but that for which it stood did count mightily, the love of truth, breadth of mind and depth of character.

In years past it has been customary to have special honors for the five or six highest pupils but this year a simpler method was used of honoring those who stood highest in their classes and in the estimation of pupils and teachers alike. Wands, wound with ribbons of pale blue, the class color were presented to Miss Isidora Beal and Miss Rachel Hardwick. These wands were carried by two of the first year girls who as pages led the processional.

Miss Isidora Beal was without any question the most beloved girl in the school both by teachers and pupils. She was one of the brighest girls in her class, was one of the best athletes and held important offces in her class and in the school. A number of years ago Miss Beal had scarlet fever and as an after effect lost her hearing completely. When she first applied for admission to the school it was after considerable hesitation that the teachers consented to undertake the work of teaching her and then it was with the understanding that they would not be held responsible for making her understand everything that was said. It was not long before they found out that all these precautions were unnecessary for with the art of lip-reading mastered and with special written work assigned occasionally she was able to keep up with the leaders of her class in scholarship.

Early in her course she won her "W" playing on the school basketball team during her first year. She has been prominent in athletics during all four years in the Institute and has been treasurer of the Athletic association for two years. Miss Beal has been treasurer of her class during all four years. She is especially proficient in drawing and sketching and it is her ambition to go to the Normal Art school and later become a teacher in the Horace Mann school, believing that she understands the problems of the deaf boys and girls better than those who have not experienced deafness.

With the wand the following letter was presented to Miss Beal: "By the unanimous vote of the teachers of Woodward Institute this wand is presented to Isidora Beal in recognition of the brave effort she has made under great diffculties to acquire an education. With it goes our appreciation of her sunny disposition and the spirit of helpfulness shown on all occasions.

For the Teachers,
Horace W. Rice,
Principal.

June 14, 1911.

Miss Rachel Hardwick has been one of the most popular girls in the school ever since she entered it four years ago. She has always been active in athletics and came into prominence two years ago as one of the best high jumpers among girls in the United States. She too won her "W" early in her course and has held the office of class president during the past year. In her classes she has been noted for diligence and enthusiasm.

The note which accompanied her wand was as follows:

"By the unanimous vote of the teachers of Woodward Institute this wand is presented to Rachel Louise Hardwick who by her loyalty and earnestness of purpose has won the high regard of all with whom she has been associated.

With it goes our confidence and expectation that she will in her college life win honor for herself and Woodward Institute.

For the Teachers,
Horace W. Rice,
Principal.

June 14, 1911.

After the graduation exercises were over the audience were given an opportunity to see the drawing exhibition. The pupils have but half an hour a week to devote to this department and some remarkably good work has been done especially when it is taken into consideration that the time given to the work is so much limited. One of the best drawings was that of "The Boxer" done by Miss Isidora Beal. The Nubian head and the head of Young Augustus drawn by Miss Alma Nelson were also very good. In design work and mechanical drawing, Miss Mary LeCount did exceptionally well and Misses Helen Croucher and Grace Hunter did some good work in drawings of still life.

A very interesting exhibit of stencilling and design work, monograms, bookplates, etc., was shown. Some pillow covers by Miss Lucy Waite and Miss Edith Ames attracted a great deal of attention. A water color sketch by Miss Stella Browne was well done.

The graduating class will hold its reception this evening in the reception hall. The class officers have charge of the arrangements and they are being assisted by members of the other classes.

The graduation exercises were as follows:

Mt. Wollaston lodge of Odd Fellows received a visitation from Puritan lodge of Braintree Tuesday evening the Braintree brothers coming to Quincy by special electrics. The work of the evening was the first degree which was exemplified by the degree staff of Mt. Wollaston lodge in its usual fine manner.

After the work of the evening when the lodge was declared at ease P. G. Fred Buzzell of Puritan lodge in behalf of the brothers of that lodge presented a box of cigars and soon the room was fragrant with burning Havana tobacco. The surprise of the evening however came when Past Grand Charles H. Wood in behalf of the members of Mt. Wollaston lodge presented Past Grand Charles H. Jones with a purse of gold in appreciation of his faithful services as degree master. Ice cream and cake was served and the remainder of the evening was passed with speaking and singing, closing with three cheers for each lodge.

Merchants Meet and Complete Plans for Week

The last meeting of the Merchants association before Merchants week which begins next Monday, was held Wednesday afternoon in the rooms of the Board of Trade, Acting President W. G. Shaw presiding. Practically everything is completed in readiness for the week and it only remained to complete some of the minor details.

The several sub-committees made their reports which showed everything progressing finely.

The committee on decorating reported that it had arranged with Wallingford & Acres to do the decorating and that the decorating of stores would be general and that the city as far as City Square was concerned would present a holiday appearance.

The committee on band concerts reported that it had arranged for six band concerts. These will be given from the new band stand in front of Remick Bros. store, at the head of Granite street and near City Hall. The nights for each location of the band was decided by lot. On Monday and Tuesday evening the band will be located near City Hall, Wednesday and Thursday evenings at the head of Granite street and on Friday and Saturday evenings opposite Remick Bros. store.

There was an informal discussion in regard to the lighting of City Square during the week but no definite action taken. There was also an informal discussion in regard to having band concerts every week during the summer season. No definite action on this subject was taken. The only other out door attraction during the week will be the parade of the Fire Department Saturday afternoon. C. C. Hearn was appointed to confer with the Mayor and Chief Williams as to the details of the parade.

This committee met Chief Williams this morning. As now planned the entire fire department will assemble near the Adams Academy and march over a short route, returning to City Square where the steamer will be tried out playing through the water tower on the ladder truck and through the gun on Combination No. 1 wagon.

Chief Williams plans to have the old Granite hand tub and the old Lovell chemical engine in the parade showing the evolution in the fire department of the city.

NOTICE

Saturday, June Seventeenth, being a holiday, the office of the Daily Ledger will be closed all day and no paper will be issued.

The Chicago Tribune favors using the roller towel to swat the fly with. We prefer an old newspaper as an illustration of the power of the press.

Col. Goethals says the Panama canal is to be done July 1, 1913. If so, we have no doubt he will let off one or two fire crackers three days after that date.

Miss Peck and Mrs. Workman are going to climb mountains well above the 20,000 mark this year, while many of us make the air blue if we have to walk to the third story without an elevator.

They are charging duties on pet animals taken out from the country and brought back by tourists. An export bounty on pet dogs, and a prohibitory tariff on importing them, would promote the peace movement.

We agree with several well known educators in Boston that the public school buildings should be made more use of. There are many educational ways they could be used evenings, for lectures special classes or even for public reading rooms. In this line of thought it is pleasing to note that the School Committee has granted the use of the Coddington school yard and sanitaries to the Playground Committee of One Hundred, which will run a public supervised playground there from the Fourth of July until Labor day. Mr. LaRose, physical director of the Y. M. C. A. will be in charge ably assisted by Miss Ruth Bass a graduate of the Sargent School of Gymnastics. The committee is also indebted to Henry M. Faxon who has generously given them the use of his land in the rear of the school.

LADIES' NIGHT.

The last meeting of the Old Colony Grocers' and Provision Dealers' Association to be held before the summer vacation, was known as ladies' night and took place in Odd Fellows' hall, South Braintree, Wednesday evening. There was a good attendance of members with their ladies and the evening was a grand success. Frederick Humphry of East Weymouth, ex-president of the Mass. Grocers Association spoke very entertainingly on "Association Work." There were readings by Master Joe Beal, vocal solos by Chas. A. Kohler and Carlton Beal. Cuff's orchestra rendered some very pleasing concert selections and played in their usual excellent style for dancing which lasted until midnight. Generous refreshments of ice cream and cake were served and were much appreciated especially by the dancers.

At this meeting plans were discussed relative to the annual picnic of the association which will be held Aug. 9 at Crescent Park, R. I. The party will go by special train to Fall River and thence by steamer Warwick to the park.

The committee in charge of the evening's proceedings consisted of Oakes A. Bridgham, Edward J. Sullivan and Henry W. Mansfield.

☞Going away for the summer? If so don't forget to have the Daily Ledger sent to your address and keep posted on home news. If you have forgotten to send in your order in the rush of getting away drop us a postal and we will do the rest. tf

GOLF IN THE SOUTH.

The Game Was Played In Charleston as Early as 1788.

Golf was played in Charleston as far back as 1788. In the City Gazette or Daily Advertiser of Sept. 27, 1791, appears the following notice:

"Anniversary of the South Carolina Golf club will be held at Williams' office house on Thursday, 29th inst., when members are requested to attend at 2 o'clock precisely, that the business of the club may be transacted before dinner."

For several years following may be found calls for the anniversary meetings to be held at "the clubhouse on Charleston's green," a tract of land south of Boundary (now Calhoun) street, between the present Coming and Rutledge streets.

The fact that it was the anniversary meeting in 1791 would show that the club had been organized before that date, but unfortunately the file of newspapers in the Charleston library is not complete for some years just prior, and one finds no earlier notices of meetings or mention of the club. But in the same journal of Sept. 18, 1788, there is an advertisement of an auction sale of a farm on Charleston Neck, between three and four miles from the city, adjoining Cochran's shipyard, bounding in part on Shipyard creek, which, after describing the different items of property included in the sale, states that "there is lately erected that pleasing and genteel amusement, the golf baan." This certainly indicates that golf was one of the local amusements of that day.

The word "baan" (English-Dutch dictionary) means path, walk, way, etc., and golf, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica, is derived from the Dutch "kolf," a club, and the game is doubtless of Dutch origin and introduced into Scotland about 1450.—Charleston News and Courier.

Tommy's Dilemma.

"I'd like to be a poet," said little Tommy Grime,
But try and try as best I can, my words will never rhyme.

"I'd like to paint a picture that would make the people stare,
But when I get my paint box out the picture isn't there.

"I'd like to write a story that would bring me lots of gold,
But every single thrilling thing has many times been told.

"So I must be contented in being plain Tom Grime,
And p'r'aps before I know it I'll do something great some time."

JULY FOURTH CELEBRATION

Grand Success Assured. Funds Coming in Well

An enthusiastic meeting of the general Fourth of July committee was held Wednesday evening. The meeting was well attended and all were very enthusiastic over the assured success of this year's celebration.

The several committees made their reports all of which were very pleasing showing that everything was moving along nicely.

The committee were more than pleased when a dispatch in a Boston paper was read stating that the navy department had ordered the scout cruiser Salem to be in Quincy waters that day if possible and in case she could not get here that the Chester would be present.

It was voted to set apart the sum of $600 for fireworks and chairman Elcock of this committee announced that while last year there were eighty numbers in the display this year there would be 94.

It was also voted to appropriate the sum of $500 for bands. This will provide for two bands and a drum corps and there will probably be band concerts in the afternoon and evening.

As for a balloon ascension this feature will probably be given up Chairman Hanscom reported that he had heard from the Wright-Burgess peopeople and that they wanted fifteen hundred dollars to make an airship flight.

The collection committee reported that money had begun to come in and they wish to acknowledge the following contributions in addition to those published a few days ago.

DRUNKS START FIRE.

The alarm from Box 31 at 10.12 Wednesday night called the department to a slight fire in a house on Pearl street. When the department arrived they found the house full of drunks and that they had set a bed on fire by their smoking. The fire was soon out and Officer Broberg collared two of the drunks. George W. Glover and Thomas Phelan. The others got away. In court this morning Glover and Phelan were sent to the state farm.

JUNE WEDDINGS.

Smart Weddings in Suburban settings —Sweet Pea Colorings and Directoire Staffs—Zebra Styles Rampant—New Bags and Blouses.

After Decoration Day, the fashionable set motors to town, only for odd shopping, some charity fete or function or to see some one off on a steamer, but the suburbs are gay with all sorts of doings and pretty June weddings that have the advantage of all the lovely background that the country affords at this season, are sure to assemble a large contingent of those on the list.

SWEET PEA WEDDING.

At one of these a few days ago, sweet pea colorings were selected for the bridesmaids gowns, and for the floral favors, even the regulation gardenia in the usher's buttonholes giving way to a round bunch of white sweet peas, that at a little distance was not after all very different in effect.

The above designs are by The McCall Company, New York, Designers and Makers of McCall Patterns.

THE BRIDE'S GOWN.

The bride's gown of white satin was semi-empire, the cut out neck filled in to the collar line, with point lace. The sleeves and bodice were cut in one, and embroidered to match the train, the sleeves coming half way to the elbow. A fichu effect of point lace started from the right shoulder and fell in cascades down the left side of the skirt. The court train of satin was hung from the shoulders, and the lower part of the train was beautifully embroidered in the sweet pea design, sprays of the flowers running up at the sides to form delicate points. The long scarf veil of point lace was caught to the coiffure with orange blossoms, and the bouquet was of sweet peas and orange blossoms.

THE MAID OF HONOR.

The maid of honor wore a trailing semi-empire gown of lavender liberty satin with a tunic of light blue chiffon. The corsage draped with the blue chiffon embroidered in lavender. An odd little hat was a perfectly flat diamond shaped affair made of little puffings of lavender tulle and edged with blue satin. A strap of blue satin went under the chin from the points above either ear and just where the strap started there was a small pinkish mauve rose.

DIRECTOIRE STAFFS.

Long white canes, or Directoire staffs were carried by the maid of honor and bridesmaids, and these were topped by great clusters of white lilacs and lavender and pink sweet peas, tied with lavender gauze ribbon. Single sprays of the flowers dangled rom floating ribbons after the fashion of the usual "shower bouquet." The bridesmaids dresses were of blue satin veiled with lavender chiffon, and their Mother Goose crowned hats were of ruffled blue straw, with shaded pink trimmings. They also wore chin straps, but of lavender satin instead of the blue of the maid of honor's headwear.

THE TRAVELLING DRESS.

A very smart tailored suit of grayish green and white striped serge, nearly the shade of a lime, for there was considerable yellow in the tone, was worn for going away. The dark stripes were much wider than the white ones. The skirt was scant and plain with a boxplait in the back stitched to within a short distance of the foot of the dress. The coat was the regulation tailored type with mannish reveres of the material but had small cuffs on the sleeve and bands at the bottom made of the stripe running crosswise, and the buttons were of the material set in ivory colored rims. A white lingerie waist with a plaited frill was worn and a rather large hat of greenish gray straw was looped back in a slanting direction and trimmed outside with a facing of matching velvet and three ostrich plumes.

ZEBRA STRIPES.

If a herd of Zebras were turned loose at a fashionable assemblage they would feel quite at home, for all the variations of stripes shown in their coats are repeated in modish costumes. Black and white stripes trim all kinds of materials, and colors and are no longer conspicuous because everyone and her daughters and grandmother are wearing them. Stripes of any color combination are liked even cherry and white in regular awning styles is worn, but either as a trimming or veiled somewhat by chiffon or other darker material. Periwinkle blue is first favorite though this purplish tone is not universally becoming. It is liked in combination with black and white dresses being rather newer than the coral reds and "Pat" greens that have been so much exploited.

BAGS AND BAGS.

The long handled bag is the favorite and quite a number of people, have adopted the Parisan idea of suspending these from the shoulder, as a field glass is carried, though this has rather too "Sporty" a look to suit everyone. White pigskin that cleans perfectly is the newest favorite for carrying with light toilets. Monograms are small and delicately cut for these, and enclosed in metal rims.

Fannie Field.

MOONLIGHT WHIST.

A very largely attended whist party was held Wednesday evening on the grounds of J. E. Reinhalter at the corner of Miller and Copeland streets under the auspices of Ave Maria council Knights of Columbus in aid of the coming lawn party of St. Mary's parish. Forty tables were in play at whist after which there was dancing on a dancing board to the music of a hurdy gurdy and refreshments. The prize winners at the whist were Miss Mary Reynolds, Miss Nellie King, George Lemeaux and John Jones.

HEALTH HINT FOR TODAY.

Groom the Hair and Kill Dandruff.

Dandruff causes the hair to fall, ruins the gloss and causes a dull, lifeless appearance. Clean brushes, daily attention to the removal of dust and dirt, the discarding of thick, heavy "rats" and the airing and sunning of the hair are all preventives that any woman can use. If the hair is carefully groomed every day dandruff will not form to an alarming extent.

GARDEN PARTY POSTPONED.

The garden party usually held on the grounds of The Free Home for Consumptives 428 Quincy street, Dorchester, the last Saturday in June will be postponed until October. Instead, the country holiday will be given in Mechanics building, Boston on the garden party date, June 24. Both halls have been engaged and a country festival will give great fun to young and old. Grand hall will be used for dancing and country races. The Fat Men's club will be requested to open the event. The balconies will be for spectators. The amusements will include band concerts, dancing, circus, country costumes and races, swings, tilts, merry-go-round, whist parties afternoon and evening. Exhibition hall will contain refreshments, booths, fortune tellers and games, and the boys will give a wonderful circus and represent animals etc. Music of excellence will be played in both halls. The admission fee will be twenty-five cents and children ten cents from 2 P. M. until 6 P. M. only. A great success is anticipated.

The garden party, as stated, will open on the grounds of the Home, October 8, A great Labor demonstration is to be given and John Mitchell, second Vice President of the American Federation of Labor, Ex-President of the United Mine Workers, and famous the world over as "Peacemaker of the Mines" will deliver the oration under the auspices of the Boston Central Labor Union. The various Unions of the State and elsewhere will co-operate. Men in various stations of life will also appear to pronounce the greatness of our Charity.

The Free Home for Consumptives is supported by the Young Ladies' Charitable Association and is free to poor consumptives of every age, stage, nationality, creed and color; no pay patients admitted. Graduate nurses care for sick and the very best physicians are in attendance; many cures are effected in this institution. Four recently.

The home is beautifully situated on an elevated site overlooking the surrounding country and contains over six acres of attractive grounds. One has merely to visit the home to realize the comforts provided there. The spirit of home prevails and the patients enjoy freedom and are not overburdened by rigid rules. It is a charity well worth the consideration of the generous public.

ENGINES ALL RIGHT.

A dispatch to a morning paper from New York revives the almost threadbare story that the government is greatly disappointed in the turbine engines installed in the battleship North Dakota. The claim of the correspondent however is not substantiated by facts.

The trouble with the engines of the North Dakota according to officials of the Fore River Co. is that the present trouble is due to the neglect to draw off the water when the engines were not in use.

The result was that rust formed and to this rust is due the trouble that is being experienced in getting the tops off the engines of the North Dakota which is now at the Brooklyn navy yard.

THREE SAILORS ACCUSED

Prosecution Not Certain Which One Killed Barge Captain

Boston, June 15.—The three members of the crew of the coal barge Glendower, William De Graff, Antonio Priskich and William Nelson, were arraigned before United States Commissioner Hayes on the charge that they murdered Captain Charles D. Wyman while he slept on the barge last Friday.

E. M. Sullivan, assistant district attorney, who has charge of the prosecution of the men, said that he was not ready for the case to go on, and an adjournment was taken until June 27.

Captain Wyman was murdered on the high seas, and thus the case comes within the province of the federal courts. Sullivan is certain that one of the three men killed the captain, but he can't find out which one it was.

FINED $5000 AND COSTS

Milk Company Admits Accepting Rebates From Railroad

Boston, June 15.—The Elm Farm Milk company was fined $5000 and costs of $350 by Judge Dodge in the United States district court on pleading guilty to two counts out of sixty of accepting rebates from the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad. The fine was at once paid.

The New Haven Railroad company, which was indicted for giving rebates to the milk company, has not yet been brought into court in answer to the indictment.

The New York, New Haven and Hartford and the Elm Farm Milk company were charged in sixty counts with giving and accepting concessions in the shipment of milk from Willimantic, Conn., to this city. The indictments cover sixty different alleged offenses.

THEIR MEETINGS ONLY PERFUNCTORY

Directors of Sugar Trust Were Under Havemeyer's Control

Washington, June 15.—Charles R. Heike, formerly secretary of the American Sugar Refining company, went on the witness stand before the sugar investigating committee of the house. Notwithstanding his long connection with the company, Heike's lack of knowledge on all details of the company's affairs was a revelation to all who heard his testimony.

Whenever pressed hard for details of a deal whereby the American Sugar Refining company acquired a competitor Heike disposed of all interrogations by a bland "I don't know."

"It was a one man concern," said Heike, referring to the days when Henry O. Havemeyer was at the head of the sugar trust. He admitted that the proceedings of the board of directors were "cut and dried affairs," all details being arranged on the outside and put through the board of directors in a perfunctory manner.

ENTIRE TRIP UNDER WATER

Seven Submarines Leave Narragansett Bay For Gloucester

Newport, R. I., June 15.—The seven submarines which comprise the third submarine division of the Atlantic torpedo fleet left Narragansett bay this morning on a run to Gloucester, Mass.

The entire trip will be made submerged except for the possible necessity of coming to the surface to recharge batteries. This will be done at some station en route, which will also serve as a stopping place for the night.

The submarines are not to be accompanied on the run by their tender Severn, the latter remaining at Newport until the boats reach Gloucester, when she will follow. This is done to show that submarines can be as self-sustaining on their cruises as any other class of naval vessels.

GIRLS' BAIL REDUCED

Bonds For Stokes' Assailants Drops From $25,00 to $15,000 Each

New York, June 15.—Ethel Conrad and Lillian Graham, the two girls who shot Millionaire W. E. D. Stokes in their apartments at 225 West Eightieth street, had their bail reduced when arraigned in the West Side court, from the original $25,000 to $15,000 each. Further hearings in the case were put off until Friday at 2 p. m., when an appeal for additional reduction of bail will be made.

Stokes is firmly convinced a man suggested the holdup, according to information obtained yesterday.

PASTOR PLASS PLEADS GUILTY

Similar Action Is Taken by Brooks and Traphagen

USED THE MAILS TO DEFRAUD

Only Five Counts Affected by Shift of Plea of Officers of Redeemable Investment Company—District Attorney Will Not Ask For Prison Sentence—Concern Disposed of Large Amount of Stock In New England

Boston, June 15.—Rev. Norman Plass, Charles H. Brooks and John I. Traphagen, officers of the Redeemable investment company, whose case had been on trial in the United States district court for several days on charges of using the mails in a scheme to defraud, changed their pleas of guilty on certain counts, thus bringing their trial to an abrupt end.

The change was made in open court before Judge Dodge and the jury who have been hearing the evidence. It followed a conference betwen counsel for the defense.

The stocks dealt in by the firm were mostly of a mining character. The three men pleaded guilty to five counts in an indictment of a dozen counts. When they admitted their guilt in five counts, United States district Attorney French dropped the others.

Mr. French announced that he would not move for sentence of the three men at this time, and added that he would not ask for a prison sentence, but for a substantial fine.

The maximum punishment for the crime to which the men pleaded guilty is a fine of $1000 for each count in the indictment. Should they receive the maximum punishment they would be fined $5000 each.

The men are now out on bail and will have time to scurry about a bit and raise the money with which to pay their fines.

It was said that the company disposed of about $200,000 worth of stock in New England. But because of the standing of some of the subsidiary companies, it was said some of the stock is of some value, how much could not be figured out.

Federal officers raided the offices of the Redeemable Investment company, of which Plass was president, in October, 1910. Plass was not found, but the manager, Charles H. Brooks, was arrested.

Plass was then in British Columbia. He returned some time later and surrendered. He, Brooks and Traphagen, the treasurer of the company, were indicted at the instance of the postoffice department on the charge of using the mails in a scheme to defraud.

At their trial many women witnesses testified they had been induced to buy shares in the company on the understanding that they were to receive 6 percent interest and that at any time they wished to surrender their stock it would be bought back by the company.

When they tried to have it redeemed, their testimony showed, they were put off from time to time with the excuse that the president of the concern was out of town and that nothing could be done in his absence.

NATURALIZATION HELD UP

Judge Thinks Many Seek Citizenship For Commercial Purposes

St. Catherines, Ont., June 15.—At the opening of the court of general sessions here, County Judge Carman created something of a sensation by refusing applications made by several foreigners for naturalization papers.

"Many of these people," said the judge, "come here and ask for naturalization papers, though they never intend to become citizens of Canada. They simply use the certificates of citizenship for commercial purposes and aiding them to get in and out of the United States."

PATTEN ON "PROBING"

Says Two-Dollar-a-Day Man Is About the Only One Who Is Exempt

New York, June 15.—James A. Patten, the former Chicago wheat and cotton operator, sailing on the Mauretania to be the coronation guest of Premier Roblin of Manitoba, commented on recent official investigations.

"It seems to me," he said, "that every person with 15 or 20 cents is to be investigated. The man who makes $2 a day appears to be the only one who is exempt from the official probe."

DATE FIXED FOR LORIMER HEARING

Counsel Not Yet Selected For Investigating Committee

Washington, June 15.—Hearings before the senate committee on privileges and elections to investigate charges of alleged corruption in the election of William Lorimer of Illinois to the United States senate will be begun June 22 and continue daily thereafter.

The committee is still discussing the names of various attorneys who may be employed to assist the committee. The choice apparently lies between George W. Pepper of Philadelphia, who acted as counsel for Gifford Pinchot in the Ballinger-Pinchot inquiry, and John H. Marble, an attorney in the interstate commerce commission.

John J. Healy of Chicago, who served as counsel for the Helm investigating committee at Springfield, is likely to be retained in some capacity, owing to his familiarity with the case.

DEBATE ON RECIPROCITY

Indications That It Will Be Speedily Pushed In the Senate

Washington, June 15.—The first day of the consideration of the Canadian reciprocity bill by the senate was characterized by several events. In addition to listening to speeches by Senators Curtis and McCumber in opposition to the measure, the senate made the bill the unfinished business on the calendar and, without opposition, changed the regular daily hour of meeting from 2 o'clock to 1½ o'clock, which is expected to materially assist in disposing of the speeches.

Senator Penrose, who is in charge of the bill, expressed satisfaction at the outlook. He said he believed there would be general co-operation in bringing the discussion to a close as speedily as possible.

SPLEEN VALUED AT $17,500

Railroad Must Pay Man Who Lost That Part of His Anatomy

Boston, June 15.—Edward Chapman of Boston was awarded an unusually large verdict in an accident case. The jury in the fourth session yesterday afternoon returned a verdict of $17,500 against the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad.

Chapman was a passenger on one of the cars of the railroad and was injured in a collision beneath the South Boston bridge, about three years ago. He was so seriously injured internally that his spleen had to be removed on the night of the accident.

CASTRO TO BE ARRESTED

Haytian Government Will Send a Gunboat After Great Disturber

Washington, June 15.—The government of Hayti has notified the United States that it will send a gunboat to arrest Cipriano Castro, now on the former Italian gunboat Umbria at Port de Paix, Hayti.

The former dictator had been sought in Europe and America for more than two weeks following his disappearance from Teneriffe.

Rapped In Slumber.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

MAINE READY TO BE RAISED

Sea's Secret of Many Years Will Soon Be Revealed

PUMPING OPERATION BEGUN

Partial Exploration of Wreck of Battleship May Be Possible by Tonight—Exposed Portions Expected to Show Cause of Explosion and Afford Opportunity to Recover Bodies of Sailors Killed In Explosion

Havana, June 15.—Before sundown today the work of removing the water from the cofferdam enclosing the wreck of the battleship Maine will be carried to a point low enough to reveal portions of the wreck submerged for thirteen years, including a part of the midship section immediately affected by the explosion, the whole quarter deck and a portion of the berth deck, in which, it is believed, lie the remains of most of the undiscovered victims of the great tragedy.

This was determined after a consultation yesterday between General Bixbee and Colonels Black and Patrick, after a minute examination of the wreck. The board of officers are fully satisfied that the stability of the cofferdam warrants them in proceeding with the pumping operations.

Last evening the water in the cofferdam stood at the four and a half foot level. This morning the most powerful pumps were put to work with the object of reducing the level, which will permit the partial exploration of the upper part of the after-section from the stern to immediately forward of the engine-room space, where the explosion severed the forward section, including the 10-inch turret on the starboard side.

All this latter portion of the vessel is submerged many feet in excess of the after-part and probably will not be revealed until the dam is completely emptied and a great quantity of mud has been excavated.

The present intention of the board is to permit the water to remain at the ten-foot level, possibly for several days, for the purpose of making observations and tests of the cofferdam to show beyond question its ability to resist the tremendous inward pressure when completely emptied. Nothing up to the present has been observed that suggests any possibility of insufficient resistance of the structure.

Colonel Patrick says that the board believes it quite feasible to separate the after two-thirds of the ship from the forward third, severing the parts shattered by the explosion by the use of an acetylene blast. On the completion of the separation of the parts, it is intended to dissect the forward section by acetylene blasts into portable fragments which will be taken out piecemeal.

After that, in default of further orders from congress, it is the intention to build a bulkhead across the rear section, float it out from the dam, bring it alongside a wharf in the harbor, make a complete examination and finally tow it to sea and sink it.

It is believed that within a week or ten days sufficient progress will have been made to permit the recovery of all the remains of the dead.

THE SEAMEN'S STRIKE

Movement Appears to Meet With but Little Enthusiasm

London, June 15.—The seamen's strike was formally declared last night at London, Glasgow, Liverpool, Cardiff, Bristol, Southampton and other British ports and also at Belgian and Dutch ports, but the chances of any real international strike being declared seem remote.

So far as indications show, the confidence of the shipping federation is well placed, for at hardly any of these ports was enthusiasm displayed for the strike. The ship owners maintain an attitude of indifference.

JUDSON HALL PARDONED

Foss Extends Clemency to Another Inmate of State Prison

Boston, June 15.—Governor Foss yesterday pardoned Judson W. Hall of Worcester, who had served one year of a six to eight years' term in state prison for a serious crime.

At the time Hall was sentenced several other men were punished for the same offense with fines or short terms in the house of correction. In approving the pardon the executive committee said that the sentences were disproportionate.

BERGER'S MAIDEN SPEECH

Socialist Sees No Protection For Labor In Tariff Bills

Washington, June 15.—Making a plea for the American workman and arraigning the trusts, Representative Berger, the only Socialist in congress, made his maiden speech during the general discussion on the bill to revise the woolen schedule.

Mr. Berger declared it was a fallacy to say the tariff is to protect labor. "There is no such thing as a protection of labor in your tariff bills," he said. "Enlightened workingmen refuse to be swindled by agents of the capitalist class on the political field as they have been robbed on the economic field.

"You are constantly making laws for the protection of life and property, laws for manufacturers, bankers and merchants. But the working man, who has no other property than his labor powers, gets scant protection."

COOK IS SENTENCED TO THE DEATH CHAIR

Killed White For Refusing to Let Him See Girl

Springfield, Mass., June 15.—Edwin F. Cook, convicted of the killing at Ludlow of Herbert R. White, was sentenced by Judge Crosby to die in the electric chair during the week of Oct. 15.

Cook addressed the court, saying that he was innocent of any intention of shooting White. Cook's counsel announced that Cook had refused to ask Governor Foss for a commutation of sentence to imprisonment for life.

The murder was the result of a dispute over Lydia Amey, 12 years old, with whom Cook, who was 21, had run away from northeastern New York. The child had been taken from him and placed in the care of the White family, and the refusal of White to let Cook see her precipitated the fatal quarrel.

STARTLES ONLOOKERS

Ovington Flies Over Waltham Three Thousand Feet In Air

Waltham, Mass., June 15.—Aviator Earl L. Ovington made his first flight from the Waltham aviation grounds last night and astounded thousands of persons in Waltham, Waverly and Lexington by his daredevil antics while flying at a height of 3000 feet in a wind that was blowing at a rate of twenty-five miles an hour.

Ovington dipped his machine over the heart of the city of Waltham, while thousands below held their breath, fearing momentarily that he would be dashed to the ground. He made the flight in a wind that few aviators would attempt, especially in a machine of the monoplane type.

BREAD TRUST INVADES HUB

Two Bakeries, Employing Six Hundred Hands, Are Absorbed

Boston, June 15.—Two of the largest bakeries of the city—the J. G. and B. S. Ferguson company and the George G. Fox company—turn their properties over to John W. Gates' $30,000,000 bread combine at the end of this week. It is the first invasion of Boston by the baking trust.

The two Boston concerns turn out 100,000 loaves of bread a day and about 50,000 pies and cakes. They employ about 600 hands. The new concern will be known as the General Baking company, which is a subsidiary company of the National Bread company, otherwise known as the bread trust.

KNOX TALKS OF VOUCHER CASE

Unable to Understand How the Paper Turned Up

BECOMES SOMEWHAT NETTLED

Chairman of Investigating Committee Suspects That Artist Signed Long Missing Portrait Voucher Within Past Few Days—Hale's Receipt of $5000 From Canadian Boundary Fund Is Also Considered

Washington, June 15.—Further sensations came when Secretary of State Knox appeared before the house committee investigating the state department to testify regarding the finding on the floor of one of the offices of the department the mysterious voucher in the Day portrait matter, which has been missing for five years.

Secretary Knox expressed his inability to understand how the voucher had suddenly turned up.

"Do you believe this voucher has been in the possession of some employe of the state department all this time?" asked Chairman Hamlin.

"I certainly do," answered Knox.

Another startling bit of information was disclosed when the voucher, which calls for $2450, although but $850 was paid for the portrait, was examined by the committee. The committee found a receipt signed by Artist Rosenthal for $790 and a notation that $60 was paid for a frame.

Chairman Hamlin recalled that Rosenthal had testified two weeks ago that he had signed no receipt for the $850. The chairman intimated that the receipt had been signed within the past few days and had been attached to the voucher.

"What do you suspect?" said Knox angrily. "Do you think that somebody is trying to commit forgery or perjury?"

"I am not accusing you," said Hamlin. But I might as well be frank and say that I believe this receipt was only recently signed and that somebody in the state department knows about it."

"If you can support your theory that somebody in the department has connived and winked at such a transaction as to attach a receipt to these papers since this investigation started, then there will be some vacancies in the state department," said Knox.

O. H. Titman, superintendent of the coast and geodetic survey, who was also boundary commissioner, was put on the stand and was unable to explain why Frederick Hale, son of ex-Senator Eugene Hale, had received $5000 out of the Canadian boundary fund, the payment being made on the O. K. of the secretary of state.

He said that the survey asked for an appropriation of only $20,000 in connection with the settlement of the Passamaquoddy bay controversy, but that the appropriation had been increased $5000 "on request of the state department." Titman said he had made all the disbursements except the $5000 paid to Hale, which was done by direction of Knox, who had general supervision of the fund.

Secretary Knox will also be asked by the committee to go into detail regarding Hale's services. The voucher filed with the committee shows that for "exhaustive researches of treaties, reports, maps, historical works, various documents, voluminous correspondence, photographs, study of arguments and preparation of arguments in reply to British statements, etc.," the government owed Hale $5250, exclusive of $932 for miscellaneous expenses and $664 for mileage. The total bill was $6176.16. The discount was $1176.16, and the remainder, $5000, was paid to Hale.

Section 1. It shall be unlawful to pursue, hunt, take or kill any of the wild fowl included under the name of Anatidae during the time between two hours after sunset and two hours before sunrise.

Section 2. Whoever violates the provisions of this act shall be fined a sum not exceeding fifty dollars for each bird in respect to which the violation occurs. (Approved March 25, 1911.)

A Ghost In the Commons.

A certain M. P., lying ill on the continent a number of years ago, received an urgent "whip" for a critical division in the house and replied that he would be present at all cost to his health or convenience. On the eventful night when the house divided the tellers at the division lobby door saw the M. P. in question, and his vote was recorded. The day afterward it was discovered that the number of votes recorded by the division clerks was one short of the number given by the tellers. It was afterward found that at the time the division was taken the M. P. had breathed his last.—London Mail.

The Harvest Moon.

The term "harvest moon" is applied to the full moon which happens on or nearest to the 21st of September, because it rises on several consecutive nights more nearly after sunset than any other full moon of the year and is especially favorable for harvesting work in the evening.

Doan's Kidney Pills will do his.
Here is Quincy testimony to prove it.

Nicholas Albanese, 16 Gilmore St., Quincy, Mass., says: "I was annoyed by attacks of backache for some time. Often while at work, sharp, shooting pains darted through my loins, causing me great misery. I also had dizzy spells and my sight seemed to be affected. I tried many remedies, but did not receive relief and as a last resort, I decided to try Doan's Kidney Pills. I procured a box at the Cox Drug Store and in a short time after using them, I was helped. I have no hesitation in giving Doan's Kidney Pills the credit for my cure."

Simple Spot Remover.

This is a recipe for the very best "spot remover" you ever tried:

Two ounces of castile soap shaved fine and two quarts of pure soft water. Boil till soap is thoroughly dissolved, strain and cool. When cool add one ounce sulphuric ether and two ounces of wood alcohol. Shake it well and keep corked.

It is now ready for use and will remove spots and stains from your clothing like magic, especially woolen garments.—National Magazine.

GREENLEAF SCHOOL

Closing Exercises at School this Morning

The closing exercises of the Greenleaf school were held this morning in the schoolbuilding and on the lawn. The rooms were decorated with roses, peonies and other handsome flowers and presented quite a gala day appearance.

After the songs and recitations by the children, all went out doors where a series of games were conducted by Mr. Delcevare King. Flags and fancy hats were given to the children and ice cream and cake were served.

The children took their part well in the exercises indoors giving the recitations and singing the songs very very nicely. The duet by Elizabeth Baker and Eleanor Sears was one of the most enjoyable.

RIGHT ON THE JOB.

He Didn't Believe In Letting the Place Seek the Man.

A little story of success starting with the use of want ads. is contained in Business and the Bookkeeper. A Minneapolis manufacturer explains his liking for men who, even if they lack certain important qualities, have "initiative and originality."

The manufacturer, who at the time of which he spoke was just out of college, in Chicago and out of work, answered an advertisement offering a position, addressing, as instructed, "T24." He inclosed his reply in a large red envelope that could be seen and recognized at a distance. He was in the newspaper office early the following morning. In one of the boxes in which replies to advertisements were kept he saw his red envelope. He waited three hours until the letter in that box was given to a man calling for them. He followed the man to a west side factory. As the messenger laid the bunch of letters on the manager's desk the job hunter was standing by it.

"I'm ready to go to work," he said. The manager's reply was not "elegant," but in addition to being exclamatory it was interrogatory. How did he manage to present himself on the scene? The young man in need of the job pointed to his red envelope. The manager looked at it and looked at him. Then he turned to the messenger. "Find out who this young fellow is and put him to work," he said.

Discretion the Better Part.

Mr. Callahan had received a long tongue lashing from Mr. Hennessey, and his friends were urging on him the wisdom of vindicating his honor with his fists.

"But he's more than me equal," said Mr. Callahan dubiously, "and look at th' size of 'm."

"Sure an' you don't want folks to be sayn', 'Terry Callahan is a coward?'" demanded a reproachful friend.

"Well, I dunno," and Mr. Callahan gazed mournfully about him. "I'd rather that to 'ave 'em sayin' day after termorrow, 'How natural Terry looks!'"—Metropolitan Magazine.

ENGINEERS ON A STRIKE

Hoisting Engineers Demand Increase in Wages

The hoisting engineers employed in the several quarries of the city went out on a strike for higher wages this morning. It seems that this class of engineers have not been organized for several years but by general understanding have been receiving the same wages as other engineers.

Recently the hoisting engineers formed a union of their own and immediately following the organization came a demand for a scale of prices that meant in round figures an increase of practically thirty percent.

There have been several conferences between the men and bosses but no agreement has been reached so the men went out this morning.

It is said that there are about 40 men employed in this branch of the business.

SPORTING NOTES.

In the best bout seen at the Armory A. A. Tuesday evening Eddie Regan of Quincy won the decision over Frank Mack of Beachmont in 6 rounds. Regan had the better of his opponent all the way through and it looked as if he would win before the limit was reached, Mack gave a good exhibition of gameness however and lasted through to the end.

Considerable interest is being shown in the Twilight or Sunset baseball league composed of teams in South Quincy. The players hurry home from work and get out on the diamond at 5.30. The games start at 6 and the majority of them do not finish until dark. The zest of the game surely has an overpowering influence over these boys who would rather play than eat.

One of the most important games this week in Quincy will be that between Adams A. A. and Manet baseball club at Ward Three playground Saturday afternoon. Great rivalry exists between the teams and a game well worth while will be seen on the old battle field. Those that went to see last game came away satisfied that one can still see two amateur teams put up a wonderful game of baseball. In that game, McCarty, shortstop for the Manets was the sensation of the game covering unlimited territory. If the Adams team can hit Canavan in this next game they have a good chance to win but if not it will be the same story over again. On the other hand, the same thing may be true with regard to the Manets hitting Grethe who has been pitching gilt edged ball lately. The batting order for the Manets, Saturday will be Howley, 2b; McCarty, ss; Artis, 1f; Creswell, 1b; Gillis, 3b; O'Brien, cf; Conway, rf; Duggan, c; Canavan, p.

The Manet baseball club challenges the Makarias to play a game any time in July except the 4th or the 15th. Any kind of an answer would be appreciated through the columns of the Daily Ledger.

Managers of local baseball clubs are urged to send one or two representatives to the meeting of the Athletic committee for the Fourth of July celebration this evening at 8.30. This is to be the baseball meeting tonight and a decision of some kind must be arrived at with regard to the teams which are to meet and the fields in which the different matches are to take place. This will be the last chance for a club which wishes to play on the Fourth of July to secure a right to compete for the substantial purses which are offered.

In the qualifying round of the B. A. A. golf championship played yesterday on the Montclair links, Beals S. Wright, the tennis champion and B. S. Permar shared the honor of making the best gross score each getting an 80. S. B. Reed had low net with 86-16-70.

He Lost Out.

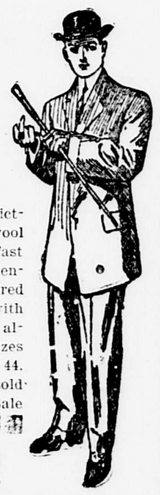

"Yes, sir, he wuz afraid o' the banks bustin' on him, an' so he buried his money!"

"Has he got it yet?"

"No; he forgot to blaze the tree whar it wuz, an' the man who owned the land put up a sign, 'No Trespassing on These Grounds.'"—Pittsburg Dispatch

How a Hindu Uses Clocks.

The Hindu places a clock in his showrooms not because he ever desires to know what the hour is, but because a clock is a foreign curiosity. Instead therefore, of contenting himself with one good clock he will perhaps have a dozen in one room. They are signs of his wealth, but they do not add to his comfort, for he is so indifferent to time that he measures it by the number of bamboo lengths the sun has traveled above the horizon.

How to Make Salad Sandwich.

The march as usual was a feature and each school was accorded hearty applause.

As usual music was a feature of the afternoon program and the combined voices caused a thrill as they rendered their several numbers under the direction of Miss Emma A. Perkins. Especially inspiring was the salute to the flag that closed the program.

LAUNCH OF STURGEON

Chicago Business Men See Submarine Take Dip

The launching of the submarine Sturgeon at the Fore River Thursday afternoon was a novelty for most of the one hundred or more Chicago business men who are in Boston this week. The Chicagoans were the guests that day of the Boston Chamber of Commerce and a day of pleasure was theirs. Departing from Boston on the steamer South Shore the party numbering nearly 500 in all were given a sail about the lower harbor and thence to the Fore River yards where a landing was made. Here they were welcomed by F. F. Crane representing President Bowles and escorted to the office building where the Chamber of Commerce served a lunch. Following this there was a brief address of welcome by President Bowles who expressed his pleasure at the opportunity to greet the Chicago business men. He then touched his favorite subject, the merchant marine and said:

"Gentlemen, I believe it is a business question, and when it occurs to ou to send business men to Congress it will be settled. Has it ever occurred to you what an excellent thing it would be if we could have a business man for President of the United States? This is no idle thought that I have expressed, and I hope you will give it all the consideration that it deserves."

The party then went to the shed where the submarine was in waiting to be launched.

The launch was a successful one in every way her sponsor being Miss Marguerite Little, daughter of Capt. William N. Little Inspector of Machinery at the yard as the submarine struck the water all hats came off and there was a mighty cheer.

"The Sturgeon is a sister submarine of the Skip Jack, which was launched at the Fore River ship yard on May 28 of this year. It has twin screws, is driven on the surface by a 300 horse-power gasoline engine, and when submerged, by high power motors supplied by storage batteries. The craft is 140 feet long and has a submerged displacement of 350 tons. Her armament consists of four torpedo tubes, each capable of shooting a submerged torpedo 17 feet long and 18.5 inches in diameter and carrying an explosive charge of 200 pounds of gun cotton. It has a speed of 14 knots an hour, which can be maintained for about 70 hours when occasion requires. The submerged speed is placed, approximately at 12 miles an hour."

Leaving Quincy the party steamed along the north shore returning to Nantasket where at 7 o'clock a banquet was served in Paragon park.

WOODWARD RECEPTION

Class of 1911 Joins Ranks of the Alumnae

With one of the best receptions that has been held in Woodward Institute for years, the class of 1911 ushered itself into the ranks of the Alumnae Thursday evening. The hall was decorated with the class colors pale blue and white, and with flowers in great variety. On the side opposite the entrance to the hall a bower formed with oak leaves and palms made an excellent place for the receiving line. Horace W. Rice, principal of the school, Mrs. Rice, Miss Dinegan, teacher of the Senior class, Miss Rachel Hardwick, president of the Senior class and Miss Ruth Hildebrand, vice president of the Senior class received.

Sixteen Junior girls acted as ushers and most of the 350 present were introduced to the receiving party. The reception was held from 8 to 8.30 and then Wilson's orchestra struck up the music for the opening dance. From 8.30 to 11 there was an opportunity to have 14 regular dances and three extras and every one of them was the source of much enjoyment. Punch was served by different Junior girls during the evening.

The teachers and a number of the parents were present in addition to the younger people and they joined with the others in extolling the reception as one of the nicest ever held by the school.

At 11 o'clock, the familiar strains of Home Sweet Home with variations recalled to the minds of the dancers that all things must have an end, even the most enjoyable of dances, and so it was with this one.

This evening the Alumnae association has its annual business meeting and election of officers. Miss Marion Moorhouse will tell of her experiences as a student in Munich and the Senior essays for the Alumnae prize will be read.

ARTHUR W. WONSON.

Quincy friends of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur S. Wonson of Gloucester were shocked to learn of his sudden death in Boston on Thursday. For three seasons Mr. Wonson has been director of the Quincy Choral society and by his ability and pleasing personality made many warm friends in the Society who will sincerely mourn for him. Mrs. Wonson is a sister of Mrs. Henry W. Tirrell of Dysart street, who left immediately for Gloucester to be with her sister in her bereavement.

NOTICE

Saturday, June Seventeenth, being a holiday, the office of the Daily Ledger will be closed all day and no paper will be issued.

Possibility of disorder in Mexico cannot be regarded as past until the country has been through an election or two.

It is apparent that the press agents in charge of Col. Roosevelts African trip are not looking after the publicity end of that north pole tour.

It was an observant young lady who remarked that, "the way those automobile racers in Indianapolis risk their lives is perfectly killing.

It s unpleasant to contemplate what might happen to anyone else who spoke as plainly concerning the United States as Mr. Justice Harlan does.

Senator Cullom's coming volume of "Recollection" will cover a period of seventy-five years and contain nothing so interesting as why he voted for Lorimer, if he tells why.

Farming in some parts of Canada must be quite as thrilling as cleaning off sidewalks in this altitude in January. The farmer can go forth any day with his snow shovel and discover where he planted his crop.

Mattapan wants cheaper and quicker service into Boston and Wednesday night the Mattapan Civic Improvement association held a meeting to boom a movement for a tube or subway from Mattapan to the centre of the Hub.

The graduation season is on and there is much pleasant anticipation among the pupils of the different schools. It is an all important time especially to graduates and parents. Incidentally the public is always interested in the exercises. The teachers also, especially the new ones are anxious that their scholars should acquit themselves well and do credit to their training.

DOG RUN OVER.

A small collarless black and tan dog whose owner is unknown, was run over by an automobile in front of the Ledger office this morning. Employers of the office took the dog, who had suffered a broken leg, into the office and notified the police. Later Officer Farrell put the dog out of misery.

FORMER RESIDENT.

George H. Wilson of Revere road keeps in touch with many former residents and frequently receives letters from all over the country. A recent one was from Walter C. Page of Lincoln, Kansas, who used to live on Revere road just back of the Auditorium and was a pupil of Miss Julia E. Underwood at the Coddington school.

He writes that he is just recovering from typhoid fever and was pleased to hear from Mr. Wilson and also from his old teacher Miss Underwood as it was the only correspondence since leaving Quincy 40 years ago. When he arrived in Lincoln there was nothing but baffalo grass where now there is quite a town. There is a large court house with monument on the lawn of Quincy granite erected in memory of early settlers killed by Indians. Quincy granite as well as Quincy people are to be found in all parts of the country, we might go farther and say world.

HISTORICAL PAGEANT

Historical Society May Hold Pageant in Quincy

The annual meeting of the Quincy Historical society was held Thursday afternoon at the cottage of John and Abigail Adams and was well attended.

The annual report of the Treasurer showed the receipts of the year to have been $384.70 the expenditures $276.20 leaving a balance on hand of $108.50.

These curators were elected for the ensuing year:

Brooks Adams
Emery L. Crane
James L. Edwards
Fred B. Rice
Herbert W. Pinkham
Mrs. Elizabeth H. Alden
Charles E. Goodspeed

Owing to a lack of a quorum of the curators the election of a president, secretary and treasurer was postponed until a later date.

There was an informal discussion on the question of holding an historical pageant in Quincy at some future date. It was pointed out that few cities were as rich, historically as was Quincy and a pageant would be well worth the effort.

After the discussion a committee was appointed to consider the feasibility of holding such a pageant and report at a later meeting. The committee are Mrs. Elizabeth H. Alden, Emery L. Crane, Charles E. Goodspeed.

After the business meeting the members were entertained at tea by the president.

TWO BURGLARS.

Two small breaks were reported to the police this morning and from appearances the work was that of boys. One of the breaks was in Wolworths five and ten cent store in City Square. Entrance was had by a rear window and some small articles were taken.

The second break was at the news store of Peter L. Litchfield on Water street. Entrance here was also through a rear window. Nothing was taken as far as known.

MILTON.

Richard B. McKay, who has been manging the Pennsylvania Steel Co. mines in Cuba is at his home in East Milton for a short vacation. At its expiration he will go to Pennsylvania to work in the home offices of the same company.

George Clements, driver of the hose wagon of the East Milton station is on his vacation. He is planning to follow his usual custom and spend the greater part of it in New Hampshire.

The memorial services of Mt. Wollaston lodge I. O. O. F. held in the Episcopal church, East Milton, last Sunday were very impressive. The church was filled to overflowing with Odd Fellows from Quincy, Milton and Dorchester. Samuel Wood Jr., G. H. P. of the Grand Encampment of Massachusetts formerly of East Milton was the principal speaker.

Frank Mullen, formerly of East Milton, son of Mrs. Mary Mullen of Pond street, was married in St. Mary's church, West Quincy, on Wednesday to Miss Mary Martell. Mr. and Mrs. Mullen will make their home inNew Jersey where Mr. Mullen is engaged in business.

Rev. Theodore Reese and Mrs. Reese, formerly of East Milton were in town on Sunday. Mr. Reese was rector of the Episcopal church, East Milton about three years ago.

The graduation exercises of the Belcher school will be held this evening. The other grammar school will not hold their exercises until the first of the week. The High school graduation will take place Monday evening and the Senior class day exercises will be held on Tuesday ending with a reception in the evening.

William F. Moore and family of Bates road will spend their summer on their farm in New Hampshire.

The lawn party of the Church of Our Savior will take place on Thursday, June 29. It is reported that the church is to buy 10,000 feet of land back of the church on which a rectory and parish house will be built.

Austin W. Greene master of the Gridley Bryant school will spend his summer on his farm in New Hampshire.

The Milton High school baseball team was obliged to disband before the schedule was completed owing to lack of funds. The team had a very successful year under Captain Carson winning 11 games and losing but five.

SPORTS FOR THE FOURTH

Six Base Ball Games Arranged Other Events

The second meeting of the committee on sports for Fourth of July met in the Board of Trade rooms Thursday evening and before the session closed it was nearly midnight. Representatives of the different baseball teams in the city were asked to come to the meeting and see if a decision could be arrived at with regard to the games on Fourth of July morning. The following teams were represented: Makaria, Atlantics, W. Quincys, S. Quincy A. A., Adams A. A., West Quincy All Stars, Orients, Mohawks, Bigelows, Colonials, St. Marys, Fore River Apprentices. The teams were given a hearing by the committee and the managers were asked to tell how much their teams expected to get out o fthe game, where and whom they wished to play and so on. After the hearing was closed the committee appointed a committee of five of its members to look over the base ball situation and to decide upon the teams which were to play each other and how much they were to receive. The committee was Leo Noonan, chairman, George Crotty, Leo Elcock, Dan Driscoll and Alden Blanchard. After going over the ground thoroughly the following decisions were arrived at: Colonials will play St. Marys at Ward 4, Fore River Apprentices will play Bigelows at Ward 2, Orients vs. Mohawks at Merrymount park, lower field, Adams A. A. vs. West Quincy All Stars at Ward 3. South Quincy A. A., Makaria and West Quincys which appeared to be the three strongest teams will decide among themselves which two are to play a preliminary game of six innings to decide which teams shall play the final game in the upper field at Merrymount park. The big teams playing in the upper field shall receive a purse of $25 plus gate receipts and the smaller teams shall receive $10 plus gate receipts. In matching up the teams, the Atlantic team was not considered because it has a game in the afternoon at Atlantic and inasmuch as Atlantic is not joining in with the rest of the city in the celebration the team should not expect to receive any money from the celebration committee. The committee recommended that umpires for the games be chosen by said committee and paid by the teams in the several games.

In revising the list of track and field events a 440 novice race was added and the mile relay and hop, step and jump were cancelled making the list as it will be run off: Open events (handicap) 100 yard dash, 440,880 mile and 5 mile runs, running high jump and running broad jump. Close events: 440 yard run (handicap), 440 yard novice (scratch). The entries for these events close with William L. Elcock, 21 Marsh street, on July 1. The entry fee will be 25 cents for one event and 10 cents for each additional event.

James E. Neary, chairman of the committee, is obliged to go to New York today and will not return until the morning of July 4. Two men were appointed to serve in his place, James F. Brogan and William L. Elcock. These two men will be members of the executive committee.

CHILDREN'S GARDENS.

Wednesday, May 10, Miss Mary Griffin, through the kindness of Mrs. John D. Mackay who secured seeds from Senator Lodge, was able to give to 37 pupils of St. John's school 131 packets of government seeds as follows:

10 packets turnips.
14 packets musk melon.
30 packets lettuce.
32 packets of radish.
16 packets brussels sprouts.
15 packets parsley.
10 packets onions.
3 packets corn.

Each pupil was given three kinds andsigned his name and address so that his garden may be inspected by Mrs. Mackay for prizes to be given in September. The only regret was that there were no flower seeds for the girls.

It is expected that children will have gardens all their own not less than 5x8 feet for vegetables and 5x4 feet for flowers.

No prizes can be given if flowers and vegetables are scattered about in a large garden belonging to some older person. Children may receive advice and instruction, but must themselves do the work of planting and caring for their gardens. It is hoped that many will keep a garden diary and that each will have some of his or her best flowers and vegetables for exhibition in August. Should there be some unusually fine gardens an attempt will be made to exhibit in Boston.

BIBLE STUDENTS' ASSOCIATION.

Divine service every Sunday in Colonial hall, at 3 P. M. On Sunday, June 18th, Mr. T. E. Barker of Boston, will deliver a lecture, taking for his topic, "The Great White Throne" Perhaps no subject is of greater interest than the one which has been chosen for consideration on this occasion, and as there have been so many fanciful and unscriptural teachings presented in connection with this topic, it is not strange that we have always regarded the subject as a very unpleasant one to contemplate. We often wonder if all that was taught us in our childhood and adult years by our spiritual advisers is really true regarding "That awful day of darkened sun and bloody moon." "The falling stars and crashing mountains." "The burning earth and Heavens," etc. The very uncertainty of it all was seemingly the most convincing proof that it might be true yet it seemed so unreasonable, we wondered, but could not satisfy our minds. Mr. Barker will present the Bible doctrine respecting this wonderful theme in such a clear and convincing manner that you will be fully satisfied of the reasonableness and Scripturalness of his presentation even though radically different from our preconceived ideas. Everyone ought to hear this remarkable lecture and we extend a cordial invitation to all to be present. Seats free. No collection.

CONTRACTS AWARDED.

The commission having charge of the repairs of the Fore River bridge and the widening of the draw met Thursday afternoon in the office of Mayor Shea at City Hall.

It was voted to award the contract for pile and concrete work under the bridge to Hiram W. Phillips.

The contract for building the fender piers on each side of the draw was awarded to Lawler Bros. the lowest bidder for $13,100.

It was decided to build a steel cylinder around the centre pier and fill in the same with cement. The engineer was instructed to prepare the necessary plans and advertise for bids.

FAREWELL PARTY.

A farewell party was tendered Miss Annie Norris at her home 1 Laury street, by a few of her girl friends on the even of her departure for Scotland where she is to spend her summer vacation. Miss Bell Stronach, in a few well chosen words, presented her with a beautiful black seal hand bag. Miss Norrie was taken by surprise but thanked all for their kind remembrance.

Refreshments were served and a very enjoyable evening spent with songs, piano solos, etc. Among those present were Florence Williams, Jennie Grassick, Katherine Williams, Helen Kennedy, Mamie Barntcoat, Rettie Flaherty, and Belle Stronach. The guests departed all wishing Miss Norrie "bon voyage."

TODAY'S COURT.

The continued case of Eugene Murphy for breaking and entering railroad stations at Montclair and Milton was called and he was held in $1,000 for the grand jury.

"Can't I present young Scaddlebury to you, Janette? He is just dying to meet you."

"Not now, Bob—just wait a little while—till he dies, and then we'll talk about it."

Red Eyelids---
A Result of Eyestrain

Red, irritated or swollen eyelids are usually caused by some form of eyestrain.

Astigmatism of the eyes is the most frequent cause.

Persons having astigmatism can usually see well—do not realize that there is any imperfection in the eye. (The strain is there constantly!)

Our system of examination of the eyes demonstrates clearly as to whether you have eyestrain, and our scientifically fitted glasses will correct it!

The energetic work done by Mrs.H. H. Kitson on the Educational Committee of the Quincy Women's Club during the past year should receive more than casual recognition, not that she is looking for that kind of reward, but merely as a matter of justice. Only those who have worked with her have any conception of the noiseless vigor with which she helps along any good cause that interests her. She seems to be consciously or unconsciously following out one of Dr. Hale's cardinal rules of life, to "lend a hand."

TWO AVIATORS OVER BOSTON

Remarkable Flights by Atwood and Ovington

Hundreds of people saw two aviators Atwood and Ovington fly over Boston Thursday afternoon, circling the state house and dropping messages to the Governor, Mayor and to newspapers.

The first flight was made by Earle L. Ovington in a bleriot monoplane which left the Waltham aviation field at 3.30 and returned 28 minutes later having covered a distance of 32 miles. It was one of the most wonderful flights ever made in this country.

An hour later Harry L. Atwood in a Burgess-Wright biplane flew from the Aviation field at Atlantic over Dorchester and South Boston and circulating the state house, shot off toward the aviation field at Waltham where he landed fifteen minutes later having flown at the rate of a mile a minute.

In addition to this flight Atwood made a number of flights about Squantum during the early part of the day.

FOURTH AT ATLANTIC.

The Atlantic Fourth of July headquarters in Music hall building is a busy place these evenings. Monday and Tuesday nights the committee on sporting events is open to interviews. Wednesday nights Charles E. Gill and his assistants are ready to answer questions and give information concerning the parade. Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings are given over to the finances of the celebration.

The reports already turned in by collectors have far exceeded any amounts in previous years. On Botolph street alone the collection was double any former amount. Entries for the parade are open to anybody in the city. A large number have already been made, and many more are desired and expected. The Melrose band will head the procession and will be in evidence throughout the day. Two other bands are also expected in the line up.

One event which is creating considerable interest is the ball game between the fat and lean men. Every man on the team will appear in costume to suit his individual taste. The line up is as follows:

FAT MEN.

Joseph Clark
Charles Hadlock, Ex-Councilman.
Charles Gill, Chairman Park Board.
Herbert Barker, School Committee.
Paul Buckley.
Dennis O'Neil, street Commissioner.
Everett Barber
Winnifred Ware
Messrs, Bolster, Rodgers, Dalquist and Lewis.

LEAN MEN.

THIEF SENTENCED.

A morning paper says: William J. O'Neil, 22 years old, of Quincy was sentenced to two years in the house of correction Thursday by Judge Stevens in the superior criminal court for the larceny of C. O. D. bundles from a department store at the corner of Washington and Essex streets.

The bundles were taken from a chute from the top floor to the shipping room. O'Neil, it was alleged, stood at a landing and picked C. O. D. bundles out of the chute as they slid down. He then delivered them to the addresses marked on them and collected.

There were four counts in the indictment. He pleaded guilty to the first and to the last. The police, however, allege that he stole some 53 C. O. D. bundles in this way, containing articles valued in all at more than $430. The department store spent $1,000 in trying to account for the disappearance of the C. O. D. bundles before O'Neil was arrested.

☞The Ledger will have special features all next week and keep every one posted on the doings of Merchants' Week. Extra copies will be printed and there will be some attractive advertising. 3t

WARSHIP COMING

Cruiser Salem or Chester to be in Quincy July 4

President Stone of the Fourth of July celebrations committee has received a letter from Senator eHnry Cabot Lodge assuring him that one of Uncle Sam's sea fighters will be in Quincy bay the Fourth. It will be either the scout cruiser Salem or Chester and the marines will participate in the parade.

While these cruisers do not carry as many men as the battleships the addition of a company of Jackies in the morning parade will add an interesting feature.

BOSTON THEATRES.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE.

This is to be a notable summer at B. F. Keith's Theatre, as it will mark the beginning of one of those great popular features that have become famous through their identification with this theatre. Mr. Keith has arranged to put on for the summer what is admittedly the greatest combination of male voices ever heard in this part of the country, and they will be presented under conditions particularly pleasing. In a beautiful production will be "The Meistersingers," composed of the Harvard, Schubert and Weber Male Quartettes, three organizations that are known all over the land as the greatest in their line. In fact, it might be said that they are twelve soloists, of wide reputation, and the programmes arranged by them are said by musicians to be of a most entertaining character. A special feature of this production will be the first appearance in Boston of Onita, who comes nearer to being a duplication of the famous XX Palmer Coxie "Brownie" than any human being who has ever been seen on the stage. Onita will have a unique part in "The Meistersingers." This feature itself should prove especially atractive to the children, who have enjoyed the "Brownies" in the picture books but have never seen them in real life.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE.

"The Lottery Man," which John Craig will produce at the Castle Square next week, is a merry farce by Rida Johnson Young, author of "Brown of Harvard" and "The Boys of Company B." It tells a pleasant and laugh-provoking tale of the adventures of a New York newspaper man who becomes the hero of a prize contest, and the situations that ensue reach the height of comedy and mirth. "The Lottery Man" was one of the successes of the past two seasons. It ran an entire year in New York, and Mr. Craig's production of it is its first by a stock company and at popular prices. A cast of exceptional skill will interpret this play at the Castle Square. The title role, originated by Cyril Scott, will be played by Donald Meek, whose gifts as a comedian are well known, and the other important parts will be in the hands of the entire company, with George Hassell, Gertrude Binley and Mabel Colcord in characters that will especially bring them to the front. "The Lottery Man" will run for only one week at the Castle Square.

PARAGON PARK.

The brilliant way in which the seventh season at Paragon Park and its famous Palm Garden have opened proves conclusively how popular this seaside resort of wonders, music and epicurean luxury is. The 12 Sea Lions one of the many new features at Paragon Park this season, are a great hit. A special "rockery" has been built for them on the lagoon in the rear of the band stand where a fine view may be had of them from the Palm Garden with its added pavilion and roof garden as well as from all parts of the board walk around the lagoon. It may not be just exactly like their home at Cataline island off the Cliff house in San Francisco harbor, but that they are right at home and happy, swimming and diving stunts, just as if in their home haunts. As the management is constantly besieged by patrons who want to see them fed, it is safe to say they are getting more to eat than when left to their own resources Saturday evening the fireworks will be specially appropriate for Bunker Hill day. There will also be special holiday features all day and evening. Sunday evening will be an Italian illumination.

The teachers of the Quincy school gathered in the teachers' room Thursday noon for a farewell luncheon, the main feature of which was a gift to Miss Clara Merrill, teacher of the first grade who withdraws to be married.

No organization can have the town's welfare at heart any more than an association of merchants, for whatever helps the town is an indirect help to its merchants. A new state law has just gone into effect making it compulsory to have the American flag displayed from poles outside of all school buildings every fair day in the year and inside of the school rooms on all other days.

The act reads in part as follows:—"Chapter 232, Sec. 50, Acts of 1911: —The school committee of every city and town shall provide for each schoolhouse in which a public school is maintained and which is not otherwise supplied, a United States flag of silk or bunting not less than four feet in length and suitable apparatus whereby the flag shall be displayed on the school house building or grounds every schol day when the weather permits and on the inside of the schoolhouse on other days. DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Are you a drunkard? If you are not quite sure perhaps this will help you to decide the question. The limit of sobriety has been designed by Dr. Richard Cabot in a lecture before the Massachusetts Medical Society. He defines an excessive drinker as one who indulges in liquor before breakfast; one who drinks three whiskeys or more than one-half pint of the liquor per day; one who drinks two bottles or eight glasses of beer per day; and one who takes more than two drinks of gin per day. Also the use of more than one plug of tobacco per week, the smoking of three cigars or more or the use of 12 cigarettes per day qualify a person as an excessive tobacco user. Dr. Cabot's conclusions are based on years of expert investigation into the habits and effects of alcoholism and tobacco usage.

Women wage earners of Massachusetts are glad that Mrs. Glendower Evans has been appointed by Governor Foss as one of the members of the commission just authorized by the Legislature to investigate the conditions and remuneration of wage-earning women. Fair play is assured in the investigation by this well known advocate of the working girl's rights, whose activities among strikers have brought her much before the public. Her house in Otis Place, overlooking the Charles River basin has long been a favorite rendezvous of the welfare workers and charming has been the hospitality there dispensed. The announcement of her appointment was made at a meeting of the Women's Trades Union League which held its convention in the Hub this week, and it aroused much enthusiasm.

Boston holidays are bunched about this season of the year. The small boy and the toy pistol just now are in evidence, as Charlestown's glorious 17th of June is awaited with impatience. While the youngsters will be especially interested in the noise and fireworks the elders will be interested in viewing the military and naval parade in which the brave Fusiliers of St. John will be a notable feature, the New Brunswick company having come to Massachusetts by special invitation to participate in the event. Considering the old time asperities between rebels and loyalists this is a graceful visitation in the year 1911.

There's a woman police officer in Boston, but she does not belong here, unfortunately. "Mrs. Policeman" is Mrs. Carrie S. O'Connor of Moline, Illinois, and she came to this city to attend the conference of charities and corrections which filled several busy days with assemblies and sight seeing trips. Mrs. O'Connor studied our court methods and praised the probation system at the Boston municipal court. She was originally supported by the Women's City club of her home community, and is now supported by the city. She has "a very natty uniform," a badge, and the same power that policemen have, though she has the particular duties of looking after most of the women cases that are brought into court, and arrests practically all the girls. Mrs. O'Connor advocates more women police officers, believing that they have it in their power to do much good.

The manicurists of the Hub are beginning to hold out their hands for the licenses that are hereafter required by law. Of the thousand or more manicurists known to have been practising in the city, however, only about 130 have to date applied for the licenses. One wonders how the remaining nine hundred are coming out, whether Bostonians must go with unmanicured nails for an indeterminate period. It is reported that most of the applicants have been very pretty women. In many cases they appeared in groups of three or four, prepared to give each other courage and backbone to go through the trying ordeal, but were much surprised to find how simple a procedure was entailed.

Just how many of New England's sons and daughters about this time of year accept engagements to teach in schools and colleges of West and South nobody has figured out, but the number must run into the thousands. Apart from those who come here from elsewhere to learn to teach this section for many years past has been a chief source of supply of educational talent for the rest of the nation. Young people, after graduating from the great educational institutions of Massachusetts, go away to impart the sound methods they have acquired and the whole country is thus the gainer. An interesting indication of the way the movement works may be noted by the occasional visitor at the country's largest music school, the New England Conservatory, which toward the end of the school year answers many requests for teachers. Boston trained musicians are in demand. This year, for instance, from an Ohio women's college, came a request for a director of musical education that was finally answered by the appointment of a Conservatory graduate of thirteen years' standing, a man who has made an enviable reputation as organist and concert performer. He goes to one of the best opportunities of the middle West. A Mississippi college which had previously employed in its music department five graduates of the Conservatory in Boston sent for a sixth the other day; a young lady from Central Massachusetts, graduating this year, will therefore have a chance to earn a reasonable salary and at the same time see something of life in Dixie land. The president of this year's graduating class, a young man of proved musical ability, goes to a women's college in Nova Scotia. Others have been placed or will be placed before midsummer. So year after year the loyal alumni go forth to make their way in every state of the Union and, incidentally, to help the development of the New England capital as the chief centre of musical education in America. Everywhere they are welcomed, though sometimes with qualifications, as in the experience of a Conservatory girl, reared in a Bostonese community where religious orthodoxy is less strictly observed than in some sections. This young lady was selected for a western vacancy. On arrival the president accosted her thus: "My dear Miss R——, what are your religious preferences?" "I am a Unitarian, sir," she replied frankly. The good man at first started up wildly, but, after a moment, he reflected, "Well, he said, in a resigned tone, "I have known a few good people of that faith."

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court by Henry F. Rodenhizer, of said Randolph, to register and confirm his title in the following described land:

A certain lot of land with the buildings thereon, situated on the Southerly side of Gold street, or Jones Lane, in said Randolph, containing seven acres more or less, and bounded and described as follows, to wit: Beginning on the southerly side of said street at land of Owen Cox and thence running westerly by said street, or lane, to land of Frank Manley; thence southerly as the wall now stands by land of said Manley, and land of Alfred Tucker to a corner; thence easterly as the wall now stands by land of said Tucker to land formerly of the late Ephraim Thayer; thence northerly as the wall now stands by said land formerly of Thayer and land of said Cox to a corner at land now or formerly of said Cox; and thence easterly and northerly by land of said Cox to the point of beginning.

D. 1911, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the prayer of said petition should not be granted. And unless you appear at said Court at the time and place aforesaid your default will be recorded, and the said petition will be taken as confessed, and you will be forever barred from contesting said petition or any decree entered thereon.

ASKS LAW ON GREAT TRUSTS

Officers Declared Amenable to Criminal Prosecution

POMERENE'S MAIDEN SPEECH

It Deals With Resolution Instructing Attorney General to Institute Proceedings Against Standard Oil and American Tobacco Officials—Declares Government Should Either Enforce Anti-Trust Law or Repeal It

Washington, June 16.—Declaring that the Standard Oil and American Tobacco companies have violated the law for more than twenty years, and that the men in control of these corporations are amenable to criminal prosecution, Senator Pomerene, the new Democratic member from Ohio, in his maiden speech in the senate, demanded that the department of justice institute proceedings against both the corporations and their officials.

Senator Pomerene's immediate subject was the resolution which he offered some time ago, instructing the attorney general to institute proceedings against the officers and directors of the Standard Oil company and the American Tobacco company for violations of the criminal sections of the Sherman anti-trust law, in accordance with the recent opinion of the United States supreme court if, in the attorney general's opinion, there have been such violations.

"What reason can be given by any sworn official for not continuing his fight against them in order to bring them to the bar of justice?" he asked. "What excuse can any lawmaker or any executive official give for failure to enforce this law? A decent sense of self-respect requires the government to enforce this law or to repeal it.

"What respect have these oil and tobacco men for the law? What disposition have they evinced to comply with the order of the court? John D. Rockefeller's pathway is marked by a greater number of victims whose business careers he has ruined by his unlawful methods than that of any other man in the industrial history of this country and yet he goes unwhipped of justice. It would seem that the fruit of the victory against these companies would be lost to the government and the people unless they were followed out by criminal prosecution.

"One of these men behind the bars will do more toward restoring the majesty of the law than anything that has been done by the federal government in the last generation. It is high time that the American people should understand whether the Stars and Stripes are to be the emblem of their power and authority or whether that emblem shall be the oil barrel and the tobacco tag."

LYONS PLEADS IGNORANCE

Lawrence City Official Knew Little About Duties of His Job

Salem, Mass., June 16.—Inefficiency, inexperience and overcredulity and not "graft" were assigned by Patrick J. Lyons, superintendent of streets of Lawrence, testifying in his own defense in the Lawrence "graft" trial, as reasons for acts by him that aroused suspicions of "graft."

Lyons said he knew very little about the duties of his job, considering it a political plum, and paid little attention to bills charged against his department. He approved all bills presented to him, he said, without examining them, "assuming in every case they were O. K. I know nothing about market prices," Lyons pleaded.

HELPLESS IN SWAMP FOR FIFTY-SIX DAYS

Missing Marlboro Man Is Found After a Long Search

Marlboro, Mass., June 16.—After spending fifty-six days of helplessness in the swamp between Marlboro and Westboro, during which time he claims he did not have anything to eat, William D. Hanley, one of the most prominent young men in this city, was found emaciated and barely conscious in the heart of the swamp by four employes of the Metropolitan water works late yesterday.

Hanley was in a terrible state of exhaustion, but he was able to recognize his brother, John J. Hanley, and to ask after his father and his wife.

Hanley could give no reason for his disappearance when he had gained enough strength to talk. He said he had wandered into the swamp, that he had occasionally seen persons pass by, but that for some reason he had been unable to call them. Most of the time, he said, he had spent lying upon the wet ground huddled up in his overcoat.

HIGH HEELS HEATHENISH

Graduating Nurses Urged to Speak Against a Silly Fashion

Troy, N. Y., June 16.—"High heels are as heathenish as rings in the nose or tattooing," declared Supreme Court Justice Howard to the graduating nurses of Troy hospital.

"Such shoes," said the justice, "are as barbarous, as torturing and as destructive of health as the Chinese wooden shoes. Both breed ungainly and defective feet.

"Will you not advocate normal feet, such feet as God gave? Have you the courage to speak out against this silly fashion—a fashion as destructive as rum, as deadly as opium?"

Melrose Man Arrested as Wife Is About to Be Placed In Grave

Melrose Mass., June 16.—Just as he was alighting from the carriage which had taken him from the funeral services for his wife to the grave wherein she was to be buried, Howard B. Gurney, son-in-law of Mayor Moore of Melrose, was arrested on a charge of forgery.

The warrant charging him with the forging and uttering of a check for $28 was issued at the instance of the Stoneham police on the complaint of Henry Millet, an upholsterer of Stoneham.

Coming as it did just as the funeral party had reached the grave, the arrest has upset the whole city.

SPORTING NOTES.

The Quincys are up against a pretty stiff proposition tomorrow in the Riversides which is practically the old Lincoln team with a few modern improvements. Prior to that game, the Fore River Apprentices will play the Y. M. C. A. team. Neagle will be in the box again for Quincy and a first class contest is expected. Ladies will be admitted to the grandstand free tomorrow and the regular admission to the grounds has been reduced to fifteen cents. The price of grand stand seats for gentlemen remains the same.

The Manets put one over on the Adams A. A. in the first game on May 30th but the Adams players are going to come back in the contest tomorrow and it should be one of the hardest fought games of the year. Grethe and Barry will be the battery for Adams.

Maurice Blackmur was elected captain of the Quincy High school baseball team for 1912 at a meeting Thursday afternoon. Blackmur played a good consistent game at second base this year and showed up well in hitting. He should make a good captain and the chances for a good team are bright. Of this year's team, Blackmur, Holmes and L. Chapman will return and there is an abundance of good material from which to fill the other positions. Holmes and L. Chapman will probably be the battery next year and Blackmur will hold down his old position at second base.

The game between Makaria and Atlantic promises to be one of the most spirited contest of the year and an enthusiastic bunch of rooters for both teams will undoubtedly be very much in evidence. The series of games between thse two teams two years ago will go down into history and the game tomorrow should supplement the interest of the fans.

Two good games are offered by St. John's team at the field day at Merrymount park. The afternoon game will be especially hard fought owing to the great rivalry between the young mens societies of the two churches.

Sid Duggan will not be seen in the Manet Baseball Club's lineup on Saturday against Adams on account of an abcess on his arm, which will be regretted by many baseball fans of this city as it may make great difference in the result of the game.

Manager Tierney has secured the services of another catcher for this one game, so it is hoped that he will be able to fill Duggan's position in good style.

The Manet's will not play again until July 1st on account of five members of the nine going to Plymouth to help the St. Mary team wrest a game from the Cordage Company.

The Makaria boys gracefully take off their hats to Stan Bates who certainly did hang the Ha, Ha, sign on his former team-mates last Saturday in the Makaria-Norwell game allowing 2 scratch hits with 10 strike outs. Even the mighty centre fielder (our "Ty Cobb") three times up went by the air line on account of holes in his bat. Stan surely is sizing into big league timber.

Norwell's play the Norfolks of Weymouth at the Weymouth Fair grounds Saturday, June 17 at 3.30 P. M.

ATTACKS AMERICAN POLICY

Russian Newspaper Sees Design In Recent Loan to China

St. Petersburg, June 16.—The Novoe Vremya is devoting much attention to reported plans of American agricultural interests to invade Manchuria. In a leading article it bitterly attacks American representatives in the Far East and asserts that the recent loan to China was a covert resuscitation of Secretary Knox's proposal for the neutralization of the Manchurian railways.

The paper says that Manchuria has an open door for the commerce of the nations, but that its door is closed against political enterprises of all except its immediate neighbors, namely, Russia, China and Japan.

HONESTY IN EVERYTHING

If the Supreme Court could only enforce the "rule of reason" upon chauffeurs.

What Mexico needs now more than anything else is a "back to the farm movement."

There is still a lot of room at the top of the strawberry boxes for the good strawberries this season.

If Spains political conditions should develop a crisis Diaz may find it hard to refrain from taking a hand.

John B. Duke and his confederates will be apt in the end to find in the latest decision of the Supreme Court that it was rather strong tobacco it put in their pipes.

Philadelphia now enjoys the distinction of supplying the House at Washington with the father of the House, General Bingham, and the baby, the son of Mayor Reyburn. Philadelphia always did like to work both ends.

THE HOME MERCHANT.

Few of us stop to realize, how, when we buy goods away from here, we throw away the substantial return that comes back to us when we keep our money at home.

All kinds of property rise and fall together with the advance or recession of the business of the place where they are located. If a new habit of spending money at home could come about, it would increase the business of the retail stores, more clerks would be employed, and the proprietors and their employes would keep an increased amount of money in circulation.

The practical result would be that everyone that owns any property here would sooner or later get the benefit. The real estate owner would find new comers bidding for his property. The retail store would see its sales and profits grow larger. The professional man would have a larger constituency.

To every property owner, then, every purchase made at home brings some secondary return. Some of the money he spent comes around to him again. In practice, when a property owner buys elsewhere, he throws away a rebate check that is his when he buys at home.

Every tax payer, if the home trade principal could become very general, would find a larger valuation to bear local burdens.

Every person who is interested in our local churches, societies, and public causes of all kinds, would find more people to share those burdens, if the spirit of loyalty to home business should become universal.

The principle of reciprocity ought to be made to apply more closely to our habits of buying. If you refuse to patronize your neighbor, he will decline to assist you when the opportunity comes his way.

LIBRARY TRUSTEE.

Mayor Shea this morning appointed Henry B. Sheahan as a trustee of the Thomas Crane Public library to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Harrison A. Keith. Mr. Sheahan is a son of the late Dr. Joseph M. Sheahan and is one of the professors at Harvard college.

LIQUOR RAID.

Inspector Goodhue and a squad of officers raided the premises of Michele Barboni at 79 Union street Sunday morning and seized seven gallons of beer and twelve bottles of beer and a quantity of empty bottles and glasses. Barboni was arraigned in court this morning for violation of the liquor law.

THE HOLIDAY IN QUINCY

Business as a Rule Suspended and Little Doing

The Seventeenth was generally observed as a holiday in Quincy. Business as a rule was suspended. In City Square the closing was almost general the only stores being open being the provision and drug stores. The weather looked threatening at times but no rain fell and the day was an ideal one for a holiday. Locally there was much to keep people at home for there were ball games both in the morning and afternoon and in addition to this the parish reunion of St. Johns church at Merrymount park attracted many.

The parade and celebration at Charlestown was also an attraction that could not be overlooked and many spent the day there. There was little in the way of excitment in Quincy. There were no serious accidents of any kind and there were but few arrests and these were for drunkenness.

The street cars did a rushing business and extra cars were run on all lines during the day and evening, so that there was a crowd in City Square most of the time, they were orderly however and there was no disturbance.

In addition to the street cars thousands of automobiles passed through City Square going to Nantasket and other places south of Quincy.

About the only excitement was the breaking dawn of Able Browns ice wagon in front of City Hall and this called a crowd together for a few minutes.

There was a big crowd at Houghs Neck all day and in the evening but here again everything was quiet. Saturday evening several dances were held at the beach and they attracted quite a crowd of young people. The crowd was not as large however as usual on a holiday for doubtless many went to Charlestown.

NORTHFIELD SEMINARY.

The most notable Commencement week, in many ways, that Northfield seminary has celebrated in recent years, came to a close June 13. Notable because of the large class graduated. It was noteworthy also on account of the gifts which were announced, one by Mrs. John S. Kennedy, of New York, of a very much needed administration building for the Northfield seminary, also the gift of a library building, by Mrs. A. E. Schauffler, of New York, for the Mt. Hermon school, across the river, which has also been greatly needed for a number of years, and a substantial gift toward the endowment from C. M. Bailey, of Winthrop, Maine.

The whole commencement exercises have naturally been saddened by the remembrance of the loss which has been sustained during the past year by the whole institution in the death of Miss Hall, for twenty-seven years the efficient, self sacrificing and devoted principal of the school. A special memorial service was held on Sabbath afternoon, in the new Sage chapel, at which addresses were made by a number of the trustees and those who had taught under Miss Hall. Another brief service was held around the grave in which Miss Hall was buried, just to the north of the chapel which she loved so well. At the banquet of the Alumnae Association held in The Northfield hotel one of the thoughts responded to in the speeches was "An Appreciation of Miss Hall" by Miss Anderson, who has been a teacher here under Miss Hall in the earlier days of the institution.

The report this year presented at the annual meeting of the Student's Aid society was a truly remarkable one. It was the 25th anniversary of this society and the treasurer's report showed that it that time there had been paid back $13,350 by former students who had received aid. For there are girls who come here who are not able even to pay the small fee of $100 per year for board and tuition which is less than half the cost for each student. When this money is loaned, under these exceptional circumstances is without interest and without any stipulation as to the time of its return. Of this total amount thus returned $1325 was returned during the past year which was a full two thirds of the amount loaned.

A number of the guests of The Northfield and elsewhere who came for commencement are remaining over to the student conference which begins June 23.

FIELD DAY AND REUNION

St. John's Parish Holds Successful Outing

The parish reunion and field day of St. John's parish was held on the lower field of Merrymount park all day Saturday. It was an ideal day for an outing and as a result there was a large attendance of young and older members of the parish.

It was a day full of excitement for there was something doing all day long. Those who liked dancing had an opportunity to dance in the pavilion while bathing and motor boating served to attract others. There were numerous booths where tonics and refreshments could be had and they did a thriving business.

There was a large number of field events and a number were run off. The greatest interest was in the mile and three mile runnings races. W. H. Hackett the marathon runner who is just recovering from illness was entered in both these races. He finished third in the mile run and withdrew on the eighth lap of the three mile race.

Another interesting event was the game of ball between the St. John's and St. Mary's for the championship. The game was a very close one, players on both nines going out in the one, two, three order, inning after inning and it was not until the seventh that St. John's scored a run. St. Mary's were unable to score and the game ended with the score 1 to 0 in favor of St. John's. Saunders and Avery were the batteries for St. John's and Joyce and Leary for St. Mary's. Saunders struck out fourteen men and allowed but two hits. The result of the principal field events was as follows:

100-yard dash—Won by E. Prout, Q. A. A.; R. H. Trask, Quincy Y. M. C. A. second; J. E. Elcock, S. B. A. C. (scratch) third. Time 10 1-2 s.

220-yard dash—Won by E. Prout, Q. A. A.; George Sullivan, S. B. A. C. second; J. Gilcone, West Quincy, third. Time 25 1-2 s.

Broad jump—Won by R. H. Trask, Quincy Y. M. C. A.; J. M. Wilson, Q. Y. M. C. A. second; A. Aronson, Quincy, third. Distance 21 ft. 3 in.

440-yard run—Won by George Sullivan S. B. A. C.; F. A. Terrill Jr., Q. H. S. second; M. A. Gettinger, F. R. A. C. third. Time 54 1-2s.

Mile run—Won by J. A. Kelligrew, Dorchester; H. Sutermeister, Q. H. S. second; W. J. Hackett (scratch) B. G. A. A. third. Time 4m. 45s.

Three-mile run—Won by A. L. Upham, N. D. A. A; Frank Bruce Q. A. A. C. (scratch) second; H. Sutermeister, Q. H. C. third. Time 15m. 45s.

220-yard dash (closed)—Won by J. E Elcock, J. Gillis second. Time 25 2-5s.

Relay race—Won by Quincy A. A. (Marceau, Flynn, Prout and trask.) Time 4m. 32s.

WEDDING GIFTS ARE VALUED AT MILLION

$100,000 Check Is Sheedy's Present to Daughter

Denver, June 19.—Miss Florence Sheedy, daughter of Dennis Sheedy, a wealthy merchant and miner, was married here to I. T. Burden of New York. The ceremony was performed by Bishop Burke of St. Joseph, Mo.

The wedding gifts are estimated to be worth $1,000,000 and include a check from Sheedy to his daughter for $100,000, a $50,000 string of pearls from the parents of the bride, and a $35,000 silver table service from I. T. Burden.

The bulk of the gifts came from New York society people. Burden and his bride, after a honeymoon trip to Europe, will reside in New York.

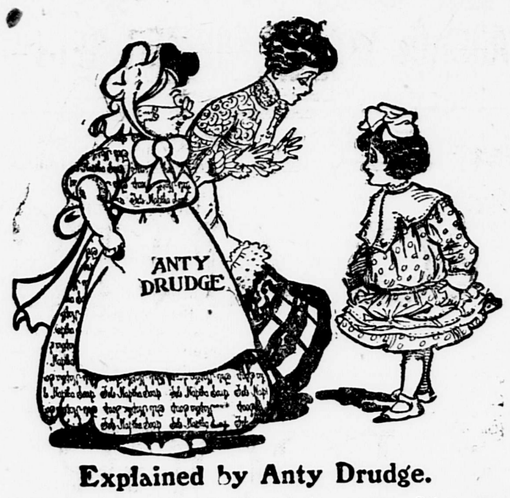

BRIDE IN BOY'S CLOTHING

Placed Under Arrest While Helping Hubby In Carpenter Work

Schenectady, N. Y., June 19.—Arthur A. Roth, aged 21, and Grace M. Roth, 18, who were married in Tarrytown on May 22, were taken into custody near here because the bride was dressed in boy's clothes.

Roth was building a shed and his wife was helping. Their employer thought both were males, and it was only by accident that the woman's sex was revealed.

Roth said he had an uncle in New York, who would be willing to help him if he knew his present predicament. He said he met his wife in New York at a dance. Word has been sent to their relatives.

Explained by Anty Drudge.

Little Miss Rompabout—"Just look, mamma, I tore my frock."

Mother—"Good gracious, and that frock just new! Only washed twice!"

Anty Drudge—"Just those two washings made the tear possible. You boiled the frock, as you do all your clothes, and that softened and weakened its fiber. If you had used Fels-Naptha in cold or lukewarm water, the fabric would not be half rotten and ready to give away the first time it caught in anything."

White clothes are made of vegetable fibres, cotton or flax. Boiling affects them the same way it does other vegetable matter, as potatoes or cabbage. It softens them and weakens the fibre. Boiling will soften even hard wood.

By this you can easily see how your clothes will wear out quicker and tear more easily if you boil and hard-rub them. Wool, which is an animal fibre, is softened just as the fibre of meat in boiling. Fels-Naptha will cleanse your clothes in cold or lukewarm water without any boiling or hard rubbing, and there isn't a single thing in it that will harm the goods.

Your clothes will wear twice as long, and they'll be whiter and cleaner all the time. Try a cake of Fels-Naptha and see. But use it the Fels-Naptha way, according to the simple directions on the red and green wrapper. They'll tell you how to wash all kinds of clothes with Fels-Naptha; wash dishes, clean floors and do many other things with it.

AVIATORS KILLED IN FRENCH CONTEST

Explosions Kill Two and One Is Dashed to Death

Paris, June 19.—Beng burned alive added itself to the already dangerous perils of man's conquest of the air, when two aviators in the European circuit race were burned to death in the sight of nearly a million people.

Another aviator met death when his airship dashed against a tree and the falling motor crushed out his brains.

A fourth was at least gravely hurt. Three others fell, and though none were seriously hurt all were badly shaken up.

Captain Princetau's motor exploded in mid-air, flooding him with gasolene and burning him to death; M. Le Martin dashed against a tree, the motor of his aeroplane crushing his head; M. Lendron was burned to death by benzine near Thierey.

M. Gaubert, a former lieutenant in the army, was found lying senseless near his machine in a wheat field four miles from Villars-Colerets. His injuries are grave.

Of the fifty aviators who started the race thirty-eight were civilians and twelve officers assigned to the contest for military duty. Hung up for the competitors are prizes amounting to $94,000.

Boston, June 19.—Four deaths by drowning were reported yesterday in New England. William Smith of Portland, Me., fell from his motor boat on the Kennebec river.

John Le Favre of Wakefield, Mass., was drowned when the boat he was in capsized on Lake Quannapowitt.

Miss Jennie Farrell of Boston was attacked by heart failure while bathing in Lake Spofford at Keene, N. H., and drowned.

Joseph Ozulaz, 3 years old, crawled through the fence and was drowned in the Spicket river at Lawrence, Mass.

QUINCY'S 4 RIVERSIDES 0

Home Team Continues to Win. Other Ball Games

In one of the best games seen in Quincy for some time "Mike" Shea's team defeated the Riversides on the holiday 4 to 0. Neagle pitched a great game getting 12 strikeouts and allowing but two hits. Under ordinary circumstances these coming in succession would have meant runs but "Bill" Duggan's wing was right there strong and in two successive plays he threw his man out on home making as pretty a throw each time as one could desire. Nor were these the only sensational features of the game. Kelly caught a foul close to the grand stand after a long run and Ganzel hooked a wide throw one handed with the runner scarcely two feet away from the base. Taken all in all the game was an interesting as any seen in Quincy this year. Fitzgerald caught a good game and with Shaw led in the hitting, getting two singles. Very few of the hits went far outside the infield and the Quincys had to earn all four of their runs. The visitors played a strong fielding game but were unable to solve Neagle's curves and lost out on the batting end. Near the end of the game Fairbanks, the Riverside's catcher got to third base and tried to steal home on two successive pitched balls. The first time the batsman fouled and the runner returned to his base for another try. On the second attempt the man at bat struck out and the side was retired. "Fitzie" was surely right on the job all the time supporting Neagle in perfect style and keeping the men on bases well in hand. For the visitors, Murray, the first baseman played well and in the early part of the game fielded a hard foul in good shape. Blowers pitched a good game but was not in the class with Neagle.

ADAMS 8, MANET 0.

The Adams won the second game from the Manets at Ward Three on Saturday by the score of 3-0. The Manets won the first game 6-5 on May 30th. The Manets lost in two ways. The inability to hit Grethe in timely places, the Manets having men on bases in four different innings, when any kind of a hit would have brought runs across the plate. The second reason was that Adams had E. Desmond of the Copelands playing second base and who was responsible for all of their runs. In the second inning he singled and made second and third on a low throw and once when he was making for second, Duggan dropped the ball. He came home when Mulligan hit the ball to McCarty, who tried for Desmond at the plate but was too late by a foot. In the fifth inning he hit the ball for two bases, scoring two runs.

Outside of that the game would have been sure to have gone extra innings.

Canavan started the game for the Manets but was not in good form, not having the speed that usually goes with his twirling and was lucky to get out of some good holes by the superb fielding behind him.

A new pitcher was started in the fifth and no doubt would have held Adams to less runs if he had had the advantage of starting the game, so that when he started the fifth he was nervous and couldn't settle down on such short notice, but after the fifth no one reached 3rd and got only one hit off his delivery.

Grethe deserved a lot of credit for the game he pitched as no one worked harder to win than he.

Both teams played such grand baseball that it is hard to really pick the stars, but Mulligan, Barry and Desmond were a strong barrier on the infield, while the Galvins did a few good stunts for Cranch.

McCarty played his usual good game and pulled off his once a game sensation by climbing a couple of feet and pulling down Grethe's sure hit with one. Gillis seems to be improving with age. He got 4 assists, one which was of the "Harry Lord" variety, a run-scoop-and-toss with one hand and T. Galvin out. Artis and O'Brien were ever alert in the outer garden.

The "Rubber" game will probably be played on Labor Day at Ward 3, when it will be for the championship of this city.

The morning game between the South Quincy Extension club of the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. M. C. A. Intermediates was won by the former by a score of 9 to 4. There were no especially sensational features but Veale of the South Quincy club made a good catch of a long fly and Moorehouse sent out a three bagger. S. Carlson pitched a good game for the winners Tirrell and Holmes started in as battery for the first seven innings and then Holmes pitched and Robertson caught.

MOHAWKS 9, HILTON A. C. 6.

The Mohawks won handily from the Hilton A. C. of South Boston on the holiday at Merrymount park, lower field, by a score of 9 to 6. The fielding of the home team was good and at the bat the local Indians hammered out 13 hits. Smith pitched a good game for the Mohawks allowing but six hits most of which were of a scratch variety.

The preliminary game on the Water street grounds between the Fore River Apprentices and the South Quincy extension club was won by the former 7 to 1. Up to the fifth inning the score was one to nothing in favor of the Apprentices and it looked as if it would be exciting all the way through but the winners began to touch up Carlson for hits which counted for runs and then it was all off with South Quincy. Williamson pitched a great game for the Apprentices getting nine strikeouts. Veale and Charlie Bishop played well for the losers.

The score by innings:

WOMEN PERISH IN FIRE

Cook and Stewardess Victims of Blaze on Boston Steamer

Boston, June 19.—In a spectacular fire that practically destroyed the Boston and Nahant passenger steamer Governor Andrew early Sunday morning, two lives were lost and more than half a dozen of the crew were painfully but not dangerously burned.

The two victims were Mrs. Elizabeth McNeil, 41 years old, wife of Patrolman McNeil of station 9, employed as cook on the boat, and Mrs. Harriet Kelly, 30 years old, employed as stewardess.

When the blaze was discovered by Watchman Watts, who was going his rounds on board about 2 a. m., everyone on board except him was asleep. The smoke seemed to be coming from the direction of the banked fires in the boiler room.

The Governor Andrew was tied up at the foot of the Gove coal wharf, East Boston. There were seventeen persons on board all told.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS MARRIED

President and Wife Celebrate Silver Wedding Anniversary

FOUR THOUSAND INVITATIONS

Miss Taft to Be Acting Mistress at Largest Reception Ever Held In White House—Congratulatory Telegrams and Letters Pouring In—List of Presents Not to Be Given Out—How Married People May Be Happy

Washington, June 19.—With the arrival in Washington of Miss Helen Taft, the plans for the silver wedding celebration of President and Mrs. Taft assumed final form.

Electricians and florists, caterers and musicians, dressmakers and jewelers, have done their part.

The White House office staff has worked night and day to put out 4000 invitations. Colonel Cosby, superintendent of public buildings and grounds, and Miss Catherine Letterman, Mrs. Taft's social secretary, have mapped out the smallest details.

Miss Helen Taft probably will go through an ordeal tonight that few young women of her age have ever faced. Mrs. Taft will help receive only for a short time and it is expected Helen will then step into the line by her father's side and act as mistress of the White House. It will be the biggest reception in point of numbers that was ever held in the White House.

Several telegrams congratulating President and Mrs. Taft have come to the White House.

One was from the Emperor of Russia. It was from Peterhof and read as follows:

"The day of the departure of the American squadron I express to you the great pleasure I had in this visit to our shores. I also convey to you my cordial congratulations for tomorrow's silver wedding."

Another was from Mehmed V, Sultan of Turkey. Here it is:

"President Taft, Washington—On the occasion of your silver wedding I offer my sincere congratulations as well as the wishes I form for your happiness and the prosperity of the United States."

Hundreds of congratulatory letters are coming to the White House. Some are in verse and others clothed in Biblical language.

While a full list of the presents will not be given out, the presents themselves will be placed about the mansion, forming a part of the scheme of decoration.

The reception will be held tonight, but the Cincinnati Commercial club will arrive in Washington in a special train today to begin the celebration by taking the president out to lunch at the Chevy Chase club. The luncheon will really mark the beginning of the jubilee, for from the time it is finished until far up in the hours the president, Mrs. Taft and their relatives who are in the White House will be kept fairly busy.

RETIRES FROM AVIATION

Brookins to Turn Attention to Orange Growing and Mining

Quincy, Ills., June 19.—Walter Brookins announced, after he finished a two days' exhibition here, that he had quit the flying business for good. He will devote his future time to orange growing and gold mining interests which he has acquired in the west.

Brookins has earned an enviable reputation in climbing to great altitudes in his flying machine.

MAKARIA 11, ATLANTIC 3.

Makaria defeated its old rival, the Atlantics, on the afternoon of the holiday by a score of 11 to 3. While the game was one-sided there were many features which kept the fans interested. The terrific hitting of the Makaria team kept it from any danger of defeat. The team got 2 tripples, 6 doubles and 10 singles off O'Neil while the Atlantic team found Rice for only six. Rice played a fine game quitting himself well in the box and contributing four hits, two doubles and two singles. Jenkins played well on first and Curtis had a perfect day getting three hits and three runs out of three times at bat and making no errors. Flynn of Atlantic made a pretty catch of a foul fly. The fielding of both teams was good, Makaria getting but one error and Atlantic two.

The score by innings:

VERDICT AGAINST BELDEN

Financier Must Repay $500,000 Taken From Brother's Children

New York, June 19.—William Belden, once a prince of finance in the street and a sharer with "Jim" Fisk and Jay Gould in responsibility for "Black Friday," was forced by the supreme court to repay a fortune of $500,000, that it had been determined judicially he wrongfully took away from the children of his brother, Henry Belden, by fraud and deceit.

For nine years there has been a bitter struggle between the heirs of Henry Belden and William Belden to force an accounting for the big estate.

Bandits Shoot Captors

Salt Lake, Utah, June 19.—Deputy Sheriff Jones of Idaho was fatally wounded and Conductor William Kidd of the Oregon Short Line was shot to death by two bandits who had been arrested by them on a train at High Bridge, Ida. The bandits then stopped the train and escaped.

"How old is Helen?" we asked our little niece.

"I don't know," the child answered. "She must be pretty old, though, for she blows her own nose."

INDICTED AS A KIDNAPER

Grand Jury Takes Action Against Detective Burns

M'NAMARA IS ALSO INDICTED

Labor Man Charged With Conspiracy to Dynamite Industrial Work of Railroad and Storing Dynamite—Governor Marshall, Who Honored Requisition For McNamara, and Chauffeur and Others Absolved

Indianapolis, June 19.—Detective W. J. Burns and James Hossick, a city detective of Los Angeles, Cal., were indicted on charges of kidnapping John J. McNamara, secretary of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, from this city, and McNamara was indicted on charges of conspiracy to dynamite by the Marion county grand jury.

In all the grand jury returned eight indictments, but named only the three men in the charges. Three of the indictments are against McNamara, who is in jail in Los Angeles, where he was taken after being arrested in this city on April 22.

One indictment charges him with "conspiracy to dynamite industrial works of the Peoria and Pekin Union railroad at Peoria, Ills.," and the other two are said to be for storing dynamite here.

The other five indictments are against Detective Burns, who is under $10,000 bonds to the local grand jur, and Detective Hossick, who has not been arrested.

The grand jury reported that they found no evidence to sustain the charges of kidnapping against Walter Drew of New York, counsel for the National Erectors' association; J. A. G. Badorf, Drew's assistant; W. J. Ford, assistant district attorney of Los Angeles county, Cal., and Frank P. Fox of this city, the chauffeur who drove the car in which McNamara was taken from this city to Chicago, all of whom were arrested here and held to the grand jury for investigation.

Governor Marshall, who honored the requisition for McNamara, "acted clearly within the law and did in the premises what he should have done," according to the grand jury's report.

City Judge Collins, before whom McNamara was taken, and the Indianapolis police officers connected with the case were all absolved from blame of wrong doing by the grand jury.

London Has Greatest Parade of Women In World's History

London, June 19.—The coronation procession of suffragettes which traversed the streets of London prior to a meeting at Albert hall was probably justly described by "General" Mrs. Drummond as the "greatest procession of women in support of the suffrage movement that the world ever has seen."

From 40,000 to 60,000 women, according to the varying estimates, marched in the five-mile procession which proceeded along the coronation route of Kensington.

Militant and non-militant suffragettes combined on this occasion, all questions of caste were put aside, and those garbed to represent queens rubbed shoulders with fellow-workers in the suffrage cause from the sweat shops of Whitechapel.

"Tigg's great-grandfather fought in the Revolution; his grandfather fought in the War of 1812; his father fought in the war between the states."

"How about Tiggs?"

"He fought in the Peace Congress."

$24,800 SIDEWALK ORDER MEETS SNAG IN COUNCIL

Many Councilmen Think $15,000 Enough for Permanent Sidewalks This Year

Orders for New Streets Involving $24,800 Reported. Debate on Innholders Licenses

Monday night's session of the City Council was a prolonged one, debates on several matters making adjournment impossible until after 11 o'clock. Then special cars were run to West Quincy and to Atlantic to carry home the Councilmen. Several important matters came up among which was reports of the Committee on Streets accepting a number of streets under the betterment act which will call for an appropriation of over $24,000. The debate of the evening however came on the order for permenent sidewalks. After an hours debate this order was recommitted to the joint Committee on Finance and Streets the general understanding being that the amount of $24,000 must be materially cut before the order can pass.

The only absent member was Councilman Cherrington.

A communication was received from the Mayor announcing the appointment of Charles J. McGilvray as City Clerk which was placed on file. His bond however was approved by the council.

SQUANTUM GETS A BLACK EYE

Mistake Not to Grant Hotels a License

The City Council certainly gave Squantum a black eye Monday night when it refused to grant Innholders licenses to the two hotels at Squantum. The action of the council virtually means the closing up of the two hotels which have long been famous for their shore dinners. The general opinion about City Square this morning seems to be that the City Council has made a mistake. No one upholds the proprietors of these hotels in the violation of the law as they did last year, but they have had their lesson and paid dear for it.

The places in Quincy where a good shore dinner can be had are few and far between and its seems too bad that those who desire such a dinner should be deprived of the privilege of getting it near home.

The Squantum Inn has been the place where thousands of people go every summer for dinner and to shut them off means a black eye for this section of the city which was growing rapidly.

It is argued by many that a license should have been granted and that it was then up to the police department to see that the law is not violated. In fact many argue that it is almost a necessity that there should be a hotel at Squantum.

Another argument put up is if these two hotels are not allowed to run without an Innholders license how is it that the Greenleaf and Hancock house are permitted to keep open as neither of these hold an Innholders license.

The general opinion this morning seems to be that a mistake has been made and that these places should be allowed to do business.

The quarterly meeting of the Norfolk County Association W. R. C. will meet at the Universalist church, Norwood, Wednesday, June 21, at 10 o'clock. The exemplification of Corps 94 of Braintree will he held on Thursday afternoon. The electric cars leave Quincy at 12.20.

OPENS WITH BLAZE OF GLORY

Merchants' Week Promises to be Grand Success

Quincy's 2d annual merchants' week officially opened Monday and will continue all the week. It will be a week of unusual bargains in all of the stores of City Square for the merchants are vieing with each other in the inducements they are offering to customers. As a rule merchants have cut the usual prices deep, and the wise buyer will do well to look about this week and lay in a supply of necessities, for not again this year will such bargains be offered.

It needs no trumpeter to announce to a stranger visiting Quincy that something unusual is going on for the gayly decorated stores speak for themselves.

A visit to the several stores in City Square this morning found the proprietors and clerks happy and wearing that smile that will not wash off, for all have entered in to the spirit of the week and intend that it shall be a success. While there is not as much doing in the way of amusement this year as a year ago there is enough. Last year's week took much of the time of the proprietors, and in order to carry out the details of the program they were obliged to neglect their own business. This year after considerable discussion it was decided to confine the entertainments to band concerts during the evenings and to wind up the week with a grand parade of the fire department of the city.

The merchants have not been idle however and never have the local stores looked more attractive than today. The window decorators have outdone themselves and it well worth ones time to walk along Hancock street and see the line of goods they are displaying in these show windows.

City Square presented a gay and festive appearance Monday evening on the occasion of the opening concert by the Quincy National band. Hundreds upon hundreds of people occupied the whole square and threatened to block the traffic on Hancock and Washington streets. The band played well and the new band stand proved to be well placed allowing better facilities for the players and the spectators. While the concert was in progress the fire alarm at Houghs Neck was sounded and the crowd surged over to Coddington street to see the engine and the chief go by. Many were disappointed at the non appearance of the auto chemical but had the pleasure of seeing an express truck come along at the psychological moment when all eyes were focused on the spot from which the chug of an engine was heard.

Just before the close of the concert an electric car bearing illuminated signs "Quincy Merchants' Week" which covered the whole side of the car, went through the Square amid the plaudits of the crowd.

This evening another concert will be given in the same place and it is expected that a still larger crowd will be on hand than appeared last evening.

A very successful recital was given Monday afternoon by the Dorchester pupils of John D. Buckingham assisted by Miss Teresa Keating of Quincy in vocal solos.

Miss Keating sang "O Don Fatale" by Verdi in splendid voice and was especially pleasing in the group of songs, "Open Secret" by Woodman, "Jean" by Sprosse and "Love has wings" by Rogers. Miss Amy Fallon and Miss Clara McClure also of Quincy contributed piano selections.

EIGHT BELLS COTTAGE.

The alarm from Box 114 at 8.13 Monday night was for a fire in the Eight Bells cottage at Houghs Neck. The fire was caused by the explosion of an oil stove and did a damage of $200 before it was extinguished.

CAR ACCIDENT.

One of the Boston ice cream wagons was involved in a slight car accident Monday evening on Hancock street near the corner of Gilmore street. The wagon was going toward Neponset on the left hand side of the street and the car was coming toward Quincy. Just before the two would pass the driver of the wagon turned to cross the street directly in front of the car.

The motorman endeavored to stop his car but the turn had been made so suddenly that he did not have time to bring it to a full stop and it struck the team a glancing blow, throwing the driver out who had his leg scraped a little but otherwise was uninjured. The team was damaged but little.

HONESTY IN EVERYTHING

We hope the weather man will release the next shower in time to save the corn and tomatoes.

When it comes to prosecuting the Tack Trust will the Supreme Court be brave enough to sit down on it?

Boston is to have a hospital for none but the rich, but New York has a whole city ararnged on that plan.

The Taft model of refrigerating desk and office chair ought to prove very popular this summer. It is over an ice plant.

A "school of smiling" for girls has been opened in Boston. But is it needed during the season of ice-cream and weddings?

John W. Gates had no hesitation in declaring that he knew Andrew Carnegie when that eminent philanthropist manifested no desire to die poor.

"I have held my love and duty to my five wives," says Morman Prophet Joseph Smith. Is this the the limit or does it merely outline the possibilities.

NEW NEXICO AND ARIZONA.

Still knocking at the door of statehood, the two far Southwestern states are now fighting to get their constitutions accepted by the Senate.

The real bar across their path is not so much any particular provisions in these instruments, as their general reputation as a scene of gun play, "bad men," and cactus deserts.

But to do justice to the initiates, life has sobered down very much since the necessities of the statehood campaign led them to pass rigid laws against the open gambling of former days.

"We don't sell so many silk vests and giddy neckties as we used to" says an Arizona merchant, "but more pork and beans, and a lot of old faro layouts are now the show counter for embroidery and silk stockings."

The sports of the old days have largely moved into Nevada feeling that sleeping has become one of the leading industries of the two territories. Those that remain are alleged to go to bed at 9 P. M. except for such nights as they conduct conservative games of penuckle with alfalfa raisers in the back rooms of saloons.

In the old days, when a miner drifted into town at any old hour of night, he was sure to find something doing, with the jocund sound of a gun going off to emphasize the diversions of the hour. But now, as the sports say, the territories want "tabby cat and ball of yarn" fun.

And meanwhile the cultivated lands are yielding $60 per acre. That means a substantial growth of permanent institutions.

The Mexican vote is a bad feature. It is a territorial joke that in some counties the bosses that control this element even vote the sheep.

There is a swing of red blooded initiative in these men of sunshine and open air life, that will never rest until they acquire their equal place. This persistent and cumulative push always works its will eventually against the inertia of the East, even in the face of valid considerations of prudent statecraft.

TEACH CHILDREN TO SPEND.

After all, judicious spending is the most effective way in which to save. As a sage contemporary has remarked, if school savings banks are to be established it might be well to teach boy and girl students how to invest to good advantage the money they put away for safe keeping. Economy does not necessarily mean unmitigated enthusiasm over a steady increase of deposits with no attention to the real purpose for which coin and currency are intended. Is it not probable that by attaching undue importance to ways and means of saving, and ignoring the methods of spending, one of youth's greatest sources of enjoyment might be abolished without supplying anything adequate to take its place?

There is much to be said in praise of the school savings bank, and it already has gained a foothold in this country. If Massachusetts indorses the idea, it will merely follow the example set in some other states and abroad, where results seemingly have vindicated the plan sufficiently. But is there any good reason why Massachusetts should not improve upon the method as it has been worked out elsewhere, and have intelligent spending of pennies, nickels, dimes and quarters made a subject for instruction if the plan is put into effect here? The children might be taught to get full value for their money, how to be certain whether a just charge be made to them for the small commodities they purchase.

Probably instruction along such lines at intervals would not consume enough time to interfere with the regular courses of study. And by teaching the children how to spend money properly as well as how to save, the school bank might be made a still more valuable institution than it is at present.—Christian Science Monitor.

OLD TIME GRADUATING ESSAY.

What has become of the old time salutatory of the High school, academy, and college commencement? Perhaps it has not wholly disappeared, but certainly that formal first bow of the graduating class is very commonly omitted in our commencements of today.

Well do we recall how the scholastic youth, his hair spatted down and shiny with bay rum or other greasy concoctions of the rural barber, used to come blushing to the front, and spout a welcome in school boy Latin, which not half a dozen persons in his audience could understand.

In some schools a concession was made to the ignoramuses of the community, by permitting this address to be in such an inglorious tongue as English. But an institution of learning that elected a form of utterance that could be generally understood was thereby supposed to be decadent from the glories of academic tradition.

Now-a-days the graduating essay is rather on the wane. At least the practice is going by of trotting out every graduate for a disquisition copied from some encyclopaedia, while the audience was lulled to slumber by the sing song rhythm of the speaker.

A few graduating essays make a very suitable part of such commencements. But to be effective they must get away from the traditional subjects like "Knowledge is power" and "Over the Alps lies Italy," and must consist mostly of the personal observations of the writer. The audience does not care a hang about the number of illiterates by the census of 1910 in Patagonia. But if a boy has built a wireless station in his back yard, it would be interested to know just how he did it.

The old time Valedictory, too, is another of the relics that seems to be passing into decay. With what tearful sentiment the white gowned leader of the class used to begin "Comrades, the time has come when we must part." From her lofty idealism, you would judge that she never read anything less abstruse than Kant or Hegel. What a shock it was the next day to find her in a hammock perusing one of the Six Best Sellers, or stuffing strawberry ice cream into her etherial spirit!

GREATER BERLIN CREATED.

The Prussian Diet has adopted the Greater Berlin bill which will combine the capital and the suburban municipal cities, forming a metropolitan area with a population of close to 3,500,000. This union will move Berlin from the sixth to the third position among the great cities of the world in point of population. The city will rank next to London and New York.

CITY COUNCIL

Leon E. Brown taxes making the amount $14.31 instead of $21. Order adopted.

The Committee on Streets reported leave to withdraw on the petitions to accept West Elm avenue and remonstrating against permanent sidewalk on River street. Accepted.

NEW STREETS.

Eculid avenue, $1,400.
Part of Dimmock street, $1,200.
Ring avenue, $1,100.
Taber street, $2,800.
Part of Buckley street, $2,000.
Kemper street, $1,800.
Marlboro street, $650.
Tyler street, $3,100.
Phillips street $3,000.
Widening West Squantum street, $7,100.

The same committee also reported an order accepting the foot way leading from Avon way to Dixwell street, $650.

All ordered to a second reading.

The same committee also reported a loan order for $24,800 to cover the cost of the above streets. Referred to Finance Committee.

Councilman Gardner attempted to amend the order accepting Phillips street so that it would provide for the acceptance for the whole length instead of from Willett street to Elm avenue. The amendment was killed however.

PUBLIC HEARINGS.

A public hearing was held at 8 o'clock on the widening of Hancock street between Granite street and School street under the betterment act. Also for a new street from the Furnace Brook Parkway to Common street.

Patrick Tangney opposed the widening of Hancock street as it would bring his house too near the street, and his property would be too much damaged.

The hearing then closed and the order was recommitted. James F. Burke desired to appear against the proposed widening but came in after the hearing had close and the council refused to reopen the hearing as its legality was questioned.

On the proposed new street from the Park way to Common street Mr. O'Neil and T. J. Lamb appeared. They favored the street but objected to the betterment provision. This order was then recommitted.

A hearing was also held on petitions of the Telephone Co., for attachments. There was no objection and this hearing closed and the order was recommitted.

At this point a petition was received from P. J. Dooley for a refund of taxes which was referred to the Finance Committee.

Councilman Smith asked the unanimous consent of the council to hear Mr. Burke on the Hancock street matter but as several of the Councilmen objected he was not heard.

Councilman Bailey offered a petition of W. Noble for a hackney carriage license which was laid on the table until later when the license was granted.

On motion of Councilman Bolster the order granting Jacob Goldner a junk collectors license was taken from the committee and adopted.

Councilman Smith moved when the Council adjourn it be until next Monday evening. Voted.

President Bryant read a letter from the family of the late Harrison A. Keith thanking the council for flowers. He then offered the following resolution which was adopted by a rising vote.

RESOLVED:

Whereas, as it has seemed best to our Heavenly Father, to take from our midst, a most faithful City Official, Harrison A. Keith, thereafter be it.

RESOLVED, That the members of the City Council of 1911, desire to place upon their records their tribute of respect to one who has served his town and city most loyally, a conscientious official, a courteous gentleman, painstaking in every way in the discharge of his several duties, we can truly say of him "He lived respected and died regretted." and be it further

RESOLVED, that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family of the deceased.

INNHOLDERS.

On motion of Councilman Jenkins the order granting Christina H. Lee an innholder license at Squantum was taken from the table. Then followed a lengthy debate during which Chief Burrell and Inspector Goodhue were asked many questions bearing on the raid made by the officers on these premises last year. In reply to questions Inspector Goodhue told how a police officer and a lady had visited Mrs. Lee and called for a private room. They then had asked for beer and received it. The arrest followed and she was fined $100 in the lower court. The case was taken to the higher court where a plea of nolo contendre was accepted and $100 paid on account of costs.

Councilman Jenkins undertook to show that the brandy and some of the other liquors seized were used for cooking purposes which caused a smile to run around the council chamber.

A motion to lay the order on the table was lost and the order was then rejected on a rising vote, 6 voting yes and 16 no.

The order granting Etta J. Moses an inholders license at Houghs Neck was taken from the table and granted.

The order granting C. M. Conant an innholders license at the Squantum Inn was taken from the table. There was another long debate on this order and it was rejected.

Councilman Smith offered an order for a light on Nelson street. Referred to Executive.

Councilman Ericson offered an order for a crosswalk in City Square from the front of Payson-Mitchell's store to in front of the Johnson building. Referred to Street Committee.

On a question of privilege Councilman Histen thanked the council for the flowers sent on the occasion of the burial of his mother.

President Bryant replied saying that he was sure that the Councilman had the sympathy of the members of the council in his great loss.

SURFACE DRAINAGE.

The order for $10,570 for surface drainage took its second reading the rules were suspended and the order passed.

GAS MAINS.

The order granting the Gas Co., permission to lay gas mains took its second reading the rules were suspended and the order passed.

PERMANENT SIDEWALK.

The order for $24,000 for permanent sidewalks took its second reading and the rules were suspended.

Councilman Sandberg moved to amend by making the amount $15,000, motion lost. The order was then put on its final passage and rejected on roll call 13 voting yes and 7 no.

Councilman Smith moved a reconsideration of the vote. Voted 16 voting yes and 4 no.

Councilman Smith moved to lay on the table.

Councilman Smith was called to the chair.

Councilman Bryant spoke at length on the importance of having good sidewalks. If we desired to attract people to Quincy good sidewalks were necessary.

Councilman Sandberg was in favor of sidewalks but thought $15,000 enough for one year.

Councilman Sodergren opposed tar concrete sidewalks but favored granolithic.

Councilman Bailey favored granolithic sidewalks but thought the order should be cut at least $5,000.

Councilman Richards thought no harm could come from referring the order back to the Street Committee. The amount was rather large to expend.

During the several arguments it was intimated by some of the members that the Street Committee had been lax in its duty. This raised a cry of protest from the chairman Councilman Gardner who said that the committee had gone into the matter very thoroughly and had considered it very carefully. He did not think it any use to send back to the street committee.

Councilman Nowland moved that the order be recommitted to the joint Committee on Finance and Streets with instructions to report an order not in excess of $15,000.

By unanimous consent Councilman Smith withdrew his motion to lay on the table.

Councilman Nowland would vote for an order that called for $15,000.

Councilman Branch wanted the council to decide how much it would appropriate for sidewalks and then the committee could cut the order to that amount.

Councilman Parlee said that the Street Committee did its work thoroughly and had appropriated the amount about equally. It was wrong to say the committee had been lax. All members had worked faithfully.

Councilman Craig opposed the cut to $15,000. He thought if cut to $20,000 it would be small enough.

Councolman Leslie hoped the Council would specify no sum.

Councilman Bryant asked if the Finance committee had considered the financial aspect of the order or the merit.

Councilman Branch said that he had seen some of the sidewalks called for in the order and thought their need was not sufficiently urgent at the present time.

On motion of Councilman Bryant the motion of Councilman Nowland was divided.

The first question was on fixing the amount. This part of the motion was voted down.

It was then voted to refer to the joint Committee on Finance and Streets.

Adjourned at 11.17 until June 26.

WAS DEMANDED BY HAVEMEYER

Sugar Trust Had to Part With $10,000,000 Rakeoff

ITS CAPITAL IS WATERED

Stock Still Held In Havemeyer Estate, but Stands and Is Voted In Name of Post, Who Gives Some Interesting Facts to Investigating Committee—Witness Not Allowed to Reserve Testimony For Courts

Washington, June 20.—When James H. Post, president of the National Sugar Refining company of New Jersey, went on the witness stand at the sugar hearing, he made no effort to conceal the fact that there is $10,000,000 of water in the capitalization of his company.

The water is there, he said, because Henry O. Havemeyer demanded that amount as a bonus for his part in promoting the organization of the company. Post also admitted that the funds of the American Sugar Refining company were used in the deal through an intermediary, but that notwithstanding this fact the $10,000,000 of common stock is now in the possession of the Havemeyer estate. The hearing furnished the best illustration thus far afforded of the manner in which Havemeyer bought up the competitors of the sugar trust and at the same time made an enormous profit on the side.

Mr. Post said he was formerly interested in the B. H. Howell Sons & Co., which owned the Delaware sugar house. This house, Post said, was sold to the trust for $300,000. The holders of the Delaware sugar house stock, he said, got about two for one for their stock.

Mr. Post said the National Sugar Refining company was organized in 1900 under the laws of New Jersey for the purpose of taking over the National Sugar company of New York, the Mullenhauer Sugar company and the New York Sugar Refining company. Later the company purchased a 25 percent interest in the McCahan company for $1,250,000, which was nearly three for one. The National and the Mullenhauer were on friendly terms, the witness said, but the New York Sugar Refining company was an active independent in competition with the two companies.

Mr. Post said the National Sugar Refining company was organized under the laws of New Jersey to avoid taxation and other laws of New York.

"The organization of this company was made for the purpose of stopping competition, was it not?" asked Chairman Hardwick.

"It had that effect," answered the witness.

Adrian H. Larkin, counsel for Mr. Post, objected to having the committee question the witness about the $10,000,000 of common stock of the National Sugar Refining company of New York, which is now a matter of litigation in the New York courts, on the ground that Post would have to testify before the New York courts in the fall.

In ruling out the objection, Chairman Hardwick said that the National Sugar Refining company of New Jersey, has a capitalization of $20,000,000 on properties valued at $3,000,000 or $4,000,000. He said the committee was determined to find out about the watering of stock and it would not waive its rights in order to let any witness reserve his testimony for courts.

The $10,000,000 of common stock, Post said, was issued to him and was delivered to H. O. Havemeyer ten days later. It is now in the Havemeyer estate. The stock still stands in the name of Post and he has been voting on it for ten years. Two years later, he said, Havemeyer told him he had put aside $500,000 of the common stock as recognition for his services, to be delivered to Post at the end of five years.

Although Post has received $125,000 in dividends, the stock was never delivered to Post and the Havemeyer family now claims it. Havemeyer, he said, got dividends aggregating $2,500,000 on the common stock, exclusive of dividends, from the shares promised to Post by Havemeyer.

FURTHER CUSTOMS FRAUDS UNEARTHED

Millions Said to Have Been Lost on German Cutlery

Washington, June 20.—Frauds amounting to several millions of dollars in duties on importations of cutlery during the last few years have been discovered by secret service agents of the customs service who have been working quietly in this country and in the Solingen district of Germany, whence most of the imports come to the United States.

The investigation is not sufficiently completed to say what action will be taken to recover the duties of which it is alleged the government has been defrauded. Neither is it known if there will be criminal prosecutions.

Customs authorities say the peculiar construction of the cutlery schedule of the tariff had given opportunity for immense frauds on comparatively small undervaluations. The duty on cutlery is very high.

RAIN MARS DECORATIONS

But Ardor of Londoners Appears In No Wise Dampened

London, June 20.—Rain has been falling steadily since yesterday afternoon and the flags along the streets are hanging limp, gaudy colors are blurred and paint is running down the columns of the triumphal arches.

Some of the finest decorative effects arranged for the coronation celebration stand a fair chance of being ruined.

The spectacular aspect of London is considerably damaged, but the town has a festive appearance regardless of the unkindness of the weather.

Many illuminations blazed last night all the way from the West End clubs to the heart of the financial district, where the stock exchange and the Bank of England were bright with electric lights.

POPE PIUS COLLAPSES

Anxiety at Vatican Over Poor Health of the Pontiff

Rome, June 20.—Wearied by his labor at the mass for the Feast of Corpus Domini, Pope Pius collapsed and swooned. He rallied quickly from the fainting fit, but the condition of his health is causing grave anxiety at the Vatican.

Though members of the pontifical entourage are strictly forbidden to mention the subject or spread alarmist rumors, it is known that the debilitating effect of the warm weather has accentuated the symptoms of depression or cardiac weakness from which the pontiff has long suffered.

NEW ASSEMBLY OPENS

Republic of Portugal Formally Recognized by United States

Lisbon, June 20.—The United States has formally recognized the republic of Portugal. This followed the opening of the new constitutional assembly, at which the president of the chamber read a decree proclaiming the abolition of the monarchy and the banishment from Portugal of the royal family of Braganza. The decree was unanimously approved.

George L. Lorillard, American charge d'affaires, subsequently waited upon Senhor Machado, minister of foreign affairs, and delivered the note of recognition to him.

REV. NORMAN PLASS.

Boston Minister Who Admitted Obtaining Money Fraudulently.

PAY $2500 EACH

Plass and Brooks Fined For Fraudulent Use of the Mails

Boston, June 20.—Rev. Norman Plass and Charles H. Brooks, two of the three defendants who pleaded guilty during their trial on charges of using the mails in a scheme to defraud in connection with the Redeemable Investment company, were each fined $2500 by Judge Dodge in the United States district court.

The case of the third defendant, John I. Traphagen, went over a few days because he was not ready to pay his fine. Plass and Brooks paid the fines in cash.

It is understood that Traphagen will not be called upon to pay so heavy a fine as that of Plass and Brooks for the reason that the government looks upon him as a lesser offender.

GIRLS' BAIL REDUCED IN STOKES SHOOTING

Action Follows Judge's Inspection of Their Home

New York, June 20.—Because three bullets imbedded in the wall of the apartments of Ethel Conrad and Lillian Graham lie close to the floor, a magistrate decided that the young women probably did not intend to kill W. E. D. Stokes when they shot at him two weeks ago and ordered their bail reduced from $10,000 to $5000.

Court was adjourned while lawyers and the magistrate, escorted by police, marched to the apartments and examined the rooms closely.

June 22 was set for a hearing preliminary to the examination to determine if Stokes wishes to withdraw the charge of attempting to kill and to substitute one of felonious assault.

BIGAMIST ON PROBATION

His Two Wives Are Satisfied With Findings of the Court

Boston, June 20.—Robert B. Jones, writer of lyrics and composer of the music for the Ward and Vokes show, was freed on probation by Judge Parmenter, on the charge of bigamy.

Both of his wives interceded for him, telling the court that Jones was suffering from consumption. They said that it would mean his death if he was sent to a penal institution. Their argument bore weight with the judge.

The two women whom he married were satisfied with the probation findings, as this gives them a court record against Jones on which to base their grounds for divorce.

MUST STAND TRIAL

Motion to Quash Indictments Against Chicago Packers Is Denied

Chicago, June 20.—Judge Carpenter, in the United States district court, denied a motion of J. O. Armour and nine other Chicago packers for a re-hearing of their motion to quash indictments charging violations of the Sherman anti-trust act. This means that the packers must stand trial.

Judge Carpenter gave no reason for his finding. It is now expected the trial will be reached about next October.

NAVAL PACT SCORED

British Admirals Sign Petition Objecting to Its Ratification

London, June 20.—A score of prominent British admirals met here under the presidency of Admiral Lord Charles Beresford and unanimously condemned the declaration of London, the international agreement governing prizes of naval warfare, adopted at a conference of the chief naval powers two years ago.

One hundred and four admirals already have signed a petition to Premier Asquith pleading with him not to ratify the declaration.

STATEMENTS OF M'CORMICK

May Furnish Groundwork For Lorimer Investigation

ORIGIN OF THE "SLUSH FUND"

Committee Will Spare No Effort to Ascertain Where $100,000, Alleged to Have Been Used In Election, Came From—Scandal Relative to Tariff Measure Is Hinted—Probe Will Not Be Permitted to Drag

Washington, June 20.—The special committee from the senate which is to investigate the election of William Lorimer as a senator from Illinois will get down to work today.

Cyrus H. McCormick, president of the International Harvester company, will be the first witness. The committee expects the testimony of McCormick to lay the groundwork for the main features of the investigation. The members of the committee understand that he will give them a starting point for the investigation they propose to make as to what became of the $100,000 that was raised, so it is alleged, for use in the election of Lorimer. They expect him to say that Clarence S. Funk related to him that Edward Hines told Funk that $100,000, was to be used to "put over" the election of Lorimer.

It is now well understood that the members of the investigating committee propose to spare no effort to ascertain where this $100,000 came from. If the decision to raise this money was reached at a conference here at Washington at a time when the Aldrich-Payne tariff bill seemed to be short of votes, they propose to find out who was in that conference and just what the program was.

The other witness scheduled for today is Richard Yates, former governor of Illinois. The committee plans in a tentative way to complete the first round of hearings here about July 4. It will then go to Springfield, Ills., to follow up such leads as may have been developed by the testimony here.

Members of the committee are anxious that the investigation shall not be permitted to drag. They see no reason why the testimony should not all be in by the latter part of July, and they are hopeful of being able to make a report during this special session of congress and to obtain a vote before this special session ends.

With a view to expediting the investigation it is said that night sessions probably will be held.

TO SAVE LIFE OF WIFE

Quart of Blood Is Transfused From Veins of Senator Lea

Washington, June 20.—To save the life of his stricken wife, United States Senator Luke Lea of Tennessee sacrificed a quart of his blood at Georgetown hospital.

Senator Lea stood the operation well, though it left him so weakened that for hours he could not stand alone. Surgeons assured him that without the sacrifice which he made Mrs. Lea could have lived but a few hours.

It will be two or three days before Mrs. Lea is altogether out of danger. At present her symptoms are favorable. It is expected that Senator Lea will be able to leave his room in a few days.

WAR AMONG SHOE WORKERS

Many Grievances Presented by Delegates at St. Paul Gathering

St. Paul, June 20.—War has been declared in the International Boot and Shoe Workers' union.

Strong insurgency against International President Tobin of Rochester; a demand for referendum vote for national officers; a return of a cancelled charter to a local union in Brockton, Mass., taken away for violation of national agreement with manufacturers, and a change of basis for voting on national officers appeared when over 250 delegates met here.

SENATOR WARREN TO WED

Wyomng Man's Bride-to-Be More Than Thirty Years His Junior

Washington, June 20.—Senator Francis E. Warren of Wyoming surprised his fellow senators when he announced that in the near future he will marry Miss Clara Le Baron Morgan of New York and Washington.

Miss Morgan is the daughter of the late John L. Morgan of Groton, Conn., and is about 35 years of age. The senator is 67 years old.

APPRECIATES THE NEWSPAPERS.

Advertising Manager, Ledger, Quincy, Mass.

Dear Sir:—

The Michelin Tire Company's spring advertising campaign in the newspapers of America has been so productive that the Company is oblighed to suspend all advertising temporarily. As soon as they can take care of present orders this advertising will be resumed, and it is more than likely that the fall schedule will show an increase of space for the season over the original allotment. Michelin appreciates the very desirable positions and cooperation given this advertising, every dollar of Michelin's appropriation goes into newspaper advertising.

Very truly your,
Frank Presbrey Company.

Exercise For the Lungs.

In front of the open window or out of doors assume the position of military "Attention," heels together, body erect, hands at sides. With the mouth closed breathe in all the air possible, and, while doing so, raise the arms to a horizontal position—that is, straight out from the shoulders. Remain thus, holding the air inhaled for three seconds, and, while exhaling (breathing out), bring the arms down to the original position.

When the first exercise is thoroughly mastered and has been practiced for several days, one may begin with the second exercise, which is like the first except that the upward movement is continued until the hands meet over the head.

DODGE PENSION BILL

Democrats Won't Discuss Measure Adding $45,000,000 to Expenses

Washington, June 20.—The Democrats of the house yesterday decided to adjourn rather than take up legislation outside of that which the party had decided in caucus should be considered this session.

An effort was made to bring up a pension bill introduced by Representative Anderson of Ohio, which would add $45,000,000 a year to the present pension roll. This bill had the right of way under the discharge of committee rule.

The Democrats were unwilling to consider the measure and forced adjournment by a strict party vote.

LAUNCH OF RIVADAVIA

Argentine Dreadnaught Launching Aug. 26

The official date for the launching of the Argentina dreadnaught Rivadavia, being built at the Fore River shipyard for the Argentine navy, has been fixed for Aug. 26 and that day promises to be a red letter day in the history of the Fore River Co. for the vessel is the largest ever built in Quincy and the launch will be witnessed by many officials from Washington as well as naval officers from foreign navies.

This and her sister ship, building at the yards of the New York shipbuilding Co. are known as 30,000 ton vessels but in reality they are but 27,000 yet they will rank with the biggest ships now building of this design. The dimensions of the vessel are: Length 585 feet, breadth 98 feet, normal draught 27 feet 6 inches. The forecastle will be 25 feet 8 inches, amidship 22 feet 8 inches, and the stern 17 feet 1 inch above the normal water line. The superstructure on the upper deck will be completely suppressed to avoid obstruction to the arc of fire of the main guns, as well as to reduce the target surface.

The main armor belt will be of 12 inches uniform thickness, 200 feet long and extending 4 feet 9 inches above and 3 feet 4 inches below the normal water line. Above the upper deck there will be armor six inches thick to protect the six-inch guns. The whole arrangement of armor follows the English, American and Japanese ideas.

600 tons of steel has been allotted for submarine protection and the construction calls for numerous watertight compartments fitted with electrically driven centrifugal pumps, which can be operated even when the compartments are totally flooded. Externally a steel torpedo net is held 30 feet from the ship's side.

Three steam turbines will be the motive power, and they are situated in three separate compartments. The coal bunkers have a capacity of 4000 tons, and the oil tanks in the double bottom will contain 660 tons of fuel oil.

Twelve 12-inch, 50-calibre guns, mounted in pairs in 6-inch turrets, arranged so as to fire on either side, will constitute the main battery. They are capable of perforating an armor plate of cemented steel 14 inches thick at 6000 metres.

A speed of 22 1-2 knots an hour for eight hours will be taken as the trial speed test. This will require the development of 39,500 horsepower. There will also be a 30-hour endurance trial at 20 knots, and a 30-hour coal consumption trial at 15 knots. All these trials will be preceded by the necessary preliminary trials.

The electric power will be supplied by two main stations in duplicate, each fitted with turbo dynamos, capable of generating all the power required in action and located within the armored casemate. There will also be a third installation, operated by heavy oil motors of sufficient power to illuminate the ship and also handle some of the turrets for practice.

This third station will obviate the necessity of maintaining boilers under pressure for auxiliary services in harbors, and ought to result in the better preservation of boilers and steam piping.

The ships will cost approximately, $11,000,000 each.

SANBORN—COBB.

There was a very pretty wedding ceremony Wednesday, June 14 at 'Greenacre" the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Franklin Cobb on North river in Pembroke, when their youngest daughter, Corrinne Wallace, was married to Mr. Edgar Prouty Sanborn son of Mr. and Mrs. Eben P. Sonborn of Holbrook road, Norfolk Downs in the presence of a large family connection and intimate friends The Rev. M. H. Carroll of St. Andrews, Hanover, officiated. The bride was attired in white crepe de chine with crystal and pearl embroidery, and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and roses. The going away gown was of catawba colored heavy linen, and white chapeau with wreath of fine pink flowers. The wedding trip will include New York, Philadelphia, and Atlantic City. Mr. and Mrs. Sanborn will live in Wollaston.

The organ recital will be rendered by Almon J. Fairbanks.

Representatives will be present from the state and city government. Invitations have been extended to His Majesty's Consul and all British, Scotch and Canadian societies and clubs of Boston.

SENATOR BARNES WILLING.

Nobody should forget, says George R. Conroy in his Beacon Hill Comments in the Boston Herald, that Senator Barnes of Weymouth has aspirations looking toward that high office. Senator Greenwood of Gardner and the Back Bay has had his eye on it for a long time, and it may as well be admitted now as any other time that it was this bright, debonair and altogether lovable young Croesus who refused to stand aside and allow President Treadway to came back and wield the gavel another year.

Then there is Frank P. Bennett, Jr. of Saugus, high priest of the corporation senators. If the interests have anything to say about it—and they sometimes do, even in a "pee-purs" year—Mr. Bennett will undoubtedly be well up with the leaders in the race for the presidency. But he won't lead. At least Senator Barnes's friends don't think he will. Neither do they expect that it will be "President Greenwood." From this distance it sounds to them like "President Barnes."

We don't intend to be a prophet, but we have no hesitancy in saying that the Senate could do no better than to elect Senator Barnes to the position of presiding officer. He has the ability, the dignity, the impartiality, and every other quality necessary to fill that office honorably and well. And this is said without any desire to cast reflections on any of the other candidates.

For the Thin and Bloodless

The thin and bloodless, with pale cheeks, white lips and frail angular physique, of this community have been much interested in the reports of physicians and others concerning the effectiveness of the treatment for increasing the red and white corpuscles of the blood, thus adding color and weight with its accompanying vigor to the depleted system. A gain of from ten to thirty pounds is not at all unusual where the treatment is regularly used for several months, while the color improves almost from the beginning. Most good apothecaries supply it in the from of three-grain hypnuclane tablets, put up in sealed packets, with directions for home use. Its action aids assimilation and absorption of the blood eaten very promptly.

FAIR EXCHANGE

A New Back for an Old One. How it Can be Done in Quincy.

The back aches at times with a dull, indescribable feeling, making you weary and restless; piercing pains shoot across the region of the kidneys, and again the loins are so lame to stoop is agony. No use to rub or apply a plaster to the back in this condition. You cannot reach the cause. Exchange the bad back for a new and stronger one. Quincy residents would do well to profit by the following example.

Richard Smith, South Central avenue, Wollaston, Mass., says: "I suffered from backache and kidney trouble for a long time. I had dull pains through the small of my back and on arising in the morning, I was so stiff and lame that I could hardly dress myself. Hearing of Doan's Kidney Pills, I procured a supply and in a short time after beginning their use, I was relieved. After I had taken the contents of two boxes of this remedy, I was in good health and I have had no kidney trouble since. I give Doan's Kidney Pills the credit for this change in my condition and I gladly recommend them."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

ON THE WHITE HOUSE LAWN

President and Wife Congratulated by Five Thousand

A MOST NOTABLE RECEPTION

Fifteen Thousand Persons Not Privileged to Enter Grounds View Scene From Outside Fences—Beautiful Electrical Display and Other Unusual Features at Greatest Function Ever Held In Washington

Washington, June 20.—The celebration of the silver wedding of President and Mrs. Taft came to end last night with the reception on the White House lawn.

Invitations had been sent to close to 12,000 persons, and while the official count of those who shook hands with the president was not given out, it is estimated that at least 5000 persons were there.

Never in the history of the nation probably has such a function been held in Washington. The diplomatic corps, the United States supreme court, the senate and the house of representatives, the departments of the government, the men who are high in political affairs of the country, the army, the navy—every walk in life almost, was represented.

The cool, clear night, which made a reception in the open air possible, prevented the crush which the White House for days had been afraid of, and made the reception not only brilliant and unusual, but delightful in every respect.

Probably 15,000 people crowded about the iron fence that surrounds the grounds and looked longingly at the electric fountain play, the splashing fountain and the gay throng within.

The cards said that the reception would begin at 9 o'clock, and promptly on the hour, to the strains of the wedding march, President and Mrs. Taft came slowly down the staircase of the White House, preceded by the six presidential aids and followed by the cabinet.

Out through the red room to the rear portico of the mansion down the broad steps and out onto the lawn the procession marched, while hundreds of guests already in the grounds watched their progress. They took their stand beneath two trees just about the centre of the lawn, whose branches were joined by an electric sign flashing "1886-1911."

The guests entered from the east front, passed through the corridors beneath the White House and out to the lawn. Down the winding walk they passed in two lines to where the president, his face wreathed in smiles, was waiting to meet them all.

Above the walks the electricians had touched the trees with magic and they blazed in red, white and blue bulbs. From the top of the treasury a monster searchlight played upon a new American flag upon the summit of the mansion. Over the rear portico another flag in red, white and blue incandescent lamps, shimmered and waved.

The fountain in the centre of the grounds, played upon by another searchlight, sprinkled all hues of the rainbow. Down near the fountain the Marine band played with vigor and in the White House itself the Army Engineer band vied with them.

Every corner of the mansion had its own particular light. On the terraces which extend from the old mansion eastward and westward the beauty of the White House conservatories had been poured. The tall lamps that stand along the borders of these terraces had been shaded by deep red paper, resembling nothing so much as monster poppies.

The reception was just as informal as the president could make it. Those who could waited in line for hours to shake his hand, but many slipped out of the line and sought the shaded walks, the chairs waiting on the grass or wandered at will through the lower floors of the mansion. The presents, which numbered hundreds and cost thousands, attracted many, while others turned to the east room, whose polished floors echoed to the tread of the dancers.

Preparation had been made for 5000 guests and the refreshment tables in the state dining room came as near to groaning as a good table can come.

Mrs. Taft surprised even those familiar with the improvement in health that she has shown by remaining by the president's side in the receiving line all the evening. She wore a gown of white satin, brocaded with silver flowers, with a court train. Miss Helen Taft, who was near at hand, wore a gown of pink satin with a tunic of pink chiffon.

Despite the unusual crowd every detail worked out smoothly. Nine o'clock had been set for the reception to begin, but no time had been fixed for the end of the festivities. It was therefore after midnight that the Engineer band struck up "Home, Sweet Home," the last of the dancers swept out on the floor of the east room and the president felt that he could retire.

HUMAN REMAINS ARE FOUND IN THE MAINE

Bones of Many Sailors Supposed to Be In Wreck

Havana, June 20.—The first human parts to be recovered from the wreck of the American battleship Maine were discovered when workmen removing mud and debris from the spar deck just forward of the after superstructure discovered the blackened and coral-encrusted bones of a left forearm and right foot.

The total number killed the explosion of the Maine was two officers and 250 men. Eight of the crew later died of their injuries. The body of one officer and the bodies of 191 men were recovered. Sixty-eight bodies were not found. The bones of many of these are supposed to be still in the wreck.

The explorers recovered plates and other chinaware in the officers' quarters, identified later as parts of the dinner service of the captain and wardroom mess. All were in good state of preservation.

Waltham, Mass., June 20.—Harry N. Atwood added another extraordinary feat to his already remarkable list last evening, by flying from the Waltham aviation field to Concord N. H.

The most perilous atmospheric conditions existed during the whole of his flight of seventy-five miles, interrupted by landings at Lowell, Nashua, N. H., and Manchester, N. H.

He was accompanied all the way by the representatives of different Boston newspapers, picking up a man at each of his stops.

The flight continued in spite of all difficulties, the bold aviator, in the face of a wind blowing sixty miles an hour, flying directly over the city hall of five cities.

From each mayor at his every stop Atwood took a message to the mayor in the city beyond, finishing at last in the darkness of night at Concord with a message to the mayor of the city and Governor Bass.

COTTON MILL CENTENARY

Fall River, Mass., June 20.—With flags, band of music and something doing from sunrise to sunset, Fall River opened its centennial cotton mill festivities in memory of the first cotton mill in the city, the "old Stone Mill" at Globe Cornerss, which was built in 1811, and marks the birth of the great cotton industry in Fall River.

It was Manufacturers' day. The big event of the day was the crowning of Miss Marion Hills as queen of the centennial, and after Mayor Higgins had placed a chaplet of flowers upon her head the first parade of the week followed.

After the ceremonial procession had moved to city hall, where the coronation ceremony was performed, it proceeded to the state armory, where the manufacturers' exposition was formally opened by "Queen Marion."

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

A hearing was given by the Committee on Ruels of the legislature Monday on the admitting of the bill of the City of Quincy which will allow the city to borrow a sum not exceeding $100,000 outside of the debt limit for the purpose of developing its water front and the building of public docks. —The automobile is slowly but surely supplanting the horse for pleasure. A few years ago well-to-do people and those of less means drove horses for pleasure— fine equipages, too. Now they have horses only for work and take their pleasure in an automoble. By motor 100, 200, yes 300 miles can be made in a day, when with a horse a drive of 20 miles would be considered too much. The horse has the laugh on autoists at times, though, and many a religious man passes a most profane silence as he realizes that something is the matter with his engine and help is miles away.—Mansfield News.

CARRIE NATION, SALOON SMASHER

Militant Temperance Advocate Figured In Lively Episodes.

TRAVELED OVER THE COUNTRY

Hatchet In Hand, She Created Havoc Among Rum Sellers In Many Cities. Raised a Disturbance at the White House.

Mrs. Carrie Nation, the saloon smasher of Kansas, who died recently, regarded herself as a woman with a mission. She declared that hers was the right hand of God and that she had been commissioned to destroy the rum traffic in the United States. The emblem of her mission was a hatchet, and her campaign against the saloon was country wide. She suffered imprisonment, abuse, ridicule, was even called insane and at the end of nine years retired with money enough to enable her to buy a farm in Arkansas. A good deal of her money was derived from the sale of souvenir hatchets.

Whatever view one may hold of Carrie Nation and her methods, it is not without interest to note that since she appeared on the scene as a saloon smasher a prohibition wave has swept through southern and western states and the anti-saloon element has gained the support of thousands of voters, with the result that scores of new excise laws have appeared on the statute books. It is possible that Carrie Nation did not a little to focus public attention upon the evils and abuses of the liquor traffic.

Jumped Into Notoriety,

Outside of her own circle few people had ever heard of Carrie Nation, who lived in Medicine Lodge, Kan., until June 6, 1900. On that day she went into her back yard and picked up half a dozen bricks. These she wrapped separately in old newspapers and, adding four heavy bottles to the collection, set out in her buggy for Kiowa, where she smashed three saloons with her ammunition. She would have smashed others had not proprietors locked the front doors. Then Mrs. Nation stood up in her buggy and informed the crowd that the law had been violated and somebody ought to be prosecuted—herself or the authority which permitted saloons to run in violation of the law. After this challenge she drove back to Medicine Lodge. Next morning, when the news was scattered abroad, the country realized that a new reformer was at hand.

Since that day Mrs. Nation had been in jail at Wichita three times, at Topeka seven times, at Kansas City once, at Coney Island once, at Los Angeles once, at San Francisco once, at Scranton twice, at Pittsburg three times, at Philadelphia once, at Bayonne, N. J., once and at Cape Breton once, making a total of twenty-two times she had paid penalty for taking the law into her own hands. She understood the art of publicity, and whenever she started on a smashing tour her manager—she always had one—took care to notify the newspapers.

Ejected From White House.

In 1903 she created a disturbance at the White House in an effort to reach President Roosevelt and was ejected by two policemen. As she was being escorted from the building she shouted at the top of her voice: "I am going to pray for a prohibition president, and we will have one—one who will represent the people and not the distillers and brewers. You may put me out of the building, but if a brewer or liquor dealer were here he would have been admitted at once!"

Afterward she went to the capitol and disturbed the decorum of the senate. Finally she was arrested and fined $25, with an alternative of thirty days in jail if she did not pay. She promptly appealed for assistance and easily procured the amount of her fine by selling hatchets.

Mrs. Nation toured Great Britain in 1908 and attracted a good deal of attention to her propaganda. She visited public houses in many cities, gave advice to barmaids and magistrates, was arrested at Newcastle-on-Tyne for saloon smashing and appeared in London music halls, where she was the target for bad eggs. "Before the vices of London I stand appalled," she said.

INDIANS PROGRESSIVE.

Ranchers Set Out Fruit Trees and Otherwise Develop Their Farms.

All the Indian ranchers along Husum creek, Washington, are showing progressiveness by planting fruit trees, irrigating hay tracts and doing development work that would prove a good example for some white men.

As a rule the Klickitat Indian has several abodes on his ranch, giving rise to much speculation as to the necessity of so many buildings. This is explained by the fact that when a member dies the family moves out of the residence at once and lives in tepees if necessary until another building is erected.

The former buildings are used for stables or for storing hay and grain.

PARADE COMMITTEE MEET.

The July Fourth parade committee meet Monday evening at the rooms of the Board of Trade but no special action was taken. The evening was taken up with a general discussion of plans for the morning parade. Everything gives promise of its being a feature of the day. Responses have been received from a number of organizations stating that they would take part in the parade and have features.

Chairman Wardwell is busy with the details of the parade and the formation points of the several divisions will be announced in a few days and the make up of the divisions as far as known will be given out.

AUTO CHEMICAL.

There has been quite a curiosity on the part of the citizens, every time an alarm of fire is sounded to see the new auto chemical dash by at rapid speed to the fire. But they are disappointed for it does not appear. The fact is that the machine is not in commission at the present time.

Chief Williams said this noon that the machine was all right but that there was some trouble with the clutch which did not work just right and there seemed to be no one about Quincy who knew just how to fix it. Chief Williams further said that a man was coming on from the factory to fix the clutch and that he was expected to arrive tonight and if he did so the machine would probably go into commission again tomorrow.

SPORTING NOTES.

The final round of the B. A. A. golf championship will be played today at the Montclair links between V. M. Smith and C. M. Hart. Smith beat J. Mulcahy 1 up in 19 holes and Hart won from Beals C. Wright by default.

The newly organized Y. M. C. A. baseball teams opens its season on Saturday, July 1, in a game with the Rand class of Wollaston. Other games arranged are with Cunningham gym of Milton, Clapp Memorial and Newton Y. M. C. A.

TESLA TELLS OF WONDERS.

Says He Will Soon Be Able to Transmit Wireless Power Across Sea.

Queen Isabella of Spain could not have been amazed more when Christopher Columbus told her about a new world than were the members of the New York companies' section of the National Electric Light association when Nikola Tesla, the inventor, told them that within a short time he hoped to run street cars in Dublin, Ireland, by electrical energy generated in Long Island City, New York.

"I have annihilated distance in my scheme," he said, "and when perfected it will not be one mite different than my present plans call for. The air will be my medium, and I will be able to transmit energy of any amount to any place in the world. I will also be able to send messages to all parts of the world, and I will send words out into the world which will come out of the ground in the Sahara desert with such force that they can be heard for fifteen miles around.

"I also hope to set up a central wireless telephone station whereby there will be a force of 1,000,000 horsepower behind each word uttered into my instrument, and in which distance will play no hindrances whatever. Many hundreds of people will be able to talk at the same time and without any interference with each other."

For the use of aeroplanes the inventor has a new steam engine perfected, he says, which will be of the turbine type, and a ten horsepower engine of this kind will weigh only one pound. The machine, he says, will be the smallest thing ever seen on wheels and will be more powerful than any automobile engine ever manufactured.

Spanish Editors In a Duel

Madrid, June 20.—In a sabre duel between the editor of Espana Nueva and the editor of A. B. C., the former wounded the latter in the elbow.

"What a bright little thing!" exclaimed the society woman, patronizingly cooing at a baby out for an airing in the park. "Whose little one is this?"

"Yours, ma'am," replied the nurse. "I'm the new nurse that kem yistherd'y."—Philadelphia Press.

TUESDAY NIGHT FIRE ALARMS

House Struck by Lightning and Automobile Fire

The alarm from Box 59 at 6.25 Tuesday night during the heighth of the storm called the department to a house on South Central avenue occupied by Wilmot A. Siders. The fire was caused by the house being struck by lightning. The bolt struck the top of the chimney and then the corner of the house. There was but little fire but quite a scare and the alarm was sounded. The bricks of the chimney were loosened all the way down to the cellar but there was no fire. The recall sounded in a few minutes.

The alarm from Box 26 at 11.58 Tuesday night was for a fire in an automobile in front of the Savings Bank building. The automobile belonged to Jesse F. Fuller of Wollaston. Mr. Fuller attempted to start his engine when the gasoline took fire and a sheet of flame, fanned by the wind threatened to destroy it. The alarm brought aid from the central fire station and a chemical stream put the fire out. The automobile was towed to a garage and Mr. Fuller walked home.

CARRIER PIGEONS.

Charles Sampson of Presidents hill sailed for Baltimore Tuesday evening on a Merchant and Miners Co., steamer captained by an old schoolmate of his. Mr. Sampson took a pair of passenger carrier pigeons with him and upon his arrival in Baltimore will free them from the cage and see if they will reach West Quincy again. The pigeons are owned by Thomas A. Clark of 40 Centre street and both Mr. Clark and Mr. Sampson believe that the birds will return home within two days.

LAW ON SALE OF FIREARMS

Will Prevent Promiscuous Sale of Revolvers

In view of the many shootings by persons carrying revolvers and other firearms which frequently result in murders, it is not perhaps generally known that the legislature has passed a new law relative to the sale of firearms which goes into effect June 27. This law is broad in its scope and will have a tendancy to prohibit the promiscuous selling and carrying of firearms.

In the first place the law provides that before a person may sell revolvers and firearms he must be licensed by the licensing board of the city, which license shall expire on the thirtieth day of April each year. The license shall also state the street and number of the store or building where the firearms are to be sold.

Other important clauses in the bill are that before delivery of a firearm the licensee shall make a true entry in a book kept for that purpose specifying the make, kind, and other facts about the firearm sold.

Also the full name, sex, residence and occupation of the purchaser. A copy of the license issued must be displayed in the store or premises where firearms are to be sold. Also that no firearm shall be displayed in any outer window or in any other place where they can be readily seen from the outside.

The penalty for violation of the law is by a fine of not less than $5 nor more than $500 or by imprisonment for not more than one year. A person who in purchasing a firearm gives a false or fictious name or address shall be liable to a fine of not less than $25 nor more than $100 or by imprisonment of not more than one year or by both fine and imprisonment.

RAIN, HAIL LIGHTNING

Three Unwelcome Visitors to Merchants Week

Tuesday was not a particularly good day for merchants week as the weather was threatening and stormy for the greater part of the day. At times the sun was out bright and clear. Then it would cloud over and there would be a shower. This of course kept many who had planned to visit the stores, at home.

The hard shower of the day came shortly after 5.30 in the evening, and then it rained as it never rained before. Accompanying the rain was thunder and lightning and hail. For a time the rain fell in torrents causing rivers of water to run down the street gutters and washing the streets out quite badly in places. It rained very easy and during the later part of the shower there was a hail storm and the ground was covered with hail stones. During the hardest of the shower the sun was shining causing quite a phenomenon. The weather cleared in the early evening however so that the band concert was given as advertised.

The weather looked somewhat threatening however and many who had planned to come to City Square stayed at home. The band appeared on the scene at 7.30 and the evening's concert was given as advertised.

It attracted quite a crowd in City Square near City Hall and the sidewalks were packed.

The concert was unusually good and all the numbers were applauded though not as generously as they deserved. Another thing was noticeably lacking also and that was a sense of reverence for "The Star Spangled Banner." Only a few knew enough or cared enough to take off ther hats while the band was playing it. The same thing was brought up a year ago and it was hoped that this woeful lack of patriotism would be done away with this time but the exhibition last night and the night before blasted all hopes of any such desired end. There might have been some excuse if the audience had been mostly foreigners who did not know any better but such was not the case.

We all pride ourselves on our American citizenship but when it comes to showing reverence for the national emblem, we do not prove ourselves worthy of its protection. The Patriotic organizations of the city are doing their best to place Old Glory in its proper place in the minds of the people but as the old saying goes "You may lead a horse to water but you cannot make him drink." So in this case you may tell a man what his duty is with regard to the flag but you cannot make him a patriot or even man enough to honor that flag. Let those of us who do know enough to pay our respect to the flag for which our fathers fought, set an example of patriotism to these men who are coming here from Italy and Greece and Armenia and prove to them that there is still a sense of pride in our nation's flag among us. Tonight when the concert is given at the head of Granite street let there be more of those who know in the audience and if they do not want to go for any other reason, let them make their way to the place just for the sake of setting someone else a good example when the band starts playing that tune which we say we love so well.

The concert tonight will be given from the head of Granite street, near the Bethany church and the band stand was moved to its new site this morning.

The City Square merchants said that the trade during the day had been good but not what it would have been had the weather not been quite so threatening. A good day is looked for today.

The merchants are well satisfied with the success of the week up to the present time and feel that the object of the week namely to stimulate trade will be accomplished.

OUTING AT NANTASKET.

Tuesday evening, Quincy Chapter No. 88, Order of the Eastern Star, held its last regular meeting before the summer vacation. There was a large number present, among the visitors, being Iva E. Brown, Grand Matron, O. E. S., of Massachusetts. Five candidates were initiated. At this meeting plans were made for an outing on Saturday at Nantasket beach.

Members and friends will leave the Square at Quincy at three o'clock P. M. All wishing to return with the party on special cars will meet at the entrance of Paragon Park at 7 o'clock that the committee may know the number of those wishing to return.

The first of the summer porch parties will be held at the home of Mrs. Horace Crocker, 17 Park lane at the end of Butler road, Thursday afternoon at two o'clock. These parties are held for preparation for the O. E. S. fair to be held the latter part of October.

TODAY'S COURT.

Louis Slauger, owner of the building at West Quincy occupied by the Farmers' club, which was raided by the police some days ago was summoned into court this morning on a complaint charging him with letting a building or the illegal keeping of intoxicating liquor. The case was continued for hearing until July 1.

SR. NUMBER GOLDEN ROD

Editorial Staff to be Commended For Its Work

The special Senior number of the Golden Rod appeared at High school on Monday and was greeted with great joy by the school. The editorial staff is to be commended on its work in getting out this number for it is by all odds the best of the year and one of the best we have ever seen. The editorials are more pertinent than usual, the stories are all good and the statistics are very interesting. The artistic work by Miss Bushnell and Sidney Crane is good and the jokes and Athletic news are of the usual stamp.

Of the stories, the "Modern Aeneas' Trip Through Hades" is perhaps the best. The originality and natural wit of the author (who does not disclose his identity) make the story highly entertaining. There is one thing which is puzzling however and that is how the author arrives in Hades by means of an airship. In the usual mythical sense this of course might be possible but to the matter of fact American a subway would appear to be more reasonable. However, the author arrives there and converses with the shades of several prominent members of the class of 1911 and one or two others and witnesses the toil which His Majesty is forcing upon them. His method of silencing the three headed monster at the entrance to the nether regions is wholly original and since the author is a man of experience we will take his word with regard to its effectiveness.

The poem entitled "The class of 1911" by a member of the class is a brief history of the class in verse and gives the reader a birds eye view of the struggles of the youthful mind after knowledge and other good things which go with a high school course.

As for the statistics they speak for themselves and out of their fulness, one could decide upon the suitability of any member of the class for a position in any department of life with special qualifications for the matrimonial market. The number as a whole is very satisfactory and one should feel that he had more than his money's worth of laughs. The editorial board is as follows: Dorothy Darling, editor in chief; Sidney Crane, literary editor; Doris Straw, alumni and exchange editor; Philip Rice, local and joke editor; Millard Chapman, athletic editor; Clara Bushnell, artist; Paul Blackmur, business manager; Samuel Prout, assistant business manager.

VIOLIN RECITAL.

Foggs opera house at South Weymouth probably never held a more enthusiastic audience than that of Tuesday evening when parents and friends gathered to greet the pupils of Miss Kathryn Goeres, teacher of the violin, at their annual recital.

Mr. James S. Whyte, bass soloist at the M. E. church, East Weymouth assisted also Miss Mildred French, organist of the Universalist church in Hingham, and Miss Bertha Estes of Weymouth, who were the accompanists.

Each number met with hearty and deserved applause; the manner in which the pupils handled their instruments and the tones produced was ample proof of the excellent teaching of Miss Goeres.

The program revealed a remarkable pupil, little Miss Beatrice Griffin of Randolph, who although only six years old played the Fourth Concerto by Seitz without notes, winning praise and much applause by her skill.

Among those taking part were several Quincy pupils and it is hoped that Quincy people may enjoy the pleasure of attending a similar recital in Quincy by the pupils of Miss Goeres at the close of their next season.

HONESTY IN EVERYTHING

Mrs. Taft was unable to receive the guests at the silver wedding. We wish Aunt Delia would stay on in Washington and relieve her of the arduous duty of making the pies.

Jack Johnson is being cheered in London strets. Over here the sound of "$10 and costs for auto speeding" was more frequently heard than the acclaims of the populace.

A Japanese bell-boy in a Boston hotel has become a college professor. This is probably one of the cases where hotel employes are able to afford costly luxuries out of their tips.

These daisy chains the college girls carry please the farmers, who are glad to see such large quantities of that pesky white weed exterminated from their fields.

Gov. Deneen of Illinois has vetoed the bill to keep the newspapers from publishing the crime news. He felt that citizens naturally want to know what the Legislature is doing.

We shall feel better when we get by the spiritual unrest among the rural Pegasuses, caused by Alfred Austin's Coronation ode. We can already hear 'em champing their bits and preparing for a descent on this office.

If there is one thing that Quincy needs it is good sidewalks and we are glad the City Council is considering an appropriation for the work. Nothing gives so poor an impression of a town as rough gravel sidewalks. There should be a continuous walk on Coddington street from the Square to Mt. Wollaston cemetery. There is considerable travel over this road and it is unusually rough going. Adams street from the bridge to Dimmock street is almost impassable in the spring with the mud. Hancock street around Bethany church and the east side to Christ church should be continuous.

Each ward should be taken systematically and the most travelled streets given good sidewalks on one or both sides.

The only curbing some of the sidewalks in the centre have is of paving blocks set on edge while many have no edge at all being almost a part of the street. Sidewalks by all means and good ones.

THE TAFT SILVER WEDDING.

Sometimes when we read all these divorce statistics, we wonder if the time will come when there will be no more silver and golden weddings. It sometimes seems as if the higher one climbs in social life, the less he feels bound by those ties of loyal wedlock that are still held sacred by the ordinary struggling and toiling world.

The pessimist will say that the time may come when a silver wedding will be given the same encomium by the social philosopher that Col. Roosevelt offers to the large family.

Fortunately that day is not yet here. But still in so large a percentage of marriages, family ties are regarded as a mere business or pleasure contract, that any conspicuous anniversary like that of Mr. and Mrs. Taft is a needed reminder of the true and loyal hearts left in the world.

The Taft silver wedding party is called about the biggest crowd ever entertained at the White House. The ordinary housewife does not much wonder about Mrs. Taft's recent case of nervous prostration, when she stops to think how she would feel with 5000 people treading on her cherished carpets, or trampling down the anxiously nursed grass in her front lawn.

Most women become a shade hysterical under the strain of entertaining two score people. What must it be to have to distribute smiles, feed, decorative effects, and a "make yourself at home" feeling among the population of a fair sized city, all crowded into the quarters of one family, treading on each other's sore corns, and poking each other with sharp elbows!

One thinks of this rush to claim the fleeting glance and hasty hand grasp from high officials and their families, as largely mere vulgar curiosity.

And yet this social stage play is after all only a portion of the account which our public servants must render to their masters, the people. A president's messages and inaugurals do not tell the whole story of the real man. The face and the manner have their revelation, and this fleeting glimpse may reveal more than a 20,000 word state paper.

REFLECTIONS ON SUMMER WEATHER

The coming of the burning months of summer is dreaded by the majority of our people. Any physician will tell you, however, that pneumonia, bronchitis, and other of the greatest foes of the human physique, together with infinite and irritating minor affections of the throat and respiratory organs, grow out of the strain of adjusting our delicate human frame to the vicissitudes of winter.

In tropical climates they have acquired better the art of living in hot weather. They rise early, receive the cool invigoration of the dawning day, and by the time the sun has reached its meridian they are ready for their restful siesta. Their houses, built to admit air freely, are more favorable to mid-day sleep than our tightly built dwellings whose windows give insufficient access to the air.

As the sun dips toward the Western horizon, some more work is done. Of course our abnormal and unwholesome system of factory and business office labor makes such an ideal arrangement impracticable for most of us. But one hopes that mankind will not forever live in a manner defying his physical environment.

SHINGLE ROOFS.

Jackson, Mississippi, whose population we do not know, but which is not included in the census list of cities having a population of twenty-five thousand or more, has recently adopted an ordinance prohibiting the use of shingles or boards for roofs. Presumably this regulation applies to the outer covering, and not to a boarding to be protected by fireproof materials. Jackson's action is proof that somebody is giving attention to the lesson of the Bangor fire, though it is remarkable that this action is had in a small city when so many large cities are reluctant to adopt such a precaution. Yet every city in this country should be prompt and positive in its regulation of roofing material. Wood shingles should be rigorously proscribed, and con be with no injustice to any one. Many good substitutes for shingles now exist, and a general increased demand will produce more. We do not believe the requirements of fire resisting roofs will prevent any necessary building, and it will provide a needed safeguard against disastrous fires.—New Bedford Standard.

TO TRAIN A BOY.

Members of the Masonic order throughout the Northwest today are discussing the suggestion by Jeremiah Neterer o f Bellingham, in his annual address as grand master at the 54th session of the grand lodge of Washington in Spokane, that each attract the confidence of a boy and direct him onto ways of right. It is expected that most of the 175 lodges in the state, with 16,500 members enrolled, will adopt the p lan before the year is ended.

"I believe that if such a movement were launched by the Masons in this jurisdiction," Judge Neterer said, "intense w ould be the interest and great would be the result and pleasure in much constructive work in real character building.

"There exists a necessity for wholesome influence a nd fraternal cooperation in behalf of boys. The course of conduct and treatment of many boys at home and by the public should be changed. Worthy examples should be presented and wholesome sentiment created. You can initiate a plan which will properly direct and conserve the energy and ambition of the boy.

"The highest authorities are agreed that nothing in the world so shapes a boy's soul and character as quiet talks with grown men about things they live for and amidst. In this way the boy i s aroused to t hink and do the very best there is in him.

"Make a companion of some boy, be a big brother to him and have him visit you; go to his home after the labor of the day has closed and show him he is a part of the world and that some one is interested in his welfare; direct his mind in a wholesome course, place designs for his improvement upon the trestle-board of life, and thus bring his acts within the extended points of the compass and yourself nearer the throne of the eternal God."

THE coronation of King George in London will be made memorable by a battle that may fitly be compared to Bunker Hill. The American peeresses, millionaires, social strugglers and other emigrants from the land of freedom are going to make a desperate fight for their rights at the royal festivities.

At Bunker Hill our forefathers fought for freedom from the British oppressors in their own homes. Now their enterprising descendants are going to carry the fight into the British tyrant's own domain. They are going to make a heroic struggle for front places at the tyrant's coronation and all the festivities connected with it.

Some contemptible British Tories are rejoicing because the Americans who were so prominent under the reign of the late King Edward are going to take a back seat under the present reign. It is not so easy as these Tories think to suppress people whose sires may have fought at Bunker Hill and deprive them of privileges for which they paid good money.

Spend Million Each.

Mrs. Maldwin Drummond, whose late husband was Marshall Field, Jr., has declared that she will spend $1,000,000 on entertainments at the coronation. She is one of the richest Americans in England, but there are a hundred others who will spend money almost as lavishly as she.

This $1,000,000 is to be spent in lavish entertainments, for Mrs. Drummond is evidently determined to outdo the Duchess of Roxburghe. The former May Goelet covered herself with her famous turquoises and spent $50,000 at her recent dinner, but Mrs. Drummond will cover herself with her diamond chains, plastrons and breastplates and spend $150,000 on one dinner. Mrs. Drummond has had a special gold service made. Each piece, and there are many dozen, bears the date of the coronation and the monogram of the hostess. One hundred cards have been sent out, and each guest is to receive a souvenir which cost $100. The gold service is to be sacredly kept as an heirloom and is to go to the older of the two grandsons of the late Mr. Field. One can easily see that $1,000,000 is a conservative estimate for the necessary expenses of this child of fortune.

Mrs. Drummond's sister-in-law, the only daughter of the elder Marshall Field, who married Admiral Beatty of the British navy and settled in England, will also spend about $1,000,000 on coronation festivities.

American Peeresses.

Some sixteen American women are assured of seats in the abbey as peeresses, but it seems that not one of them will perform any specially honorable function, such as holding the bag or carrying the umbrella.

At the last coronation there was a small gallery, to which King Edward's friends who had no official positions were invited. Among them were many Americans, including Mrs. George Cornwallis West, formerly Miss Jennie Jerome of New York; Mrs. Jack Leslie, sister of the latter, and Lady Paget, daughter of the late Mrs. Paran Stevens. It is understood that not one of these was asked this time.

Some Who Are Barred.

Mrs. Ava Willing Astor, divorced wife of Colonel John Jacob Astor, and Mrs. Waldorf Astor, wife of William Waldorf Astor's oldest son, are among the most popular and lavish American hostesses in England; but, alas, they were not asked to a seat at the coronation because they are divorced. Mrs. Waldorf Astor's husband is a member of parliament, and there is a special gallery for members' wives, but even from this her divorce will exclude her.

The handsome and very wealthy Countess of Strafford, formerly Mrs. Colgate of New York, was not invited as a peeress because she has married as her third husband an Englishman named Kennard, although she still sports No. 2's title.

Lady Ashburton, once popular on the stage as Frances Donnelly, was not invited because she was an actress, although she is a bona fide peeress with a firm grip on her peer.

Buxom Camille Clifford, happily married to the son and heir of Lord Aberdare, was not invited to the gallery reserved for the wives of peers' heirs because she was on the stage.

There will be a long series of official and semiofficial entertainments following the coronation and lasting more than a week. To these Americans who fail to win a seat at the great show itself will strive for admission, and they will give similar entertainments themselves, outdoing the princes and dukes of England in magnificence.

Few Americans Present.

The coronation is to be on Thursday, June 22, and on that day and the previous Tuesday the king will give great state banquets. The invitations will be confined to royal visitors, ambassadors, cabinet ministers and persons of similar rank, so that few Americans can be present.

On the intervening Wednesday the king's uncle, the Duke of Connaught, will give a state banquet to guests of the same category for whom there is not room at the king's banquets.

On Tuesday, June 27, there will be an immense garden party at Buckingham palace, given by the king and queen for those who are too modest to figure at the more ceremonious entertainments. Here will come popular actors and actresses, labor members of parliament, writers and artists and all sorts of worthy persons laboring under some social defect. Some Americans will probably get in here.

Rival Entertainments.

Mrs. Waldorf Astor will certainly capture his royal highness the Duke of Connaught as an attraction for one of her parties, while the Duchess of Roxburghe is counting on bagging the king and queen for hers.

Still, the Americans are far from having the prominence they enjoyed under King Edward, but they will make a fight for it.

INTERESTS OF STOCKHOLDERS

The Prime Concern of Founder of the Sugar Trust

WHY HE SOLD HIS HOLDINGS

Was to Prevent Speculators Boosting Price of Stock, According to Testimony of Son, Who Rates His Paternal Parent as Philanthropist—Would Like to Make National a Competitor of American Company

Washington, June 21.—Horace Havemeyer, son of the founder of the sugar trust, told the sugar investigating committee that his father disposed of most of his holdings in the trust because he discovered that certain speculators were engaged in an attempt to boost the price of the stock to a point where it "would bust."

Havemeyer declared that his father would not consent to a scheme which would injure numerous innocent stockholders and that therefore he reduced his holdings to a normal figure. This startling statement coupled with a stirring eulogy of father by son, gave the committee something to think about.

"I think my father performed an act of philanthropy when he organized the original sugar trust and later the National Sugar Refining company," Havemeyer told the committee.

Although he looked to be a college undergraduate, Havemeyer, who is 25 years old, handled himself like a business man of experience with great familiarity with the courts. He explained his demeanor when he interjected into his testimony the remark that he had been involved in litigation for so long a period that it had become second nature to him.

He furnished the committee with little information about the details of the sugar trust, but he impressed every member of it with a son's plea for the memory of his father. He declared that his father was not the financial pirate that some men have tried to make him out; that he was a philanthropist, and that his consolidation of the sugar industries in 1887 was for the good of those industries.

"My father's company at that time," said Havemeyer, "was in better shape than most other companies, and my father was in a position to either run them out of business or combine them."

He referred to the $10,000,000 of common stock in the National Sugar Refining company, about which there is litigation because it stands in the name of James H. Post, president of the National company, but is alleged to belong to the Havemeyer estate.

Young Havemeyer said that if he could obtain possession of this stock, he would make the National Sugar Refining company a competitor of the American Sugar Refining company.

The witness told the committee that trusts are good things for the country, although he admitted that they should be regulated.

"Trusts," he said, "have a great deal to do with the commercial growth of the United States and are necessary to that growth."

Electrical Storm Causes Much Damage In Greater Boston

Boston, June 21.—Houses were riven by the bolts of lightning, chimneys, poles and trees were struck down, and giant hailstones left a trail of destruction in the wake of a fierce electrical storm which swept over Greater Boston last evening.

In ten minutes the temperature dropped twelve degrees and from a seasonable breeze the wind swelled to almost a roaring hurricane.

From drops of rain the precipitation was suddenly altered to a downward rush of great hailstones, in many sections reported to be of almost unbelievable dimensions.

CHARMING JUNE BRIDES

Tuesday Was a Popula Day For Quincy Brides

TENNEY—BATES.

Two well known and popular Wolloston young people were united in marriage Tuesday evening at the Wollaston Congregational church, the church being taxed to its seating capacity with their friends. The bride was Miss Marian Hall Bates, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Freeman Bates of 144 Winthrop avenue and the groom Charles Edward Tenney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward S. Tenney of 115 Prospect avenue.

William E. Weston at the organ rendered a pleasing musical program while the guests were assembling and at eight o'clock to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding m arch the bridal party entered the church, the bride and her father being preceded by the ushers, bridesmaids, maid of honor and the little flower girls. At the altar they were met by the groom and his best man Walter G. Thomas of Wollaston and the officiating minister, Rev. Edward A. Chase pastor of the church who impressively performed the ceremony. To the joyous strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march the party left the church.

The church looked very attractive being decorated in evergreen and white roses making a fitting setting for the bride who looked charming in a gown of white satin with duchess lace bertha. She wore a tulle veil and carried a shower bouquet of white sweet pease. Her only ornament was a pearl and diamond pendant a gift from the groom.

The maid of honor was Miss M. Elizabeth Bates of Wollaston who wore a most dainty gown of embroidered batiste over pale pink silk with sash of pink moire and she carried a bouquet of Killarney roses. There were three bridesmaids, Miss Edna Caroline Gunn of Honolulu, Miss Frances B. Plummer of New York and Miss Gertrude King of Wollaston. They were dressed alike in white marquisette with sashes of pink messaline and carried bouquets of pink sweet pease and maiden hair fern. The flower girls were Mary Amsden Bates and Eleanor Vining Bates.

The ushers were William W. Gallagher of Braintree, Gorham H. Whitney of Somerville, Gardner Marion of Brighton and Dr. Oliver Tinkham of Weymouth. As souvenirs of the happy occasion the bride presented her attendants with gold collar pins and the ushers received gold cuff links from the groom.

Following the ceremony at the church a reception was held until ten o'clock at the home of the bride, which was fragrant and attractive with decorations of pink roses. The young people were assisted in receiving by their parents. A wedding supper was served. Many wedding gifts attested to the wide circle of friends of the newly wedded couple.

Amid showers of confetti and hearty good wishes Mr. and Mrs. Tenney started on their honeymoon trip to South America. They will be away three weeks and on their return reside on Cedar Cliff road, East Braintree where they have built a most attractive new house and where they will be at home to their friends after Jan. 1st.

GILDBRANSON—LANDGRANE.

Miss Lillian C. Landgrane and Mr. Bernard Goldbranson both of Quincy greatly surprised their many friends, who have learned that they slipped away Friday afternoon June 16 and were married by Rev. H. Jacobsonof Cambridge, Mass., at 6.30, afterward leaving for Portland, Maine. Mrs. Goldbranson who is a beautiful young lady of the blonde type attended the wedding of her sister Mrs. J. R. Nelson who also stole a march on her friends about 2 years ago and was married at Providence to Ex-Councilman John R. Nelson of Squantum. Mr. Goldbranson is a very highly respected young man of Quincy and connected with Goldbranson & Co., granite dealers. Mr. and Mrs. Goldbranson will visit the bride's home in Maine for a couple of weeks when they will return and reside in Quincy.

HOPKINS—CRANE.

A quiet home wedding was solemnized, Tuesday afternoon, at the home of the bride's mother, on South street, when Miss Theo Johnson Crane, oldest daughter of Mrs. Carrie J. and the late Clift R. Crane, became the bride of Mr. Walter Stowell Hopkins, of Philadelphia. The Rev. Edward Anderson officiated. The bride was unattended and the ceremony witnessed only by the immediate families.

The bride wore a simple gown of point d' esprit and lace, and carried sweet peas and maiden hair fern. The house was decorated with roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Hopkins left for a short trip, enroute to Philadelphia, where they will make their home.

KIDD—SCOTT.

Miss Nellie Scott daughter of Mrs. John Scott of Rodman street and Sydney Kidd of Barre, Vt., formerly of Quincy, were quietly married at the home of the bride Tuesday afternoon a 4 o'clock by Rev. Edward Norton, pastor emeritus of Bethany church. The bride was attended by her cousin and John Charles of Montpelier, Vt., formerly of Quincy, was the best man. Only the immediate family were present at the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Kidd, with the bride's mother, Mrs. Scott sail for Scotland on Friday where they will spend the summer. On their return they will live in Barre, Vermont.

DEVANEY—MACDONALD.

Thomas F. Devaney one of the City Square street railway starters was quietly married Tuesday evening his bride being Miss Mary J. MacDonald of Wollaston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dougald MacDonald and one of the popular young ladies of that section. The ceremony was performed in the early evening at St. John's parochical residence, Rev. John J. Coan officiating. A reception followed the ceremony at the home of the bride after which Mr. and Mrs. Devaney left for a wedding trip to Washington.

LICENSING OF AIRSHIPS

Substitute Bill Presented by Rep. Langelier

As a result of the Governor's message to Legislature, the committee on Public Health presented a bill regarding the regulation of airships. The bill called for a fee of $10 for licensing, prescribed certain courses and other things which to certain members of the House looked foolish. Representative Langelier as spokesman for those who were thus minded presented a substitute bill which goes on record as House, No. 2029. The bill is as follows: "Resolved that the Highway Commission shall consider the matter of regulating by legislation and otherwise the use of aircraft and shall report at the next General Court not later than January 10 with a draft of any bill or bills that it may recommend for that purpose. This resolve was substituted on a rising vote, 73 to 23 and was passed to be engrossed by a vote of 73 to 15.

THE STRAWBERRY.

Queen of all berries is the "Strawberree"
When shouted from the huckster's team
Or when perchance its luscious red I see
Three on a shortcake, in a sea of cream.
From south or north, or from its native field
I hope its season may be long.
There best and plenty, if the vines now yield.
'Twill need no yeast to raise my song.
Ten cents a box, three for a quarter. That sounds something as it orter,
That noise is sweeter music in the street and alley than upon the farm. Where hungry children meet it means a treat. Where berries grow it sounds like an alarm.

The following recipes for using strawberries was campiled by Lillian Mason for the household and cookery department of the Salem News and may appeal to our readers.

STRAWBERRY SHORTCAKE.

When strawberries first appear in the markets the economical mother thinks of shortcake, for that is the only method of making one or two boxes "go round" the table. Later the children, if given their choice of dessert, call for strawberry shortcake even after the fine native berries come and older people enjoy their flavor and juicy ripeness in simpler form of serving. It is doubtful if any one dish can be prepared in more ways than the so-called shortcake, from the sweet and light cake in Washington pie form garnished with whipped cream flavored with vanilla, to the crisp cake shortened with butter, mixed with ice water, baked upon a griddle and served with a sauce of mashed strawberries, sugar and butter. There are indeed almost as many variations as there are cooks. Many prefer the strawberries and cream very cold while the cake is slightly warm; others serve the cake hot, the berries quite warm and cream cold.

MASHED OR CUT BERRIES.

Some prefer to mash the berries, sweetening to taste and allowing them to stand an hour or two before serving. Another way is to cut the berries in slices, sweeten slightly and use at once.

CRUSTY SHORTCAKE.

If you like a crusty shortcake it is best to serve individual cakes, using a tin top as a cutter for the dough. These small cakes are better when it happens that one or two of the family, or the children because of school hours, must be served earlier or later than the rest of the family.

BAKED AS WANTED.

All the dough may be mixed and cut at one time and the shortcakes not needed at once can be placed in the ice box until time for baking.

DELICATE SHORTCAKE.

Newly made or unsalted butter makes the most delicate shortcake and butter with the salt washed from it with ice water will give good results. If the butter is rubbed too finely into the flour the shortcake will not have a flaky look. Always have the dough as soft as it can be handled and do not pull or stretch it to fit the pan, in fact handle as little as possible.

SERVING JUICY SHORTCAKE.

If one does not own a suitable dish for serving a large shortcake it will be well to buy one for too small a platter will not allow a good amount of juice to be served without accident to the tablecloth. A deep platter with a wide rim makes an ideal dish, as it allows room for garnishing and serving. If pitcher to match can be found the shortcake service will be complete.

STRAWBERRY CHARLOTTE RUSSE

Beat one cup of thick cream until stiff, add the beaten white of one egg, two-thirds cup of powdered sugar and one cup of whole small strawberries. Line a mold with lady fingers, fill with the cream and place on ice for 30 minutes.

COLD STAWBERRY SHORTCAKE.

Cream together two tablespoonfuls of butter and a cup of powdered sugar, then add three eggs, beaten light, and a quarter of a cup of cream. Beat very hard and add a cup of flour that has been sifted twice, with a teaspoonful of baking powder. Butter layer-cake tins, pour the batter into these and bake. When done turn out to cool. Place on each layer berries that have been halved, pile the layers on top of each other, sprinkle with sugar and serve with rich cream.

STRAWBERRY MOLD.

IIn a pink of hot milk dissolve one-fourth pint of sugar, one-fourth teaspoonful of salt, one teaspoonful of butter ; set in a double boiler and when the milk is scalding hot add to it two rounding tablespoonfuls of cornstarch wet with two tablespoonfuls of cold water; cook until the mixture coats the spoon; then add one teaspoonful of vanilla and turn on to the stiffly beaten whites of two eggs, whipping until the mixture is light; turn into a crown mold and set on ice to chill. Serve with fresh berries in the center and on the outside . Pass plain cream with this dish.

Anty Drudge on Cold Lunches.

Anty Drudge—"Why, Mr. Sorrowful, what makes you sit on the doorstep?"

John Sorrowful—"I'm just waiting for Mary to hand me out a bite of cold lunch. I never go in the house on washday, it smells like a bone mill."

Anty Drudge—"Nonsense. Your wife washed with Fels-Naptha soap to-day, and it was all done two hours ago. She has a nice hot lunch for you and had time to read and play the piano besides. And there's never any boily smell when Fels-Naptha's used."

There was a woman who made a prayer to be saved from washday with all its care. Then she tried Fels-Naptha and quit praying that particular prayer. It wasn't exactly washday that she meant. What she really did mean was to be saved from boiling clothes, with its resultant nauseous steam and heat, and from back-breaking hard rubbing.

Fels-Naptha answers that kind of petition completely, if you use it the Fels-Naptha way. Follow directions on the red and green wrapper. For white clothes you'll read: Soap the clothes, roll and let them soak in cold or lukewarm water for 30 minutes. Then rub lightly, rinse, hang out on the line. No, you don't boil them; Fels-Naptha takes the place of that and hard rubbing, too.

Fels-Naptha has many other valuable uses—washing dishes for instance. You'll find directions for all on the wrapper. Be sure and follow them.

Stage Steeds.

The steed is always a difficulty in staging "Don Quixote." At the Theatre de la Gaite, in Paris, the Rosinante in Massenet's opera grew so fat under the light work and good food that it was found necessary to "paint protruding ribs on his rotund sides every night."

Irving's difficulty in London was in the other direction. He had engaged a peculiarly decrepit animal, the property of a baker, for the part, but on the morning of the rehearsal he found that it had been taken by an officer of the S. P. C. A. to Bow street, where the magistrate ordered it to be killed.

Wild Onion Place.

In a bulletin issued by the United States geological survey service giving derivations of local names in the United States is this entry: "Chicago, city and river in Illinois; the Ojibwa Indian form, 'She-Kag-Ong,' signifies 'wild onion place,' from a root form implying 'bad smell.'" Several derivations were dug up, but the definition of the word Chicago was generally admitted to be the most unpleasantly outspoken of them all, according to the Chicago Tribune.

Brockton Delegates Win Contest at Convention of Shoe Workers

St. Paul, June 21.—Nine protested delegates from local union No. 35 of Brockton, Mass., who are prominent among the so-called insurgent members, were seated by the annual convention of the International Boot and Shoe Workers' union, in session here.

While this is considered a victory by the insurgent delegates, the regulars say it was done in the interest of harmony. Despite this apparent break in the ranks of the regulars it is believed President Tobin will be re-elected.

Red Eyelids---
A Result of Eyestrain

Red, irritated or swollen eyelids are usually caused by some form of eyestrain.

Astigmatism of the eyes is the most frequent cause.

Persons having astigmatism can usually see well—do not realize that there is any imperfection in the eye. (The strain is there constantly!)

Our system of examination of the eyes demonstrates clearly as to whether you have eyestrain, and our scientifically fitted glasses will correct it!

HEALTH HINT FOR TODAY.

Balancing the Diet.

A balanced diet means one in which nitrogenous and non-nitrogenous or acid combining foods are properly combined, and to find this proper combination we have only to turn to the guide that nature has given us. For the maintenance of life it is necessary that the air we breathe should contain approximately 79 per cent nitrogen and 21 per cent oxygen. Strangely enough, the foods we eat should be gauged in about the same ratio. There should be 79 per cent of albuminous or nitrogenous foods, and there should be 21 per cent of foods that will tend to offset the ill effects or prevent the accumulation of an overabundance of the nitrogenous elements. Meats, poultry, corn, beans, peas, cereals, cheese, potatoes, etc., are among the most commonly eaten nitrogenous foods. To balance the diet satisfactorily get a good work on "foods" and find out not only what the nitrogenous substances are, but just how much nitrogen each contains. These facts once firmly impressed upon the mind, it will be an easy matter to adjust the diet to meet the necessary conditions.

WEDDING JOKERS BECOME BOISTEROUS

Two Are Shot and Groom Is Locked Up Without Bail

Newark, N. J., June 21.—J. W. Force was held without bail by Recorder Condit of East Orange on the charge of shooting Walter Leavengood and Hugh Porter, members of a party which serenaded him and his bride at their home.

Force returned from a short wedding trip and found about thirty men around his house to serenade him. He thanked them and retired. The serenaders kept it up until after midnight. Force called to them to stop. The reply was more noise and some one of the party kicked in the door of the house.

To help out the din from tin pans and horns, some of the serenaders got shotguns. These they fired over the house. Force got his own shotgun and let fly with one barrel. Leavengood was hit in the stomach and Porter received serious wounds.

No bail will be granted until it is positive that Leavengood and Porter are out of danger.

SAYS SON WAS SLAIN

Lynn Woman Suspects Well Known Man of Committing Crime

Lynn, Mass., June 21.—Residents of this city are astounded at the charge of the murder of her son, Francois, which Mrs. Marie LaPlante says she will make against a well known Lynn man. She claims that the boy was murdered by this man.

Francois LaPlante disappeared on Feb. 15, 1908. Nothing has been heard of him since that time. The mother claims that the man she accuses has been seen wearing the coat worn by her son at the time of his disappearance, and that the watch he carries has been identified as that owned by the missing man.

Harvard Beats Yale at Baseball

New Haven, June 21.—Before a hostile crowd, numbering 15,000, Harvard turned the Yale ball tossers down yesterday afternoon in the first game of the series, by the score of 8 to 2.

"My dear," wrote the love-sick man, "oh that I might feel again the press of your hand."

Three months later when the letter was read in court he realized that he had been writing for the press.

LIFE VALUED AT A NICKEL

Ten-Cent Reward of Man Whose Life Was Saved Is Spurned

Los Angeles, Cal., June 21.—According to a little business transaction which took place yesterday at Ocean Park between a life guard, Charles Bassett, and George Hagerland, after the former saved the life of the visitor, 5 cents was sufficient valuation to place upon a life.

Hagerland, who is from New York, went in beyond his depth in the surf and called for help. Bassett responded and succeeded after a struggle in bringing the man safely to shore.

Hagerland gave a dime to the man who had saved his life. Bassett accepted the coin and handed back 5 cents, with the remark: "Here's your change."

HELPED TO PUBLISH FALSE STATEMENTS

Lawyers' Charge Against Counsel In the Crippen Case

London, June 21.—Arthur Newton, the attorney for Dr. Hawley H. Crippen, who was hanged for the murder of his American wife, was found guilty of professional misconduct in connection with the notorious case by a committee of the Law society, and the divisional court was asked to "deal with him." This constitutes a request that Newton's name be stricken from the roll of solicitors of the Law society.

The charges against Newton are that he abused his privileges as a lawyer by aiding Horatio W. Bottomley, the editor of a weekly publication, and also aided The Daily Chronicle to publish false statements regarding the case. These statements, it is alleged, as well as a letter purporting to have emanated from Crippen while he was in Pentonville jail, Newton caused to be published, knowing them to be false.

CHECK ON SIGHTSEEING

Seamen's Strike Puts Four Big Vessels Out of Commission

London, June 21.—The seamen's strike is playing havoc with the plans of those who had arranged to witness the great naval review by King George at Spithead on Saturday.

In addition to the four ocean-going vessels of the Union Castle line, the sailing of which for the naval review was cancelled, the Royal Mail Steam Packet line announces that it is obliged to withdraw four big ships which had been chartered to attend the sea pageant.

These eight ships long ago sold out their entire accommodations for Saturday, and thus thousands at the last moment are deprived of the anticipated spectacle.

He will leave the hospital in a few days.

Mrs. Lea, though still in a critical condition, has rested comfortably since the ordeal.

WITH KING AND QUEEN AS HOSTS

Coronation Guests Attend a Most Regal Banquet

ROYAL GOLD PLATE IS USED

Collected For Most Part During Reign of Four Georges, Its Cost Being Estimated at $15,000,000 and Its Weight at Eight Tons—Plebeian Actors Hobnob With Royalty at Grand Shakesperian Ball

London, June 21.—The most regal banquet the palace of a king or emperor ever witnessed and a gorgeous Shakespeare ball under the auspices of noted society leaders stand forth as the shining features of the second day of coronation week.

The banquet in Buckingham palace last night was a scene of imperial grandeur, as far as the assembly of royal and eminent personages, the setting of costly magnificence and beautiful decorations could make it.

The king and queen entertained the visiting and English royalties, all the special foreign delegations, the foreign ambassadors and ministers, the officers of state and the household, the members of the cabinet and former cabinet members, the heads of the church and judiciary and of the army and the navy.

The two largest apartments in the palace, the ball room and the picture gallery which adjoin, were utilized as a banqueting hall.

On the tables was displayed the royal gold plate, used only on historic occasions, the cost of which is estimated at $15,000,000 and its weight at eight tons. This plate was for most part collected in the reigns of the four Georges.

The principal piece is a massive peacock captured in one of the Indian wars, the tail of which is studded with diamonds. Cut glass worth a fortune, ivory decanters hundreds of years old, and old wines dating back more than a century, were on the board.

The gallery holds more than 800 pictures. The decorations of both rooms are largely gilt and this background was embellished with banks of palms and ginat lilies, while orchids, roses and ferns were stacked on the tables. Yeomen of the Guard were ranged about the walls, and all the diners wore their richest uniforms, decorations, gowns and jewels.

The Shakesperian ball was held in Albert hall, which was elaborately decorated. The dancers numbered thousands, while 400 boxes were occupied by the representatives of foreign nations and the most prominent British officials. As many as twenty-nine quadrilles were danced simultaneously, the participants representing groups of characters from Shakespeare's plays. Leading actors and actresses took part in these quadrilles along with the leaders of the smart set.

These functions were only part of the day's events. In the morning the king received most of the foreign envoys informally, in the afternoon, with the queen, he went through a rehearsal of the coronation at the abbey, and later gave a special audience to John H. Hammond, who presented to the king a letter from President Taft. The king also received the Chinese, Japanese, Turkish and Persian envoys, who presented decorations from their sovereigns.

The other important events of the day included lunches to the Dominion premiers and mayors, a party by the Duke and Duchess of Devonshire and a review of the colonial troops by War Secretary Haldane.

Countless electric globes arranged into various designs illuminated the streets, which from curb to curb last night were filled with hundreds of thousands of people. Through the masses navigated every sort of vehicle imaginable, motors, busses, drays and carts filled with sightseers, advertising vans with minstrels and donkey wagons driven by costers. St. James' park and the West End club region were jammed last night to suffocation.

CLEARING OUT THE MAINE

Water In Cofferdam Is Fifteen Feet Below Sea Level

Havana, June 21.—The water in the cofferdam surrounding the wreck of the battleship Maine has been lowered fifteen feet below the sea level, uncovering a great additional area of the wreck. However, no further recovery of relics or bones was made.

The engineers intend to hold the water at this level for some days and vigorously prosecute the work of cleaning out and exploring the hull and also of stripping the upper decks of all things left standing. The cofferdam continues firm.

Boston Minister Bankrupt

Boston, June 21.—Rev. Frank L. Luce of this city filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy, stating that his assets are $850.59 and his liabilities are $20,458.97.

TICKET DESIRED BY TAFT SUPPORTERS

Borah of Idaho Their Choice For Vice President

Washington, June 21.—For President of the United States, William H. Taft of Ohio; for vice president, William E. Borah of Idaho.

This is the ticket which the leaders in the movement to have President Taft to succeed himself are working for. They are desirous of having Borah take the nomination for second place on the presidential ticket.

It is admitted on all hands that Borah would make an excellent running mate for Taft. The president admires him, despite the fact that they have clashed sharply on one or two occasions. In the fight for the direct elections amendment and other struggles in the senate Borah has proved himself the peer in capacity of the ablest men of the senate. He is one of the foremost lawyers of that body.

DISMISSED FROM SERVICE

Army Chaplain Said to Have Been Drunk at a Dance

Washington, June 21.—Chaplain Charles M. Brewer, Sixth Field Artillery, stationed at Fort Riley, Kan., has been sentenced by court martial to be dismissed from the service on charges of "conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman."

The specification involves incidents which occurred at an enlisted men's dance at the artillery exchange at Fort Riley, where, it is claimed, Brewer appeared in uniform in an intoxicated condition.

President Taft has approved the sentence of dismissal. Brewer was appointed from Alabama. He is a minister of the Baptist faith.

McCormick an Interesting Witness in Lorimer Case

HINES AND $100,000 STORY

President of Harvester Company Corroborates It and Says General Manager of His Concern Was Asked to Chip In $10,000—Noted Lawyers Will Engage In Battle—Hearing Can Take on Broad Scope

Washington, June 21.—The Lorimer investigation had its stage setting before a special committee of the United States senate in a hearing which, although it developed nothing new, yet affirmed the stability of the pivotal charge on which the most important phase of the case turned.

This was that Edward Hines, the Chicago lumberman, stated to Clarence S. Funk, gneral manager of the International Harvester company, in a room of the Union League club that "We put Lorimer over, but it cost $100,000 to do it," and asked Funk for a subscription of $10,000 to help recoup the unnamed men who had spent that sum presumably upon members of the Illinois legislature.

Cyrus H. McCormick, president of the International Harvester company, was the witness who for the first time corroborated this testimony before a senate investigating committee, and the most skillful "leading" questions that could be asked him by William J. Hynes, attorney for Edward Hines, failed to shake a word in his simple but pregnant narrative. McCormick's replies were terse and to the point, and while he volunteered nothing, he evaded nothing.

It is evident already that this sensational case is to be a battle of lawyers. The committee have retained John H. Marble of the interstate commerce commission and J. J. Healy of Chicago, who was counsel for the Helm investigating committee at Springfield. Senator Lorimer, who is alleged to have been elected by bribery, with which the name of Hines has been connected in previous investigations, will be represented by Elbridge G. Haney, who was his counsel in the first senate investigation.

Mr. McCormick told his story easily and clearly, and all attempts of counsel or committee to give color to the idea that the Harvester company or the McCormick family bore a grudge against Hines or Lorimer because of their supplied attitude toward the closing of the south branch of the Chicago river or in the successful effort of the local tax league to get more money from the company and the McCormicks, were dispassionately repudiated by the witness.

Mr. McCormick said Funk, who will testify later, is a "conservative, truthful man," who is freely entrusted with the confidences of business and who is the first man in the company anyone interested in legislative matters naturally would approach.

McCormick was hard pressed as to why he did not assist justice by making public the statement of Funk as soon as it was made to him. McCormick replied that it seemed discreditable to the company for it to be even approached in a matter of this kind and he did not want to be mixed up with it, but he added that had he then realized the pivotal character of the episode no doubt he would have looked at it differently.

Senator Kenyon demonstrated how broad a scope a hearing of this kind can take by bringing out that Charles Deering, George W. Perkins, formerly of J. P. Morgan & Co., and McCormick constituted a voting trust which directed the policies of the great International Harvester company, with its $140,000,000 of capital.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

JUDGE SIZES UP NECKTIES

Long Sentence For the Orange and Short For Green One

New York, June 21.—Judge Dike, in the county court in Brooklyn, smiled when William Kelly was arraigned before him for sentence.

"You have a tie of a most unusual color for an Irishman," the judge said, "and I shall have to give you a heavy sentence. Sing Sing for two and a half years."

William Kelly glanced at his orange tie as he made way for Patrick Kelly, who wore a green tie.

"Ah! the real article," Judge Dike remarked, with another smile. "Penitentiary for eleven months and twenty-nine days."

Both men were charged with attempted grand larceny. Henry Axiom had on no tie at all. He was sent to Elmira without comment.

New Yorker Charged With Practising Medicine Without License

New York, June 21.—Wentworth B. Winslow, a Christian Science practitioner who was arrested at the instance of the New York County Medical society on a charge of practising medicine without a license, was held for special sessions by Magistrate Kernochan in the Yorkville court.

His counsel submitted a brief, upholding the practice of healing by Christian Science, which, he declared, had converted Winslow himself from a drunkard into a healer of the church. But Kernochan decided against Winslow, concurring with the opinion recently announced by Magistrate Freschi that it was a violation of the law.

GROWS—FIFIELD.

Some surprise was occasioned in Fore River circles Tuesday when Mr. Charles Grows, who is employed as a draftsman, made the annuoncement that he is now a benedict, having several months since forsaken the bachelor ranks.

Mr. Grows visited his former home in Ellsworth, Me., in December last, presumably on a business trip. While there he was quietly wedded to Miss Sadie Fifield of that town. He then returned to his duties at Fore River and let but a few intimate friends into the secret. So well was it kept that not until its announcement was made Tuesday did the news leak out.

On account of the poor health of her parents Mrs. Grows remained with them throughout the winter, but came to Quincy on Saturday to join her husband and make her home here.

The young couple are now residing at 80 Baxter avenue, Quincy Point, where they have engaged apartments.

Mr. Grow has been kept busy receiving the congratulations of his office mates with whom he is very popular.

The news of his marriage will likewise prove a surprise to the many Quincy friends he has made during several years' residence here.

PLAN TO FIGHT WHITE PLAGUE

Provides for Isolation Hospitals for Patients

A radical change in the State's method of handling tuberculosis, and one which is expected to work a great good for the coming generation, if not stamp out the rage of this disease in the near future, is contained in three bills now before the Legislature says the Journal.

These bills will effect ever city and town in the State. They have practically the united support of the anti-tuberculosis organizations in Massachusetts. All are based on the theory of isolation.

These bills start with Senate bill 85, which provides that all cities and towns with a population of ten thousand or over shall establish and maintain within their limits a dispensary for the discovery, treatment and supervision of all persons within its district afflicted with tuberculosis, the supervision to be shared by the local boards of health and the State board.

House bill 1965 provides each city and town shall establish and constantly maintain within its limits one or more isolation hospitals for the reception of persons having diseases dangerous to the community, and including tuberculosis.

The third bill in the string was the one defeated in the house Friday, and which would allow the State Board of Health control over the tuberculosis hospitals.

The fourth bill is Senate 93, which provides a subsidy of $5 a week for each patient who is unable to pay for his support, or whose kindred bound to him by law are unable to assume the expense. The State will pay this amount over to the city or town when it is proven the patient has tuberculosis.

Physicians are agreed the isolation theory should be applied to tuberculosis. By isolating the patients in advanced stages the present larger hospitals and their great equipment can be turned over to the incipient cases.

There is no method of isolation at the present time, or there are not nearly enough sanatoriums to confine the constantly increasing army of infected persons. One patient can infect any number of persons in normal health, and it is considered for the greatest number to isolate patients in advanced stages, and treat at the regular established sanatoria the patients whose constitution has not become undermined by the process of the disease.

BIG BLOWERS LIVE LONG.

Playing Wind Instruments Doesn't Tend to Shorten Life.

Ailments of the heart and lungs have been frequently attributed by pathologists and others to the blowing of wind instruments. It has even been asserted, without any definite foundation in fact, that the cornet, trombone or oboe player is "blowing his lungs away" and will die before his time.

Dr. Forchelmer in his "Prophylaxis and Treatment of International Diseases" shows the fallacy of this belief. He states emphatically that "just as many players of stringed instruments have emphysema as players of wind instruments," and after a long experience of musicians he has come to the conclusion that "neither emphysema nor its predisposition is a result of their occupation."

To determine statistically the effects on longevity of playing upon wind instruments Dr. James F. Rogers consulted Grove's "Dictionary of Music and Musicians" and Champlin's "Cyclopedia of Music and Musicians" and calculated the average age of 100 performers upon wind instruments and of a like number upon stringed instruments. The average length of life of players upon wind instruments was 63.5 years and of players upon stringed instruments 62 years. Of the former 34 per cent reached ages above 70 years.

For the different wind instruments the average ages were as follows: Flute, 61.2 years; oboe, 63 years; bassoon, 63 years; horn, 64.4 years; clarinet, 65.2 years; trumpet and cornet, 69.1 years. It is interesting that the players on wind instruments who exert the greatest intra-pneumatic pressure—namely, performers on the trumpet and cornet—were the longest lived, while the players who exert the least pressure, the flutists, were the shortest.—New York World.

YACHT CLUB HOP.

The first hop of the season held at the Quincy Yacht club Tuesday evening brought out a large number of piazza yachtsmen and others who spent a very enjoyable evening on the floor of the clubhouse piazzas.

Commodore Whitemore piped all hands to muster and from four bells till the time of departure of the last car for the Centre all had a wonderful good time. The terrific thunder storm did not frighten the brave mariners and their friends and the attendance was especially large. The next hop on June 27 is awaited with much expectancy.

—Letters from the people on how to observe July 4 are being published in the Boston Journal. One patriotic citizens suggests that the day he spent in close communion with God, giving thanks that so great a nation as ours has been preserved for another year. That would be a safe and sane celebration but not one that would meet with public approval says the Mansfield News.

SPORTING NOTES.

In the final round of the B. A. A. golf championship C. M. Hart defeated V. M. Smith by 5 up and 3 to go. The first nine holes were well played Hart making a 38 and Smith 43. Coming home the scores were much higher but Hart lead all the way.

George Sullivan of this city running for South Boston A. C., has entered the 440 yard run at the championship games to be held at Tech field on Saturday.

—Postmaster General Hitchcock likes to work in a luxuriously appointed office. It recently cost $4,000 to furnish one room in his elaborate suite. His economy plan is for others to use. As head of the department he should of course occupy a well furnished office, b ut he has no need of mahogany desks and chairs, oil paintings, Turkish rugs and the like. It is such extravagance as this that costs our government millions of dollars each year—Mansfield News.

Will be Well Worth Seeing. Nothing Like it Ever Before in Quincy

Several Special Devices in Program of Over 100 Numbers

The grand display of fireworks which will wind up Quincy's Fourth of July celebration will be the best display of the kind ever given in any city. Last year's display was pronounced one of the best ever seen in Quincy but this year the National Fireworks Manufacturing Co., promises to do even better than a year ago. The full program of the display as accepted by the committee is as follows and it will be seen there are a number of especially constructed set pieces that will be well worth while seeing.

One half hour before the display is scheduled to take place a flash and sound signal will be fired, which can be heard for miles.

A discharge of ten aerial guns at intervals of thirty seconds will denote the opening of the display proper.

GRADUATION EXERCISES QUINCY HIGH SCHOOL

Diplomas Presented by Chairman of School Committee To 91 Graduates

Essays by Honor Pupils and Brilliant Address by Dr. Charles A. Prosser on "Play the Game"

A class of 91 young men and women was sent out into the "wide, wide world" from Quincy high school last evening at the conclusion of the 59th year of the existence of the school. The exercises opened with a song by the High school chorus, "Pilgrim's Chorus" from Wagner's opera "Tannhauser." Miss Helen Farwell was the first speaker and the audience was very much pleased with her exposition of 'Grandmothers school days." Frederick Sutermeister followed with a dissertation on 'The American Indian of today"" which was very illuminating and gave the audience a new conception of the ""real American."

The high school chorus sang again giving "The Gypsy Chorus" from Balfe's "Bohemian Girl."

Miss Clara V. Bushnell spoke next on the topic "Beauty about Us" making a plea for a deeper appreciaton of the every day things in our life which have attributes of real beauty if we but recognize it.

Paul Blackmur spoke on "The Ancient Ship" giving the origin and the early history of the development of sailing craft.

All four speeches by these honor pupils were well written and well delivered and the youthful essayists are to be commended for their work.

After the High school had sung "A Moonlight Boat Ride" from Verdi's "Il Trovatore," Dr. Charles A. Prosser, deputy commissioner of education in Massachusetts, was introduced by James D. Howlett, head master of the school. Dr. Prosser gave a splendid address on the subject "Play the Game" in which he presented to the young people ideals of living and serving inthe years that are to come.

"Life," he said, "is a game not unlike those we used to play when we were children. There are the moments of stress and the intermissions, the periods of joy and of disappointment, the victories and the defeats in life just as there are in the games and I want to urge you tonight, to "play the game." Following out the simile of "the game" he urged the young people to be prepared for one cannot win the game if he is not prepared. Another thing that is necessary is co-operation. Without it, failure is liable to come no matter how hard we try to avert it. We must play the game hard and fearlessly and if we would insure success we must abide by the rules. The man who keeps just within the pale of the law, who contrives only to keep out of jail is going to stand less show in the next ten years than he has heretofore. The people are getting a larger conscience and it is going to be much harder to do wrong and not get found out. The bank cashier will be under stricter supervision, the millionaire will likewise have to give a more careful account of himself. Today, the legislature is go to the man with money and say: "How did you get it?" And the rich man has to tell. There is a better chance today for the man who will play the game than ever before. Despite the trusts and corporations the man who can do things, or as the slang expression goes, the man who can "deliver the goods" is bound to win. Another thing we should remember is this, that we should not neglect the "unseen" for the "seen." In illustrating this point, Dr. Prosser told of the Patagonians who were taught how to plow and plant by the Jesuit missionaries and after the latter had gone ate the oxen which had been given them. They chose the seen instead of the unseen and lost by it for they starved by the thousands the next winter. Every parent who sends his children through school even at the cost of considerable personal sacrifice is placing the unseen above the seen and he will profit by it in the days to come. In closing his address he referred to that splendid poem, "The Spirit of the Game" which summarized the principal points of his address. Forgetting oneself in the stress of the game, throwing all ones energy and enthusiasm into it and abiding by the rules one cannot fail to reap a rich reward. The grandest thing in the world is service of other people. Let us play the game so that we may not only win the victory for ourselves but may help the other fellow to win his victory also.

After the singing of two more song by the high school chorus, "March of the Toreadors" and "Silent Now the Drowsy Birds," the diplomas were presented by John L. Miller, chairman of the school committee. In presenting them he impressed upon the young people that these were not rewards for service but reminders of what they owed the city for giving them their education.

The program was concluded with the singing of the class song "Forth we go" the words of which were writ-

GRAND CELEBRATION FOR FOURTH ASSURED

Sums Decided Upon for Sports, Parade, and Children's Entertainment

Committee on Sports Announce Events and Prizes to be Given

A largely attended meeting of the general committee on the Fourth of July celebration was held Wednesday evening in the rooms of the Board of Trade, showing that interest in the coming celebration is on the increase. Eugene R. Stone, president of the general committee presided, and considerable business of importance was transacted.

A communication from the Independent Order of America degree team was received stating that they desired to enter the parade. The communication was referred to the committee on parade.

The president read the letters from Senator Lodge, one of which stated that the cruiser Salem or Chester would be in Quincy water for the parade and the second that owing to previous plans President Taft would be unable to be in Quiny at the celebration.

Galen Vinton Bowditch told of his work collecting funds and announced that he had raised up to the present time the sum of $180 and that there was more coming. It was also reported that up to the present time about $100 had been subscribed in Ward Two.

Chairman Richards of Ward Three said that he had divided his ward into districts and that his canvassers would begin active work today. His arrangement of collectors is as follows:

John A. Harlan, Liberty square, Taber and Columbia streets.

William Farquharson, Pleasant and Marsh streets.

John Capacilli, south side of Centre and Albertina streets.

Robert B. Craig, all north of Water street from the depot.

James M. Cantfill, all south of Water street from the depot.

J. B. Grossman, Water street from depot to Brewer's corner.

Peter Swanson, Granite street and east side of Centre street.

George A. Bolster, around Brewer's corner.

Peter Zola and John Maranigli general among the Italian residents.

James H. Elcock for Ward Four reported, that ward would do fully as well as last year.

Word was also received from Mr. Tobey at Wollaston stating that a systimatic canvass was being made in that ward.

It was announced that a meeting of the general committee would be held Saturday evening and at that time all collection committees were requested to be able to report in full.

On motion of A. L. Whitman it was voted that a parade of the drum corps be held next Wednesday evening, with red fire and carrying placards urging all to come to the headquarters and deposite their mite.

On motion of James H. Elcock it was voted to appropriate the following sums, provided the necessary money can be raised, of which there now seems to be no doubt.

Sports $350.
Balloon ascension, $125.
Children's entertainment, $100.
Advertising $100.
Parade $300.

HONESTY IN EVERYTHING

Charlie Taft was hurt pole vaulting, but if he is ever going to climb as high as his father, he must have a vaulting ambition.

Mr. Taft at Yale Commencement next week. Will he have the self control not to get out with the old grads, when they go round in the night singing "How dry I am?"

They are trying to popularize the Congressional Record by making the price $1 a year. We should like to subscribe, but fear that the children would abandon all serious reading for this frivolous literature.

Now a 24 story hotel for New York. If the proprietor wakes up at 2 A. M., and wonders if the front door was locked, he'll have a long distance to walk down in his night shirt if the elevator boy is asleep.

HAPPY, GLORIOUS AND PATRIOTIC

A happy, glorious and truly patriotic Fourth of July is something to try for that makes the merely "safe and sane" movement seem adsolutely prosaic in comparison,— desirable as reforms even to that extent would be. It is fitting that Philadelphia should have developed the ambition to bring its observation of the nation's birthday up to the heights suggested by these phrases. And there would seem to be good chances that it will be able to consummate its desire in this direction. Certainly the movement is calculated to prove how well the school children will stand by their word or at least how good is their judgment. How large a part of the responsibility for the usual noise and commotion and disaster of the old Fourth belonged to them, and how great is their influence with the older folks at home.

For the movement for a happy, glorious and truly patriotic Fourth in Philadelphia has begun in t he schools and promises to have the endorsement of the great mass of school children. It has taken the form of a declaration —the Junior Declaration of Independence—being circulated for signatures in public, private and parochial schools with the approval of the authorities, to this effect:

Whereas, the Fourth of July, known as Independence day, is our nation's birthday—a day which should be gloriously celebrated and filled with patriotic rejoicing; and

Whereas, the celebrations of Independence day as heretofore conducted have resulted in losses, through fire, of millions of dollars' worth of property, serious injuries to thousands and in death to many hundreds of children of our country; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we, the future citizens of America, hereby declare our independence of the dangerous methods of celebrating our nation's birthday, and agree to celebrate the coming Fourth of July in a manner that will render this anniversary happy, glorious and truly patriotic.

This is a declaration every rational person would willingly subscribe to. In their own minds the rational people of all communities will subscribe to it, and adhere to it.—New Bedford Standard.

GRADUATES SEARCH FOR JOB

The first taste of the cold realities of life comes to many school and college graduates now. Hereto a Providence known as Dad, who by some magic has collected money in a mysterious fashion in a place known as the Office, has attended to tradesmen, who have a habit of demanding compensation for your clothes and other necessities at incovenient moments. But somehow, Dad, for reasons not clearly stated, feels that the time has come for a change.

When our fathers were brought up on a farm, they could do carpentering and raise potatoes by the time they quit school. They were about ready to get a man's pay.

The modern youngster, unless he attended a technical school, never did anything that is of assistance in an office of a factory. How then may he convince the proprietor thereof that he can do anything that needs to be done?

Let him reflect that when he makes an application for work, his prospective employer is keenly scrutinizing him for surface indications, as to polished, to appear with his chin ordeveloped into anything worth paying for. To be five minutes late at an appointment, to wear shoes not well polished, to appear with his chin ornamented by the downy fringes of an incipient beard, will hurt him more than he can be helped by all athletic and scholastic laurels that a human being can capture in a university course.

GRAND CELEBRATION

mittee the use of its band stand for the f ourth and it was voted to accept the offer and that the thanks of the committee be given to the Merchants association.

It was voted that if possible to have the bells in the several churches rung on the morning of the Fourth at 8.30 when the parade started and Robert B. Craig was appointed a committee to arrange to have this done.

The committee then adjourned until Saturday evening at 7.30 and it is hoped that all committees will be represented at this meeting ready to report.

BRITAIN'S RULER IS CROWNED

George V. Formally Ascends Throne

LONDON'S GREAT DAY

Marvelous Scene Enacted In Westminster Abbey

THEIR MAJESTIES CHEERED

Hundreds of Thousands Celebrated the Imposing Event

London, June 22.—King George was today crowned amid scenes that surpassed any that have marked previous coronations. The program adhered strictly to the arrangements.

In anticipation of the day's event large crowds were early in the streets, along the Strand and around Westminster abbey. Many remained up all night in the hope of getting a good vantage point from which to see the regal procession. Festoons, flags and streamers were everywhere, and the coronation route was lavishly decorated with masses of color. Stand speculators did a thriving business.

KING GEORGE V
In His Coronation Robes

The abbey began to fill several hours before the time set for the coronation service. As the distinguished personages were conducted to their allotted seats the opera glasses in the gallery critically examined the gowns and jewels. Such a display of jewels never before was seen at a court ceremony.

The procession of their majesties in their coach from Buckingham palace, the home of Britain's king and queen, to Westminster abbey, where the coronation service took place, was without special incident.

The service in the abbey began with the reconsecration of the regalia. As the king and queen came in sight the archbishop of Canterbury took his seat in front of the coronation chair. The queen passed to the left of the throne and to her chair. Then the king appeared, bowed to the queen as he passed her and knelt in prayer before his chair in front of the throne.

The king stood while the archbishop read the recognition, or election, beginning, "Sirs, I here present unto you King George, the undoubted king of this realm," etc. The king and queen knelt while the archbishop said the communion service, and the singing of the Creed followed.

Next came the administration of the oath. The archbishop, standing before the king's chair, asked, "Sir, is your majesty willing to take the oath?" The king answered, "I am willing," and signed the oath.

After the archbishop's anointing prayer the sword, armillae and all were delivered to the king, according to the program. The choir started "God Save the King," and this was the signal which started bell ringing, gun firing and shouting throughout the city's streets.

The Bible having been presented, the king knelt to receive the benediction. He then walked to the great throne, where the archbishop, Prince of Wales and nobles knelt and paid homage.

The queen's crowning was brief and simple. She left her chair and proceeded to the altar steps, where she was quickly crowned by the archbishop of York. She was then led to the throne beside that in which the king sat. She bowed to him, and both walked to the altar and received the communion.

The service was completed with the singing of the "Te Deum."

Salutes and massed bands playing "God Save the King" marked the departure of their majesties from the abbey. The procession returned to the palace by a more circuitous route than that taken in going to the abbey in order to afford a view to additional hundreds of thousands.

As the king and queen rode through the streets' jubilation was unrestrained, and the crowds kept parading the streets for hours afterward.

Both the king and queen bore the fatiguing ceremony well. While the coronation was being solemnized messages of congratulation poured in from all over the world.

The state carriage in which King George proceeded to the coronation has carried five of his predecessors to the abbey on a similar occasion. It was built 150 years ago, in 1761, for King George III, and its body, which weighs over four tons, is of fine oak, with allegorical paintings by Cipriani on the panels. Its initial cost was $35,000. George IV, William IV, Victoria and Edward VII also rode in it to their coronations. It was drawn by

TRADE IN QUINCY

THE PLANS FOR FIREMEN'S DAY

Chief Williams Plans for Saturday Parade

There was an unusual large crowd in City Square Wednesday evening at the band concert by the National band who rendered an excellent program from the stand, which last evening was located in front of the Bethany church. The band will also give a concert tonight from the same location.

Local stores report having had a good trade Wednesday and in the evening they did a rushing business especially those who sold soft drinks and ice cream.

The grand day of the week will be Saturday and from the plans now made by Chief Engineer Williams the parade of the fire department will be in the way of a novelty, for it will show what a few years has done toward revolutionizing the method of fighting fires.

Two of the interesting features of the parade will be old Granite hand tub and the old Lovell chemical. The Granite will be drawn by a crew of twenty men headed by Warren Dunbar, who joined the old Tiger 60 years ago, and who is now nearly 80 years of age. On the seat will ride another old fire veteran in the person of Stephen Hobart now 86 years of age and who became a member of the old Tiger company 70 years ago.

The Lovell chemical will be drawn by a company of eight men and on the seat will ride Benjamin King an old Boston veteran fireman and the last captain of the Lovell company who is also nearly 80 years of age. Warren Dunbar will carry the old Tiger trumpet.

The several pieces of apparatus will assemble near the High school, and at 2 o'clock Box 26 will be sounded on the fire alarm circuit. This will be a signal for the parade to start. The route of the parade is up Hancock street to Cottage avenue, through Cottage avenue, to Chestnut street, to Hancock street to Temple street to Washington street around the fountain to near the head of Granite street.

The formation of the parade will be as follows:

Chief Aid Warren Dunbar
Granite No. 3.
Lovell Chemical
Chief Engineer Peter J. Williams
Assistant Engineers, Frank C. Packard, Daniel J. Nyhan, James P. Fillon.
Auto Combination
Steamer No. 1.
Combination No. 1.
Combination H. & L. No. 1.
Hose No. 4.
Hose No. 3.
Hook and Ladder No. 3.
Combination No. 3.
Combination No. 2.
Hose No. 2.
Combination Ladder No. 2.

When the parade returns to City Square the brakes of the old Granite will be manned and three streams played. The steamer will then go into action and will play through the water tower and gun.

This over three blows will be sounded on the fire alarm which will be a signal for the apparatus to return to quarters.

FOSTER—COLGAN.

At the home of her mother Mrs. Carrie M. Colgan of Highland avenue on Wednesday evening Miss Alice Mildred Colgan became the bride of Charles Francis Foster. Mr. Foster is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Foster is the son Quincy Point where he is well known and very popular.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Wesley Wiggin paster of the Wollaston Methodist church, the double ring service being used. The wedding march was played by Mrs. A. B. Foster of Quincy Point, sister in law of the groom. Frederick Wright Jr., of Neponset was best man.

The bride looked fetching in a gown en train of white satin and princess lace with veil caught with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and white sweet peas. As bridesmaid Miss Frances Margaret Colgan was sweet in a costume of yellow messaline, carrying Killarney roses.

The decorations were of bayberry and roses, making a most attractive scene. Following a wedding journey the happy pair will be at home to their friends at 68 Winthrop avenue, Wollaston, after October 1st.

LAWN PARTY.

A largely attended lawn party was held Wednesday evening on the grounds of John McTiernan on Common street and was given in aid of the Common street table at coming lawn party in aid of St. Mary's church. The grounds were brilliantly illuminated and there was dancing during the entire evening. Those in charge were Miss Susie Pickering who was assisted by Miss Louise Egan, Misses Nellie, Louise and Mary Pickering, Miss Mary Dinneen, Mrs. Eclia Lorandeau and Miss Helen Shea.

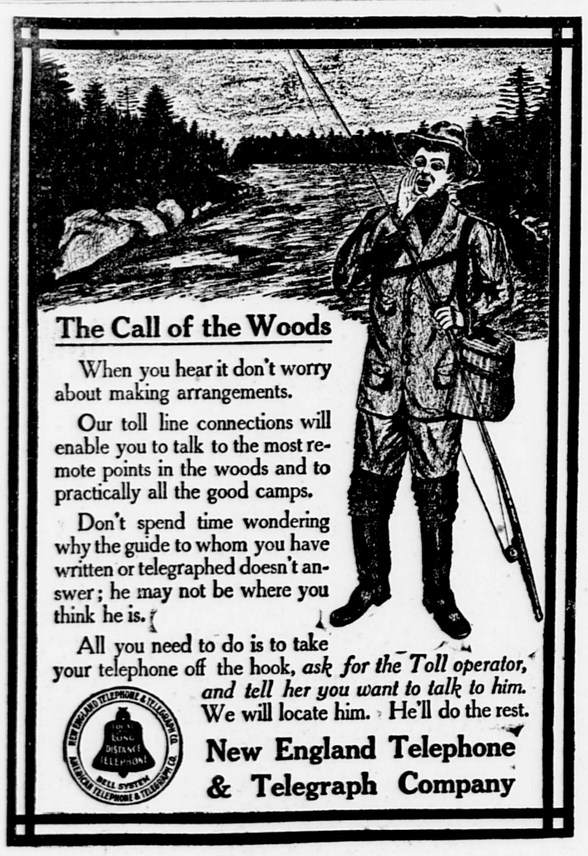

ELECTED DELEGATE.

George W. Gragg of Packard street, Quincy Point was reelected delegate to the national encampments of Sons of Veterans by the Maine division, Sons of Veterans. This is the tenth consecutive year Mr. Gragg has been chosen delegate. The National encampment will be held in Rochester, N. Y. this year beginning August 21.

Living Portrait of Mark Twain.

A singular story comes from a small town in Pennsylvania. On April 21, 1910, a cow was born on a farm near Alburtis at almost the identical moment when Mark Twain died at his home in Connecticut. On her right side, outlined in dark brown against a snow white background, is a profile bust of that author. The likeness, which was plain at the birth of the calf, has grown more and more distinct until it is now impossible to fail to identify the well known features. Naturally the cow was named Mark Twain. It is safe to say that the great humorist would have appreciated this joke of nature at his expense.

☞Outing of Quincy Chapter No. 88, Order of the Eastern Star, June 24th at Nantasket Beach. Members and friends will leave the Square at Quincy at three o'clock P. M. All wishing to return with the party on special cars will meet at the entrance of Paragon Park at Seven o'clock that the committee may know the number of those wishing to return. June 22-2t

The store of Henry Coran was entered by burglars sometime during Wednesday night. The store is located on the corner of West and Willard street and Mr. Coram lives over the store. FAIRBANKS CHALLENGED.

J. M. Studebaker Wants a Match at Pitching Horseshoes.

Former Vice President Fairbanks has been challenged by John M. Studebaker, head of the Studebaker corporation of South Bend, Ind., for the national championship at horseshoe pitching. If Mr. Fairbanks accepts, the contest will take place at Indianapolis June 24 during the visit of the Indiana Society of Chicago.

The Chicago end of the program is being arranged by George Ade and other Indiana authors who are members of the society. Last year the society held its annual picnic at the home of Ade at Kentland. Mr. Fairbanks defeated all comers at pitching horseshoes, but some of the authors insisted that his opponents were handicapped because of his height and reach.

Mr. Studebaker is said to be an expert at pitching horseshoes. John Ade, father of George Ade, is to be his teammate. Mr. Fairbanks will have a teammate, but he has not been named. Each contestant furnishes his own horseshoes and selects his teammate.

JEFF DAVIS PRAISED.

Captain de Leon Declares Confederacy President Was Lincoln's Superior.

That Jefferson Davis, president of the Confederacy, was superior to Abraham Lincoln in every respect and that had the positions of Lincoln and Davis been reversed Davis would "have crushed Lincoln in one week" were the assertions made by Captain P. M. de Leon in a speech before the United Daughters of the Confederacy at Washington at exercises in honor of Davis' birthday. Captain de Leon said that in his opinion Davis had never received proper recognition for his talents and work.

"Mr. Davis," said Captain de Leon, "has been made a scapegoat for the hate of some radicals. He has been held up by some lying historians of the north as an arch traitor, an agitator and a cruel man. No fouler words were ever spoken, and no man ever waged war on as high a plane of humanity as did Davis. The American world bows down to Lincoln, but he was not the man he is said to have been."

Captain de Leon was an officer in the Confederate navy and later was consul at Guayaquil, Ecuador. He resigned from the consular service following a controversy with President Roosevelt.

Such Proof as This Should Convince Any Quincy Citizen.

The public endorsement of a local citizen is the best proof that can be produced. None better, none stronger can be had. When a man comes forward and testifies to his fellow-citizens, addresses his friends and neighbors, you may be sure he is thoroughly convinced or he would not do so. Telling one's experience when it is for the public good is an act of kindness that should be appreciated. HEALTH HINT FOR TODAY.

A Nourishing Cereal.

Cornmeal porridge and milk is a nourishing and altogether a wholesome food if the liability to swallow it without much mastication be avoided, especially when there is a tendency to constipation. The porridge should be made thick, boiled for ten minutes in a double boiler and finished by four or five hours in the fireless cooker, when it should be solid, inducing mastication more than thin wheat preparations. Cornmeal can be ground from the cob on a common grater, but care should be taken not to grind so close as to include pieces of the cob. A fresh, coarser, more wholesome meal can be made in this way, which, if cooked long and slowly and thoroughly masticated, is preferable to any other cereal preparation.

HEIRESS IS BRIDE OF FORMER CHAUFFEUR

Harris Weds Miss Harper After a Sensational Chase

York Beach, Me., June 22.—Mrs. Grace Velie Harper, heiress to $6,000,000, after a pursuit race which led through every state in the union, many European countries, Japan and the Orient, in which she and her coachman-chauffeur, Sidney Harris, were sought by the latter's wife, who sued for $150,000 for alienation of Harris' affections, has become the latter's wife.

The ceremony was performed at a week-end party at the summer home of the bride here. Only a few close friends of the couple attended.

Mrs. Harris lived formerly in Pasadena, Cal., although she has also stayed for long periods of time in New York, Boston, Chicago and Moline, Ills. While there she employed Harris as coachman, and then the trouble commenced.

The marriage would indicate, the friends of the couple say, that all has been arranged to the satisfaction of the former Mrs. Harris and, in fact, all concerned. Mr. and Mrs. Harris left immediately on an extended wedding trip, intending to return here late in the summer.

"She handles like a catboat," remarked Pilot Adler, as he relinquished the wheel with the fastening of the last hawser.

President Speaks of Recent Anti-Trust Law Decisions

PRAISE FOR SUPREME COURT

Its Rulings In Oil and Tobacco Cases Have Done and Will Continue to Do Good to Country's Business Men—Standard of Their Future Action Is Made Clear—Hadley Comes In For Compliment For His Patriotism

New Haven, June 22.—In a speech at the Yale alumni luncheon here President Taft made his first public comment on the decisions of the United States supreme court in the Standard Oil and American Tobacco company cases.

The president made it clear that in his opinion these decisions have cleared the way so that all honest and intelligent business men can proceed without fear of the Sherman anti-trust law under which the government proceeded so successfully against the oil and tobacco corporations.

The president expressed the belief that much of the doubt, that in the minds of many business men and lawyers hung about that law, has been dispelled at last and that business all over the country will be greatly benefited thereby.

In leading up to his remarks about the trust decisions, the president took occasion once again to reiterate his conviction that the supreme court of the United States is the balance wheel of this government.

Associate Justice Lamar, who had just received the degree of doctor of laws, sat on the platform with the president, spoke to the Yale men just before him, and listened with evident interest to the latter's glowing eulogy of the court.

"The country has hung upon the decisions of that court," said the president, "in respect of a statute, the construction of which has given great concern to the business and other communities of this country. I believe those decisions have done, and will continue to do, great good to all the business of the country, and have laid down a line of distinction which it is not difficult for honest and intelligent business men to follow.

They have said that that statute applies to conspiracy and attempts to restrain trade which are undue or unreasonable because their intent and effect is partly or wholly to monopolize, to exclude or suppress competition, and to control prices, and not to combinations or associations in the normal development of business where there may be some incidental restraint that was not the object of the combination or the association. Therefore, it becomes largely a question of fact and a question of conscience with the business community, that they can well follow and make the standard of their future action.

"I want to lay my tribute at the feet of President Hadley of the university," said the president in conclusion. "He is building Yale to greater and greater eminence and influence. He is the hardest worked man in the country. And yet, when I have had problems of difficulty that needed his clear, analytical mind, and his power over economic problems, and called him to help me in the work of months he did not hesitate to come and help me out. We look for a report from his commission (railroads) before congress meets next fall, which shall elucidate one of the most difficult problems that congress has to deal with. It is that sense of service to country that, as the head of Yale, of course he ought to have, but that is a different thing from saying that he does have it; but I know he does and you do, too."

PARDON FOR THREE

Men Convicted of Peonage Will Also Have Fines Remitted

Washington, June 22.—President Taft has ordered the immediate release of W. S. Harlan, C. C. Hilton and S. E. Huggins of the Jackson Lumber company of Lockhart, Ala., who are now serving sentences in Atlanta penitentiary for peonage. Formal action commuting their sentences, to expire immediately, and remitting their fines, will be issued in a day or two.

The president showed executive clemency to the men at the request of Senator Fletcher of Florida, who has been active in their behalf for some time.

A LITTLE REBEL

By ALBERT TUCKER KENYON

Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

In the spring of 1863, when the Federal General Rosecrans was confronting the Confederate General Bragg at Murfreesboro, Tenn., I was a captain in the —th Ohio regiment of that army. One morning while I was officer of the picket post deployed on either side of the turnpike leading directly south a young girl of fifteen or sixteen came to me and asked me to let her go through the lines to her home, which she said was about a mile down the pike. I told her that I had no authority to do so, but if she would go to headquarters very likely she would get a pass.

She said that she had been to headquarters, but the general was busy and she was pressed for time. She had come up to town to get some medicine a doctor had prescribed for her mother, who was at the point of death. She looked so distressed, turning a pair of heavenly blue eyes upon me beseechingly, that I was sorely tempted to disobey orders and let her go through. War is very hard on the people of the country where the armies are contending, and I confess I had no stomach for that part of it. The girl saw I was weakening and exercised all her persuasive faculties upon me.

"While I am waiting here," she wailed, wringing her hands, "mother may be dying."

The brutality of keeping her under the circumstances was a little more than I could bear. It was several miles back to the town where were the army headquarters, the girl looked tired, and two or three hours would necessarily be consumed if I forced her to go there to make another application for a pass.

"Can you see your house from here?" I asked.

"You can just see the chimney over the hill. There it is, on the right side of the turnpike."

"I'll go with you."

I expected an outburst of gratitude. Instead she threw up her hands in protest.

"Not for the world would I get you into trouble. A Confederate vedette is stationed on the road right in front of our house. You would be captured."

Her unwillingness to implicate me enhanced my desire to serve her, but it also tended to add to my uncertainty as to what to do. My orders were to let no one go beyond our line who did not have a pass. To disobey such an order would render me liable to a very severe punishment. But I was young and full of chivalry. Would it not be better for me to take the risk upon myself than keep this poor girl from carrying medicine to her dying mother? My offer to accompany her was that I might be able to state that I had not let her out of my keeping while beyond our lines. Since it was evident from what she told me as to the proximity of the vedette that this plan would not serve I was at a loss to decide what other course to pursue.

The girl kept wringing her hands and moaning till she almost set me wild with indecision between the dictates of my heart and my duty.

"If I let you go," I said to her, "and it is known by my superiors I shall be court martialed and doubtless suffer some severe penalty."

She stood for a moment thinking, then said: "Suppose I start to run. You follow me and at last give up the chase."

"No," I said. "I will either let you go through openly, disobeying orders, or not at all."

"Oh, do let me go!" she pleaded. "While you are detaining me you are withholding from my mother what may save her."

"Well," I said at last, "I'll risk it. Go ahead."

She gave me a grateful look, and I saw in it at the same time something of pain or regret. I was looking her straight in the face, on each side of which were two puffs such as were in vogue in women's hairdressing at the time. These puffs were, I believe, usually rolled over something to give them their shape. There was a break in the puff on one side of the girl's head, and a thin line of something white, over which it had been rolled, was visible.

A suspicion struck me.

"One moment," I said.

I reached for the puff and held on to it till I had taken out some crumpled white paper. Smoothing it out, I saw on it writing and figures. A brief examination showed me that it embraced estimates of each division of our Army of the Cumberland, giving its exact position.

"This is the medicine," I said to the girl, "that you are carrying to your sick mother."

There was no reply, only a look of disappointment and vexation that her scheme had failed.

"Corporal," I cried, "take this girl in to general headquarters and this paper also. Say that the girl was trying to get through the lines with it." Then to the girl, "You must have a seared conscience to practice such deception."

"Not at all," she replied. "I was trying to help our cause and thousands of our people and our brave boys. I am sorry I failed."

"And I rejoice that you did. Next time I shall not be so chicken hearted."

I never heard if she were punished; probably not. The next day we moved out on the Tullahoma campaign.

WEEKS LAW MAY BE NULLIFIED

Whole Appalachian Project In Danger, Says Pinchot

DILATORY METHODS CHARGED

Director Smith of Geological Survey Blamed For Loss of Opportunity to Purchase White Mountain Land—$1,000,000 Already Lost and $2,000,000 Will Go Same Way If No Takings Are Made by July First

Washington, June 22.—Gifford Pinchot, in a scathing criticism of George O. Smith, director of the United States geological survey, to be published soon in American Conservation, brings to a head the issue of the Appalachian forest reserve.

He charges that Smith, by dilatory methods, has made it impossible for the commission appointed under the Weeks bill to contract for lands in the White mountain region, thus losing to the project hundreds of thousands of dollars which must revert to the treasury, if not expended before July 1, 1911, under a decision of the comptroller of the treasury; and he further charges that the director is using for the purpose of making topographic and geologic maps in the southern Appalachians money which congress intended for the purchase of lands and for expenses necessary to purchase wisely.

"Unless Director Smith is driven from his position by public protests or the action of his superior officers," says the former forester, "it is extremely doubtful whether any considerable area of land can be purchased within one or even within two years. Indeed, it would be possible to stretch the kind of examination now begun over the entire period of the life of the law, and so defeat it altogether. If Smith for any reason whatever had deliberately undertaken to nullify the effect of the Weeks bill his conduct could not have been better adapted to that end."

The point of this serious insinuation is made apparent when it is realized that the appropriations lapse at the rate of $2,000,000 a year if they are not used. The delay of congress in failing to pass the Weeks bill until last spring cost the project $1,000,000, the expenditure authorized in the bill for 1910, and $2,000,000 more will be lost July 1 if not takings are made meantime. From present indications none can me made before the present fiscal year closes.

The Appalachian project could not be in a more unsatisfactory condition than the closing days of the fiscal year finds it. In accordance with the provisions of the Weeks act, a commission was appointed to carry out the provisions of the law. This commission has worked faithfully and no criticism of its work or purpose is heard from any quarter.

Its most recent meeting was held in Washington last Monday, when the forest service reported upon about 90,000 acres in the northern and southern Appalachian region as available for purchase and the geological survey turned up with its approval of two tracts of land in the southern states and nothing at all in the Whitie mountains.

The law prescribed that before purchases can be made the areas must be approved by the geological survey as important to the protection of navigation, hence the commission would turn its official attention only to the two tracts in the south.

It is stated that the extent of the effort of the geological survey to examine conditions in the White mountains has been to send there one of its experts, who returned to Washington within a few days with the information that he had established two stream gauges in that region. Experts outside the survey state that years would be required to take readings of these gauges which would be of any benefit to science.

New York, June 22.—After a conference between officials of most of the coastwise steamship lines and the representatives of the striking seamen, F. P. Griffin, vice president of the International Seamen's union, said that the strike was at an end.

Both sides had yielded some points, he said, but the companies yielded the chief requests of the men and only minor details remained to be adjusted. No statement was issued in behalf of the companies.

Help for All

Andrew Carnegie once suggested as an epitaph for his own tombstone what he said was the secret of his success: "Here lies a man who surrounded himself with men abler than himself."

Many able people are working for you, scientists, inventors, manufacturers, all trying to make something you want. Do you use their brains and their efforts—"surround yourself with them"—or do you plod along by yourself, years behind the times?

Take your own home. Have you your share of modern improvements there—money-saving, labor-saving, health-promoting? One of the most important of these is a New Perfection Oil Cook-stove.

A New Perfection stove never overheats a kitchen. It saves your strength. It saves fuel and time. With the New Perfection oven with the glass doors you can go on with your ironing or any other work, and still be sure at a glance the joint is roasting properly.

Made with 1, 2 and 3 burners, with long, turquoise blue enameled chimneys. Handsomely finished throughout. The 2- and 3-burner stoves can be had with or without a cabinet top, which is fitted with drop shelves, towel racks, etc.

eight of the celebrated cream horses from the royal stables, and a groom in state livery walked at each horse's head. The harness, which is covered with red morocco leather, with gold plated metal facings, was the same as was used at Queen Victoria's diamond jubilee and at Edward VII's coronation in 1902.

The king wore his crimson robes during the impressive ceremony of the recognition. For the ceremony of the anointing the crimson robes and cap of state were removed, and as he sat in the historic coronation chair he wore the underjacket of cloth of gold embroidered with palm branches and colobium sindonis and the supertunica, or close pall of cloth of gold, together with a girdle of the same." When the spurs had been presented and the king had been girt with a sword he was invested with the imperial mantle of cloth of gold and the armilla, or bracelets of gold, edged with pearls and ornamented with arpa, roses and flours-de-lis. In these handsome vestments he was crowned and enthroned.

The queen looked exquisite in her coronation dress of deep ivory duchess satin cut in princess style. The embroidery was of gold thread of varying tints, giving a delicate light and shade. A rose, shamrock and thistle in the form of a tree tapered toward the waist and widened at the corsage. Around the bottom of the gown were lotus lilies on a surface of water, emblematic of India and the seas of empire. In front of the gown was the star of India enveloped by the rose, shamrock and thistle design. The queen's train was six yards long and one and a half yards wide, fastened at the shoulders with gold cord. The train was of royal purple velvet lined with ermine, with deep edges overturned forming the hem. On the inner side of the train was embroidered a chain of oak leaves and acorns with medallions of rose, shamrock and thistle at frequent intervals.

This evening their majesties will entertain a small dinner party at Buckingham palace. Tomorrow evening Sir Edward Grey will give a dinner in honor of the king and queen. On Saturday the royal review at Portsmouth will take place. The royal party will leave London in the morning, and the king and queen will sleep on board the royal yacht.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

ANOTHER INQUIRY COMING

Case of Stephenson of Wisconsin May Soon Be Investigated

Washington, June 22.—The news that the Wisconsin house had concurred in the resolution passed by the Wisconsin senate asking the United States senate to investigate the charges of corruption in connection with the election of United States Senator Stephenson leaves no doubt that the investigation will be ordered.

A resolution will probably be introduced in a few days by some member of the committee on privileges and elections, likely an insurgent. In that case the author will probably be Senator Kenyon of Iowa or Senator Works of California.

SIGSBEE'S COAT FOUND

Shows He Was on Board the Maine When Explosion Occurred

Havana, June 22.—Mute evidence to disprove the charge that Captain Sigsbee, in command of the Maine, was not on board the vessel on the night when she was sent to the bottom by an explosion, was discovered in the officers' quarters.

It was the coat of a captain's uniform that the wearer had taken off only a short time before the explosion occurred. This was indicated by the fact that it was found outside the wardrobe.

Captain Sigsbee took dinner away from the Maine that night and it has been charged that he did not return to the vessel.

LANGUAGE OF PIGEONS.

Scientist Says He Has Mastered Conversation of Doves.

Professor Sibiliot of Paris, who is described by the little paper published by the Society of Grasshoppers as an eminent "Columbophile," asserts that he has mastered the language of pigeons. He declares that their billing and cooing are really less melodious and consequently more monotonous than has hitherto been supposed.

Here is the vocabulary that the professor has already mastered: Ahis, "I love you;" ooboo, "I am pleased;" brroo, "I am very handsome;" vroof, "I am afraid;" broo coo, "I am angry;" brrooff, "Get away." Finally, when a turtledove pays court to his sweetheart, he murmurs: "Ha! Broo coo too kroor."

ASKS AMENDMENTS TO FOOD AND DRUG LAW

President Taft Transmits a Message on the Subject

Washington, June 22.—In a message to congress, President Taft scathingly arraigned the manufacturers of what he denounced as "dangerous drug frauds" and urged congress to amend at this session the pure food and drug law to strengthen that act in vital points of weakness recently pointed out by decisions of the United States supreme court.

President Taft believes that unless the law is amended forthwith the country will again be flooded by "injurious nostrums" and "cure-alls," which were common before the pure food law first was enacted.

The president declared that false labels as to cures deceive the purchasers, as none are so credulous as those ill and suffering.

"GOOD FOR THE PUBLIC"

Havemeyer Has Something to Say In Favor of Trusts

Washington, June 22.—Trusts were held up as a panacea for the business troubles of the country before the house committee investigating the sugar trust. Taking up his testimony where he left off Tuesday, Horace Havemeyer, son of the late sugar king, maintained that "Trusts are a good thing for the public."

"It is much better for larger companies to absorb smaller businesses than for the latter to become bankrupt," was one of the interesting declarations of the witness.

BRIEFS

Lawrence Loring of Willow street sails from Boston Saturday for Europe to spend the summer in travel.

Mr. and Mrs. James H. Penniman and daughter Ruth of Wollaston have gone to their summer home in Clifton.

Miss Edith Randall sails on the Bohemian, Saturday, for a trip through England and on the Continent. She will sail from Naples on the return trip on September 2.

Alan Arnold of Mineapolis has been spending a few days this week at his home on Coddington street, preparatory to sailing on Saturday for Europe for a summer's tour of the continent.

At the Norfolk probate court on Wednesday the will of John S. Krocher of Quincy was allowed. The following adminstrations were granted: Jacob Waisanen, John B. McCormick and Howard N. Newell all of Quincy.

An indignation meeting will be held at Squantum Inn, Friday evening for the purpose of protesting the action of the Quincy City Council in refusing to grant Inn Holders Licenses to Squantum Inn, Inc. and Lees Inn.

At the fifty-fifth annual commencement of Tufts college on Wednesday, among the Doctors of Dental Medicine a well known young man from Quincy who has a great love for base ball games received his diploma with high honors. It is now Doctor Harold Francis Curtis, (cum laude).

Read the Ledger every day and keep posted on the special bargains offered this week at the Quincy stores and also on the program as outlined each day for Merchants' week. The parade of the whole Fire department Saturday afternoon is sure to attract a big crowd.

Cyril D. Bond who has been living at the Y. M. C. A. during the past year, has gone to Camp Becket in Becket, Mass., to take charge of the scout work. In August he will go to the Silver Bay summer school and at its conclusion will go to Lawrence, Mass. to act as assistant to E. G. Gay, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A.

The annual garden party of St. Theresa's church, West Roxbury, will be held on Saturday, July 1, on the rectory grounds. As this is the church to which Rev. J. E. Johnstone, formerly of this city is attached, no doubt a number of his Quincy friends will be glad of an opportunity to greet him on this occasion, as he has but recently returned to active duty after an illness of several months' duration.

Rev. William E. Gardner, former rector of Christ church and now secretary of the First Missionary department of the Episcopal church of the United States, has arranged to hold a conference in Cambridge, July 1 and 2 for the purpose of interesting the laymen of New England in Missions. The conference will be run in connection with the conference for church work at the Episcopal Theological seminary.

☞Quincy merchants making a specialty of Friday and Saturday bargains should get their ads in tonight or the first thing Friday morning to insure good positions in the Daily Ledger.

BRIEFS

Mrs. T. C. Martin of Hall Place is visiting her sister in South Framingham.

The parsonage connected with the Hall place M. E. church is being repaired and painted. The work is being done by volunteers and it is hoped will be finished by July 1st.

At the meeting of the trustees of the Hall Place M. E. Church on Tuesday night, Herbert Doble was elected as a trustee and also as treasurer of the trustees for the coming year.

Miss Helen Martin, daughter of Rev. T. C. Martin, pastor of the Hall place M. E. church, who recently graduated from Syracuse University with high honors, has secured a position as teacher in the High School in Watertown, Conn.

Rev. T. C. Martin conducted the funeral services for the late Mrs. E. B. Riley, wife of Egbert B. Riley of the Hammond Beef Co's plant, at the home at 59 Bedford street, on Monday at 11 o'clock. Mrs. Riley was a member of the Methodist Episcopal church at Dover, N. H. There were a large number of floral pieces. The remains were taken to her former home in Malden for burial.

Two Fatal Mistakes.

Marie Antoinette, escaping from the Tuileries, turned to the right instead of to the left after passing the inner arch. She lost her way, lost time and by this means lost her own head and the head of Louis XIV. So the story of Carlyle runs.

Queen Draga of Servia meant to leave Belgrade, but waited for a going away gown, being anxious that as a fugitive she should appear in becoming attire. It was a fatal delay.

The Better Lot.

It is evident that Dickens' characters were alive to him as well as to his readers and that he moved them on and off the board with sympathy and consideration.

"I can never forgive you, Mr. Dickens," a lady once said to him, "for the death of Little Nell in 'The Old Curiosity Shop.'"

"Surely," he replied, "you would not have liked her to marry a butcher or a baker."

SUMMER WHITE HOUSE READY FOR THE BIG NATION'S RULER

Parramatta a Fine Old Colonial Mansion With Beautiful Gardens

Line Drawn Between Social and Official Life--Golf Links For President

PRESIDENT TAFT'S "summer White House" is ready for him on the cool north shore of Massachusetts, at Beverly. Spick and span, inside and out, renovated, altered, replenished, it is really a White House, because there it stands amid its groves, painted white to the last inch, the fine twenty-two room colonial mansion, Parramatta, which the Henry W. Peabody estate rented for the president's use this summer. Here he will spend the busiest vacation of his busy life.

This newest home for the president is a splendid place, in reality a beautiful park in which are set groves, gardens, a golf links, a teeming trout brook and acres of velvety lawn. But its chief glory is its superb frontage on the rolling Atlantic.

Precious little chance, however, will Mr. Taft have to enjoy its beauties and its comforts. He is not going there until congress adjourns—that is, he has said so—but perhaps he may change his mind. With the tariff and reciprocity pending, it will be far along in hot weather before Mr. Taft will get a chance to enjoy a vacation.

Even then he will have mighty little time for leisure with so many other questions pending. And, more, even here he cannot escape officialdom. Only five miles away will be the embassies of four of the powers—France, Germany, Russia and Italy—at Manchester-by-the-Sea. Ten minutes by motor is Manchester's distance. It is easy to see, then, that Mr. Taft can't give himself over wholly to sport and little social affairs.

Official and Social Life.

All the alterations suggested when Mr. Taft took the place have been completed. Not one was for greater comfort. All were designed for the express purpose of facilitating the transaction of public business. Had the president desired only a place for pleasure and comfort there would not have been need for a single change. But Mr. Taft desired that Mrs. Taft and his family be cut off entirely from the official side of his life, and this has been done.

A separate entrance has been cut through to the president's private office and reception room on one side of the house, leaving the main entrance for the family and a third entrance for tradespeople and servants. This office entrance has been sheltered by an imposing colonial porte-cochere.

The grounds have been lighted by electricity, and there are electric signals at various points to assist the guards in keeping the estate clear of undesirable and uninvited callers.

On the estate there are two big barns and a nine room cottage, the latter close to the main house. The barns have been transformed into garages for the dozen machines required for official and family use. The cottage, just across the shaded road known as Corning street, will be used for sleeping and eating quarters for the secret service men and for a waiting room for chauffeurs and personal attendants of the president's callers. The executive offices will be in Beverly proper, on the main village street, as they have been for the past two years when President Taft dwelt in the Evans villa on Burgess Point.

Easy to Keep Out Cranks.

This place is half a mile to the south of Parramatta. When he leased the latter last autumn Mr. Taft said he thought his new home the most attractive all round home on the north shore and far more adapted to his needs than the old one. Among other things, it was hard to keep out undesirables at the Evans place, and there were several annoying contretemps when the president's guards held up visitors to Mrs. Evans, who continued to occupy another mansion on her Burgess Point estate. At Parramatta the veranda commands a view of the approaches on three sides of the estate. It will be an easy matter to keep out cranks and the importunate.

The house is in the best colonial style. The design was taken by the architect from several of Salem's admirable old mansions, with the result that it is beautiful in a characteristically austere manner. Beyond the spacious entrance hall which leads from the front door on the veranda is the living room, and beyond that on the ground floor is the drawing room, now converted into the president's executive office. This connects with a small room to be used as a waiting room for official callers. It was here that the private business entrance was cut through so that the living room and the main entrance, together with all the rest of the house, may be shut off for the undisturbed use of the Taft family. The office as well as the living room, dining room and a window of the library looks out upon the ocean and the rugged coast, which President Taft says appeals to him so strongly.

On the second floor are five very large bedrooms, and one of these overlooking the ocean has been fitted up for Mrs. Taft. On account of her recent illness she is expected to go down to Parramatta with the family some weeks before the president can leave Washington. The president's chamber is also on the ocean side of the house, while the other rooms on the second floor look out upon a pleasing prospect of trees and water where the trout brook runs across the meadow. On the third floor are five more bedrooms, and there are of course many pantries, servants' rooms and bathrooms in the house.

As for the grounds, there are few along all this stretch of shore from Nahant to Rockport that can be compared with them. They were the hobby of the late Henry W. Peabody, millionaire merchant and traveler. The name Parramatta he took from that of a town and river in New South Wales, because he found a strong resemblance between the scenery of the Beverly coast and that of the antipodean island. Here on a tract of sixty-five acres he set out to realize his ideas of beauty in garden and woodland. That was twenty years ago, and up to the time of his death in 1908 he added each season to the treasures of his gardens. The Japanese garden, for example, Mr. Peabody created out of a bit of swamp near the brook, and in converting it into the present wonder place he brought over half a dozen Japanese gardeners to care for the planting and acclimatizing of the flowers and shrubs he procured from the orient.

Where President Shines.

The golf links over the meadow and rising knolls within the sweep of the ocean breeze has been laid out for nine holes. The nine are sufficiently difficult to suit a player of President Taft's rating. Although he will undoubtedly continue to motor over of a morning to the unsurpassed Myopia links, as he has done for the past two summers, these home links at Parramatta will give him a chance to keep up his form at odd moments in the day. Then, too, if he wants a friendly game with some visiting celebrity the home links will offer an opportunity for the contest to be held privately. The tees, approaches and bunkers have all been put into shape, and the course runs up hillocks and down dales, through hedges and shrubbery, across fields and over walls, all of it capable of being made entirely private.

The other essentials of a gentleman's country place are all here—the greenhouses, the barns, the vegetable garden. These have been prepared with care this year.

THE GLORY OF SAUSAGE.

Prussian's Aim Is to Evolve a New Brand of "Wurst."

While in this country one may purchase many varieties of sausages, it is to Westphalia, Prussia, that we must look for the sausage in all its glory, says Harper's Weekly. There, it is said, a trader will name you no fewer than 400 different kinds, and they present a bewildering array of divers substances in their composition.

At a German sausage exhibition held not so long ago at Berne, in Switzerland, there were displayed 1,785 kinds of sausage from various countries. It is said that a good German would rather invent a new sausage than anything else. At any rate, there is told the story of the young Prussian who, though he had received an expensive training as a chemist, shut himself up in his laboratory and, instead of devising a new dye, safety match, motor engine, explosive, aeroplane or photographic lens, took pork, veal, olives, pepper, fennel, old wine, cheese, apples, cinnamon and herrings' roes and from them evolved a wonderful and totally original "wurst," the best of its kind. He has amassed a considerable fortune from its sale.

24 LIVING CHILDREN.

Thirteen Singles, Four Doubles and One Triple Clondeaux's Score.

August Clondeaux, aged forty-two, an expert glassworker of Ford City, Pa., is en route to Belgium, his native land, accompanied by his wife and twenty-four children.

Incidentally he also takes with him a comfortable fortune made in the glass industry in the Allegheny valley. Clondeaux and his wife came to this country twenty-one years ago, a short time after their marriage.

Clondeaux is a great admirer of baseball and described his family and departure as follows:

"The score is 24 to 0" (he meant none of the children had died), "thirteen singles, four two baggers and a triple. Now we make a home run."

Woman Deputy District Attorney.

George M. Brown, district attorney, has appointed Miss Mabel Albright as deputy district attorney of Douglas county, Ore. Miss Albright for the present will have complete charge of prosecutions of juvenile offenders. Miss Albright is the only woman holding the position of deputy district attorney in Oregon.

GRADUATION EXERCISES

ten by Miss Emma A. Perkins, director of singing in the school.

"Straight before us now our pathway leads
While hope doth light our way
Tho' the voice of friendship fondly pleads
"Fare thee well" this hour we say
Then forth we go resolved
To achieve the best in life
While yet remembering well
This hour undimmed by care or strife
From Quincy high we part today
We the Seniors of 1911
To us who have been here through schooldays dear
The sad farewell to Q. H. S.
We look forward, we look forward
Looking forward forth we go
Hail Quincy high, hail and farewell"

The stage on which the members of the graduating class were seated was decorated with palms and cut flowers. Above the class motto, "Facto probant" appeared on a large banner in the school colors, red and blue. On the left of the stage was a shield made of golden rod and jack roses, the class flower, which had the numerals '11 in the centre. The members of the class wore the class flower and the diplomas were tied in ribbons of a similar hue. Mr. Miller was assisted in presenting these by Miss Ruth Jones '14 who also led the march when the chorus entered the hall.

The exercises were carried through with great success and teacher, principal and scholars are to be congratulated on them. The music was especially good.

The pieces were difficult to a certain extent and the pupils singing the different parts were separated some befing on the stage and others on the floor. Miss Perkins deserves a great deal of credit for the success with which she conducted the musical part of the program. The High school orchestra supported the chorus very ably

Vol. 26 No. 143 | QUINCY, MASS., FRIDAY EVENING, JUNE 23, 1911 | PRICE TWO CENTS

RECEPTION BY CLASS OF 1911 A DELIGHTFUL AFFAIR

Grand March Led by Class President. Included Many Undergraduates

Hall Tastefully Decorated Music by Pooles Orchestra

With one of the largest and most enjoyable receptions on record in this city held in Music hall last evening, the class of 1911 of Quincy high school took its place in the ranks of the Alumni as a most genial host. The committee in charge of arrangements spared no efforts to make it "the best," and with what measure of success their efforts were crowned may be judged by general consensus of opinion of those present. The grand march led by the class president, Paul Blackmur and Miss Jean Arthur was participated in by nearly 160 couples consisting of undergraduates and the younger alumni. Preceding the march the ushers, prominent members of the Junior class, escorted the guests to the receiving line in which the class officers and the matrons were stationed: Paul Blackmur, Doris Straw, Frederick Sutermeister, Sidney Crane, Mrs. Albert L. Barbour, Mrs. Melville T. Holbrook, Miss Clara Thompson and Miss Lilla R. Birge.

The ushers were Maurice Blackmur, Herbert Johnson, Starrett White, Ryder Gay, Willard Atkins and Sam Prout.

Dancing began at nine o'clock and continued until midnight giving an opportunity for sixteen regular and four extra dances. The hall was decorated in the class colors and on the stage appeared the motto, "Facto proband" and the class shield formed with yellow flowers on the rim and jack roses, the class flower ,in the centre.

The dance orders were very tastefully gotten out with the class pin embossed on the cover and the school colors carried out in the red cord and white imitation alligator paper for the cover.

During the evening punch was served in an adjoining room and the flowing bowl was very popular and its contents, so 'tis said was delightfully refreshing.

After the dancing began many people who had not participated in the grand march appeared on the floor and together with the parents and friends in the gallery and those who had been there from the first, made a distinctly notable gathering.

The music for dancing was furnished by Poole's orchestra of ten pieces.

The opening of the summer season was marked by the absence to a great extent of the conventional dress suit and the silk gown and the substitution of white trowsers and dark coats for the boys and dimities or light silks for the girls.

The committee in charge deserves special commendation for the care which was taken to arrange things so that they ran smoothly and so that all were agreed that it was one of the most enjoyable receptions in the history of the school. The committee: Misses Daisy Brooks, Olive Fay and Margaret Tubman, Messrs. John Pfaffmann and Winthrop Safford.

CLASS DAY SPREAD.

One of the enjoyable class day spreads at Harvard Thursday was that of Ambler Welch and his roommate, in Thayer hall from six to eight.

A pleasant surprise during the reception was the announcement by Mrs. A. Isabelle Davis of the engagement of her daughter Miss Blanche Morrison to Mr. Welch the news being conveyed to each guest by a pretty messenger—a long-stemmed crimson rose to which was attached the cards of Mr. Welch and Miss Morrison. The congratulations were hearty as the young people are very popular and the occasion was a most happy one. Mr. Welch is also receiving congratulations on graduating with honors.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR.

Many members of Quincy Commandery Knights Templar have signified their intention of taking part Saturday in the St. John's day outing of South Shore commandery. It will be the first public appearance of Quincy commandery, and the Eminent Commander desires as many Sir Knights in line as possible. The command will go to Boston by train and march from the South Station to Rowes wharf, where one of the Nantasket steamers will be taken for a sail down the harbor. A landing will be made at Nantasket in the early afternoon for dinner which will be served at the Palm garden. The return to Quincy will be made by special electric cars in the late afternoon.

MOOSE HOLDS GRAND DANCE

Largely Attended Benefit At Alpha Hall

A largely attended dancing party was held in Alpha hall Thursday evening under the auspices of Quincy lodge of Moose. It was in the nature of a benefit dance, the proceeds of which were for the benefit of one of the members of the lodge who has been ill.

Wilson's orchestra furnished the music and dancing was in order from 8 to 12. Those in charge of the affair were Dr. John H. Anderson chairman, Albert C. Bean, William A. O'Brien, Joseph Porter, L. C. Claflin and William Knott.

In opening the party Dr. Anderson made a brief address of welcome in which he said:

My Friends and Fellow Members:

This gathering has a two-fold significance and it has a two-fold purpose. We purpose making the occasion as enjoyable as possible for you and thereby sustain our reputation as good entertainers. We also expect to make it a successful affair financially, not for the purpose of accumulating the dollars in our treasury, I assure you, but to help one of our members through a period of adversity: Those periods come to all of us at some stage or another of life's journey and it behooves those who haven't yet reached adversity and those who have passed through it to "lend a hand," as Dr. Hale would express it, to the other fellow, the fellow who is down.

That in brief is our two-fold, our four-fold, purpose in assembling here. The entertainment will I trust have peculiar pleasure and charm for you when you know to what purpose we are going to apply the receipts of the evening. So far as you are concerned, the affair is strictly social. So far as the lodge is concerned it is both social and benevolent in its scope and operation.

I can add nothing more fitting than the words with which I opened a similar function last winter in this hall under the same auspices: On with the dance and let joy be unconfined.

BIRTHDAY PARTY.

A neighborhood party was held at the home of George A. Sidelinger, Presidents hill, on Thursday evening in honor of the 79th birthday anniversary of his father, Zenas H. Sidelinger. About twenty friends and relatives of the host gathered to join him in celebrating the event with music and a general good time. Miss Emma A. Perkins, supervisor of music in the Quincy schools, who comes from his native town, Nobleboro, Me., played and sang and there were vocal and instrumental solos by his grandchildren and several friends.

Mr. Sidelinger has been a resident of Quincy for nearly sixty years, living at Quincy Point for the greater part of that time. He is a man very much beloved by his wide circle of friends and in spite of his advanced years is hale and hearty.

AT BEVERLY JULY FIRST.

President and Mrs. Taft and their children now expect to leave Washington on the Boston express evening of Jun 30 and to arrive in Boston a week from next Saturday morning. From there they go to Beverly where the President will stay till the following Monday. Then he goes to Indiana and will go back to Washington.

Recent developments in the legislative situation here makes it unlikely that the President will spend much time at Beverly this year. All the indications are that Congress will be in session till well up to the time when he intends starting on his long western tour. His intended week-end trips to Beverly will probably be few and far between.

The executive officers, of course, will not be moved to Beverly unless the President is able to get there to stay for some time.

MAYOR SHEA CALLS HALT

Practice of Charging "Admission" in Parks Must Stop

Quite a little tempest in a tea pot has been raised because parties who hold outings in the public parks have got into the habit of charging admission. That is they do not in a way charge admission but the custom has been for a man to pass around the crowd with a handful of tickets which he asks people to purchase and put in their hats so that it may be known who has contributed and who has not. The public parks of the city are free and legally no admission can be charged but this clause is got over as noted above.

The disagreeable part of it is however, if a person attending the ball game, or other event at the parks, refuses to purchase a ticket his refusal often calls forth some insulting remark on the part of the person selling tickets and the absence of a ticket in his hat is the subject of comment.

On the other hand it is pointed out that if the citizens wish to see good ball games they must help pay the expenses and the only way to help is by the purchase of the aforesaid tickets.

Considerable complaint has been made to Mayor Shea in regard to the habit of charging admission to the parks, which is what it virtually amounts to and His Honor said this morning that the practice must stop. One matter that brought the question up at the present time was the announcement of the Fourth of July committee on sports that at the big game on the afternoon of the Fourth the winning team would be given a purse of $25 and the gate receipts.

In regard to this game the public say that they have been asked to contribute for the general celebration on that day and it seems like adding insult to injury to ask them to pay to see a ball game for which they have indirectly contributed.

SUMMER SCHOOL FOR BOYS

Sloyd School Will Hold Sessions At Y. M. C. A. Building

The Sloyd school which is to hold sessions in the Y. M. C. A. building during the summer under the auspices of the Educational committee of the Quincy Women's club and the Y. M. C. Clee at the Y. M. C. A.

MUSICAL WHIST PARTY.

A largely attended and enjoyable musical whist party was held Thursday evening at home of Miss Catherine Barry on West street. The party was given in aid of the West street table at the coming St. Mary's lawn party.

Morrissetts orchestra was present during the entire evening and rendered a choice selection of music while the whist was in progress. The grounds and house were also prettily decorated with Japanese lanterns.

The prizes for the best scores were awarded to Miss Josephine Maglot and Miss Rosella Shea, Stephen Connors and John Chapin. The consolation prizes went to Miss Anna Thayer and William Lyons, and the special prize to Miss Ita Sullivan.

After the whist there was a musical entertainment which consisted of piano solos by Miss Mary Finn and vocal solos by Miss Rhoda Lamb, Misses Elizabeth and Anna Lyons and Mrs. John Dakers. Refreshments were also served.

The affair was in charge of Miss Catherine Barry and Miss Annie Galvin who were assisted by Mrs. Leo McDonnell, Miss Mary Dillon, Miss Mollie Galvin, Miss Mary Drohan, Miss Mary McCue and Miss Nellie Lyons.

Whist was in order from 8 until 10 o'clock and the musical program was concluded at 11 o'clock.

VIOLATED LIQUOR LAW.

Michael Barbour whose premises at 73 Union street were raided by the police last Sunday was arraigned in court this morning for violation of the liquor law. The court found him guilty and continued the case until Saturday morning when he will be fined $50.

BIG CROWD ENJOYED BAND CONCERT LAST EVENING

Excellent Program by the National Band Adds to Interest of Merchants' Celebration

Stores Did Rushing Business. Big Parade on Saturday

The crowd in attendance at the band concert Thursday evening was the largest yet. The band stand was located near the Bethany church and the National band gave an excellent program, from 7.30 to 8.30. It was a very orderly crowd and included many from out of town who had been attracted by the exceptionally good bargains offered this week by the local merchants. The stores, particularly those in the immediate vicinity of the band stand did a rushing business.

Tonight the band stand will be located near the store of Remick Bros., in the Music hall block and the big crowd will probably be there.

Tomorrow is the last day of Merchants' week and the program for the day should draw a large crowd to the city from out of town, as it doubtless will.

There will not be much doing in the way of amusement during the morning but in the afternoon when the parade of the entire fire department takes place City Square will be crowded.

TONIGHT'S BAND CONCERT PROGRAM

The Quincy National band will render the following program tonight from 7.30 to 8.30 at the junction of Hancock Street and Cottage avenue.

HONESTY IN EVERYTHING

Mr. Taft has just had a silver wedding, and if he expects us to print the family poet's verses, we can hardly deviate from regular rates.

Some people think the foundations of morality are shaken if women wear skirts that reveal nearly the whole of both their boots.

The steel trust probe shows J. P. Morgan has great power. The American people won't do anything about it if he allows the ball games to go on.

New York City kicks on the noise at night of the garbage carts. They would kick still worse if they invaded the forenoon hours sacred to sleep in metropolitan sporting life.

Our old friend the fur seal is the subject of another conference at Washington. He has served the purpose of a fresh air and foreign travel fund for two generations of statesmen.

The elbow sleeve waists are not universally becoming to women. The architect of present styles has overlooked the prevalence of nutcracker arms in drawing up his specifications.

Some people want the Panama canal zone wider. However, if anyone has the nerve to try blowing up the canal, he will probably find some means of getting over the fence wherever it is located.

Elbert Hubbard has won a bet of $500 that he did not dare have his hair cut. How does he expect lecture dates, without that black and tangled mane to shake in the face of the cowering and ashy pale audience?

THE FARMER AND HIS PROBLEM.

The American farmer has now got his crops planted. He has confided that wonderful atom, the seed, to the tender care of Mother Earth, and he looks forward to that annual miracle by which the coarse dust of the soil is again transmuted to be bread to the eater. The problem which faces him is not the simple life of old fashioned farming. His father, who kept a dozen cows and raised a few acres of corn and potatoes, could get food for his family, and sell enough to clothe and educate them.

The farmer of today is confronted by a multiplication of insect pests, due to the extermination of the farmers friend, the birds. Acting as an isolated unit, he feels the squeezing power of the trusts on either side. The prices of his machinery and tools are artifically raised by men acting as a unit, the price of his product is artificially lowered by men acting as a unit.

Furthermore, the wife wants clothes that look as respectable as those worn by the lawyer's or the doctor's wife. The children say Harvard and Vassar are none too good for them.

It is no wonder that the furrows are deep in the honest old face as it peers over the fence on some of these long Sunday twilights.

BEWARE OF THE FLY.

Flies are the most dangerous insects we have. They are much more dangerous than bees or hornets; these may sting you and the sting is painful but you soon get over the pain. Flies do much more harm than this. They walk over filthy places like sewers and garbage cans, and after eating the filthy food which they find there, they come into your house and walk on the food you eat, carrying on their feet the tiny germs which live in filth just as you live in a house. These germs are not only filthy and disgusting, but many of them cause such diseases as typhoid fever, cholera infantum and summer complaint. When the flies bring them from some dirty place to your food or leave some of them when they crawl on your face or hands, you may swallow these germs without knowing it and be taken ill with one of these diseases. So the fly that seems so harmless may do you much more harm than a bee or a hornet.

You should place screens at your doors and windows during the warm weather, to keep the flies out of the house. If you cannot screen all the rooms, you should screen those in which food is kept; and if any one is sick in the house, flies should be kept from the sick-room, so that they may not carry germs from the sick person to the rest of the family.

Children may help to keep flies from swarming in and around houses, and from carrying germs of sickness from one person to another. In the first place, they should not buy candy, fruit or other food which is left in front of stores or anywhere else where flies may feed and walk on it. Flies lay their eggs chiefly in stable manure, and if this is left without screens or other covers to keep the flies away, great numbers will be hatched in every stable. If you know of stores where food is not covered from flies, or of stables that have swarms of them around, write to the Board of Health about them, and the Board will make the store-keepers or stablesmen obey its rules. But before you report other people for being careless and dirty and so making it possible for flies to become a nuisance, be sure that your own house is clean, and that no garbage-cans or boxes are left uncovered to attract flies.

If you and all the people you know will follow this advice, there will not be nearly so many flies to plague you in hot weather, and there will not be nearly so much sickness and death, especially among children, as now.—Merchants' Asso., New York.

FLY NUISANCE RULES.

Screen all windows and doors, especially the kitchen and dining room.

Keep the flies away from the sick, especially those ill with contagious diseases. Kill every fly that strays into the sick room. His body is covered with disease germs.

Do not allow decaying material of any sort to accumulate on or near your premises.

All refuse which tends in any way to fermentation, such as bedding, straw, paper waste and vegetable matter should be disposed of or covered with lime or kerosene oil.

Screen all food.

Keep all receptacles for garbage carefully covered and the cans cleaned or sprinkled with oil or lime.

Keep all stable manure in vault or pit, screened or sprinkled with lime, oil or other cheap preparation.

Cover food after a meal; burn or bury all table refuse.

Screen all food exposed for sale.

Don't forget, if you see flies, their breeding place is in nearby filth. It may be behind the door, under the table or in the cuspidor.

If there is no dirt and filth there will be no flies.

If there is a nuisance in the neighborhood write at once to the Health Department.

HOW ADVERTISING HAS GROWN.

Any person who has made a careful study of the newspapers in towns of from 10,000 to 100,000 people, must be tremendously impressed with their enlargement in the last 10 to 15 years.

We have in mind the familiar face of one exchange published in a city of some 75,000 people. A dozen years ago it was very rare that this newspaper ran over 12 pages. Today it frequently appears with 20 pages.

One or two pages of this increase is no doubt due to fuller news columns. In the main the change is caused by the enormous increase in advertising.

No sentiment of charity for that newspaper, which was very prosperous 12 years ago, or others of its class, can have caused this splendid growth. Rather it is because a group of merchants big and little are growing wealthy through the power of advertising. Where they used to use a column, they now use half a page or more. They do it because it is the cheapest form of salesmanship. And the same success and the same prosperity is coming right here to the men who have learned the efficiency of the newspaper advertisement.

AN OLD SECRET IS REVEALED

Man Lived, Dressed and Conducted Himself as Woman

HE WORKED AS A DOMESTIC

Relatives and Friends of "Harriet" Kelly, Who Was Burned to Death In Steamer Fire, Had No Suspicion That "Woman" Who Had Male Admirers Was Not of the Feminine Gender—Autopsy Tells the Story

Boston, June 23.—A tragic death between the decks of a burning steamer has revealed the fact that Harriet Kelly, "stewardess," who was burned to death in the fire aboard the steamer Governor Andrew, was a man, and had for thirty years lived, dressed and conducted himself as a woman.

The secret so carefully guarded for thirty years was disclosed at the autopsy over the charred remains of "Miss" Kelly.

Even relatives with whom "she" had lived for years were shocked at the discovery, and called to mind the masculine characteristics of the fire victim.

"Harriet Kelly" had always lived as a woman, and there are in Boston and in Wellesley today at least three men who had sought "her" as a wife. Among the effects are many letters from men couched in endearing terms.

Kelly lived too as a trusted domestic in several wealthy Back Bay families, where all the duties of a maid were performed.

In Wolverhampton, Straffordshire, Eng., there live today the white-haired father and mother, who, seemingly, were alone aware that "Harriet" was a man.

Kelley was born in Wolverhampton, reared and educated there as a girl, mingling with girls but always as a tomboy.

When 23 years old Kelly came to Boston as the servant of John Flemming of Brookline. Once in this country his strength and disposition won him an enviable reputation as a maid in the families of the wealthy. He had male admirers, but never accepted their advances.

With the family of William McClure of 93 Hampshire street, "Harriet" Kelly lived for months. It was here that a beard that would persist in growing time and time again nearly betrayed him.

William McClure recalled the masculine traits of his distant relative, remembering the methods with which "Harriet" removed the hair from his soft-skinned face. He used a lather made by mixing various ingredients, among fhich was a superfluous hair remover. This mixture it was his custom to rub well into his face, and use a razor, leaving a smooth, delicately tinted skin of rather dark complexion.

Once in the midst of merrymaking the trusted "maid" doffed men's clothes for a lark and walked the streets thus clothed. "What a perfect imposture," was the commendation of "her" friends.

It was learned yesterday that "Harriet" was overheard to declare at times a fervent desire to be a man. These slips were few and far between, and never aroused a suspicion in the minds of friends.

The hair on his head grew in abundance and was alone enough to quiet any passing or casual suspicion. His feet, however, were of a large, well shaped masculine type.

On board the Givernor Andrew he was known as a worthy widow. He had often told of a husband who had long departed.

The funeral took place from the undertaking rooms of a Roxbury undertaker and the body now rests in a Catholic cemetery in the suburbs of Boston.

STOKES GETS A SCARE

Thinks He Is Again Shot as Photographer's Flashlight Goes Off

New York, June 23.—Supported by his counsel, and leaning heavily on a cane, W. E. D. Stokes, who a fortnight ago was shot by Lillian Graham and Ethel Conrad, two chorus girls, appeared in court yesterday against them.

As he stepped from his automobile, a photographer's flashlight went off with a roar and Stokes, thinking that he had been shot again, screamed and stumbled. He was so shaken by his fright that a halt of several minutes was taken before he could walk again.

Inspector Morrissey will join Inspector Lynch, who has been in St. Petersburg for the last three months investigating the case. The Goldbergs, who are under arrest, will be liberated in July.

BEATS WESTON'S TIME

Old Cowpuncher Finishes Long Walk From Denver to Boston

Boston, June 23.—People at city hall yesterday saw the finish of a cross-country walking feat which netted a 62-year-old cowpuncher $2500 and which achieved for him the distinction of beating the veteran walker, Weston.

The pedestrian, William H. Chapman of Horse Creek, Wyo., walked from Denver to Boston, via New York city, and won the prize of $2500 offered by the Western Stock association for endurance walking. He finished a month ahead of the time allowed him.

When Chapman reached city hall he was chipper and lively, although dust covered and weather beaten. He gained 23½ pounds on the trip.

BONDSMEN ORDERED TO GIVE UP $25,000

Court Grants County Forfeited Bail to That Amount

Salem, Mass., June 23.—Essex county was awarded a judgment of $25,000 on a defaulted bail bond by Judge Bell in the superior criminal court here.

After pleading guilty several months ago to an indictment charging larceny, conspiracy and receiving stolen goods, Phillip Bloomfield of Chelsea disappeared, thereby forfeiting a bail bond of $35,000 furnished by Frank Gross and Reuben Bloomfield. District Attorney Attwill, for the county, sued the bondsmen for the amount of the bond, and the court awarded the county $25,000. Gross and Bloomfield immediately filed a bill of exceptions to the judgment.

Phillip Bloomfield was arrested in connection with an extensive system of stealing copper from the General Electric company at Lynn.

Government Will Not Compromise In Suit Against Grocers' Trust

Washington, June 23.—Attorneys for the Southern Wholesale Grocers' association, against which the government is now prosecuting an anti-trust suit, it is said, approached officials of the department of justice with a proposition to compromise. Attorneys for the grocers were anxious to secure what is called "an agreed decree." Luke E. Wright, former secretary of war, is one of the attorneys for the Grocers' association.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington, June 17, 1911.

There is a widespread idea that Washington is a depopulated city during the summer. Its normal population is over three hundred thousand, and it is probable that the summer population of 1911, owing to the fact that Congress is in session, is not less than this number. Washington has become a great center for conventions, whether religious, industrial, social or what not. They come here in great numbers and there is of course no city on this side of the globe where visitors can see as much or enjoy themselves as well as at the capital. The railroads bring large numbers of excursionists to the city in the summer people who are on their way to the seashore and who are glad to avail themselves of an opportunity to see the national capital at a minimum expense. Fully 75 per cent of the resident population remain here through the summer months and those who take it for granted that Washington is dull at this season are mistaken. Ambassador Bryce of England said in a recent address that Washington enjoys the distinction of being the most beautiful city in the world through its multitude of public buildings, its wide shaded streets and its symmetry of plan. "The most beautiful capital of its kind the world has ever seen," is I beleive the exact language used by the ambassador. The words "of its kind" are of course limiting. The ambassador is a cosmopolitan as well as a diplomat, and he no doubt weighs his words and is careful in his statements. There are of course many other cities, not only in Europe and Asia, but also in America that go far beyond Washington in population and some of them far excel Washington in wealth and in architectural effects, but with Ambassador Bryce's limitation, "the most beautiful capital of its kind," his statement will perhaps defy criticism. The cities of the world with regard to population and in the order of their bigness are London, New York, Paris, Tokyo, Chicago, Vienna, Berlin, St. Petersburg, Philadelphia and Moscow. It will be seen that three of the largest as well as the next to the largest are in the United States, and it is predicted that within thirty years New York will be the largest city in the world. It is however, bumptious to boast of big cities and the excess of city population is believed by many to be symptomatic of national disease or degeneracy. The most thrifty and best-governed nations in the world are those which have a larger rural than urban population.

Our age is one of bewildering change and progress. Distance has been diminished in so many ways and is in progress of still further annihilation by inventions, of yesterday that it is impossible to tell what tomorrow may bring forth. At the capital of the United States, the densely built streets on each side of Pennsylvania avenue which were a few years ago the centers of fashion have long since been abandoned by the well-to-do people and a large part of the wealthier population of Washington is living from three to ten miles distant from the Capital. But the time and labor required to reach the White House, the Capitol, or any of the marble department buildings is less now than it was twenty years ago. Automobiles and electric cars have taken the place of horse-drawn vehicles. It is not unusual to see coal, brick, lumber and other heavy articles moving along the wide asphalt streets of the capital under electric or gasoline propulsion. The few fine horse-drawn equipages of other times have an antiquated appearance, and will no doubt soon be obsolete.

There is but little of interest going on in the legislative and executive departments of the government. The Democratic majority in the House of Representatives is held well in hand by Mr. Underwood, through whom caucus rule is supreme. It is thought that the Senate will sooner or later pass the Canadian reciprocity bill in the same shape it came from the House. It is earnestly opposed by some Senators who are endeavoring to make records for themselves with their constituents with a view to prolonged senatorial tenure, but it is belived that a very decided majority of the people of the United States are in favor of the measure and that it will finally become a law.

Instead of the usual speeches by members of the graduating class, headmaster Charles L. Charles Byrnes, president of the class made an excellent king and Miss Catherine Powers and Miss Doris Furber took the parts of the nieces of the royal household very ably. John Burbank, Stacy Sears and Miss Anna Kelly who took the other leading parts also did remarkably well.

At the conclusion of the play the diplomas were presented by Reginald Robbins, a member of the school board.

The closing festivities began last Saturday when the principal gave the Senior class a reception at his home. On Tuesday afternoon Class day exercises were held on the school lawn. All four classes were present in costume and each sang its own songs and gave its cheer. Class colors were of course in great prominence. The prophecy was given by Miss Gladys Greene and the history by Edward Melvin. Dancing was enjoyed in the latter part of the afternoon.

The class of 1911 which contains thirty-two members presented the school with a handsome bust of Apollo at the time of the graduation exercises.

THE VOTING RECORD OF VICTOR BERGER.

Name Appears Twice as Many Times on Democratic Side as on Republican.

The voting record of Representative Victor L. Berger of Wisconsin, the only Socialist member of congress, is interesting. Mr. Berger is not bound by any caucus or conference action, and his sole duty is to be a true Socialist. Thus far no member of either the Republican or Democratic party has paired with Mr. Berger. Therefore when he does not vote he gets no credit for pairs.

Mr. Berger answered the first roll call of the extra session and voted "present" on the speakership, his party having no candidate. On the following day he voted against the previous question on the rules, but did not vote on a resolution to consider them. On April 13 he voted for the amendment of Representative Young to the resolution providing for a constitutional amendment for the direct election of United States senators. This amendment was a counterpart for the Sutherland amendment in the senate, now known as the Bristow substitute, and provides for the federal control of elections of senators by a direct vote. After the defeat of this amendment Mr. Berger voted for the passage of the resolution.

The next day he voted against the McCall amendment to the campaign fund publicity bill and for the Jackson amendment giving the federal courts jurisdiction to punish violations of the act. He also voted against a motion to recommit the bill and then voted against the passage of the bill. On April 21 Mr. Berger voted for the passage of the Canadian reciprocity bill, and on April 27 he did not vote on a motion to recommit the reapportionment bill.

Mr. Berger voted to table an appeal from the decision of the chair on the farmers' free list bill and the same day voted for its passage. On May 12 he voted with the Democrats to adjourn for three days. On May 17 he did not vote on the previous question for the sugar investigating committee, but did vote to recommit the resolution with instructions to change the method of its selection. On May 23 he voted against recommitting the statehood bill.

To date, allowing for questions where the vote in the house was nonpartisan, Mr. Berger has voted nearly twice with the Democrats to once with the Republicans. This is not an unnatural proportion for an independent member, inasmuch as the Democrats are proposing the legislation. About the only thing that stands out in his record is the fact that he is opposed to high tariff duty, in favor of the broadest possible liberty for the individual member of the house and for the initiative, referendum and recall as indicated in the Arizona constitution.

What Would Happen.

"What would your father do if I told him I loved you?"

"He'd refer the matter to me."

"And what would you do?"

"I'd refer you to the young man who proposed and was accepted by me while you were trying to make up your mind."

Wise Woman.

"It was Cervantes, was it not, who said, 'No man is born wise?'"

"Perhaps it was, but women found it out long before Cervantes did."—Chicago Record-Herald.

A Modern King-Beggar Maid Story

By ARTHUR W. BREWSTER

Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

We are careful that our children shall read books in which noble deeds are rewarded and selfishness is abominated. Then when they reach an age to understand something about the world they are about to enter we tell them that these stories are mere romance, with nothing practical in them.

Such was the way I was brought up. When I was eighteen the transition came. My mother a few years before had taken for a maid of all work—that is, small odds and ends such as a child could perform—a girl of fourteen. I understood that Ethel had been taken partly for charity and partly because my mother found such a helper convenient. My mother gave us all to understand that her principal reason was charity, though she really needed a young girl for certain duties. But I had not then reached an age where I was to be instructed that self sacrifice was simply romance.

I did not treat Ethel as a servant, and I was not required to so treat her. But my parents did consider that there was danger for my worldly interest in this demure little girl. It was not till I went to college that I realized that this danger existed. The morning I started I went to find Ethel to say goodby to her. I found her dusting the parlor.

"Ethel," I said gayly, "I have come to say goodby."

She went on dusting without paying any attention to me, keeping her back toward me. Taking her by the arm, I turned her and discovered the cause of her keeping her face from me. There were tears in her eyes. Whether it was due to my education or to a natural instinct I don't know—I may have been largely influenced by the romances of kings and princes marrying beggar maidens—but certain it is I kissed the tears away. Then, the carriage being ready for my departure, I left the little girl with a sweet taste on my lips and a tender emotion about the heart.

Whether my mother suspected that Ethel missed me or that she considered me quite old enough to understand that love affairs between kings and beggar maids was pure romance I don't know; but, though I often spoke of Ethel among others in my letters, mother never referred to the little girl in one of hers. Instead she wrote me that now I was entering upon that stage of life where a young man's fancy turns to love I should be careful in my attentions to young women, not becoming involved with any that it would not be advantageous for me to marry. She had often when I was a child read me those king and beggar maid stories with evident delight to herself, and I was not yet old enough to understand the change. But I was old enough to begin to think for myself, and I resolved that I would act honorably toward any young woman with whom I might become involved.

But what a difference between the age of experience and the age of romance! And how singular that after experience comes romance remains! True, when older we simply dally with it, sip it like delicious wine, but do not get intoxicated with it sufficiently to injure ourselves.

When I went home for my first vacation Ethel was not there. I asked my mother about her, and she said that the girl had concluded to learn some method of making her living more to her taste than being a servant, and, upon the winding up of her father's estate, having received some means, she had entered a business college. I knew that my mother had taken the girl from a family that had been well to do, and at a time when her father had just died insolvent.

I made no inquiries at home as to what college Ethel was attending, but learned it elsewhere. Then I went to see her. She had grown and filled out and improved in every way. She received me without any reference to the tender scene that had occurred at the time of my departure for college. It was evident from her manner that her servant days were over and that she stood on the American basis that a woman in the new fields open to her is on a social par with the generality of men and women. Not that she obtruded this change upon me; I simply was aware that it existed. I left her after a friendly meeting, having borne myself toward her as I would any other acquaintance with whom I had lived under the same roof, but I concealed my feelings.

I saw Ethel whenever I came from college for vacation, but said nothing at home about my calls. When I returned after being graduated I found staying in the house a young woman whom my mother had persuaded to visit her, doubtless hoping to make a match between her and me. At any rate, the girl was worth $300,000 in her own right.

What a change from the king and beggar maid stories mother had read me!

Poor mother! She was doomed to disappointment. I did not want a fortune ready made for me at the beginning of my life and in the keeping of another. What I did want was my servant maid. Mother was terribly shocked when I informed her that I was to marry Ethel, but she accepted the situation.

"It's all your fault, mother," I said. "You should not have read to me those king-beggar maid stories.

HOUSEHOLD RECIPES.

Strawberry Shortcake. Sift together one and one-half cups of flour, one-half a cup of cornstarch, four level teaspoonfuls of baking powder and one-half teaspoon of salt, and work in one-third to one-half a cup of butter, with a knife or fingers; add a little milk to make a rather soft dough. Divide the dough in halves and pat out to fit two tins, or bake in one tin, one round above the other, first spreading the lower round generously with butter. Bake separately if needed, and butter the cakes. Put together with strawberries mixed with sugar slightly mashed. Add half a pint of cream whipped and beaten with two tablespoonfuls powdered sugar. Pour this over top layer and dot with strawberries.

Fruit Juice. A number of delicious beverages may be made from fruit juice and when carefully sealed in air-tight bottles it will keep from one year to the next. Prepare the fruit as for preserving; put into the double boiler with one cupful of sugar to each quart of fruit, and heat until the fruit is soft and broken. Turn into a jelly bag and drain until the juice has completely oozed out. Do not squeeze. Return the juice to the fire and heat until boiling hot. Stand sterilized bottles in a pan of hot water, and fill; insert the corks firmly, then immediately dip the top of each bottle in melted sealing wax.

Tomato Sauce. For tomato sauce, use one-half can tomatoes or 1 3-4 cups fresh stewed tomatoes, one slice onion, dash of red pepper, three tablespoons butter, three tablespoons flour, one-quarter teaspoon salt, one-third teaspoon pepper. Fry onion in butter till crisp, then add flour, then add tomatoes and seasonings and cook 15 minutes.

Banana Sandwiches. Remove the skin and fibres from four bananas, cut them in quarters and force quickly through the ricer. Mix with the pulp the juice of half a lemon, a dash of salt and nutmeg, and set it away to become very cold while you prepare the bread. This would be cut in very thin slices, freed from crust and trimmed into any preferred shape. Slightly sweeten some thick cream and add a speck of salt. Spread the bread with a thin layer of the cream, then with the banana pulp, put together and wrap each in waxed paper, twist the ends and keep very cold until serving time.

Mock Mince Pie. Five crackers pounded fine, one slice pork, chopped; one cup brown sugar, one cup molasses. Pour 2 1-2 cups boiling water in the pork and crackers. Add teaspoon of all kinds spice, one-half cup vinegar, some salt and one cup raisins chopped.

VICTORIA, OLD NEW YORK HOTEL, SOLD FOR $8,000,000

City's Night Life Centered About It Thirty Years Ago.

The Hotel Victoria, New York, is to be torn down and a twenty story business building erected on its site. Lady Almeric Hugh Paget and John S. Melcher sold the property for $8,000,000.

The Victoria is the last survivor of a famous group of hotels about which the night life of the town used to center thirty years ago, a link between the old lower Broadway hotels of the last generation and the modern steel structures of today further uptown. It was opened in 1879.

For many years a large portrait of Queen Victoria was hung in its lobby, and it straightway became a favorite place for English visitors to stop. Actor folk also showed a fondness for it. Sir Henry Irving making his headquarters there while playing here. The statesmen seemed inclined to cling to the Fifth Avenue, at least those of the Republican persuasion, but an attempt was made to make it a Democratic hangout. President Cleveland helped some. He stopped there at the time of the Columbian celebration, as did also other members of his cabinet.

In 1895 the hotel was closed, the hotel center already having begun to move northward again. It remained empty for five years, when "Plunger" Walton reopened it. In 1903 the present proprietors took a ten year lease of it. Like the Fifth Avenue, it felt the competition of the newer type of hotels keenly, but for awhile it took a new lease of life and attracted many of its former patrons again, even the politicians. Its passing will practically mean the end of what for many years was a famous hotel center.

An Inexpensive Amusement.

"Did you ever," said Belinda, "try standing cents on edge? It can be done if the cents are not worn. They can most easily be made to stand on blotting paper, but they will stand on a smooth, polished table. Try it some time when other amusements flag."—New York Sun.

HEALTH HINT FOR TODAY.

Oil the Human Machinery.

A system which is lacking in the natural oils must have those oils supplied. Oil baths, oil taken internally and food which is rich in oils are necessary to establish the normal condition again. A cup or two of hot milk will prove helpful, and it should be sipped slowly to get the best effect.

How Is Your Weight?

While it is true that too much weight is not to be desired yet the fact remains that many men and women are thin to the point of danger. This danger lies in their having no reserve force or nerve power to combat deadly diseases. A little extra flesh is needed by all to feel well and to look well, and this calls up the question of how best to increase the weight. Physicians and chemists, by experiments have solved the problem of increasing the white and red corpuscles of the blood, by the administration of 3 grain hypo-nuclane tablets, and this is always followed by an increase of weight. Obtain in sealed packages, and take for a period of several months according to directions with packag es.

Postal Banks Have Proved to Be Very Popular

BIG CITIES TO HAVE THEM

Boston Postoffice and Many of Its Sub-Stations, as Well as New York and Chicago, Will Give Plan a Trial—Postmaster General Says That He Has Been Subjected to Unjust Criticism

Boston, June 23.—Immediately after July 1 a chain of postal savings banks will be established throughout Boston.

This announcement was made yesterday by Postmaster General Hitchcock, who was here to attend Harvard's class day. The banks will be established in the central postoffice as well as in a number of the sub-stations.

Banks will also be opened in New York and Chicago. These two cities, with Boston, will be the first three first class postoffices in which the plan will be tried out.

"There are now more than 200 of these banks in the second class postoffices of the country," said Hitchcock, "and the idea has become so popular that I am now going to try the big cities. Boston's banks will be opened shortly after the first of the month."

The postmaster general arrived at the federal building to call upon Postmaster Mansfield yesterday afternoon. He was accompanied by Joseph Leiter, the Chicago millionaire, who was his classmate in the class of '91, Harvard. He devoted some time to explaining his policy of economy.

"The people have been pretty harsh to me," he said, "but now they are just beginning to understand what I've been trying to do after three long years.

"I believe in using every cent of the salary appropriation for the real working of the department. Therefore, those who, after investigation have been found too old or otherwise unable to perform their duties, have been given less arduous work.

"It amounts in effect to a pension system. I have tried to keep all veterans at work.

"I have desired to obtain the highest standard of efficiency. My policy is not to economize on salaries but on waste of time. No man has been taken from his job without specific cause.

"There has been much criticism of the railway mail service. I believe it to be made up of a fine body of men and it is but natural that they should have their grievances. But there is really less trouble among them than is generally supposed. I shall make no changes in this service."

SENT TO REFORMATORY

Sequel to Arrest of Gurney at Graveside of His Wife

Woburn, Mass., June 23.—Howard E. Gurney, who was dramatically arrested at the funeral of his wife, was found guilty of forgery in court here and sentenced to the Concord reformatory for an indefinite term. Gurney was charged with forging and uttering a check for $28, which he tendered Henry Mellitt of Stoneham in payment for goods.

Gurney's arrest at the grave of his wife, who was a daughter of Mayor Moore of Melrose, was startling to the residents of Melrose, where Gurney was a resident. As the last spadeful of earth was placed on the grave and the young husband turned to enter his carriage, two police officials clapped hands on his shoulders.

FIFTH SET OF TWINS

Woman Has Given Birth to Ten Children In Eight Years

Gulfport, Miss., June 23.—Although her husband is regarded in Gulfport as the "most delicate" looking member of the whole family, Mrs. J. D. Pifario, herself small in stature and avoirdupois, is generally regarded as furnishing Gulfport the distinction of claiming a world's record for anti-race suicide.

Mrs. Pifario has just presented her husband with twins, the fifth set in eight years. There are six girls and four boys and all are living in perfect health. The husband weighs ninety pounds. The first twins were girls, also the fourth and fifth sets.

Old Business Man Drops Dead

Lynn, Mass., June 23.—Benjamin F. Rumsey, formerly one of the leading shoe manufacturers in this city, was found dead in the dooryard of his home last night. Death was due to heart disease. Rumsey, who was 60 years old, retired from active business a short time ago. He was not married.

FALL RIVER HAS BIG CARNIVAL PARADE

Horse Show Also a Leading Feature of "Merchants Day"

Fall River, Mass., June 23.—Thursday was "Merchants' day" in the carnival week celebration of the 100th anniversary of the establishment of the textile industry of this city.

There were two leading events on the day's program. The first was the horse show, which included a long list of entries of thoroughbred animals, many of them from the stables of the wealthy summer colony at Newport, R. I.

The spectacular feature, however, was the big carnival parade, which passed through the principal streets of the city last night. Military, civic and fraternal organizations, together with trades displays and elaborately decorated floats, were seen in the parade.

MAY LOSE ITS CHARTER

Brockton Union on the Grill at Convention of Shoe Workers

St. Paul, June 23.—The revocation of the charter of the Brockton, Mass., union of the International Boot and Shoe Workers is the pivotal point around which a heated quarrel revolves in the convention of the International union.

The trouble hinges on the alleged suspension of Business Agent Stanley by the Brockton union, because of the stand he had taken before the state board of arbitration.

The International union claimed this suspension was made without charges having been preferred.

Brockton delegates say Stanley was not suspended and that in revoking the union's charter the international officers acted in a high-handed manner.

SUPREME COURT'S WORK.

Great Amount to Be Done When Judges Return From Vacation.

Coincident with the closing of the term of the supreme court of the United States and the departure of the justices for their summer vacations has been the planning of an immense amount of work for the court when it meets again next October.

Thirty-five cases, some of them of farreaching importance, have been advanced for hearing on the first day of the next term "or as soon thereafter as practicable." The quoted phrase is estimated to mean a month, for it is said that it will take at least that time to hear the arguments in all these cases.

Among the cases advanced are those involving the validity of the indictment of Charles F. Munday and others growing out of the so called Stracey coal lands claims in Alaska and of the indictment of James A. Patten and others on charges of violating the Sherman anti-trust law in "cornering" the cotton market. The review of the trial of Frederick A. Hyde and others on charges of land frauds on the Pacific coast will be another prominent case.

In addition to these the court will have under advisement during the summer about a dozen cases which were argued in the term just closed, but not decided. Probably the most important of these is that involving the constitutionality of the federal employers' liability act of 1908.

According to a summary by Deputy Clerk Maher of the work done by the court during the term just ended, 569 cases were filed and 454 were disposed of. These included 166 opinions. During the preceding term 503 cases were filed and only 395 cases were disposed of, including 176 opinions.

SAID TO HAVE CONFESSED

Police Say Many Daring Thefts Were Committed by Two Boys

Newton, Mass., June 23.—Two boys, Raymond Williams and Murray Dekin, of Loveville, N. Y., were arrested in Auburndale, charged with attempting to enter Joseph H. Seaver's store.

The police say they confessed to breaking and entering the railroad station at Glenfield, N. Y., on April 22, also to breaking into buildings at Albany, Troy, N. Y., Springfield, Mass., and Boston. Six books, containing over 4000 mileage, were found on them. They were held for one week's continuance.

Women Visit Yankee Flagship

Kiel, June 23.—There was no special program prepared for the entertainment of the visiting officers and crews of the second division of the United States Atlantic fleet yesterday. Three hundred members of the Women's Navy league paid a visit to the flagship Louisiana during the afternoon.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

AMUSEMENTS

DOINGS ON THE STAGE OF LOCAL AND BOSTON THEATRES

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE.

It has been years since B. F. Keith's Theatre has had a summer attraction that could compare with "Swept by Summer Breezes," the new summer offering running at that playhouse. "The Meistersingers," composed of the Harvard, Schubert, and Weber Male Quartettes, and Onita, the human elf, who are the most popular features of the new production, have proved a decided innovation in the amusement line. The splendid singing of "The Meistersingers" has already become the talk of Boston, and so much interest has been aroused that arrangements have been made to continue the engagement for a second week. An entirely new programme of songs has been provided, and several new and noval features will be introduced. Onita, the cute litle Brownie, who has become tremendously popular among the children, will also appear in her quaint "Brownie dance." "The Meistersingers" will be a feature of an unusually strong bill, chief among the novelties being the Four Regals, a remarkable troupe of European strong men who appear in a spectacular scenic production entitled "The Armorers." Johnny Johnston, the Scotch entertainer, The Langdons in "A Night on the Boulevard;" Lillian Ashley, the dainty singing comedienne; and Pollard, a clever comedy juggler, will also appear, besides several features yet to be announced.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE.

There will be a double event at the Castle Square next week—the production of "The Genius" and the return of Howell Hansel. Mr. Craig having engaged Mr. Hansel for a limited number of appearances during the summer, that popular actor will appear assured of the heartiest of welcomes. No actor who has ever played at the Castle Square has excelled Mr. Hansel in popularity, and his engagement is bound to attract no little attention and to assure a continuation of crowded houses. "The Genius" is a farce of the merriest and funniest kind, said to be even more productive of laughter than "Charley's Aunt." It was first presented by Nat Goodwin, and then had a marked success which will be repeated at the Castle Square. The hero is a business man and millionaire poses as a great artist, a great musician and a great sculptor by the easy process of engaging talented young man to produce masterpieces for him. Difficulties naturally arise from his conduct, and from them comes no little of the humor of the play, but finally he extricates himself from his difficulties and all ends merrily. In addition to Mr. Hansel, Mr. Craig will cast the play to the full strength of his company, including Gertrude Bingley, George Hassell, Donald Meek and Mabel Colcord.

PARAGON PARK.

Paragon Park always famous for its prodigality in the matter of free attractions, circus acts, music, etc., never had such a plentiful supply of sights and entertainments free to all patrons of the park and its famous palm garden as this 7th season. For instance, there is the detail of music. Entertaining all the merry-makers on the board walk around the Lagoon, and the diners in the near-by palm garden and roof garden, playing from the band stand on the lagoon, is Mace Gay's military band. The moment they have finished a selection the enlarged Viennese orchestra in the palm garden balcony strikes up. Alternating between these two big organizations are singers in singles, pairs, threes and fours. Marie Ungvarsky, soprano soloist, proves a great favorite whether singing with the band or the orchestra. There is the Paragon quartette in popular songs of the day, and rendering the favorite selections from the operas is the Italian Florence grand opera trio. Then on Wednesday and Saturday nights there are the grand fireworks exhibitions free to all patrons of the park, to say nothing of the marvelous electric illumination every night, and the special Italian illumination every Sunday evening.

REV. DR. SHIPPEN

The Brockton Enterprise says editorially of the late Rev. Rush R. Shippen, of that city, a well known Unitarian minister: "There passed away in the death of M. Shippen a clergyman of a type that people are wont to describe as "the old school," and most people who so speak mention the fact in a tone that means no disrespect for that old school, but rather admiration and affection. All who met this patriarchal, dignified pastor parted from him with a feeling that they had met a friend. He was kindly, and genuinely so. He had lived long in the world and had seen so much of it that most of its pettiness and frailties no longer impressed him, and he was interested in and noted only the broader and more worthy and more striking affairs of life. By the time he arrived in Brockton to become a pastor here he was beyond the age for sensationalism or acrid controversy in the pulpit, and had reached a period when life was mellow and sweet, and when the acerbities and severities and petty jealousies and bitter struggle of youth no longer made any special impression on the good gray minister. He remembered the big affairs of life and he remembered the people he had met worth remembering for achievements or at least attempts, and he let the rest pass without unkind comment, without bothering them or bothering with them. Of a fine presence, of a kindliness that conquered all it met, wise and able and cheery, those who knew Rev. Dr. Shippen in the eventide of his life will remember the oncoming of a glorious nightfall in which the moon and stars shone clearly, and no cloud or hint of coming storm dimmed or threatened its effulgence.

WEEK'S WORST DAY.

Sunday was formerly regarded as a day of rest and peace and quiet. People in general peacefully loafed the day away and felt the better for the change from everyday business and everyday pleasure, even though at times they irritably proclaimed it dull. They stored up strength and they felt more like tackling the Monday morning tasks. At the present time Sunday is very largely a day for general diversion, over which there need be no argument if it is kept within reasonable bounds. But by a lot of people it is not kept within such bounds. The automobiles whirl, the canoes are out, and in each is a lot of people who have no knowledge of the game and who are not in all cases taking any especial care that they don't hamper and bother those who have such knowledge. Sunday is the week's worst day. The boat continues to be rocked. The auto continues to fly at locomotive speed and skid and overturn. The "big feed" and what sometimes goes with it continues to be enjoyed by chauffeurs and oarsmen and handlers of sail and power boats, and smashes and horrors result. It is starting like a record year.

If the tragedies continue to increase in summer all the while it will presently be necessary to have legislation that will bring back something like the days of old when sports and great jollity were forbidden on the Sabbath; and it may be necessary to take such action in order to save the lives of those who need protection just as children need it, and perhaps need it worse.—Brockton Enterprise.

PRESIDENT ADAMS' APPOINTMENTS.

John Lorance in his Washington Gossip in the Boston Record has the following which is of local interest.

"An autographic document signed by John Adams is this:—

Gentlemen of the Senate:

I nominate John Quincy Adams to be minister plenipotentiary from the United States to the King of Prussia.

John Adams.

United States, 20, May, 1797.

Adams' signature is the biggest of all Presidents. The script is high, fully a half inch in the small letters, as if by a schoolboy learning to write and unable to bring himself to write in small letters. It is vertical, moreover, and must have taken Adams sometime to negotiate.

Here are other Adams' nominations, always addressed to "Gentlemen of the Senate" and always dated in the "United States."

I nominate the Honorable George Cabot of Massachusetts to be secretary of the navy of the United States.

Cabot is an ancestor of Senator Henry Cabot Lodge. It is to be noted that "honorable" was spelled in the American fashion even in 1798, when the momination was made.

—The greater success of the postal savings banks in the far west over those in the east cannot be surprising. The savings banks which New England has tested for two generations do not exist west of the Mississippi to any extent and the new govenment depositories now established practically take the place there of the institutions which have proved so much of a boon to the people in New England. —Boston Record.

RECIPROCITY IS MENACED

Coalition Wrests Control of Senate From Republicans

WOOL AND FREE LIST BILLS

Finance Committee Throws Both Measures Into Open Senate to Take Chances Along With Canadian Agreement, Which May Be Killed—Republicans Disclaim Further Responsibility

Washington, June 23.—An already badly tangled situation in the senate was still further complicated when the senate finance committee decided to throw the wool revision and so-called farmers' free list bills, recently passed by the Democratic house of representatives, into the open senate at once, to take their chances along with Canadian reciprocity. Both measures, however, received formal adverse committee reports.

The committee refused to take responsibility for reporting in detail on these measures at any given time, and decided to cast the burden of senate legislation upon the coalition of the Democrats and insurgent Republicans, suddenly brought about when the wool bill came from the house.

The finance committee had been instructed to report the wool bill by July 10. It was reported that Senator Clapp proposed to offer a resolution of instruction as to the free list bill, but the committee forestalled such action.

The effect on reciprocity of yesterday's action is problematical. Some opponents of reciprocity express the hope that it will kill the bill. Friends of the measure agree that it means a long delay to say the least. Some of the insurgents declare reciprocity ultimately will pass, but in amended form. There seems little doubt that the real fight will come on efforts to amend the bill.

Other predictions are made that the senate soon will be plunged into what may prove to be a general tariff revision fight.

"It has been demonstrated that the Republicans no longer are in control of the senate and responsibility has been taken from them."

This statement from Senator Penrose, chairman of the once powerful committee on finance, reflects the chaotic conditions in the senate, as a result of Wednesday night's fight over the house wool bill, which brought about a coalition of Democrats and progressive Republicans. By 39 to 18 this coalition instructed the finance committee to report the wool bill to the senate by July 10.

Endorsing Penrose's statement "that the Republican party no longer was responsible for the conduct of affairs in the senate," Senator Lodge said he was glad the responsibility was to be placed where it belonged.

"I shall take a great deal of pleasure," he added, "in sitting back and watching the senate struggle with a tariff bill that has not been passed upon by the finance committee. It will take a long while to get through a situation like this, but we can wait."

All guesses as to a possible date of adjournment, it is now admitted, are worse than useless. Some senators believe the extra session ultimately will dovetail into the regular session next December.

CAMERA MAN WINS SUIT

Newspaper Photographer Has a Right to Take Snap Shots

Newport, R. I., June 23.—A newspaper photographer has a right to take a picture of anyone on the street, according to a decision by Justice Stearns in the superior court.

He so instructed a jury which returned a verdict of $400 to Richard W. Sears, a Boston newspaper photographer, who alleged assault and personal injury against Henry P. Walker of this city, while Sears was taking a photograph of a wedding scene.

This being the first direct decision on the rights of a newspaper photographer, lawyers here say that the chances are very strong that it will be followed in most other states.

A TOTAL OF $1,026,682,882

Amount of Appropriations of Last Session of Cingress

Washington, June 23.—Appropriations made by congress in the third session of the Sixty-First congress amounted to $1,026,682,882, according to a joint statement by the house and senate appropriations committees.

This was $1,218,747 less than the appropriations of the previous session. In addition, however, contracts were authorized to be entered into for certain public works calling for future appropriations of $43,454,145.

COPY OF MRS. EDDY'S WILL IS PROBATED

Attorney General of Massachusetts Appeals From Decree

Boston, June 23.—The will of Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy, in the form of a copy of the original document, was admitted to probate in Suffolk county by Judge George after a hearing.

No objection to its being allowed was made, but Attorney General Swift, on behalf of the state, entered an appeal to the supreme court from the decree. The question involved in this case and another one relating to her estate now pending before that bench is where her domicile was.

Charles F. Choate offered the copy of the will with an authenticated record of proceedings relating to it in the New Hampshire probate court at Concord.

Massachusetts alleges that Mrs. Eddy's home was in this commonwealth. It is argued by New Hampshire she lived in that state. There is a question between that two commonwealths as to rights to levy inheritance taxation upon her property.

By permitting the will to be probated here without a fight and taking the matter direct to the supreme court, the expense and delay of two trials is reduced to that of one. All issues will be settled by the supreme court at one hearing.

DYNAMITE FOR MIKADO

Man Implicated In Alleged Conspiracy Said to Have Confessed

Victoria, B. C., June 23.—Another anarchistic plot, similar to that for which Kotoku and his adherents were executed several months ago, in which it was planned to assassinate the Japanese emperor, has been discovered at Nagoya, according to advices brought by the steamer Awa Maru.

The police found dynamite and other explosives hidden in the house of Genmatsu Gotot, who was one of the Kotoku group. Under rigid examination, he is said to have confessed the plot.

Jerry Sullivan, who has been employed at M. LAWYERS RUN GOVERNMENT.

They Number Sixty-five Per Cent of the Present Congress.

304 LAWYERS OUT OF 480.

Seven Out of Nine Cabinet Officers Have Had Legal Training—Occupations of Senators and Representatives.

The government of the United States is run by the lawyers. The statistics on this point are overwhelming and leave no doubt that the ordinary business man, manufacturer or agriculturist has little to say in the affairs of the nation. The present congress is so completely in the hands of the lawyers that they number more than 65 per cent of its total members.

Of the 480 members of both senate and house 304 are lawyers. A few of the others have also been trained in the law, but are engaged in other occupations now. The judicial branch of the government is, of course, given over entirely to lawyers. But the same is almost true of the executive branch. President Taft is a lawyer. So are Secretaries Knox, MacVeagh, Stimson, Wickersham, Hitchcock, Fisher and Nagel. Thus out of nine members of the cabinet seven have had a legal training.

In congress the lawyer is king beyond dispute. In the senate there are thirty-two Republican lawyers and the same number of Democratic lawyers. In the house the Republicans have ninety-nine lawyers and the Democrats 145. Thus 70 per cent of the senators are members of the bar and 63 per cent of the representatives. The representation of other occupations in congress is so small as to be insignificant as compared with the army of lawyers. In both houses combined there are only twenty-six merchants, twenty-four farmers, twenty-three editors and twelve manufacturers.

Of course many of the lawyers in congress are also engaged in other occupations, such as banking, real estate, manufacturing and agriculture, and many of them are associated with large industrial corporations. But in classifying the occupations of members of congress for the purpose of this article each man has been put down under the vocation in which he is principally engaged.

In the Senate.

Here is a table which shows the occupations of United States senators in the present congress:

	Republican.	Democratic.	Total
Lawyers	32	32	64
Merchants	4	2	6
Farmers	1	3	4
Manufacturers	3	0	3
Editors	1	2	3
Capitalists	3	0	3
Banker	1	0	1
Physician	1	0	1
Cattle raiser	1	0	1
Mine owner	0	1	1
Lumber	1	0	1
Occupations not given...	3	0	3

In the House.

In the house of representatives the diversity of occupations is greater after the big list of lawyers is passed. Twenty-three different lines of business are represented in the house, according to the official directory. Twenty-nine members do not state their occupations. Here is the table:

	Republican.	Democratic.	Total.
Lawyers	99	145	244
Farmers	6	14	20
Merchants	11	9	20
Editors	8	12	20
Manufacturers	4	5	9
Lumber	4	4	8

Oil operator	0	1	1
Ironworker	0	1	1
Hotel keeper	0	1	1
Author	0	1	1
Naval architect	0	1	1
Occupations not given....	16	13	29

In the above table the naval architect is Richmond Pearson Hobson of Alabama, the author is E. W. Townsend of New Jersey, the ironworker is Frank Buchanan of Illinois, and the builder and the hotel keeper are Calder and Lindsay of New York.

RARE INDIAN RELIC.

Artistic Head of Baked Clay Found on Jersey Farm.

A head made of baked clay, said to be the rarest find of an Indian relic ever made in New Jersey, has been unearthed on a farm near Trenton, in the vicinity of White Horse, and is now in possession of Dr. Charles C. Abbot, the naturalist, who already has brought together more than 100,000 Indian pieces.

The head is two and one-half inches long and an inch and a half wide. Shell ornaments, known to have been used by the Delaware Indians, are attached to the ears, while the lips and nose have been slightly abraded. The artistic ability shown in this relic is said to be altogether beyond what is supposed to have been the skill of the Indians. In the same field have been found many of the ordinary forms of Indian stone implements, and all of these are of the highest class of workmanship.

LYNCH RULES FOR BOSTON.

Pittsburg, June 22—Announcement is made today that President Lynch has decided against the Pittsburg baseball club in the protest of the game won by Boston here June 15 by a score of 8 to 7. The local club claimed a decision made by the field umpire should have been made by the umpire behind the bat. The protest was based on section 3 of rule 61 of the playing code, which provides that in the case of a runner being caught between third and home with more than one base occupied the umpire-in-chief shall make the decision of the runners nearest home. Lynch says that the umpire-in-chief is only called upon to decide a play under this rule when a man is run down between third and home; in other words, on a seesaw play.

Coose of 25 Colbert avenue, South Braintree was united in marriage to Ralph Augustus Newcomb, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Newcomb of 37 Sherbrooke avenue, Braintree. The ceremony was performed in All Souls church, Braintree, at 3.30 o'clock by Rev. The bride was most becomingly gowned in white messaline with pearl trimmings and carried a bouquet of bride roses. She was attended by Miss Sadie Allen of Valley avenue, South Braintree who wore an attractive white embroidered muslin gown and carried pink roses Mr. Walter Weeber of Roslindale officiated as best man and Mrs. Fanny Merchant of East Weymouth played the wedding march. The grooms present to his bride was a pearl pendant while the best man received a gold necktie clasp and the bridesmaid was given a gold brooch. After the ceremony was performed the bridal party returned to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin F. Coose on Colbert avenue where a reception was held. The entire affair was conducted in a very quiet manner owing to recent bereavements in the family circle. Refreshments of ices and cake were served and the young couple left the same evening on their wedding trip to Portland, Maine. After their return they will make their home at 37 Sherbrooke avenue for a time and will be at home to their friends there after July 10, 1911. The bride was born in North Weymouth but has lived in South Braintree since she was eight years of age and received her education in the Braintree schools. For a number of years she has been employed as a patent leather repairer in the Williams Kneeland Shoe factory where she made many friends. They showed their sincere friendship by presenting the bride with two large water color paintings. The groom was born in East Weymouth but has resided in Braintree for a number of years. He is well known in athletic circles and is very popular among the younger set. He is employed as an inspector with the United Shoe Machinery Company. Best wishes for a long and happy life are extended by their many friends.

"I'm surprised that you should be so interested in watching those silly dudes."

"Force of habit, I guess. I'm president of a real estate improvement company."

"Well?"

VICTORY FOR QUINCY LAWYER

Attorney E. J. Fegan Sustained By Supreme Court

UNANIMOUS DECISION

A notable victory was won by Attorney Edward J. Fegan of this city when the full bench of the Supreme court early this week handed down a unanimous opinion adverse to the claims of James H. Stark and James E. Robinson in a land case.

Mr. Stark is a Dorchester man who came into wide disfavor among patriotic societies when he published a book, "The Loyalists of Massachusetts," in which he defended the Tories and characterized the Revolutionary forefathers as "liars, thieves, defaulters, smugglers and cowards." In the decision of the Supreme Court he himself is accused of fraud and intentionally misleading statements in attempting with J. C. Robinson to secure title to a tract of land near the Savin hill yacht club.

The land in question was originally owned by the late Mrs. Agnes F. Richards, formerly of Quincy. She died during the pendency of the proceedings and her daughter, Mrs. Winifred R. Murphy, her only heir, also died before the case was decided. The latter's husband, Dr. J. P. Murphy of Brookline, then succeeded to the title.

Merchants' Week Closes Today With Big Parade

The band concert on Friday evening was in front of Remick Bros. store on Hancock street and like the other concerts it was largely attended. The crowd judging from the applause appearing to enjoy it.

Tod ay is the windup of Merchants' week and this afternoon there will be grand parade of the fire department. Quincy is proud of its fire department and it has good reason to be for it is one of the most efficient departments in the state. The program for this afternoon will include a parade of the entire department with two of the old time pieces of fire apparatus. These are the old hand tub Granite, of which His Honor was a member when a young man and the old Lovell chemical.

The chemical engine was one of the first engines of the kind to be used by any fire department of the state and in its day did some good work. This was before the days when apparatus was built where hose wagons carried chemical tanks.

In addition to the two old pieces of apparatus there will be three old time fire fighters in the parade. Stephen Hobart, who ran with the old Tiger, Benjamin King, a former member of the Boston fire department and the last captain of the Lovell chemical and Warren Dunbar of the old Tiger. Mr. Dunbar will lead today's parade and will carry the silver trumpet that always made its appearance with the Tiger when it was on parade.

From the archives of the Daily Ledger there has been found the following cut which is said to be a picture of Mr. Dunbar in his palmy days when on parade.

Mr. Dunbar has of course changed considerably since this picture was taken and his features may not be readily recognized.

After the parade through the principal streets about City Square there will be a play out of the old Granite and then the steamer will show what she can do.

The two old pieces of fire apparatus will lead the parade and then will come Chief Williams and the District Engineers, the new auto chemical, the steamer and other pieces of apparatus.

The line of march will be from near the Adams Academy, to Cottage

The piano recital by the pupils of Miss Margaret Carruthers was held at the home of the teacher, 16 Edison street, last evening. All the pupils played from memory and all are to be commended for the excellence of their contributions to the program. Doris Peterson rendered the "Dance by Moonlight" especially well and Hortense Wood and Eva Forrest did particularly good work.

MASS MEETING FOR MEN.

The Davis Men's class of the Calvary Baptist church have extended a general invitation to the men of the city to attend the mass meeting at the Calvary Baptist church, Franklin street, Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Rev. Illsley Boone of Boston, one of the brightest speakers in the state is to give an address on the subject, "Supremacy among Men." The Granite City quartet will render several selections and the afternoon should prove to be well spent to those who attend. The idea is somewhat new to have an interdenominational meeting run by one of the churches and it should meet with the heartiest cooperation of all the men in the city. Rev. R. J. Davis, pastor of the Calvary Baptist church, will preside.

COMMITTEE WILL MEET TONIGHT

July Fourth Committee Will Consider Finances

A meeting of the general Fourth of July celebration committee will be held tonight at the rooms of the Board of Trade and it is hoped that there will be a full attendance. It is of the utmost importance that the committee should know how much money they will have at their command to carry out the program that has been arranged, and for this reason the collectors in the different wards are requested to be ready to report at this meeting. The more money the better the celebration and all those who have not been called upon to contribute are requested to make their contribution to Clarence Burgin treasurer of the fund.

No matter how small the contribution, it will be thankfully received and will be duly acknowledged.

Everything now points to one of the grandest celebrations in the history of the city and if all will do their part there is no reason why everybody can not have a grand good time at home.

HONESTY IN EVERYTHING

Considering that George V's crown cost $7,500,000 he is not in any position to criticise the cost of his wife's summer hat.

Gospel meetings have been held in front of the New York Stock Exchange but we doubt if the gospel was permitted inside the door.

Mr. Taft declined to perform the marriage ceremony for a New Jersey man, but no doubt he can get Teddy to officiate at the christenings if they are numerous enough.

The Nashville Tennessean finds fault with W. J Bryan for eating pork chops in June, but no man ever lived on mush and milk and ran a successful newspaper.

With the closing of schools this week the school children enter upon the long summer vacation and they are looking forward to it with much anticipation. There are many of the pupils who with the closing of school end their school days. Some of them are glad of it but as a rule many of them close their books with a good deal of regret. The teachers welcome the long vacation for it will give them a chance to secure a much needed rest after their year's labor.

PUSH ONWARD.

There is such a thing as the over-conservative citizen becoming a mere obstruction to progress. It is not a good thing. Here is something to thing about. The American republic is approaching its 135th birthday and every year of the national life has seen progress, growth, increase of wealth and population. Some sections share in this progress; others don't. Financiers tell us that the country is on the verge of one of the greatest booms in its history. Some sections will share in this prosperity; others will not.

What is the reason for his difference in sharing the benefits of prosperity? Why should not all share at least in some degree in this ever growing wealth of the nation? Every year sees the country richer. Every year sees it busier and more populous. Why should not Quincy share to a greater degree than ever before in the progress of the times?

If we fail, it is because of a great mass of over-conservative inertia. Man is a curious compound. We all have this mass of inertia within us, this giant of conservatism that leads us to be too easily contented and to allow our rivals to snatch opportunities away from us.

The thing to do is for each good citizen to get busy and help push this conservative element that would bar our progress overboard—over into the sea of progression. That is the way to make a prosperous Quincy.

Let each good citizen, no matter how enterprising he thinks he may be examine into his own heart and see if there is hidden there a conservative interloper who is obstructing progress and therefore his own interests. Perhaps he is a jealous conservative, who fears to help any new movement for fear it will benefit some other section rather than his own. No matter what kind of an obstructionist it is, overboard with him. It is time for Quincy to go to the front and admit no equal among the cities of its class in the state. The opportunity is before us. It only needs the right public spirit to set on foot an era of unprecedented progress. Merchants' week in the center of the city is a commendable step forward and will advance the interests of the city in a subsidiary way, and it would be well if every natural division of the city did the same thing.

The way to boost is to boost, not to find fault, or to object to your neighbor boosting. If you have this anti-boosting spirit within you in any form—overboard with him.

THE BIG COLLEGE ROWING EVENT

The rule of the trainer and the coach is now operative in all its tensely drastic autocracy at New London and Poughkeepsie, in preparation for the great Yale-Harvard race of June 30, and for the meeting June 27 of the Intercollegiate Rowing Association, in which Wisconsin, Cornell, Pennsylvania, Syracuse, and Columbia compete.

Three Cornell freshmen who ate some ice cream have learned this week somethings about college crew training of which they were previously in ignorance.

The intensity with which the college boy throws himself into the work of winning these races is typical of American temperament.

An athlete of one of the Oxford, Eng., colleges thus puts the English spirit in rowing: "We prefer to be beaten as gentlemen amateurs, who row for the sport of it, rather than as highly specialized pupils of a hired trainer."

The losers after an Oxford race talk something like this: "Bully race, wasn't it? We were awfully ragged. But we'll forget all about it at the jolly dinner tonight."

The losers in an American college return with their little universe in ruins at their black disgrace, sobbing like hurt children, almost in hysteria, as the result of the highstrung training of the several weeks previous, sometimes announcing that they are going to quit college.

In past years, an air of suspicion and hostility governed the relation of the two crews. One crew would rig up their freshmen eight in the varsity sweaters send them ostentatiously down the river and when the hostile coaches got out to watch them their real varsity eight would craftily slip out in the other direction for long training out of sight. The annual formal call made on each other by the two crews was like the shake hands of two professional gladiators in the ring.

These asperities are said to be modified now, but the sport is still on too hysterical a key. However, our American temperament believes that if a thing is worth doing at all, it is worth doing up to the limit, hence the inconceivable burden and expense of coaches and trainers and equipment, and the absorption of the students in a purpose entirely outside that for which they were sent to college.

avenue, to Chestnut street, to Hancock, to Temple around the fountain to near the Ledger office where the parade will stop. Then the Granite will play three streams with a crew of old timers maning the brakes. After the steamer plays two blows will be sounded on the fire alarm circuit which will be a signal for the apparatus to return to quarters.

WRECK AT STONEHAM

Mary Foley, Woburn; hysterics.

Lillian Gorman, Woburn; arms lacerated.

Lottie Doucette, Stoneham; hip injured.

Mary Judge, Woburn; suffering from shock and injuries to back.

Elizabeth Connolly, Woburn; cut and bruised about arms and shoulders.

Agnes White, Woburn; injuries to back.

Anna Mulranan, Woburn, badly bruised.

Mary Mulranan, Woburn; seriously ill from shock.

Nellie Mulranan, Woburn; bruised and suffering form shock.

May Cogan, Woburn; injuries to back of head.

Residents of the neighborhood assisted the injured and fainting girls into their homes and hurry calls were sent for physicians. Four, Drs. Nickerson, Parks and Kerrigan of Stoneham and O'Leary of Wakefield, responded and attended the young women. They found several in a highly nervous state and many others cut and bruised. After they had been attended to automobiles were secured and they were sent to their homes.

Both of the cars were badly damaged, the rear vestibule of the special being smashed in and many windows broken. The front vestibule of the other car was damaged similarly and it had to be towed to the car barn. The first car was able to proceed. Officials declined tonight to make the names of the motormen and conductors in charge of the cars public. An investigation will be instituted at once to determine the cause of the accident.

QUINCY LAWYER

It appeared in evidence that Stark began his attempts to secure the land back in 1885, when he causesd it to be assessed for the purpose as he admitted, of acquiring a tax title thereon, it having escaped taxation up to that time. Having failed to accomplish this, he renewed his efforts in 1906 when he planned with Robinson to acquire title to the Richards' lot for their joint benefit.

He was in a fair way to accomplish this, when in 1908 he sought to register the title in their joint names. It was then that Mr. Fegan was brought into the matter and after carrying the case through the Land Court twice, the Superior Court and the Supreme Court he has had his contentions unanimously sustained by the Court of last resort in the Commonwealth.

At the first hearing in the Land Court on the petition of Stark and Robinson to have their title registered Judge Davis found in favor of the petitioners, but Mr. Fegan appealed to the Superior Court, where a jury found that Mrs. Richards gave the deed through fraud and misrepresentations on the part of Stark.

The Land Court in a second hearing reversed its former decision and held that the respondent was entitled to have the deed given by Mrs. Richards voided, because it had been procured by false representations and ordered the petition for registration of the title in Robinson and Stark dismissed.

The petitioners, thereupon, carried the case to the Supreme Court on exceptions where it was argued by Mr. Fegan March 1911.

The Court in its opinion says:

"Shortly before Stark procured the deed in question from Mrs. Richards to Robinson, the Savin Hill Yacht club had acquired land adjoining that of Mrs. Richards, and the result of the answers of the jury and of the facts found by the Land Court at the previous hearing was to show that Stark falsely represented to her that he was interested in the matter solely for that club and was acting for it in asking her to release her interest in the land, and that she relied upon such representations in making the deed, whereas in truth and in fact he was acting for himself and the petitioner, Robinson. This of itself constituted such a fraud upon her as to entitle her to void the deed."

BIBLE STUDENTS' ASSOCIATION.

(Undenominational)

Will meet Sunday, in Colonial hall, at 3 P. M. This is a special meeting. Twelve men from Boston will take part in the service speaking briefly on the Bible and how it has been a blessing to them—The Bible is the torch of civilization and liberty.—The Bible is the oldest book in existence, it has outlived the storms of thirty centuries. Men have endeavored by every means possible to banish it from the face of the earth. They have hidden it, buried it, made it a crime punishable with death to have it in possession, and the most awful and relentless persecutions have been waged against those who have faith in its teachings, but the Bible still lives and today, while many of its foes slumber in death and hundreds of volumes written to discredit it and to overthrow its influence are long since forgotten, the Bible still remains and has found its way into every nation and language of earth, over two hundred different translations of it having been already made. The fact that this book has survived so many centuries, notwithstanding such unparalleled efforts to banish and destroy it is at least strong circumstantial evidence that the great Being whom it claims as its Author, has also been its Preserver.

You are all cordially invited to attend this meeting. It will be a blessing to you. Bring your Bible. Bring your friends. Seats free. No collection.

SAVAGE--PRARIO NUPTIALS

Quincy Belle Marries Popular Business Man

Another very pretty June wedding took place last evening when Newman Harrison Savage and Miss Mabelle Elizabeth Prario, daughter of Joseph W. Prario, 5 Filbert street, were united in marriage at their new home 39 Bradford street, by Rev. R. J. Davis, pastor of the Calvary Baptist church. The bride looked charming in her gown of white marquisette trimmed with satin braid and cord and wearing a circlet of flowers in her hair. Her bouquet was of bridal roses. She was accompanied by Miss Emily Overlock of East Somerville and the groom was attended by Henry T. Prario, a brother of the bride's.

The ceremony was witnessed by 50 or more guests from Quincy, Somerville, Needham, Narragansett Pier, Rhode Island and elsewhere. After the wedding a reception was held from 8.30 to 9.30 and then Mr. and Mrs. Savage started on their wedding trip. The house was beautifully decorated with roses and the new home was indeed attractive. Many of the handsome gifts were in evidence and much admired.

CLASS OF 1911 SAYS "AUREVOIR"

Amusing Prophecy and Class History Enjoyed By All

The class party of the newly graduated class of Quincy high school was held at the school, Friday evening, with practically the whole membership of the class in attendance. The occasion was noteworthy, since the class will not meet again as a unit for a year, when the first annual reunion will take place.

During the early part of the evening games were played and then all the class settled down to hear the prophecy and the history. "Sid" Crane wrote the former but for some reason, possibly lack-of-nerve, had Miss Cora Barnicoat read it. All the class came in for knocks and the athletes received especial attention. As one of the compilers of the statistics in the Golden Rod, "Sid" was well qualified to pass judgment on any and all and no stone was left unturned.

The class history was read by Miss Weinande Favorite and this, too proved to be of great interest and was not without its humorous side.

After the members of the class had found out what they were and what they were going to be, all strove to drive dull care away with dancing and to drown the sorrows which had arisen via. the prophecy in some excellent punch. Mr. Wilson, leader of Wilson's orchestra furnished the music.

The committee in charge of the party was: Marion Bolster, Elizabeth Sayward, Harold Chapman and William Cranshaw.

PREPARING FOR CAMP.

There will be a meeting of the boys who are to go to the Y. M. C. A. camp the first of the month, on Monday evening for last instructions from Mr. Clee. The full membership of 40 is registered and it will be the largest and undoubtedly the best camping trip the boys of the local association ever had. There will be six leaders and a cook in addition to the boy campers. Rindge, N. H., is an ideal place for the location of a camp with its splendid advantages of boating, bathing and fishing on Thorndike pond and with old Mount Monadnock close by furnishing an opportunity for pleasant rambles and overnight trips.

No Imitation for Anty Drudge.

Grocer's boy—"The boss told me to tell you he was just out of Fels-Naptha, but that this soap is just as good, and he's sure you'll like it."

Anty Drudge—"Just out—is he! Well, he's going to be out some more. If he thinks I'm going to use an imitation of Fels-Naptha, just so's he can get a bigger rake-off, he's got another think coming. Some other grocer will get my trade in the future."

Any invention that saves time and labor is bound to come into universal use. Witness the sewing machine, the telephone, the electric light and scores of others. They were received with doubt at first; now every intelligent person takes advantage of them.

So Fels-Naptha soap will some day be used by every woman in this country who washes clothes. More than a million now make it save them time, bother and hard work, and the number is growing every wash-day. If you are not one of these million modern women, you will be some day—just as soon as you have courage enough to break away from old-fashioned methods. Every week your delay means another half day of backbreaking labor, coal or gas wasted, danger of colds from steam, unnecessary wear and tear on clothes.

With Fels-Naptha you can wash in cold or lukewarm water without hard rubbing, and in half the time it takes by the wash-boiler method. Follow closely the directions on the red and green wrapper.

BRIEFS

Morning services at First church will not be held during July and August.

Mr. E. A. Barber of Webster street has gone on a business trip to Ohio but hopes to be back to celebrate the Fourth, as he is one of the heavy weights on the fancy ball team.

The youthful patriotic enthusiasm of Ward 6 is engaged in collecting material for the grand bonfire which has always been the great attraction for this ward the night before the fourth.

All the friends rejoice with Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton of Faxon road that their son, Murray, is on the road to recovery after a most serious illness.

A pleasing concert was held Sunday night at Memorial Congregational church by the Sunday school. Superintendent Blake presided over the entertainment and each class contributed some part of the program.

"The Piper" the drama by Mrs. Marks (Josephine Preston Peabody) is to be given this afternoon and evening at the lawn party of St. Chrysostom's church as the scene is laid in the town of Hamelin just outside the village church, the rectory yard will make an admirable stage. There are forty persons in the cast which Mrs. Morton J. Walker of West Somerville has been coaching.

Great improvements and alterations will be made in the Wollaston Unitarian church during the vacation this summer.

It speaks well for Wollaston that out of the ten pupils highest in scholarship at the Quincy high school graduation six were from Ward five.

FOURTH AT ATLANTIC.

The Ward Six Fourth of July headquarters have been alive every night this week. The finance committee, J. C. Fuller and assistants, were in charge Monday night, and reports from various collectors were very encouraging. Each collector spoke of the assistance and general good feeling towards the celebration by the citizens. Every assurance is given of a larger collection this year than ever before.

Charles E. Gill and his assistants are exerting every effort toward making the parade a success. The opportunity is open for any one to make application to enter by applying to any of the committee.

J. P. Clark and his assistants in the field, track and water sports have got their posters up outlining the events for the day. Entries may be made to any of the committee not later than July 1.

James A. Smith of the music committee has everything planned for the entire day.

The Executive committee is busy arranging for cups and prizes to be given to winners of the various events also preparing a program which will give information regarding the sports and all other events of the day's celebration.

Italian Ship and a Hundred Loaded Lighters Sink In Harbor

Iquique, Chile, June 24.—Many persons were injured in a cyclone which swept over this place. The Italian ship Cavaliere Clampa was sunk. One hundred loaded lighters went down in the harbor and scores of other vessels were partially wrecked.

In this city several buildings were dismantled and roofs were blown from scores of others. People fled through the streets in wild panic.

An extraordinary feature of the cyclone was the accompaniment of rain and the high temperature. Rainfall is virtually unknown here.

Cannon Silencer the Latest Invention of Hiram Maxim

TELLS CLASSMATES ABOUT IT

Concussion of Discharge Will Be Entirely Eliminated—Reduction of Recoil, Muzzle Blast and Flash—Will Prevent Location of Battery by Enemy In Actual Warfare—Will Help Gunners of the Navy

Boston, June 24.—First account of the "Maxim artillery silencer" has been made public by the inventor, Hiram P. Maxim. His class, school of mechanical arts, of the Institute of Technology, '86, completed its reunion here, and some interesting information was given members by Maxim.

He said that the first cannon silencer probably ever constructed in the history of the world had just been completed and tested. It is of the three-inch calibre for field guns. Trials already made indicate that not only will all of the concussion of discharge be eliminated, but the recoil will be greatly reduced, and also the muzzle blast and flash. These last items are of great importance from a military viewpoint.

Mr. Maxim told his classmates that during the Russian-Japanese war, one of the great difficulties found with the high-power artillery was the difficulty of concealing position. With the modern powder charges the flash is visible even in daylight, and the muzzle blast so violent that clouds of dust were blown up at each discharge. This served to clearly indicate position to the enemy.

The "silencer" stops the muzzle blast. In fact, it is the checking of the sudden liberation of the powder gases at the muzzle which is the principle of the "Maxim silencer." It allows the exploded gases to emerge into the air gradually, instead of instantaneously, the result being an annulment of noise and muzzle blast.

The inventor also explained the cause for the reduction of recoil. A gun, he said, acted like a hose nozzle. Everyone knows how firemen have to hold very tightly to a hose nozzle to prevent its squirming out of their grasp. This squirming of the nozzle is recoil caused by the action of the water against the air. In the gun it is the same. The sudden blast of gas at the muzzle reacts against the air and causes a setback of the gun the same as is the case with the hose squirting water.

It is expected that the reduction of recoil obtained by the use of the silencer will not only greatly steady the gun in its firing and thereby improve the conditions surrounding a battery in action, but it will also save some of the weight of the present resisting apparatus which the modern high-power gun requires.

Mr. Maxim said that he could not furnish any information as to what the government is doing in the test of his artillery silencers, as this information must come from official sources. He said that the small arms silencer had been officially issued to the army and the reduction of concussion and recoil had improved marksmanship of the rank and file.

In speaking of the possibilities of silencers on the largest calibre guns, Maxim declared that there is not the slightest reason why they should not be successful. On the large guns

HIRAM P. MAXIM

He Has Invented an "Artillery Silencer"

of our battleships they would make target practice possible, where now the concussion seriously interferes with conditions on shore even at a distance of ten or more miles. He also said that in real battle the reduction of nervous tension, as a result of eliminating concussion and shock, would count largely in fighting efficiency. This had already been proved in a small way by bodies of men equipped with silencers and simulating as far as possible real war conditions.

SEAMEN'S STRIKE ENDS

Satisfactory Terms Arranged at Southampton and Antwerp

Southampton, Eng., June 24.—The strike of seamen, which has seriously inconvenienced many of the shopping lines, particularly at the English ports, for several days, was finally ended when the employes of the White Star line accepted the terms of the company and returned to work. The other lines had already compromised with the strikers.

Antwerp, June 24.—The shipping masters of three of the principal British lines calling at Antwerp were authorized by the owners to offer an increase of $2.50 a month. The seamen's union declared that such a settlement would be satisfactory.

THE MEANEST THIEF

New Yorker In Court For Stealing Two Cents From Blind Man

New York, June 24.—Two cents was the extent of larceny charged against Beverley Graham, 39 years old, but Magistrate Breen, before whom he was arraigned, scored him as the meanest thief he had ever had before him. The prisoner had been caught in the act of stealing 2 cents from Robert Bennett, a blind newsman.

A newsboy testifed that he had tried to cheat the blind newsman a few days ago by giving a $1 bill and telling him that it was a $2 bill.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

A BOSTON GIRL'S BUDGET.

Hub's Shining Mark for Birdsmen to be Regilded—Also Noonday Concerts for Busy People on the Historic Common—Suffragists Plan a Roof Garden Party—Scarlet Coated Colonials Make New Englanders Think of Coronation.

The streets of the Hub, where once such uniforms would have been mobbed, were gayly dotted with red coats for several days while the New Brunswick Fusiliers made the most of their visit to this city. The sturdy colonials were greeted with universal applause and good fellowship as they marched in the parade on June 17th, the anniversary of the Bunker Hill battle, and thus cemented one more link in the chain of brotherly love which has grown up between the old and new countries. Their vivid uniforms made a pleasant contrast with the blues of the local companies, while their great high hats are paralleled in Boston only by the nobby Lancers. The sight made many a home staying Boston girl think enviously of her fellow townsmen at the Coronation.

Noonday concerts on the Common are to be introduced by the music department of the city of Boston, following a precedent already established in New York City. These musicales of the workers will take place on August 1 and 8, between the hours of 12 and 2, when the majority of downtown clerks, business men, stenographers and others may take a few minutes recreation under the shady trees of the ancient cow pasture and listen to good music well rendered. Concerts on Sunday afternoons on the Common, on Saturdays in Franklin Park, and in various sections of the city in the evenings, will be conducted as in previous years. One of the leading attractions of Marine Park, South Boston, is its Sunday concerts by the municipal band, and Jamaica Pond, Wood Island Park, and other popular resorts are made attractive to the tired worker for whom Sunday is really a day of rest.

White-gowned girls and black suited young men, all painfully conscious that the eyes of the world are upon them, have filled Boston streets this June fuller than ever before. Diplomas are thicker than flies in this hygienic age and the newspaper columns are devoted mostly to lists of graduates from every grammar, high, normal or college institution. Old Harvard and other institutions have gathered their annual quota of returning graduates and every hour has its class reunions. Good stories, too, are going the rounds as the result of the numberless banquets and other assemblages of alumni and students, as when a feasting crowd of music school alumni listened to a recital of the alternate joys and troubles of a Swedish lumber jack who married a parsimonious wife, got one thousand dollars from her, bought a farm with sheep in Montana, lost the sheep by disease, sold the farm, without the sheep, for what he paid with them, bought a house in Minneapolis, neglected to insure it, lost it by fire and—crowning compensation—his wife with it. With such doings the atmosphere of the entire Hub, filled with throngs of students of every branch of learning, has been redolent of gayety, youth and good spirits.

Boston landed on both feet, so to speak, in the annual competition for furnishing the footwear of the United States army. St. Louis won out last year and St. Louis and Philadelphia were in the contest this year, but a Hub concern has received an order for 66,500 pairs of russet marching shoes, 30,000 pairs of Garrison shoes, 12,000 pairs of black dress shoes and 6,000 pairs of gymnasium shoes, with a possible increase of 50 per cent in this order. It is fitting, indeed, that the shoes of the husky national guard should come from this centre, where every sort of footwear fashion originates.

The Hub's shining mark for the aviator and the paragrapher is to be burnished brighter yet. Soon more gloriously will the glistening dome on Beacon Hill reflect itself in the Frog Pond and strike the anxious eye of the incoming ocean or air voyager as truly a beacon light of home. Staging around the State House dome is now in process of erection, and before long some three thousand dollars worth of labor and gold leaf will have been spread over its now slightly dingy surface. It is four years since the Bulfinch dome was last regilded, during which time it has gladdened the eye of Bostonian and stranger alike until recently when it has begun to show the strain of New England weather, the spots where gold leaf was not being much more frequent than those where it was.

"On to Fall River" is the battle cry of the Massachusetts suffragists this week. Most of the activities of the New England votes for women advocates are centred in the city overlooking Mt. Hope Bay, and a number of Boston workers are making their presence felt in the festivities attendant upon the cotton exposition week. They have been handicapped to a slight degree by the custom which forbids their public speaking or demonstrations in the public places, but the good ladies under the leadership of Miss Mary Gay and Miss Louise Hall have fitted up an attractive window on Main street, giving to the public gaze the banners and posters and literature of the cause. A rest room for women has been fitted up at the Boys' club, an unusual organization with a beautifully furnished building of its own. The suffragists took part in the big automobile parade on Tuesday and in the trades parade of Wednesday, making themselves known by suffrage banners, sandwich boards and literature. One banner was made by the association members to be carried by Miss Rose Brennan, a young Fall River girl, urging that working girls need the vote. Meantime, things are doing in Boston. On Sunday is planned a roof garden party for Ward 6, to take place at the Civic Service House. There will be speaking in Italian and English, and an entertainment consisting of singing, instrumental music—and lemonade. It is intended to carry this form of work on through the summer, taking in each of the Boston wards. Plans are also on foot for a tour of the summer resorts and fashionable watering places of the state, though these have not been entirely perfected as yet. There are other indications that the summer will be a lively one in the suffrage camp. Ethel Angier.

The hotel men in convention at Boston sang "It's nearly time to hit the down." We doubt if any of them ever admitted that the time had fully come.

KING AND QUEEN IN BIG PAGEANT

Magnificence Surpasses That of Coronation Procession

LONDON'S STREETS PACKED

Their Majesties Receive Uproarous Welcome From Their Subjects and Visitors From Abroad—Greeted by Lord Mayor, Who Surrenders City's Pearl Sword—Wonderful Display of Soldiery In Seven-Mile March

London, June 24.—Rivalling in splendor and regal magnificance the coronation procession itself, the state procession, the second great street spectacle in the pageantry attending the crowning of King George V, furnished the hundreds of thousands of visitors within the city's gates a military spectacle unapproached in modern times.

King George and Queen Mary, appearing fresh and unwearied despite the arduous functions through which they had passed, again rode forth in state to receive the plaudits of their subjects from both home and overseas.

The spectacle was one of magnificent brilliancy. The gorgeous uniforms, the superb horses of officers and cavalry, the rhythm of marching platoons and the rumble of artillery comprised a majestic martial spectacle. The finest military bands of the empire were scattered throughout the divisions, pouring forth unceasing volumes of martial music.

Seats for many thousands had been erected along this route and the progress of the king and queen was indeed a royal one. Everywhere they received an uproarous welcome from the visitors in the hotels, from the stands in Picadilly, Trafalgar square and The Strand, the business men of London proper, who had brought their families to the city for this day, and again from their majesties' humbler subjects south of the river. The spectators numbered well into the millions.

The decorations of Thursday remained in Picadilly and those in the other streets traversed were not less spectacular.

Except for the absence of the gold coach, the cavalcade was more brilliant than that of Thursday, and the stands along the route certainly made a brighter appearance. Those of Constitution Hill, overlooking the palace garden, were filled with uniformed officers from every part of the world who had come to London to honor Britain's king.

On one stand were royal and other representatives of foreign states. In another were military officers attached to the suites of these representatives; and in the front row of still another stand were naval officers from the international ships at Spithead, including Captain Gove of the American battleship Delaware and his officers.

A wonderful display of soldiers preceded the carriages exhibiting all the cavalry uniforms of the empire. The route was seven miles long.

A contingent of Canadians escorted the first carriage, occupied by Sir Wilfred Laurier, premier of Canada, and Premier Fisher of Australia. This was followed by other colonial premiers.

They were followed by the ever-popular troopers, the Northwest Mounted Police and an African force organized on similar lines.

For picturesqueness, the Indian section, next in line, could not be excelled. The Indian cavalry, in the most gorgeous silken uniforms and turbans, wearing medals won on the field of battle, preceded the carriages in which were the ruling Indian princes and potentates. The latter were fairly weighted down with jewels of enormous value.

The procession stopped at Waterloo palace to receive an address from the council of Westminster city, and at other points to accept addresses from local civic bodies.

Winston S. Churchill, as home secretary, attended these ceremonies, accepting the address for the king and delivering to the king the reply which he was to make.

At Temple Bar the lord mayor of London, afoot, and the sheriffs on horseback, awaited the coming of their majesties and upon their arrival surrendered to the king the city's pearl sword. His majesty simply touched the hilt as a sign of his acceptance, the lord mayor then receiving back the sword as lord mayors have done for many years. The lord mayor then remounted, and with the sheriffs joined the procession, continuing with it until it reached the city boundary at London bridge.

As the sovereigns passed through the centre of the city, millions of lights arranged for illuminations, simultaneously were turned on and the great crowd about the royal exchange redoubled their cheers.

All through South London and back again through Westminster, Whitehall and the Mall to Buckingham palace, crowds filled the stands that lined the route and cheered heartily the appearance of their majesties.

Bad Colds Some colds are worse than others, but they are all bad. Do not neglect them. Treat promptly, vigorously. First of all, ask your doctor about taking Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Then do as he says. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

BOY LEPER TO LEAD LONELY EXISTENCE

Virtually a Life Prisoner In Former Smallpox Hospital

Pawtucket, R. I., June 24.—Harry Sheridan, 15 years old, who was taken from the Massachusetts general hospital May 6 by his father and whirled to his home here in an automobile, after it had been discovered that he was afflicted with leprosy in an advanced stage, was transferred from his home to the detention hospital on the city farm, where he will be virtually a life prisoner. His parents will be allowed to visit him once a week.

How to care for the boy was a puzzling proposition and the city fathers created a board of health to solve the matter. They recommended that the old smallpox hospital be renovated. This was done. Next they advertised for a nurse to care for the boy.

A man named Webber was given the position. He will be in attendance on the boy night and day.

Mrs. George L. Nott, 99 North street Quincy, Mass., says: "I have every reason for holding a high opinion o Doan's Kidney Pills. I was troubled a great deal by headaches and dizzy spells which were so severe at times that I had to grasp something for support to keep from falling. My sight was also affected, spots often appearing before me and my back ached intensely. Hearing of Doan's Kidney Pills, I procured a supply at the Cox Drug Store and began their use. I was helped from the first and after I had taken the contents of five boxes, my case being of long standing, I was cured. Other members of my family have used Doan's Kidney Pills with equally good results."

FACTS ABOUT HAIL STORM.

Quincy was visited this week with one of the most severe hail storms that has been known for years. While much hail fell there is a record of a hail storm in 1797 in Quincy that makes this weeks storm pale into insignificance.

Peter Miller who resided in what is now known as the Dr. Everett estate, in his diary writes as follows of a hail storm that occurred July 14, 1797.

'About half past 3 o'clock, afternoon came a most violent storm of rain and the largest hail that was ever known here (and wind). Some of the hail stones weighed between an eighth and a quarter of an ounce. Hail was near over shoes under the side of the house and broke many square of glass for me. It eat almost all the barley out of the ear, tore the corn and every vegetable almost to pieces. No hail at Houghs Neck and little at Squantum but very bad at Mr. John Billings. On Judge Cranch farm the hail rolled off a siding piece of land so that it was three feet deep in the valley. I got hail from there a commencement day which was 19 to make punch with. It was then one foot deep.

SQUANTUM RESIDENTS PROTEST.

More than one hundred residents of Squantum met at the Squantum Inn Friday evening to protest against the action of the City Council in refusing to grant licenses as Innholders to the Squantum Inn and to Lee's Inn. M. P. Coleman presided and W. H. Kenyon was secretary.

Red hot speeches were made by many of those present, in which the City Council yas taken to task for refusing the licenses, as by doing so great injury had been done Squantum. All of the arguments were to the effect that both hotels were conducted in an orderly manner and to refuse them a license meant a detriment to this section of the city.

After some further arguments a committee was appointed to appear before the City Council and protest against the refusal of the body to grant licenses to these two hotels. The committee appointed were Charles Kokurda Frank Howard, Timothy F. Callahan, C. M. Conant, and W. N. Kenyon.

Harvard Again Beats Yale

Cambridge, Mass., June 24.—Yale's much vaunted "come back" spirit failed to materialize yesterday, and Harvard repeated its victory of Tuesday at New Haven by trouncing old Eli on Soldiers field before a large commencement crowd, by the score of 4 to 1.

Americans led at the Coronation ball. We hope they were given a chance to show what they could do to Old Zip Coon and Money Musk.

BOSTON'S OLD COURT HOUSE.

Sylvester Baxter Calls Portico Notable, and Would Save It from Destruction.

It has remained for Sylvester Baxter, secretary of the Metropolitan Improvement League, to point out to city officials that there is something connected with the Old Court House worth saving. The building is to be razed for the new City Hall annex. Mr. Baxter called on the mayor today and urged the preservation of the portico of the historic building as a feature of Boston's monumental architecture. The portico was the most notable work of Isaiah Rogers in 1833. Mr. Baxter suggests that it might be used as a gate for the public landing to be established or as a gateway for one of the city cemeteries.

Mayor Fitzgerald is heartily in favor of the suggestion which Mr. Baxter outlined, as follows:

"Architecturally the old portico is an excellent example of its period. Historically it is important; beneath it, on the Court House steps, occurred the famous Anthony Burns riot, in which Colonel Higginson and other prominent Abolitionists were involved. To preserve it would entail but slight expense; it could easily be stored somewhere pending a determination as to what use it should be put.

"This portico is one of four monumental examples of Boston's early nineteenth century architecture, in which great monolithic columns from the Quincy quarries were employed—the facade of the old Exchange Building on State street, the portico of the Tremont House, the Custom House and the Court House. The two that were destroyed were well worth preserving; it would be a misfortune to lose the Court House portico—the most notable work of Isaiah Rogers, 1833, when it could be saved at such little cost to the city.

"Possily it might be made an imposing feature of the harbor front as a water gate for a public landing, or it might be effective as a gateway for one of the city cemeteries—say that at Brighton."—Boston Transcript.

MERCHANTS WEEK ENDS IN A BLAZE OF GLORY

Second Annual Celebration Was Most Successful From Start to Finish

Great Praise For Efficient Fire Department

The second annual merchants' week of the Quincy Merchants association came to an end Saturday night in a blaze of glory. The day was a most successful one from start to finish. In the afternoon there was a parade of the entire fire department of the city which was a feature in itself. The department never looked better than it did Saturday and Chief Williams and the city may well feel proud of it's department. It was a most formidable looking fire fighting force and experience has proved it to be as efficient as it is formidable, for the department has a record second to none in the state.

The appearance of the department was favorably commented upon by the fire commission of Lewiston, Me., which happened to be in town on Saturday. This commission which was composed of Secretary Harry Stetson and Commissioners Charles Martell and E. J. Callahan, are in Massachusetts investigating auto fire apparatus with a view of purchasing one or more pieces for the city of Lewiston, and they came to Quincy to see the new auto chemical. They came at a very opportune time for they had an opportunity to see an up to date department and they had many words of praise to say of its appearance.

The parade of the day took place in the early afternoon. The several pieces of apparatus of the city assembled on Hancock street shortly before 2 o'clock. At two minutes past the hour of 2 o'clock Mayor Shea sent in an alarm from Box 26. This was the signal for the parade to start and it moved promptly on time. A squad of officers kept a clear space in front of City Hall and here the parade was reviewed by Mayor Shea and several City Officials. The parade was a unique one for it was led by two of the old fire fighting apparatus of olden days and the new generation had an excellent opportunity to see with what our fathers fought the fires in the good old days. Not only were there two of the old pieces of apparatus but three of the old veterans added tone to the affair. They were Warren Dunbar an enthusiastic Tiger man who led the parade with the company's old silver trumpet, Stephen Hobart, who, in a fire helmet, red shirt and belt, looking every inch a fireman rode on the old Granite with Galen Vinton Bowditch, who felt as proud as a peacock in his fire helmet and pink shirt. Leading the Lovell chemical was Capt. Benjamin King, the last foreman of this company and a veteran Boston fireman. Capt. King also wore a red shirt and fire helmet and carried a silver fire trumpet with a bouquet of roses in its bell.

Drawing these two pieces of apparatus were crews composed of old time firemen in white shirts and caps.

All of the apparatus was decorated with small flags and several were also decorated with flowers. Riding on Combination No. 3, was little Miss Gladys Sturgess, daughter of Capt. Sturgess of the company, the company's mascot.

The formation of the line of parade was as follows:

Chief of Police Burrell
Squad of Police
Quincy Fife and Drum Corps
Chief Marshall
Warren Dunbar
Granite No. 3.
Capt. Michael Barry
Lovell Chemical
Capt. Benjamin King
Chief Peter J. Williams and
Ex-Chief John W. Hall
District Chiefs Packard and Nyhan
Auto Chemical
Capt. Charles P. Costa
Steamer No. 1
Combination No. 1
Lieut. John Faircloth
Combination H. & L. No. 1.
Hose No. 4
Combination No. 3.
Hose No. 3.
Hook and Ladder No. 3.
Combination No. 2.
Combination H. & L. No. 2.

After passing in review of Mayor Shea the parade proceeded over the following route: Hancock street, Cottage avenue, Chestnut street, Hancock street, Temple street, Washington street around the fountain into Hancock street to the head of Granite street.

The parade after the old Granite was drawn up in front of the old cemetery and with old veterans an others manning the brakes they showed the thousands gathered in City Square, that although she had been given a back seat there was still considerable squirt in her and the boys proceeded to get it out.

To see this good old tub play, brought to mind many pleasant recollections of olden times. On the engine, to cheer the men on the brakes to do their level best were Capt. Barry of the present fire department, Ex-Chief James H. Elcock a former member of the old Granite and one of its most enthusiastic admirers who could not resist the opportunity to help play her out. Then there was Warren Dunbar of the old Tiger and Luther Parrott of the old Vulture. When one recalls the rivalry that existed between these three tubs when they were in active service the thought came to mind how true it is that time levels all differences.

How those old boys did work. "Break her down now boys" "Strike her every time" "Now give it to her" "Down front" and other such exclamations served to freshen the memory of the good old firemen's muster days.

The old Granite played three streams and while no measurements were taken she threw water at least 200 feet.

While this was in progress the steamer had drawn up to the hydrant in front of the Adams building and had gotten up steam ready to show what she could do in throwing water. Her first stream was through a single line of hose, then through two lines and lastly the two streams were connected with the Hunt gun on Combination No. 1. and a more powerful stream thrown. When the stream from this gun was directed up in the air it threw a stream hgher than the Adams building and as the water fell back into the street many were treated to an impromptu shower bath.

This over the Chief's call was sounded on the fire alarm circuits, which was a signal for the apparatus to return to quarters, and the parade and exhibition was over.

HORSE BREAKS BACK.

Shortly after a horse in crossing Hancock street at the head of Granite street slipped and fell striking his head in such a manner to injure his spine so that he had to be killed by Dr. Abele.

SMALL BLAZE.

While the concert was in progress an alarm was sounded from Box 23 located near the band stand. This was for a small fire in a pile of rubbish in the rear of Kincaide's store. Volunteer firemen manned the private line of hose at the rear of Hall's stable and had the fire out by the time the department arrived which was in remarkably short time.

The alarm from this box which is known as a danger zone box brought a still larger crowd and as it happened was a fitting climax for the week.

One of the features of the week was the decorated electric car which was run every day and evening

COMMITTEE ASKS MORE MONEY

In Order To Carry Out July 4th Program

A well attended meeting of the general Fourth of July committee was held Saturday night at the rooms of the Board of Trade. No definite action was taken on any matter but there was a general discussion of plans for the celebration. Reports from the treasurer were received showing that with the amount allowed by Mayor Shea the committee had on hand about $1,200. From indefinite reports from the collectors, who have not as yet reported it was learned that there was about $300 in their hands which would bring the amount up to $1,500.

The plans as now laid out by the committee call for an expenditure of $2,100 it will be seen that considerable money remains to be raised this week. If by any reason the necessary amount is not raised it will necessitate curtailing the program which the committee do not desire to do. It is hoped therefore that when the committees report this week that it will be found that more than the amount necessary had been raised.

On Wednesday evening the drum corps will parade through City Square with red fire and banners urging all who have not as yet contributed to come forward with their mite.

The plans as laid out by the committee, if they can be carried out, will mean the best celebration the city has ever had and it seems as though there should be no difficulty in raising the amount necessary.

MRS. HOYT'S DEATH.

Mrs. Martha A. Hoyt widow of J. S. Hoyt of Newington, N. H., passed away very suddenly Friday evening at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Henry A. Barnes of Highland avenue, Wollaston. She had passed a few weeks very pleasantly among neighbors who had become attached to her in frequent visit in past seasons here, and the family were soon to go to the homestead in Newington to pass the remainder of the summer as is their custom. She leaves, beside Mrs. Barnes, a married daughter in Brookline and two sons in the home town, as well as several grandchildren.

A simple service of prayer was held at Highland avenue early Sunday morning and conducted by Rev. Carl G. Horst, after which the family went at once to Newington where funeral services will be held on Tuesday afternoon.

FLIES NEAR QUINCY.

Harry Atwood made a number of flights Sunday from the Squantum aviation field and took up several passengers. On one of his lights he came over toward Quincy coming as far as the street railway car barn and then going toward Third Hill, Wollaston. He was flying quite low when over the car barn and could be seen plainly with the naked eye.

It was said at Squantum Sunday that the aviation school would probably move to the north shore, for if the two hotels at Squantum were closed there would be no place for the aviators to get food.

The classes in aviation are held during the early morning and it is necessary therefore for the instructors and pupils to be on the grounds early in the morning and in order to do so they must remain at Squantum all night.

ENGAGEMENTS ARE ANNOUNCED

Surprise Is Sprung at Mr. Hall's Freedom Party

Two surprises were sprung Saturday evening at a gathering of young people to celebrate the twenty-first birthday of Edward R. Hall of Davis street. The remarks of R. D. Hall at the collation that was served were greeted with applause when he announced the engagement of his daughter Margaret to Dr. F. Edwin Davis of Boston and his son Edward Russell Hall to Miss Persis Anna Thompson of Wollaston.

Music and other diversions were enjoyed during the evening, the refreshments being served by Miss Margaret Hall and Miss Persis Thompson. The verandas were tastefully decorated with Japanese lanterns while pink and green formed the scheme of the supper room.

Among those present were: Miss Olive Fay, Miss Dorothy Frye, Miss Grace Bishop, the Misses Eva and Marion Sheldon, Miss Mildred Irving, Miss Edith Chapman, Miss Helen Josselyn, Miss Dorothy Ficken, Charles M. Thompson, George E. Brown, Lucien H. Thayer, Louis B. Weston, J. Harry Hooper, Raymond Gillette, Alison W. Howard, G. Easton Clark, Thomas H. Haines, Frank E. Hall, Mr. and Mrs. George B. Damon, Mrs. Isaac Damon, Mrs. Edward J. Sheldon, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Cummings.

DISTURBED THE PEACE.

Inspector Goodhue and Officer Whalen were at Houghs Neck Sunday and arrested three young men for disturbing the peace, they gave their names as Frank Downey, of South Boston, Cornelius O'Keefe of Quincy and Thomas J. Sullivan of Dorchester. The officers also saw a number of young men playing ball and took their names and summoned them to appear in court this morning. These young men were Lewis A. Wilde of Cambridge, Stanley R. Perry of Belmont, Francis L. Powers of Boston, Herbert T. Evans of Cambridge, Michael J. Conray of Cambridge and Joseph Connelly of Boston. They were arraigned in court this morning for violation of the Lord's day act.

"Professor," said a senior, trying to be pathetic at parting, "I am indebted to you for all I know."

"Pray don't mention such a trifle," was the reply.—Punch Bowl, Pennsylvania.

HONESTY IN EVERYTHING

The courts held up the decree dissolving the powder trust, until they felt sure the small boys had their supply of July 4th torpdoes.

Over in England they crown a man king on account of his birth. Here they crown him on account of the money he squeezed out of us for some necessary of life.

How many of us realize that the longest day of the year has passed and we glide into real summer. Not long before our friend the coal man will again come into his own.

Now for the Fourth of July celebration. Make it bigger and better than ever. If you have not already done so, send your contribution to the treasurer of the fund, care Quincy Savings Bank.

One of the biggest chairs on record has been made for President Taft. We offer no opinion as to whether it stands the strain, until they tell us whether it is built on the suspension or the cantilever principle.

While Mr. Taft was talking at Yale Commencement about the Supreme Court decision, the undergraduates were anxiously wondering about the decisions of the referee in the coming race with Harvard.

Had they had such banquets for the Taft silver wedding as for the English coronation, Congress, which lays so many things on the table, would have lain under the table for several days.

Let us all take our hats off to the Quincy fire department. Oldest to newest it is ably manned by efficient and courageous men. It is a fire fighting brigade of which any city might be well proud. Three cheers and a tiger for those who have had to do with its upbuilding.

I am told that the merchants of Quincy have been more than pleased with their second annual Merchants' Week, which will close this afternoon with a demonstration by the fire department of that city. The apparatus will be out in full force this afternoon and pieces ranging from the old hand tub to the latest fire fighting machine, the automobile with its paraphernalia, will be seen.—Boston Post.

Very true. Merchants' week is over and passes into history as a great success. No better way, than by these celebrations, of showing what a progressive place Quincy really is—and of what fine stores it is able to boast.

EQUAL SUFFRAGE.

So much is being said and written now-a-days about the very interesting subject of woman suffrage, that the following coming from such an eminant authority, will be appreciated by those who desire to hear both sides of this important matter.

Cardinal Gibbons who has just celebrated his golden jubilee, says—"A healthy interest in politics is the bulwark of the nation. There would be, however, in any question of a change in any form of national, state or municipal government, one thing I would oppose, and that is woman suffrage. I do not believe in it. I would qualify this by saying that it might be well to give woman the right of suffrage in questions affecting the schools. Aside from questions like these the polls is not woman's place. I believe that should women rush into politics they would soon become covered with the dust of the arena. I am far from denying woman the right to exercise a sway in public measures, but I believe she would exert that influence, so enormously potent, by the counsel given to husband, son, or the other male members of the family, rather than in active participation in the political life."

As so much has been said about the refusal of Radcliffe College to allow an equal Suffrage league to be organized there, for what appears to college authorities to be good and sufficient reasons, it is rather interesting to look abroad a little. For example, Barnard College has been repeatedly claimed as putting itself formally on record in favor of suffrage, and, naturally great has been the jubilation. But a professor at Barnard has made a signed statement saying that with 300 students in the college the exact membership of the College Equal Suffrage league was twenty-one.

DEFORMED AND REFORMED FOURTHS.

If we are to have a regenerated July Fourth, it is necessary to give the American boy some positive field for red-blooded activity in order to charm his attention from the beloved dynamite fire cracker and deadly toy pistol.

Simply prohibiting certain kinds of fire works is merely challenging the ingenuity of our resourceful youth, who outnumber the police 50 to 1, and are as easily to be rounded up and put to bed at 9 P. M. as a colony of little eels.

It is one of the traditions of our race, dating back beyond the dawnings of history, to have some day of public frolic and merry making, when the ordinary rules of sober go to meeting citizenship are discarded.

Young America seized on July 4th as offering an outlet for this instinctive habit. But if you can beguile him with ball games and running races that morning, he will keep himself in training by peaceful snoozing the night before.

FAKE NOSTRUMS AND THE NEWSPAPERS.

President Taft has appealed to Congress for legislation to strengthen the food and drugs act, so as to stop inter-state commerce in remedies for which false claims are made. He points out the sufferings and loss caused by adulterated medicines and cure alls which are either positively deleterious, or can not possibly cure the diseases claimed.

There is a general impression that the newspapers back up the patent medicine business because of the advertising they get. Nevertheless, it can be safely predicted that the newspapers will be glad to see such legislation enacted.

The man who places upon the market a dangerous compound falsely claimed to cure certain diseases, is one of the vultures of civilization produced by our lust for money. The man who dresses up bread pills with fake testimonials and claims, is a thief. There are plenty of both classes, and the newspapers would be delighted if they could get rid of them.

On the other hand, the medical profession usually takes an arbitrary and exclusive position, in condemning all patent medicines.

And yet a great many of these compounds have been in helpful use for a generation, they were originally the discovery and prescription of some competent physician, and physicians are still glad to use them.

It is impossible under present conditions for the average newspaper publisher to distinguish between these two classes of remedies, advertisements for which are offered to him. He would be very glad indeed to see some competent government bureau drive the fakes out of business, and give a standing to reputable makes of patent medicine which the regular physicians are often so loth to concede.

It is unfortunate that makers of efficient remedies have so long suffered from the competition of the ghouls of this line of business. Their business is a service to humanity as well as that of the physician. The whole business should be covered by a strict license law, requiring the exact composition and physiological effect of every remedy to be truthfully stated. Under such circumstances the honest chemist would flourish, and a lot of others would take the places with the circus fakes and freaks where they belong.

THE EUROPEAN TITLE TRAFFIC.

Representative A. J. Sabath of Chicago laid his hand on a sore spot when he offered in Congress a resolution inquiring as to the purchase of foreign titles by American women. He also wants to know how much American money in stocks and bonds is in European coffers, owing to the high cost of such titles, and refers also to the "craze of the trust made rich who are suffering from chronic titlitis."

Mr. Sabath may be joking. Or if serious, he will be everlastingly jollied. The remedy for this real evil is not to be found in acts of Congress, which would tend merely to make the said titles more attractive still, as being forbidden fruit.

Meanwhile, all Europe, from Liverpool to Naples, is dotted with formerly ruined castles that are now regilded with American money. But what does European society really think of the newcomers?

The Contemporary Review indicates the point of view by remarking: "Who would ever hear of the Americans in Europe except for their great wealth? And in the society which they have attained, where do they represent any moral or political force?"

The bargain counters of European nobility are loaded up with dissolute and impoverished noblemen, usually ostracized by their own class, whose families are only too tickled to sell them for American coupons.

The process impoverishes our home land both in money and personality. It can never be stopped by any legislation. Of course there are a great many international marriages that are happy. But in the also frequent cases where a title is squarely swapped for a fortune, the American girl and her capitalistic father ought to be made to realize that they do not get a bargain. They have bought and paid for the article they wanted, but they have not got the goods.

Why? No matter how attractive the girl may be, as an American she usually has a rather picturesque individuality. This shocks the social red tape and conventionality of Europe. She is pronounced queer, erratic. She remains on the fringes of their society. She thought she bought a floor ticket admitting her to all the mazes of the titled dance, but she merely has a general admission to the gallery, entitling her to stand up at the rear and look over the heads of the natives.

LAWN FETE

hard to do justice to the play under the efficient coaching of Mrs. Morton J. Walker of West Somerville who has given much of her time to carrying out the ideas and perfecting arrangements and then at the last moment took the part of the Piper and her impersonation was splendid. The leading characters all took their parts well and at the end the audience wished that the legend of "The Pied Piper of Hamelin" and its beautiful sequel as conceived by Mrs. Marks (Josephine Preston Peabody) had not been the shortened version, though the presentation took an hour.

The out door "stage" of trees and shrubbery with additions of greenery, trellises and a fountain made an admirable setting and the participants made pretty scenes in their picturesque costumes and bonnets. In the evening hundreds of electric lights and Japanese lanterns made a most brilliant illumination.

The cast was as follows:

The Piper, Mrs. Morton J. Walker; Jacobus, Cornelius Manchester; Veronika, Pearl Belyea; Jan, the little lame boy, Albert Purdon; Barbara, Dorothy Bean; Michael the sword eater, Arthur Holland; Cheat, the Devil, Samuel Parlee; Anselm, Amy Rhodes; Old Claus, Lydia Hennigar; Ursula, Ruth Bean; The Town Crier, Welden Pratt; Hans, the butcher, George Parlee; Hans' wife, Louise Wilkinson; Kurt, Raymond Fowler; Axel, the smith, Charles Wade; Axel's wife, Mabel Anderson; Martin, the watch, Henry Northrop; Martin's wife, Margaret Sibley; Peter, the sacristan, George Roberts; Kuno, Elsie Thompson; Ilse, Marion Orr; Hansel, Gladys Parlee; The Women, Edith Atkins, Gertrude Allen, Alice Hennigar, Helen Ketchum, Lillian Purdom, Muriel Wheelen, Elsie Whithead.

The children, Helen Arthur, Alice Holland, Anne McTear, Ada Nelson, Grace Purdom, Elizabeth Wellsford.

The Acolytes, Harold Thompson, George McTear, George Wellsford, Joseph Kessler.

RESCUE DROWNING BOYS.

Prompt work on the part of Elihu T. Spear probably saved two boys from a watery grave last Friday afternoon. Mr. Spear was riding along the Quincy shore boulevard near the Atlantic beach when he head cries for help. Looking toward the water he saw two boys struggling in the water. It seems that the boys had gone out in a small boat and had been capsized. One of the boys could swim but the other was unable to. The boy who could swim was struggling to save his companion and at the same time shouting for help. He was having a hard time and was nearly exhusted.

Mr. Spear ran to the shore and throwing off his coat and vest waded in part way and then swam out to their rescue and with considerable difficulty was enabled to bring them to shore. A few minutes later and both would probably have been drowned.

Cleveland—A pickpocket relieves Rev. Francis E. Clark, D. D., "father" of the Christian Endeavor movement of $50 and a railroad ticket, and he was forced to barrow money from his friends among the officers of the society, which is holding its state convention here.

Boston—A 35 pound lobster, the largest ever caught from this port, was landed by John Patrick of the Josephine DaCosta about 60 miles off Highland light Wednesday. Several hours boiling was necessary to cook it but the crew declared it made fairly good eating.

San Francisco—A parade of 8000 men each carrying a Bible was the most spectacular feature of the international Sunday school convention. One section of the parade consisted of civil war veterans.

Roxbury—Five horses, a number of chickens and valuable pet dogs, the property of Harry Wise, a teamster, having stables near the corner of George street on Langdon street, Roxbury, were destroyed by fire early this morning.

Dorchester—During the excitement attendant upon the burning of a freight car, Sunday afternoon, about 300 persons, mostly young people, gathered on the steep embankment just beyond the Harrison Square station, narrowly escaped death or serious injury from an on-rushing express train bound for South Braintree.

South Boston—Eight-year-old Matthew McDonough was playing with several boys of his own age on a vacant lot near his home yesterday afternoon, when one of the youngsters found a half pint bottle filled with a liquid. Matthew drank the contents and after four hours of agony, died in the City Hospital.

A NERVY THIEF

Steals and Makes Off With Church Collection During Sermon

Wheeling, W. Va., June 26.—Brooks E. Adams, treasurer of the First Christian church, was held up by a masked bandit and robbed of the church collection yesterday in the pastor's study while a large congregation was listening to the morning sermon, not twenty feet away.

His face masked with a handkerchief, the man made his appearance through a rear door. He leveled a revolver at Adams, who was counting the collection, took the basket and disappeared. Adams immediately notified the congregation, but no trace of the robber was found.

Fatal Runaway Accident

Pittsfield, N. H., June 26.—William S. Babb, aged 85, was killed in a runaway accident while driving to Northwood. Babb was driving with his son when the horse took fright at a barking dog, ran away and overturned the carriage.

Eighty-three students get diplomas at West Point, and unlike most other graduates, they do not have to spend a year sweeping out the office and washing the windows.

THREE DEATHS FROM FIRE

Butler Perishes as Result of Attempt to Rescue Two Women

Nantucket, Mass., June 26.—Although Thomas Kerr of New York and Thurlow W. Barnes, 2d, of Albany are in a critical condition as a result of burns they sustained in a fire which destroyed the boathouse of William Barnes, Jr., of Albany, it is believed that the number of victims of the fire will not be more than three.

Miss Helen Wilson of New York and Miss Mildred De Haven of Brooklyn, both socially prominent in New York, were burned to death, and Ulysse Pabud, butler and valet of the Barnes family, succumbed to his injuries, largely received in unsuccessful efforts to save the young women, who, in their efforts to escape, had rushed through the nearest door, which led only to a closet, and there were imprisoned, with flames licking up the oil-soaked structure on every side.

ROOT AMENDMENT DOOMED

Reciprocity Pact Is In For Long Debate In the Senate

Washington, June 26.—The Root amendment to the wood pulp and paper schedule of the Canadian reciprocity bill, which the administration has been fighting as fatal to the agreement, undoubtedly will be defeated before the senate adjourns today, the Democrats and many of the Republicans who favor reciprocity having openly opposed the amendment.

With this amendment out of the way, the tariff debate will assume a wider scope. The wool tariff and the free list bills form the basis for the fight that is to bring Canadian reciprocity and the whole tariff question into the open for a protracted debate.

PACIFIC ROADS MERGER

Circuit Court Decides Purchase of Southern Pacific Was Legal

St. Louis, June 26.—The United States circuit court of the Eighth district handed down an opinion that the late E. H. Harriman's purchase of the Southern Pacific by the Union Pacific "did not amount to a direct and substantial restraint of either interstate or international commerce."

Judge Hook filed a dissenting opinion, in which he expressed the belief that the government's petition was well founded and should be granted.

The majority decision was written by Judge Adams. It finds that the Southern Pacific and Union Pacific were not competitors, and holds that the government did not establish its case.

The Dorcas society will meet with Mrs. Kjellberg, Cherry avenue on Tuesday evening.

PARK AND DOWNS.

The Children's Sunday exercises were held in the morning in place if the regular preaching service. Each child was asked to take a flower of some kind to the service and after the concert these were collected and were taken to the Quincy City Hospital. It took two automobiles to hold them all. The children took their parts well in the concert and a large audience was present to witness the exercises.

The last regular evening service of the season was held at 7.30 Sunday evening. There was the usual musical service followed by an address by the pastor. The next evening service will be held on Sunday September 10.

The Y. P. S. C. E. will hold a social Wednesday evening in the church. This will be the last one of the season and a large attendance is expected.

WOLLASTON UNITARIAN CHURCH.

It was Children's Sunday at the Wollaston Unitarian Church and the pulpit was artistically decorated with trailing vines flowers of the field, potted plants and a profusion of beautiful roses. The front seats in the auditorium were reserved for the members of the Sunday school who marched in at the opening of the service. Then followed responsive readings, singing of carols and the baptism of seven infants. Rev. Carl G. Horst took for his text the words from the book of Proverbs "Death and life are in the power of the tongue" and directed his attention especially to the younger members of the congregation. In a very simple and direct manner he pointed out the evils arising from careless and flippant language, and dwelt with serious emphasis upon the unmeasured influence for good which a kind and tender word carries into the lives of our fellowmen.

He made a strong plea for temperance in the use of strong language, urging that the temptation to carelessly take a sacred name upon the lips becomes a habit and makes a slavery closely resembling that slavery which is the result of yielding to an appetite for strong drink, "Every word spoken finds a lodgement in some heart and bears fruit either sweet or bitter and we, who pass this way but once, may well seek to scatter sunshine about us and help to make the way of life a joy and an inspiration to those around us."

The rite of baptism was administered to seven children, namely:

Roger Merrill Baker, born Dec. 14, 1910, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cleveland Baker.

Bermadine Clarice Barker, born Oct. 1, 1906, and Elwyn Orland Barker born Nov. 17, 1910 children of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Barker.

Donald Barnes MacLean, born Mar. 31, 1911, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry MacLean.

Carl Reed Wieting and Catherine Elizabeth Wieting, born Nov. 20, 1910, twins of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Henry Wieting.

Elizabeth and Emma Couch, Ruth Sanborn and Priscilla White were the four young misses who in a sweet and dignified manner took up the collection yesterday for the Fresh Air children.

For the unusually fine floral decoration in church yesterday we were indebted to Frederic H. Bishop, Miss Florence Hall, Mrs. David T. Whiton, Mrs. Gorham Nickerson, Mrs. Carl G. Horst, Mrs. A. S. Nelson and A. W. Rohn.

Mrs. William A. Bense and daughter of Canton were welcome visitors at their former church home yesterday.

A "Fresh Air" committee has been appointed from our Sunday school to repeat its work of last year by giving the poor and unfortunate children of Boston an opportunity to bask in the sunshine and drink in the pure air of our beautiful suburb. Funds are necessary to carry on the work. Contributions may be sent to Frank A. Page, Fred M. Rollins or the minister.

Next Sunday, July 2, will be held the last service of worship and the last Sunday school session. Services will be resumed the Sunday after Labor Day.

Miss Evelyn Cummings, who has charge of the kindergarten department in our Sunday school, returned from Yarmouth in time to attend the children's Sunday service yesterday morning.

The Unitarian Summer meetings and Sunday school institute at the Isles of Shoals will be held July 9-21.

Lawrence Loring and Mrs. Chas. S. Comins sailed for Europe last Saturday, and Dr. and Mrs. Chas. L. Monroe will sail next Saturday.

CHRIST CHURCH.

A Holy Communion service was held at 8 o'clock Sunday morning.

At the morning preaching service the rector delivered a sermon from the text "As a man thinketh in his heart, so is he."

In the evening, a special address was given by the rector relative to the Men and Religion Forward Movement. Mr. Armstrong is at the head of the local organization which is for the purpose of encouraging better church attendance on the part of the men and in making the religious side of the men's lives more prominent.

The annual Sunday school picnic will be held on Wednesday if it is a pleasant day and if not on Thursday at Glen Echo park, Stoughton. Cars will leave the church at 8.50 in the morning. The committee on sports has arranged a very attractive program for the day and all will be sure to have an unusually good time.

QUINCY POINT CHURCH.

THOMAS-HEALD WEDDING

Benjamin F. Thomas Weds Miss Heald at Atlantic

A wedding which came as a surprise to his wide circle of friends was that of Benjamin F. Thomas of 167 Billings street, Atlantic, to Miss Annie E. Heald of 150 St. Botolph street, Boston. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Thomas W. Davison, pastor of the Atlantic Memorial church in the presence of the relatives and a few intimate friends of the bride and groom at the home of the groom on Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The single ring service was used. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas will take their weddin gtrip the first of the month going to Nova Scotia, the home of the bride.

Mr. Thomas has lived in Atlantic all his life and is a well known provision merchant with his store on Federal street, Boston. His first wife died about three years ago and none of his friends were prepared for this wedding for he kept it entirely secret.

Mr. Thomas is an active worker and a deacon in the Atlantic Memorial church and is very popular in Atlantic socially.

Mrs. Thomas is a popular young woman of Boston and will be received with much pleasure in Atlantic. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas will be at home after August 1 in their residence at 167 Billings street, Atlantic.

ATLANTIC MEMORIAL.

A special service for men was held Sunday morning and the sermon had reference to "The Men and Religion Forward Movement." Mr. Davison was elected secretary of the local organization at a recent meeting. It is recognized as a fact that man has the religious element in him which demands some recognition and it is the object of this organization to get men to go to church and to give that religious element its proper place in the life of man.

A male quartet sang some very pleasing selections at the service yesterday and next Sunday morning, a ladies' quartet will sing.

The regular prayer meeting will be held Thursday evening. All the other meetings will be omitted until fall.

UNITED PRESBYTERIAN.

At the Sunday morning service the pastor preached from the topic "The Power of the Cross." The attendance at the meeting was fair.

The Sabbath school exercises were well attended.

The meeting of the Y. P. S. C. E. was led by Andrew Morrison and was well attended.

In the evening the pastor spoke on "The Men and Religion Forward Movement." Its origin, its object and its importance were dealt with at some length by Mr. Thompson. He said that according to reliable statistics, there were 3,000,000 fewer men and boys attending the churches of North America than women and girls. This calls for united aggressive effort on the part of the Christian men of this country who are "their brother's keepers."

At this service Miss Edel Jensen, a well known soprano of West Somerville sang two solos which were beautifully rendered. Her rich, clear rendering of "The Holy City" was especially fine. Westley McLean and Graham Patterson sang a duet which was well received.

The regular mid-week meeting will be held Thursday evening.

WOLLASTON M. E.

"The Greatest Movement of the Age" was the subject of the pastor's sermon at the Wollaston Methodist church, Sunday morning. Mr. J. A. Sedgwick, the superintendent of the Sunday school conducted the review, in the Sunday school at 12 M. Miss Mary Cleveland led the Epworth League, which was well attended. At the evening service, which will be the last for the summer, Mrs. A. C. Clark spoke, on the immigrants home in East Boston.

SCANDINAVIAN SETTLERS' ASS'N.

Had Picnic on Saturday Afternoon Last

The annual picnic of the Scandinavian Old Settlers' association was held Saturday afternoon at Merrymount park, and a grand time it proved to be. The attendance was unusually large, numbering five hundred. The Old Settlers' association is composed of Swedish residents, and to be eligible for membership one must be over fifteen years of age and must have resided in America for 20 years. Everything at the picnic was free to members, their wives and children but others had to pay for refreshments.

An orchestra was present during the afternoon and there was dancing and various sports. The program opened with a May pole, or ring dance and in order to be in the ring one must be a member of the association. When the ring was formed it was 100 feet in diameter. This dance was one of the features of the afternoon and was a very pretty affair.

Then there was a fat man's race, a married women's race, tug of war between the young men and women of the association, children's races and a game of base ball.

Following the sports there was speaking. The first speaker was Adolph Gustafson one of the old veterans who has resided in Quincy for 27 years. He spoke of his early days in America. Ex-Councilman Otto Gelotte also had a word to say about the good feeling between the Swedish and American people. William Gelotte spoke in the Swedish language and said that he believed at all Swedish gatherings the national language should be used. Other speakers were Andrew Ericson, Theodore Hermanson and John Wilson, another old settler. The afternoon closed with dancing. It was one of the largest picnics ever held by the association as well as the most successful one ever held.

SURPISE FOR MISS ANDERSON.

A large party of young people connected with the Young Peoples society of the Swedish Congregational church gave a surprise party to Miss Selma Anderson one of the members who has been ill for some time. The young people gathered at her home on Centre street early in the evening and decorated the lawn with japanese lanterns etc. The evening was spent in a quiet way with music, and refreshments of ice cream and cake.

Before the guests departed, Miss Anderson was presented with a purse containing a substantial sum of money as a testimonial of the esteem in which she was held by her friends.

HOUGHS NECK.

CHIP'S TRICK ON THE PUSSY

In a snug bit of a home under a gray old stump that stood at the foot of a thickly wooded hill lived with his father and mother frisk little Chip.

Chip and the other young squirrels in the neighborhood were fond of having a race over the stumps and rocks, up the trees, from limb to limb and branch to branch, until they were tired and far from Squirreltown. Then they would stop to rest, eat nuts and chatter about their frolic.

One afternoon when Chip reached home after one of these fly away trips he found his mother in great distress because his father, who had gone out in the morning for a short time, had not returned.

"Don't worry," chirped Chip; "I'll find him," and off he went.

He meant what he said, too, for the thought that his father was really gone made no impression in his funny little head. At dusk he came back subdued and alone, but half expecting to find his father there. One glance at his mother showed Chip that he must provide for her, so the next day he began.

Long before he had enough food gathered the nuts near by were gone. Then he had to take longer journeys from home. He ran far beyond the top of the hill one day and discovered a great white house and across the road from it a smaller one filled with corn.

Chip sat up just where he was when he caught sight of the coveted treasure, and then, with a chirp, he skipped to the cornerib. He was busily stowing the grain in his side pockets when he was pounced on by a great fury, lifted off of his feet and carried to the big white house.

There he was dropped at the feet of a smaller fury that seized him in a twinkling and ran with him into a large yard. Taking a hasty glance at his surroundings, Chip discovered that he could readily make his escape by way of a tree that stood near if he could manage to get out of that creature's mouth. He wriggled to twist himself out of the kitten's grasp, whereupon puss dropped him and cuffed his ears. Chip sprang for the tree, but the kitten sprang for him and caught him too. The foolish puss did not see what he was trying to do, however, and so did not think it worth while to take him farther from the tree.

"Only one more chance like that," thought the squirrel, twitching his whiskers, "and I'll show you a trick."

The kitten dropped him again. Away went Chip up the tree, the surprised and unthinking puss following with her stretched out nose close at the end of Chip's tail. Quickly he led her out on a small branch—out, out beyond her weight. Then as the cat fell down Chip sprang up, landed in another tree and reached the top soon enough to see the outmaneuvered cat on the ground just where she had struck, her tail twitching and her eyes fixed in a comically bewildered stare on the swaying branch where their ways had to her so unexpectedly parted.

TO HUNT BIG GAME.

Only Bows and Arrows Will Be Used by This Party.

James Challis and Z. E. Jackson of Atchison, Kan., are going hunting in the wilds of British Colmbia armed only with bows and arrows. They expect to go after mountain lions and grizzly bears if the opportunity should arise.

"I expect the most enjoyable time of my life on that trip," said Mr. Challis. "I am sure we will enjoy hunting with our primitive weapons more than the man who can stand a mile away and bring down a deer or bear with a big express bullet. There is the same difference between bunting with bow and arrow and with a rifle as between catching fish with a fly and in a seine."

Mr. Challis and Mr. Jackson will leave Atchison July 7 for Seattle. There they will be joined by Harry B. Richardson of Boston, who holds the world's archery record, and William H. Thompson of Seattle, also an expert archer. From Seattle they will sail up the coast of British Columbia 400 miles, and when they have reached a point which appears favorable for hunting they will go ashore and push into the interior.

A large supply of arrows which the party will take has been made here at odd times during the last spring and winter.

He has not learned the lesson of life who does not every day surmount a fear.—Emerson.

HEFFERNAN'S SHOE STORE
1375 Hancock Street, Quincy

Anty Drudge Advises the Commuter.

Mr. Suburbanite—"Missed my train! And not another one for an hour!"

Anty Drudge—"That's too bad. What was the matter? Clock stopped?"

Mr. Suburbanite—"No. It's the same thing every Monday morning. I never can get my breakfast till the last minute. Washboilers on the range and no room to cook breakfast."

Anty Drudge—"How silly. Tell your wife to use Fels-Naptha. Then she won't have any use for a washboiler. She need only rub the clothes with Fels-Naptha and soak them in a tub of cold or lukewarm water."

When you take medicine you go by the directions, don't you?

Well, that is just the way we want you to use Fels-Naptha soap—according to directions on the wrapper. You don't expect medicine to cure unless taken rightly, and you shouldn't expect Fels-Naptha to do everything claimed for it unless used in the way it is meant to be used. Given a chance, it will cure your wash-day ills.

Here is a prescription in the case of white clothes: Soap the clothes with Fels-Naptha, roll, soak in cold or lukewarm water 30 minutes, rub lightly, rinse and hang on the line. That's all. By all means don't boil the clothes or use hot water. Fels-Naptha was made to save you from the trouble of boiling, heating water and rubbing hard.

For washing colored clothes, flannels, and many other uses of Fels-Naptha, directions are printed on the red and green wrapper.

MAKE YOUR DOLLAR GO FAR

was George Washington's theory when he threw a dollar away across the Potomac River. HEALTH HINT FOR TODAY.

Cooking Kills Germs.

Unless you are reasonably certain that the meat you eat has been carefully inspected and declared free from disease germs you should see that the meat is very thoroughly cooked.

Thorough cooking kills dangerous micro-organisms—that is, it destroys the germs that might infect you or some member of your family whose physical condition at the time of eating infected food was such that the germ found ready lodgment and easy soil upon which to work.

Cleanliness in the kitchen, it is needless to say, is absolutely necessary. If you take care of your own kitchen you will see that it is kept clean. If some one else takes care of your kitchen you should make it your personal duty to see that it is kept clean, not clean on the surface but all through — cupboards, drawers, shelves, utensils, furniture and, mark this, particularly the stuff that is not in sight.

BRIEFS

Miss Beatrice Costello of Wollaston avenue is convalescing from a severe attack of jaundice.

Miss Christina McPearson of South Central avenue sailed Saturday on the Caledonia for Glasgow. Miss McPearson will spend most of the summer with relatives in Scotland, but plans to go to London and Paris before she sails for home in September.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis W. Vaupel, Miss Mildred and Master John Vaupel of College avenue, West Somerville opened Saturday their summer home at Post Island which was purchased last year of Everett Crane. Last summer they rented Mrs. J. M. Sheahan's cottage.

The Wollaston Methodist Sunday school held their annual picnic at Highland Park on Saturday. Games, sports and picnic lunch were enjoyed. The Atlantic Congregational Sunday school, who were holding their picnic at the same place, challenged the Methodists to a game of base ball and the challengers were defeated by a big score.

Miss Helen King of Clay street returned from Washington, D. C., Saturday where for two years she has been instructor of corrective gymnastics at a private institution. She left this afternoon for Silver bay, Lake George, New York, where she will be counselor at Dana hall summer camp. Miss King is being heartily congratulated on her appointment as assistant instructor in physical training at Dana Hall school, Wellesley.

Death of Admiral Norton

Westfield, N. J., June 26.—Rear Admiral Charles S. Norton, U. S. N., retired, died at his home here from heart disease. He was retired in 1898, at the age of 62, after forty-two years of active service.

—A Worcester savings bank, believing that the construction of so many "three-deckers," or three-family houses is detrimental to the best interests of the city, will refuse to make loans on such structures, but in order to encourage and stimulate the building of detached houses for single families, it has collected a large number of plans from which such houses can be built for $1,500 to $3,000. These plans are at the service of the public without cost or obligation of any kind. It is claimed that the "three-decker" causes a depreciation in real estate values, and that the single detached house will promote the best physical as well as social development of the people. Good results are expected from this action of the Worcester bank, whose example might be followed with benefit to other communities.—Milford Gazette.

DO NOT SHUN ICE-WATER.

Advice on what to do to keep cool is a drug in the market these hot days. Most of it is sane and wholesome, too, but it is strange to see reiterated some "Don'ts" which are now out-of-date. The most useless "Don't" is that which advises against drinking ice water. This warning is based on two beliefs once generally held, but now completely disproved. The first is that ice in water may carry into one's system some disease-causing bacteria; and the second that ice-water is of so low a temperature compared with the human body that a shock from its use results, which if not inevitably fatal, is always dangerous.

The truth of this matter of iced drinks has been learned after patient study of facts. Ice contains over 90 per cent less bacteria than the water on which it formed. Large percentages of mineral matter in solution are eliminated, and, as Dr. Eugene H. Porter, Health Commissioner of New York State says, the ice is from 95 per cent to 98 per cent purer than the water. After harvesting, natural ice lies in ice houses from two to four months before being used. During this time the steady low temperature kills any bacteria left in the ice when first frozen, so that, according to Dr. E. O. Jordon, Professor of Bacteriology of Chicago University, natural ice stored six to eight weeks is purer than city water put through sand filters, and many scientists consider it practically sterile. No case of disease caused by bacteria in ice has ever been established. The conclusion of Dr. H. W. Hill, Epidemiologist of the Minnesota State board of Health is that natural ice neither has caused, nor can cause typhoid and he declines now to consider it as a cause of epidemics.

As to the effects on the human system of drinking ice-water, here is what America's leading Sanitarian, Dr. Wm. T. Sedgwick, Lecturer on Public Health at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, says:

"I am a thorough believer in the wholesomeness and wisdom of the general use of ice-water, espcially in countries like some of the United States which have an almost tropical climate during a considerable part of the summer. The principal physiological effect of ice-water is that of a powerful and, when one is habituated to it, a most agreeable stimulus; and I have never seen or heard of any good evidence that this stimulus was harmful. It is a noteworthy and significant fact that cracked ice is frequently taken into the mouth and, as it were, eaten by many hospital patients, as well as by travelers on shipboard inclined to or recovering from seasickness. This appears to be done sometimes to reduce fever sometimes to diminish disagreeable tastes in the mouth, and sometimes to supply an agreeable and harmless stimulant."

In view of these opinions there is no ground for the repetition of the advice to shun ice-water. To go without this satisfying drink is needless self denial—one without point of purpose. As a mild stimulant ice-water restores courage and strength and renews energy in both old and young and it is important that these facts become more generally known as this, the entrance to the torrid heat of the dog days.

NO RED FLAG IN AMERICA.

Denis A. M'Carthy.

America, to all the word
Thou stretchest forth a friendly hand;
Beneath thy glorious flag unfurled
No bars to human progress stand.
The honest mind
In thee can find
No chains to hamper or to bind,
Thou dearest hope of all mankind,
Thou first and freest land!

Then what of those who now would flout
Thy flag that millions died to save
Since first upon the breeze flung out
It stirred the spirits of the brave?
What men are those,
What fools and foes,
Would change the flag the fathers chose,
And in the place where it arose
A blood-red flag would wave?

No lovers of their kind are they
Who'd wreck the work the fathers wrought,
Blind leaders of the blind are they
Who'd render vain the fight they fought.
Not love but hate
Inspires the prate
That bodes such evil to the state
But, by the God that rules our fate,
Their plans shall come to naught!

Before no flaming flag or red
Thy spirit, O Columbia, cowers.
No Symbol of disorder dread
Shall palsy thy benignant powers!
But over thee,
From sea to sea,
Shall float the banner of the free,
The flag of law and liberty,
That starry flag of ours!

Branding Him.

"Jim doesn't think much of me, I guess."

"Yes, he does, old man. Just the other day he told me you were a brick."

"I'm surprised."

"He went further than that. He said you were a regular gold brick!"—Toledo Blade.

FIND NO GRAVE ON SNOW FARM

Vain Hunt For Remains of Missing Saco Butcher

SEARCH WILL BE CONTINUED

Authorities Begin to Think That Little Girls' Story of Killing and Burying of Weymouth Is a Myth—Mail Carrier Says Alleged Victim Is Alive and Living In Canada—Children to Be Further Questioned

Biddeford, Me., June 26.—Continued failure to locate the grave on the farm of "Dr." Fred E. Snow at Dayton, where 9-year-old Gladys Snow says Charles I. Weymouth, the missing Saco butcher, was buried three years ago, and lack of facts to substantiate the story, has added to the growing belief of the authorities that the story is a myth. A small party spent Sunday searching the farm and at one time there was a report that the body had been located, but it proved without foundation.

While the search for the remains has not by any means been abandoned, the officers are at the same time investigating the story of Henry Hewes, a Saco mail carrier, who insists that Weymouth is alive and living in Canada. Hewes has told the officers the name of the town where he says Weymouth is living, and an effort is now being made to verify the story.

County Attorney Richardson of Kennebunk and Sheriff Emery will interview Gladys Snow and her 7-year-old sister Beatrice again, and if their story is not shaken a large posse of deputies will be sworn in and a thorough search of the Snow estate will be started at once, and continued until the officers are satisfied that there is no evidence of a murder to be found on the premises.

An anonymous letter was received by the sheriff Sunday warning him to keep guard about the Snow farm to prevent the removal of the body of Weymouth, but Emery was not seriously impressed with the epistle.

Meanwhile Joseph Buzzell, Olney Merrill and Mrs. Maude Snow are being held at the county jail, the first two on charges of murder and the woman as an accessory, and they will be kept in custody until the authorities are satisfied one way or the other in regard to the matter.

"TIRED AND WORN OUT"

Arctic Explorer and Morgan-Guggenheim Expert Takes His Own Life

Seattle, June 26.—A sketch by Kipling, "The City of the Dreadful Night," beside him, the body of Captain D. H. Jarvis, a noted Arctic explorer, master in the United States revenue cutter service and in charge of the Morgan-Guggenheim interests here, was discovered in the Seattle Athletic club. He had sent a bullet into his brain.

Laying a volume of Kipling open at the story, "The City of Dreadful Night," Jarvis undressed, wrote a message, "tired and worn out," on the back of a letter, and, lying on his bed on the top floor of the club building, shot himself. At page 55, where the book was open, were the words:

"Then silence follows—the silence that is full of the night noises of a great city."

PARROT AIDS LOST BOY

Bird Calls Attention of Policeman to the Little Wanderer

Bloomfield, N. J., June 26.—George McClelland, 3 years old, wandered from his home, carrying a pet parrot in a small cage. An electric storm caused the child to seek shelter in the vestibule of a school, and there he fell asleep.

An hour later, when the child's parents were searching frantically for him, a policeman passing the school building heard a strange voice repeating over and over the words: "Georgie, mother wants you!"

Investigation disclosed the sleeping boy and the wide-awake bird. They were returned to their home.

MOVE TO FREE MORSE

Attorneys Contend Sentence to Felons' Prison Was Unlawful

Atlanta, June 26.—Application for a writ of habeas corpus was made by attorneys for Charles W. Morse before United States District Judge Newman on the grounds that Morse was convicted on a misdemeanor charge and cannot be incarcerated lawfully in a prison erected solely for felons and also that the fifteen-year sentence is excessive.

Referring to Morse as "probably the most thoroughly tried man who has ever had his day in court," the United States district attorney here opposed the granting of the writ.

MEN OF PROMINENCE NAMED BY KOHLSAAT

Editor Says He Told Them About Alleged Lorimer Bribery

Washington, June 26.—Herman H. Kohlsaat, editor and publisher of the Chicago Record-Herald, testified before the senate comittee investigating the election of Senator Lorimer that last August he told Theodore Roosevelt the entire story of the alleged attempt by Edward Hines to collect $10,000 from Clarence S. Funk to reimburse those who contributed $100,000 "to put Lorimer across at Springfield."

The ban of secrecy was placed on Roosevelt, but Kohlsaat testified that Roosevelt wrote him that because of Kohlsaat's information he declined to attend the Hamilton club dinner in Chicago in August, 1910, if Lorimer was to be there.

The names of Senators Root, La-Follette and Cullom were mentioned in a new light. Kohlsaat testified that before the senate passed on the Lorimer case, he informed these three senators of the conversation in which Funk told him of Hines' alleged attempt to collect money.

Many Cotton Mills In New England to Curtail Their Output

Boston, June 26.—Many of the cotton mills in New England and the southern states will be shut down during the first week in July.

The unsatisfactory state of the market and the Independence day holiday are given as reasons for the further stoppage of machinery. Practically all of the mills which have their offices in Boston will curtail during the summer, and many of them will be idle from June 30 to Aug. 10.

The curtailment in Fall River last week was heavier than usual, due partly to the centennial celebration. It exceeded 400,000 pieces of goods.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

3000 SALUTES TO SAILOR KING

Warships of the World In Great Naval Pageant

DELAWARE BIGGEST OF ALL

United States Dreadnaught Conspicuous Among Nearly Two Hundred Great Fighting Machines—Millions of People View Awe-Inspiring Spectacle as King and Queen Review International Fleet Off Portsmouth

London, June 26.—One hundred and eighty-five ships of war, representing eighteen nations, paid homage to King George V and his consort, Queen Mary, at Spithead. It was the greatest naval display in the world's history.

Spread over a six-mile stretch of sea were the fighting monsters, all dressed in flags and bunting and presenting an unrivalled multi-colored picture. It was a magnificent tribute to Britain's sailor king.

In this, the greatest international war fleet ever assembled, the Delaware, the United States dreadnaught, stood out as the biggest warship afloat, her brasses shining and reflecting the summer rays like mirrors and dressed from stem to stern with bunting. From her turrets there bristled her great guns and from her fighting tops and ports there shone the smaller calibre rifles.

As the king and queen, on board the royal yacht Victoria and Albert, proceeded through the long lines of battleships, cruisers and other vessels, each ship gave the royal salute. The thunderous tones of the great guns were deafening. Never was there a greater cannonading, never did such tumultuous cheering from ships and shore make glad the hearts of a pair of monarchs.

Included in the party aboard the royal yacht were John H. Hammond, the special ambassador from the United States, and other distinguished envoys to the crowning festivities. Of the ships in the great column, 167 represented Great Britain's sovereignty of the seas, and eighteen were the most splendid types of seventeen other nations.

The tonnage of the British warships was more than 1,000,000. The cost of this international warfleet was more than $500,000,000.

The review of the naval parade in the Solent was one of the most impressive features of the coronation ceremonies and millions of cheering people witnessed it.

In all 3000 guns boomed salutes to the newly crowned king and queen. The king and queen stood on the bridge of the Victoria and Albert as the yacht went up the great line of warships and finally came back, standing between the line of warships and the sightseeing craft, which were kept in position by a flotilla of torpedo boats and torpedo boat destroyers.

It was 4:15 o'clock when the Victoria and Albert dropped anchor in the roadstead abreast the flagship. From the bridge a quartermaster gave a signal that was repeated down the fleet.

Then from the sides of all the men-o'-war in that vast assemblage launches dropped. For more than an hour a continuous line of these little boats were coming and going as one flag officer after another, resplendant in gold lace, was received by their majesties. The king wore an admiral's uniform, while the young Prince of Wales was dressed in the uniform of a midshipman.

The reception over, the royal yacht returned to Portsmouth, while the farewell salute was being fired. The royal party and guests returned to London in the king's train.

Among the naval powers represented were the United States, Germany, France, Japan, Austria, Italy, Russia, Spain, Argentina, Chile, Sweden, Turkey, Denmark, Holland and Norway.

FINANCIAL NEWS.

(Special)

The uncertain movements in the market for Stock Exchange securities this week have been more or less seasonable. That is to say, we have at last definitely reached the stage where our crops are at the critical point; and the future of the market, if, as in the past, it is to be determined by the volume and quality of our farm products, is distinctly at issue. Therefore, a disposition has developed among market operators who have accumulated profits to secure them and avoid further immediate risk.

It is worth while for operators to take a calm view of the agricultural conditions that now prevail. In the first place, winter wheat has been fully harvested and in quality and quantity is very close to a bumper harvest, if it does not, in fact, reach that distinction. Spring wheat and corn have reached their sensitive point of growth, and protracted drouth has already done more potential damage, which may readily become permanent in the event of necessary rains being much longer delayed.

In corn, which, of course, is the most important of all of our crops from the stock market viewpoint, the damage thus far is prospective rather than actual. Both corn and spring wheat are particularly early this year, a factor of much importance, since it means less danger from frosts at the tail-end of the season. Hay and oats are not up to the average, which will mean a greater demand for corn as a substitute for these items as feed.

In addition to the nervousness emanating from the crop uncertainties there have been a number of other features exercising an unsettling influence. The Circuit Court decree that the powder combination is an organization in restraint of trade follows the same lines as the Supreme Court rulings in the Standard Oil and Tobacco cases, and is another indication that our industrial corporations must be conducted on lines that will bear full examination. The report that the local Grand Jury has been investigating the Steel Corporation at the behest of he Interstate Commerce Commission on charges that it has participated in discriminatory railroad rates through its cement department is another example of the exacting conditions our corporations are subject to.

Reports also have become more persistent that the decisions of the Government suit to compel the Union Pacific to dispose of its Southern Pacific control will be announced in a few days, and a number of other influences on much the same general lines have been brought forward as effective market influences. The week's tariff developments at Washington also suggest that, whatever the final result, a contest more or less spectacular and unsettling in its influence is among the early probabilities.

Pending the resumption of the advancing tendency a period of irregularity and nervousness with active fluctuations appears, therefore, to be the immediate promise. This is a situation that will furnish many opportunities for quick in-and-out-trading.—Henry Clews, Banker, New York.

Not Guilty of Bribe

Nashville, June 26.—A jury returned a verdict of not guilty against ex-Judge E. C. Goodpasteur, charged with offering to bribe Representative McDonald of the Tennessee legislature.

FOSS BOOMED FOR PRESIDENT

Is Hailed as Leader For Campaign of 1912

CALLED PEOPLE'S CHAMPION

Mentioned For Second Place In the Event of Some Other Being Placed at the Head—Pomerene Says Governor Would Be Acceptable Adjunct to Harmon Ticket—How Foss Views Coming Campaign

Canoble Lake, N. H., June 26.—At a big gathering of Democratic workers held here Governor Eugene N. Foss was boomed as a Democratic presidential candidate for 1912.

On New Hampshire soil the Massachusetts Democrats unfurled their campaign standards for the 1911 and 1912 political battles.

Foss for governor in 1911, and Foss for president or vice president in 1912 was the climax of the remarks of the orators.

About 450 Massachusetts and New Hampshire Democrats imbibed with enthusiasm the flood of Democratic patriotism that flowed from the lips of a long list of speakers.

At the Canoble Lake hotel, as the guest of the proprietor, Paul Hanagan, also a member of the Massachusetts Democratic state committee, the crowd was dined and keyed up to harmony.

As the speakers referred to Foss as the first presidential possibility of New England since the days of the Adamses, excitement was marked.

Placards marked "Foss, the people's champion, for president, 1912," adorned the walls of the new pavilion and were scattered about the grounds on the trees and other points of vantage.

While the meeting was primarily set for a county gathering, but little county politics was talked. Mayor Fitzgerald of Boston referred to the investigation several years ago in Middlesex county, and declared the corruption shown was enough to convince the people a change was needed.

The day's outing brought forth so much in the bigger politics that the lesser fights were left to cool in the shadows.

Governor Foss spoke almost at the close of the meeting. He declared that the fall campaign should be the signal for the whole country to rally, and if the party goes to victory in Massachusetts, this should have an important bearing in reference to the national convention in 1912.

Congressmen Murray and Curley sounded the loudest note of the boom. They both declared that from its position Massachusetts should occupy a strategic standpoint in 1912 and that Foss should be elected as either president or vice president.

Chairman Richardson replied that as the speakers from Ohio had said Foss had cast consternation into the Republican ranks, he was the logical candidate.

Senator Pomerene of Ohio by intimation made it clear Foss would be an acceptable adjunct for a Harmon-Foss ticket in 1912. The senator and Congressman Allen of Ohio appeared as the guests of Congressman William F. Murray. The junior senator from Ohio spoke of Foss as the pioneer of reciprocity with Canada and enunciated the principles of the Democratic party. All the speakers appeared optimistic of the success of the coming campaign.

DIRECT VOTE CAMPAIGN

Formally Opens In Massachusetts With Distribution of Papers

Boston, June 26.—The first campaign to be held in Massachusetts under the new direct nominations system formally opened today with the distribution of nomination papers at the secretary of state's office. The papers are for candidates at the party primaries next fall.

Candidates have until Aug. 29 to file their papers. Two hundred signatures are required for candidates for representative nomination, 1200 for senatorial nominations and not less than 250 signatures in each of not less than four counties—a minimum total of 1000—for candidates for nominations for the state ticket.

ALBANIANS STARVING

Boiled Grass and Roots Are Their Only Means of Subsistence

Vienna, June 26.—Twenty-five thousand women and children in Albania have fled to Montenegro and are starving, their only means of subsistence being boiled grass and various roots. Turkey has massed 50,000 troops within a day's march of the Montenegran frontier.

Charles R. Crane of Chicago, who has just arrived here from Cettinje after traversing Albania, describes conditions as absolutely intolerable. The Turks, he says, are devastating whole districts, killing prisoners, refugee women and children, burning houses and crops and blowing up churches.

Presidential Boom Is Launched For Governor

SEVENTEEN LIVES LOST

Violation of Law Said to Have Caused Explosion on Steamer

Memphis, June 26.—The number of deaths resulting from the explosion on the river packet City of St. Joseph Saturday was swelled to seventeen yesterday. Eight negroes lost their lives. Of these, five were drowned and three scalded to death. Nine more died of injuries yesterday.

Engineer Morgan, who is so severely scalded that hopes of his recovery have been abandoned, says that violation of a government regulation probably was responsible for the explosion. He said he looked at the steam gauge just before the boiler let go and it stood at 145. It is said 144 is the limit provided by the government. A federal investigation is expected.

GRAHAM AND CONRAD GIRLS SECURE BAIL

Sister of One Denounces "American Chivalry"

New York, June 26.—Lillian Graham and Ethel Conrad, the girls charged with attempting to kill W. E. D. Stokes, were released on bail. After he had rejected the security offered by Guiseppe Busco, one of the proposed bondsmen, Magistrate Freschi accepted the bond of Raffaelo Marrazzi.

The release of the young women was preceded a few hours by the arrival of Miss Graham's sister, Mrs. Stella Singleton, from France. Mrs. Singleton was bitter in her denunciation of "boasted American chivalry," which failed to come to the rescue of "two young and innocent girls allowed to rest in a dirty prison."

CZARINA A NERVOUS WRECK

Czar Takes Consort and Their Family Away From Peterhof

St. Petersburg, June 26.—The imperial yacht Standart has taken the czar and his family to Bjorkeford because of the condition of the czarina's health, which is again a prime factor in the movements of the court. The conditions at Peterhof were unfavorable for her.

The czarina has had several attacks of a nervous affection which left her standing stockstill and powerless to move. These attacks came on while she was in the conservatories or gardens at Peterhof and she would have to call for a chair and be carried back to the palace.

LADEN WITH FEVER GERMS

Inoculated Monkeys Which Escaped In New York Are Captured

New York, June 26.—The two germ laden monkeys which escaped from a hospital laboratory are again under lock and key.

One of the animals was captured during Saturday; the other was found Saturday night on the deck of a barge, having traveled the length of New York harbor and back during its liberty.

Both were inoculated recently with scarlet fever germs.

Boston Merchant Ends Life

Boston, June 26.—Benjamin F. Bartlett, who for many years has conducted a newspaper and notion store at 67 Staniford street, committed suicide by shooting. Friends can assign no reason for the act. He was 73 years old.

Swims Eight Miles In Five Hours

Atlantic City, N. J., June 26.—All records for long-distance swimming in the sea in Atlantic City were retired by Charles Durburrow of Philadelphia, who swam a fraction over eight miles in 5 hours 33 minutes.

FLOOD FOLLOWS CYCLONE

More Than Two Hundred Persons Are Killed or Injured

Valparaiso, June 26.—The great cyclone which devastated the coast of Chile a few days ago extended from Pisajua on the north to Antofagasta to the south. Torrential rains have followed the hurricane, almost completing the disaster.

It is estimated that more than 200 persons were killed or injured and immense damage has been done to property of all kinds. Iquique is reported to be inundated.

Father Sees Sons Drown

Healdville, Vt., June 26.—Thomas Whalen and his two sons, Mark, 13, and Matthew, 11, went fishing on Patch pond, Plymouth, in a leaky boat and both the boys were drowned. The water was only five feet deep, but the bottom was so muddy that the father was unable to move with sufficient speed to save his sons, and it was with difficulty that he dragged himself out.

Wollaston Golfer Is Tied For Title

M. J. Brady, professional of the Wollaston Golf club was one of the three players who tied for first place in the national open golf championship tournament at the Chicago links at Wheaton, Ill., Saturday. When the 75 hole stroke competition was completed, each of the three players had registered totals of 307. The others to tie were J. J. McDermitt of Atlantic City, and George A. Sampson of Wheaton.

The trio meet today in an eighteen hole medal play to decide the ownership of the title. Both Brady and McDermitt are ex-caddie boys.

Brady was educated in the Brighton high school and picked up his knowledge of golf at the different links about Boston, and previous to comin gto Wollaston was a professional at Hyannisport.

At the Wollaston G. C., Montclair, where he is now a professional he has shown far better playing than for several years. His rounds of 69 on several occasions on his home links showed that he would be a contender for the championship.

Brady just failed to get into the first 10 when he played before, falling down on his putting, but his performance of yesterday showed that, although handicapped by four strokes, Alex Ross leading the field with 149, he played up to form.

All the Wollaston club members say that in the play-off for first money tomorrow Brady will show that he can stand the strain and be at his best.

MERCHANTS' WEEK

through Quincy, Weymouth and Braintree. On each side of the car was a large sign reading "Quincy Merchants' week, June 19-24. Special Bargains, Band Concerts every evening." These signs were illuminated at night by 32 candle power lights.

The car was in charge of Herbert L. Packard, one of the oldest motormen on the road, who rather enjoyed the attention he attracted as the car sped along through the city and surrounding towns.

REV. MR. AMES BIDS FAREWELL.

Rev. Charles B. Ames, for the past three years assistant pastor of the First church occupied the pulpit Sunday and preached his farewell sermon although no allusion to his leave taking was made in his sermon. At the conclusion of his address however he spoke briefly of his leave taking. He thanked the people of the church for the many kindnesses that had been shown him during his three years as assistant pastor and assured them that the people of the parish would always have a warm place in his heart.

The services at the church on Sundays will be discontinued during the months of July and August.

The annual Sunday school picnic will be held Tuesday at Glen Echo park Stoughton. The trip to and from the park will be made in special electric cars.

TODAY'S COURT.

Lewis A. Wilde, Stanley R. Perry and Francis L. Powers were fined $3 each for playing ball on the Lord's day at Quincy.

Frank Downey, Cornelius J. O'Keefe and Thomas J. Sullivan were fined $5 each for disturbing the peace at Quincy.

David O'Rourke, John Johnson and Frank Nelson were fined $5 each for drunkenness at Quincy.

How to Clean Straw Hats.

Here is an easy way in which to keep the straw hats of the family as good as new. Five cents' worth of oxalic acid, a clean soft cloth and an old but good toothbrush are necessary.

Dissolve the acid, take the hat in the left hand, dip the brush in the acid, rub a small piece at a time and then rinse off with water and wipe dry. Work rapidly, holding the hat so the acid and water will run off. With care it can be done without taking off the band and done in a few minutes. It is well to work near a faucet.

Why, Indeed?

He—Why does a woman always think she ought to wear a smaller shoe than she can? She—Why does a man always think he ought to wear a larger hat than he can?—Yonkers Statesman.

The White Sox had a bad fourth inning which together with bunched hits on the part of their opponents was responsible for the victory of the Quincy team.

The Somerville team got 9 hits off Rice and Marden, the visiting pitcher, was touched up for 10 hits by Makaria.

In the fifth inning, a batting rally brought in three runs for and in the seventh the Northwesterns netted two runs. In the rest of the game, the honors were pretty evenly divided. "Rupe" Ganzel played a star game for the home team and the Chapman brothers did good work.

TENNIS.

The finals in the June Seventeenth tournament at the courts of the Quincy Tennis club were played off Saturday between Slade and Paffmann and Crane and Sampson. The former won the tournament the score being 8-6, 6-1, 7-5. On July 4th an open tournament for doubles will be held for the Quincy championship cup and individual prizes.

Mrs. Nixon Elmer and Miss Helen Baxter served lemonade throughout the afternoon.

For next Saturday the hostesses are Miss Gertrude King and Miss Madeline McCrorry.

On July 4 comes the chief tennis event of the year, the men's open doubles. The prospect is excellent for a large entry.

The finals in the Norfolk county championship were played Saturday at the courts of the Wollaston club and were won by Laurin Martin and D. F. Niles who beat Harold Davenport and Ralph M. Currier 6-4, 7-5, 5-7, 6-2.

HASSAN AND GOTCH DRAWN.

A wrestling exhibition was held at Hibernian hall Saturday night between Ali Hassan of Quincy and Boston and Peter Gotch of Clement, N. H. It was to have been a bout to the finish but after the two men had been wrestling seventy minutes, without a fall the match was called off by mutual consent. It was an excellent bout. The strangle hold was barred.

The preliminary bout was between Joe Thompson of Boston 148 pounds and Joe McDermitt of Boston which also resulted in a draw after twenty minutes wrestling.

Hada Yousef and Charles Brown both of Boston also had a bout. Yousef got the first throw in ten minutes and the second in 29 minutes.

Peter Jack of Haverhill the 170 pound champion of New England challenged Yousef after the bout.

HORSE TROT.

There was a good attendance Saturday at the matinee meet of the Old Colony gentlemen's driving club at South Weymouth seven of the eleven events being split races. The winners in the several classes were as follows: Class C, Marshall A; Class I, Arena; Class F, Helen Dare; Class B, Willie John; Class H, Champwood; Class D, Duffy's Malt; Class A, Onward March; Class J, Frank D; Class G, King Bogash; Class K, Karian; Class E, Lady Samoson.

SPORTING NOTES

At the outing of the Fr. Matthew temperance society at Canobie Lake park, Haverhill, on Saturday Frank Bruce of the Italian-American A. C., of Quincy got third place. When we consider that this plucky little runner was defeated only by such men as Clarence DeMar and Thomas Lilley of North Dorchester A. A. his performance looks especially good.

The Mohawks defeated St. John's at Ward 3 playgrounds on Saturday by a score of 7 to 1.

A members handicap against bogy was played on the Wollaston links Saturday and resulted in a tie between Claude M. Hart and H. B. Hathaway for first place with a score of 4 up.

JEFFRIES LOOKS IN OTHER DIRECTION

Avoids Glances of Johnson When They Meet In London

London, June 26.—Jim Jeffries and Jack Johnson met accidentally in the Trocadero restaurant. The meeting of the former ring antagonists created a sensation among the diners, who seemeed for a moment to fear a renewal of the Reno hostilities.

Jeff was dining with his wife and several friends when Johnson entered. The fighters saw each other immediately but Jeffries glared stolidly in the other direction and refused to recognize Johnson.

The noise of the gay restaurant immediately ceased. Johnson, however, avoided a scene. With his wife scintillating with diamonds, he passed Jeffries and took a table at the further side of the room.

Jeffries appeared highly uncomfortable and hastily finished his meal and departed, leaving Johnson laughing over his wine.

GOOD VENTILATION.

It Possesses an Actual Cash Value In the Workshop.

That proper ventilation in factories has an actual cash value has been well illustrated in the case of a firm of shirt and collar manufacturers in Berlin, Ont., where the following results have been obtained from four years' attention to the material welfare of the workers:

The amount of business made was doubled, wages increased 50 per cent. by cutting out "contingent help" the number of employees was reduced 20 per cent. the absences on account of sickness were reduced one-third. To the firm this meant that 430 employees did 90 per cent more work in one year than was accomplished by 522 employees in a similar period four years previous. To the workers it meant that 430 of them earned in twelve months $28,000 more than 522 did during a previous twelve months.

Dr. C. E. A. Winslow of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology made a study of the amount of illness prevailing among the female operators in the telephone central at Cambridge, Mass., before and after the installation of a system of artificial ventilation. The figures obtained by him show that during the two winters preceding the change, when doors and windows had to be kept closed, on the average about one girl in twenty was absent daily because of illness. During the corresponding months of the following year, when the ventilation had been materially improved, only one girl in fifty was absent from duty each day.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

AVIATION BAD FOR COWS.

Objections to Maryland Farm Being Used For Flights.

Because the officers who made the preliminary examination of the ground around Annapolis belonging to the navy and available for the aviation work to start in July have chosen as a startling place the field set aside for the herd of cows which is to supply the midshipmen with pure milk a conflict is threatened between those who are to conduct the experimental work in aviation and those who are interested in the equipment of the model dairy for the midshipmen.

The ground in question is the Greenberry Point farm, recently purchased by the government for $80,000. Those who have had charge of the arrangements for the dairy fear that the flights of the aeroplanes and their quick descents will frighten the valuable animals which have been purchased and interfere with the quality of the milk.

The experiments are the first in aviation to be conducted by the navy department. Three aeroplanes are promised by July 1, and experiments in flying over land and water will be conducted.

QUINCY YACHT CLUB RACES

All the Old Rivals Compete In Class D Event

A race for classes B and D was held Saturday afternoon under the auspices of the Quincy Yacht club and drew quite a fleet of yachts. The main interest of the race of course centered in the class D boats in which all the old rivals participated. The old Mudjekeewiss was in her element and walked off with the first prize.

The course was one of 8 miles in a light breeze that ranged from the east to the southeast. The Mudjekeewiss took the lead at the start and finished with a lead of nearly two and a half minutes of the Arawak the second boat. Corrected time however reduced her lead to 56 seconds. The Dolly 111 and Iris, the two prize winners finished near the bottom of the list.

The boats of class B were sent over the same course and the Anemone was an easy winner finishing with a lead of ten minutes over the Alpha.

The judges were John O. Hall, W. H. Huy, George G. Saville, W. H. Andrews and George S. Morse. The summary.

D. A. R. ANNUAL MEETING.

Abigail Phillips Quincy Chapter D. A. R. of Wollaston held its first annual meeting at the residence of Mrs. Ida F. Waterhouse, Squantum street Atlantic, Wednesday June 14, Mrs. Walter F. Jones Regent in the chair. A lawn party June 12 was the original plan, but three days of rain made it necessary to hold the meeting in the house where the Chapter was delightfully entertained.

Annual reports of officers and committees were in order and much business was transacted. The Chapter constitution and by-laws having been approved and commended by the State Regent and the National Committee on by-laws were discussed and adopted. The Chapter has now 29 charter members and a charter day will be observed early in the fall, when Mrs. James G. Dunning State Regent will be the guest of honor. The resignation of Mrs. A. S. Paige corresponding secretary was received with regret and Mrs. George E. Healey appointed by the executive board to fill that office.

Four vacation historic trips have been arranged by the Outing committee, Mrs. Wm. E. Hingston, chairman as follows: June—Historic Quincy; July—Concord and Lexington; September — Historic Boston, October—Fairbanks Homestead at Dedham.

Refreshments were served by the hostess with Mrs. Frank Waterhouse and Mrs. Cecil Marble assisting.

Trade In Skeletons.

The principal center for the distribution of articulated skeletons for purposes of study by the medical profession is in Paris, from which point they are shipped to every part of the globe. The price of a well mounted articulated skeleton varies from $50 to $300. This difference has little to do with the condition of the subject while alive. In the cheap skeletons only the barest framework is offered, but in the expensive specimens every detail is worked out with sedulous care, and often both the nervous and the circulatory systems are shown.—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

Largest Vaults In the World.

Three vaults will soon be constructed by Uncle Sam in the bureau of engraving and printing which will be the largest in the world. The vaults are for paper money, printing plates and postage and revenue stamps. Each will be thirty feet long, twelve feet high and thirty feet wide. The doors will be three feet through, of alternate layers of chrome and bessemer steel, a combination that is held to be impregnable. To transfer the steel for the new vaults to Washington will require 300 freight cars. To build the three great safes will take nearly three years. The expense of installing them is estimated at about $600,000.

COUNCIL GRANTS LICENSES TO SQUANTUM HOTEL KEEPERS

Vexatious Question Is Ably Handled By the City Fathers

A Number of Notable Addresses in Its Favor

Important Meeting Held Monday Night. Order for $19,530 For Permanent Sidewalks. Dog Ordinance. Adjourn Until August 28th.

Monday night's meeting of the City Council was an important one and a large amount of business was transacted. It was an adjourned meeting called that the council might clear its calendar prior to the summer adjournment. There was a large attendance of citizens, many of whom were attracted because it was known that the question of granting licenses to the two hotels at Squantum would come up for action. By vote of the council these citizens were allowed to appear and speak for the applicants. The council then took up the question and after some debate granted both the Squantum Inn and Lee's Inn licenses as common victuallers. The other matter that caused debate was the permanent sidewalk order. Councilman Sandberg attempted to reduce the amount but failed and the order then went to its final passage and failed. It was then reconsidered and laid on the table until later when Councilman Smith offered an amendment reducing the amount from $24,800 to $19,530. This amendment was adopted and the order unanimously passed. The order for new streets also came up and after Taber street had been stricken out this order was passed.

Before adjournment the rules were suspended and it was voted the Council adjourn until Aug. 28. Councilman Campbell was absent.

Councilman Sandberg moved to amend by making the amount $19,500 and striking out Upland road, Brooks avenue, Winthrop street and Webster street.

In support of his motion he said he didn't think the city in proper financial condition to pass such a large amount. Winthrop street was now in good condition.

The motion was lost. The order was then put on its final passage and failed to pass 14 voting yes and 7 no. Those to vote no, were Councilman Bailey, Branch, Jenkins, Nowland Richards, Sandberg, Sodergren.

On motion of Councilman Smith the vote was reconsidered and the order laid on the table. TWO FIRE ALARMS.

The call from Box 124 at 10.14 Monday night was a false alarm. The alarm came just as the City Council had adjourned and the Councilmen lined up in front of City Hall to see the department respond.

The alarm from Box 171 at 9.25 this morning was for a slight fire in a house on Union street occupied by an Italian family and was caused by an oil stove exploding.

TODAY'S COURT

Patrick McDonnell was fined $5 for drunkenness at Quincy.

Severa Giovani Alesanddeo, Michael Belmonte, Angelo Padula, Guiseppi, Alesandeo and Telma D'Agnone were arraigned for track walking at Braintree. Cases continued until July 7.

—When the Sunday baseball matter gets to be a real issue—and it will be quite a live one shortly—people will hardly know whether to line up on the side of custom or in the interest of what produces the best moral effect. As an example, the Western Watchman, a pronounced religious paper, published at St. Louis, recently said: "Several of our eastern Catholic papers have joined forces with the Puritans in demanding the enacting of laws forbidding Sunday baseball. We do not know any political or social institution in the United States that has done so much for morality as professional baseball and the Sunday game is the climax of moral improvement among our boys." It is true that young men and women too, for that matter are more wholesomely occupied in watching a baseball game Sunday afternoon than in visiting the average recreation or trolley road resort. The pity is however that on the Sabbath the people cannot be brought to cut ou t both the ball game and the resort of the sacred clam bake and merry-go-round. —Spencer Leader.

WATER FRONT IMPROVEMENT

Many Speak in Favor of Granting Larger Loan

There was a large attendance of citizens at the hearing before the joint committee on Rules of the legislature Monday and on the question of suspension of the rules in order that the bill to allow the city of Quincy to borrow a sum not exceeding $100,000 outside the debt limit fo rthe development of its water front might be ommitted.

There was no opposition to the bill. Several spoke of the great benefits that would come to Quincy by the establishment of a public dock.

Among those to speak for the proposed bill were Mayor Shea, President Bryant of the City Council, President Eugene R. Stone of the Board of Trade President John C. Murray of the Granite Manufacturers association, Joseph Walker and others.

The argument of the granite men was to the effect that Quincy was badly handicapped at the present time for the lack of shipping facilities for its main industry and that with the establishment of a public dock system they would be able to compete with other granite centres. It would also afford them an opportunity to dispose of a large amount of grout for which there is a great demand. This grout is now unmarketable for the reason that the expense of shipment by rail is too great.

After the hearing the committee took the matter under advisement.

HONESTY IN EVERYTHING

Squantum Wins.

The aviators will remain.

Squantum may be small but it has enough patriotism to make a metropolis.

What an awful job Mrs. Taft will have to count all these silver spoons daily, to see if burglars or the hired girl has got any of 'em!

As it seems to have cost the government $2450 to get an $850 portrait of Secretary Day, it would pay to establish a tintype saloon to retain the likenesses of high officials.

Descendants of former presidents were at the Taft silver wedding, but if they had not been wearing the ancestral tag, you could not have told them from Tom, Mrs. Dick and Miss Harry.

"College girls listen to baccalaureate" is the way the newspapers head it up. Considering all the dressmakers did for them, it takes faith to believe they listened.

Mr. Taft attends the July 4th celebration at Indianapolis, where they will show him a head on locomotive collision. Why don't they entertain him with a toy rattle and Crandall building blocks?

THE SQUANTUM LICENSES.

Undoubtedly the city fathers did a wise act last night in reconsidering their action of a week ago and granting licenses to the the Squantum hotel keepers. The public, at large wanted them. In this connection, however, the fact remains, and we should be proud of it, that the councilmen are endeavoring to uphold the city laws as they see them and live up to their pledges to the voters. The conditions surrounding the granting of the licenses had an entirely different aspect at last night's meeting and under the conditions which existed at first it is a question whether they could have honestly done otherwise. Hotels at Squantum are necessary, the publicity given to Quincy by aviation cannot be over-estimated. The wiseness of council, therefore, in reconsidering its former action is commendable and meets with the approval of every right minded citizen.

FRANKNESS A VIRTUE.

Why not be frank? The quality is over-praised and underused. Most persons are afraid of frankness because there are so many who construe frankness to be constantly giving others a piece of their mind as they express the act of uncalled for loquacity says an exchange. To be frank means nothing of the kind. It means that one shall not lie with the pretense of sincerity. It means that one shall not play the part of duplicity to avoid duty. It means that one shall have the courage to face a situation that calls for the expression of words of guidance and guarding words of dissent, words of blame or praise as the case may be. It means that one shall be serious in his utterances and that everybody shall know that he does not speak with a double tongue. But to be frank one must have certain qualities of character.

It is clear enough that one must have character itself, the character that best befits him and best acts as the witness to his own worth. One should have honest regard for himself so that he will be honest in his thoughts of others. When he can bring himself to be severe with his own faults he will be sincere in his treatment of the faults of others. When he despises acts of duplicity towards himself and seeks to avoid occasion for such he will seek to act toward others so that he cannot be justly accused of treachery in his dealings.

Frankness means much more than saying the blunt thing no matter how rude and unjustly it may be, simply because the words must come out. The brutal person is not a frank person. The frankness of reserve is as important as the frankness of expression. One is frank with another when he withholds something for the others' good. He is frank when he so regards his duty and obligation toward another that he can say that in acting with reserve he is acting with honesty and with the best interests of the other in view. Yet frankness does not imply lack of consideration for one's self. The best form of frankness is to leave no doubt in the mind of another as to what one believes to be just to himself. So many nurse feelings of wrong because they have wilfully allowed themselves to be misunderstood. The fault lies in the individual not having the frankness to make his position known, and not making it known is unreasonable in his condemnations. The greatest thing in the world is a good understanding, a good understanding with oneself and with one's neighbor. It costs little. It costs only frankness but frankness is the purest gold of social coinage.

COST OF OUR NAVY YARDS.

Secretary of the Navy Meyer, speaking before a House committee Monday, favored abandoning half of our navy yards. Mr. Meyer's offensive minding of other people's business is deplored by our politicians, who feel that the principal duty of a navy is to repair political fences, and furnish a supply of reserves always on hand with which to carry caucuses.

It is on this account that the expense of our navy yards has always been disproportionately large to the total navy bill. The jackies doing real navy work on board a war ship, who have signed papers under which they must stand up in their little boots and be fired at in case of war, are too far distant from any particular polling place to become cogs in any political machine.

Meanwhile the land lubbers and hangers on and sinecurists of our repair shops live within half a mile of the place where caucuses are held and they always vote straight. They must be cared for.

Thus it is that in five years up to 1909 it cost $40,000,000 to maintain our navy yards. During a similar period the maintainance bills in Great Britain's home navy yards were only $7,000,000.

In the New Orleans yard in one recent year they paid out $78,247, for maintainance, and the shops put through a product worth $1046.

A recent commandant at one of the big yards found that one of principal jobs was to sign routine papers. The heads of departments could not settle detail matters by the quick method of talking face to face or over the telephone, as would be done in any private business. Under the rules they had to write, and the Commandant had to sign personally 300 to 1000 routine letters daily.

The prize paper by a paymaster recently revealed that boat tillers, simple wooden sticks, average to cost $1. to $3 in several yards. The writer said he could buy a pick handle in a store that with a little whittling would make two fine tillers, for 20 cents.

In one yard, a building occupied by three different bureaus had three different heating and lighting plants. In another a fine machine shop was occupied by but one man.

When will our people learn how their daily cost of living is enhanced by allowing their public services to be run by politicians instead of by business men?

COURT ENDS ROMANCE

Marriage of School Girl to Trolley Car Conductor Is Annulled

Stamford, Conn., June 27.—Hannah Davenport was 16 years old May 26, 1910; was still wearing short skirts and was attending school. John F. Morris is a trolley car conductor, and in his car Hannah used to ride to and from school. They were secretly wedded.

Morris called at the house a few days later and told Hannah's mother. She led John to the door and told him to go. John went and that was the last the Davenports have seen of him. On this testimony Judge Burpee of the superior court annulled the marriage.

SURPRISED

YOUNG MARRIED COUPLE MANY TOKENS OF ESTEEM FROM FRIENDS UPON HOME-COMING

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Grows of No. 80 Baxter avenue, Quincy Point, the account of whose marriage appeared in Wednesday's issue of the Ledger, were the recipients of an agreeable surprise on Saturday in the form of substantial gifts from friends of Mr. Grows in the hull drafting office at Fore River.

Mr. Grows surprised his friends in this city with the news of his quiet marriage at his home town, Ellsworth, Me. His office mates likewise made their plans quietly and presented the young couple with a beautiful Morris chair, a cut glass sugar and cream set and handsome coffe percolator as tokens of their esteem and sincere good wishes for many years of wedded bliss.

The surprise was complete in every way and though taken entirely unawares. Mr. and Mrs. Grows responded prettily, thanking their surprisers and expressing appreciation of the kindly regards of their Fore River friends.

MAINE EXPLOSION WILL REMAIN SECRET

Conditions Make Its Solution Impossible, Says Bixby

Tampa, Fla., June 27.—"The secret of the destruction of the battleship Maine will never be known," said General Bixby, chief of engineers in charge of the work of raising the Maine, upon his arrival here from Havana.

The destruction of the vessel was such, says Bixby, and the deterioration has been so great that it will be impossible to tell whether the ship was blown up from a force within or without. The greatest force, however, was from the inside, indicating that the forward magazine had exploded. Whether this was from a sympathetic explosion caused by a torpedo from the outside may forever remain a mystery.

General Bixby says that unless the fragment of a torpedo is found there is no way of connecting some outside agency with the blowing up of the vessel.

Our Modern Factory Spoon.

For our modern factory made spoon the stock is first rolled and cross rolled to get the graded thickness that is needed. The spoon outline is then obtained by means of cutting out dies. The blanks thus formed are struck up by another set of dies, which ornament the front and back and even bend the spoon into its proper shape, at the same time stamping the required "sterling" and the maker's mark. If a spoon is made by this latest of processes the sterling mark can be found raised on the surface instead of incised, as was the case when the marking was done separately.—Handicraft.

HOSTESS

MISS ELEANOR WHITTEMORE ENTERTAINS FORTY COUPLES AT THE QUINCY YACHT CLUB

A very enjoyable party was held at the Quincy Yacht club Saturday afternoon and evening with Miss Eleanor Whittemore, daughter of Commodore Ira M. Whittemroe, as hostess.

About 40 couples mostly Quincy high and Woodward pupils were present to enjoy dancing to Harold Morse's orchestra both afternoon and evening and to partake of the dainty basket lunches put up by the young ladies. These were auctioned off, amid much excitement, but no money exchanged hands, for beans were used as legal tender. The party was a pretty one indeed with the girls in their light dresses and the boys in flannels.

HOW TO TAKE EXERCISE.

Sedentary Workers Need to Use Their Muscles Regularly.

Look at the city dog or the city horse—if any still exists. Let these animals be pampered, full fed and kept from work or play, and they become fat, indolent, decrepit, short lived. They must have exercise really to live. It need not be the rigorous task of the foxhound or the coursing greyhound or the hard drilling of the thoroughbred race horse in training. But a reasonable amount of exercise they must have in order to live.

So with the city man, the brain worker, the man of sedentary occupation. And inasmuch as "man," of course, "embraces woman"—as the philosopher said—it follows that she, too, needs reasonable exercise if she would live at her best. But the reasonableness of the exercise must never be forgotten.

It would be suicidal folly for the hardworking business man or practitioner of a learned profession to box ten rounds a day with a pugilist at top speed or to run a mile at his best pace or to play three fast sets of tennis. Yet three or four rounds a day or six rounds every other day at moderate speed, with, say, a couple of minutes' brisk mixup at the finish, or a pleasant, jogging run, or a set of tennis daily, or six sets distributed over a week, would do wonders in keeping the busiest sedentary worker full of the joy of living and doing and out of the hands of the doctors.

Preferably man should take his physical exercise as play. A pleasant swim of fifteen or twenty minutes' duration, a swift stroll with a friend or two over five or six miles, a lively game or two of squash or tennis or handball—any one of these will do a man more good than hours of monotonous mauling a punching bag or pushing dumbbells. The mind, the soul itself, is benefited by play, while the bodily functions are strengthened by the physical work in the game.—Harper's Weekly.

Trade Experts For Russia.

The Russian ministry of trade and commerce contemplates the appointment of special agents or trade experts. The first appointments will number thirteen, to be divided into two classes. Those of the first class are to be stationed at London, Berlin, Vienna, Constantinople and New York; those of the second class at Hamburg, Frankfort, Genoa, Sofia, Teheran, Shanghai and Mongolia and one in France.

PRIEST ATTACKS WALSH

Upholds Men Who Were Interdicted by Bishop of Portland

Biddeford, Me., June 27.—Long standing differences between Rt. Rev. Louis R. Walsh, Roman Catholic bishop of Portland, and French Canadians over property rights and other matters have resulted in a sermon on the subject being preached by Rev. Fr. Lord, a Jesuit priest, at St. Therese, Que.

Fr. Lord declared he had sent instructions and advice to Editor Bonneau, one of the French leaders interdicted by Bishop Walsh. The priest is also quoted as saying:

"I wish Mr. Bonneau to publish my sermon in his paper, The Messenger, and I defy Mgr. Walsh to interdict me and to denounce me. I will answer and I will carry the matter to Rome, but I will fight with canonical weapons. It is hard to admit it, but out compatriots have no chance in Rome, unless they use canonical weapons."

LETTER OF LUTHER IS GIVEN TO KAISER

Morgan Is Rewarded With Grand Cross of Red Eagle

Kiel, Ger., June 27.—J. P. Morgan presented Emperor William with the autograph letter written by Martin Luther in 1521 to Emperor Charles V and for which the American recently paid $25,000. The emperor was pleased and forthwith conferred the grand cross of the order of the Red Eagle on Morgan.

The letter, which is in Latin, is of great historical importance. It was written during the reformer's return journey from the diet of Worms and defended his attitude.

The letter never reached the emperor and its contents were such that no one dared deliver it. A Florence dealer, representing Morgan, obtained the epistle at an autograph sale at Leipsig in May last. As soon as it became known that the historic document was to go to America, the annoyance of the German public was expressed in many editorials.

PROCEEDINGS RENEWED

Labor Leaders Must Answer Charges of Contempt of Court

Washington, June 27.—Justice Wright of the District supreme court issued a rule against Samuel Gompers, Frank Morrison and John Mitchell, the labor leaders, requiring them to show cause on July 17 why they should not be judged guilty of contempt of court.

This action followed the filing of the report of the special committee of attorneys appointed by Wright to inquire into the matter of contempt proceedings in the Bucks Stove and Range boycott case.

Although July 17 has been set for the labor leaders to answer the contempt rule, there will be no hearing until fall. While technically this hearing will be before Wright, the entire membership of the court will be present.

MEN WHO MAKE SAFES.

Closely Watched After They Resign or Are Discharged.

A number of years ago two prospective safe breakers succeeded in obtaining employment in two different safe factories, worked over a period of years in the various departments, gained all the information that they desired and, subsequently working together, managed to baffle the safemakers by their skill in opening complicated safes in different parts of the country.

The police were at loss to understand how the safes had been opened, and only upon the apprehension of the two men several years later was it learned that the jobs had not been "inside" ones, as was originally suspected, but had really been the work of two men who had been initiated into the mysteries of safecraft and had put their knowledge to criminal use.

This put the safemakers on their guard, and an exceedingly complicated system was immediately put into force, whereby not only was the pedigree of every workman looked into closely, but the work among the employees was so separated that no one man or two men could gather enough information about a safe to put it to dangerous use afterward. Furthermore, when an employee is discharged or when he voluntarily leaves his position his actions are watched, and, although safe companies refuse to discuss this particular point, it is a matter of record that any former employee of a safe company who is possessed of intimate information regarding the secrets of that company's safes is kept under constant surveillance.—Harper's Weekly.

SUNDAY SERVICES

BAPTIST CHURCH.

The pastor continued his series of sermons on the Beatitudes at the service Sunday morning taking up Matt. 5:9 "Blessed are the peacemakers for they shall be called the children of God." "An essential characteristic of the children of God" was the topic of his sermon. Christ was called the Prince of Peace and the spirit of Christ bringeth peace into our lives. It is an attribute of Christianity, this having peace, and we as Christians must do all we can to promote peace on earth. As a reward we shall be looked upon as sons of God.

Rev. W. A. Brady of Narragansett Pier, R. I. and Rev. C. A. Parker of Redwood City, Cal. spoke to the Men's class. Both men are former pastors of the church and the latter was chiefly instrumental in building the church.

The big Men's meeting in the afternoon was a splendid success from start to finish. Rev. Illsley Boone of Boston, associate editor of Missions, the Baptist missionary publication, gave a fine address on "Supremacy among Men." "Efficiency" was the key word of his remarks. He urged his hearers to greater efficiency in whatever line of work they were doing for he said the efficient man is the one whom the employer wants. Labor may be dignified if we pride ourselves on our efficiency in doing our work. The Christian man has the supremacy over all other men because his foundations are builded upon the rock and his aims are higher than those of other men.

In the evening Rev. C. A. Parker of Redwood City, Cal. gave a splendid address on "Drifting and Heeding."

The quarterly business meeting of the church will be held this evening. Among the matters of business will be deciding upon the date of the annual picnic.

The regular prayer meeting will be held Thursday evening at the usual hour.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN.

At the Sunday morning meeting the pastor gave a sermon on "Lessons from the Ark of the Covenant." The choir rendered a special anthem in a very acceptable manner.

In the evening the subject of the pastor's address was "Great Straights" The choir sang another beautiful anthem at this service.

The missionary meeting of the Y. P. S. C. E. was largely attended.

The Ladies Aid society will have a meeting in the Church parlor Wednesday evening.

The pastor will deliver his preparatory address at the prayer meeting Thursday evening.

A business meeting of the Y. P. S. C. E. will follow the prayer meeting.

There will be a meeting of the officers and teachers of the Bible school Friday evening to decide upon the date of the picnic.

The communion service will be held next Sunday morning.

BETHANY CHURCH.

At the service Sunday morning Rev. S. H. Davis gave an address on "The work of the Anti-Saloon league."

In the evening, Rev. Langley B. Sears, who is acting as pastor of the church, gave an address on "The Coronation of Christ."

The Y. P. S. C. E. meeting was in charge of the missionary committee and the subject dealt with home missions in the West.

The regular mid week prayer meeting will be held Thursday evening at 7.45. The subject is "Peace, the gift of God." Mr. Sears will give a preparatory address.

Next Sunday evening a patriotic service will be held and the pastor will deliver an address on "Universal Peace."

The annual Sunday school picnic will be held at Glen Echo park, Stoughton, on Friday, June 30.

COURAGEOUS BOY.

Quincy, June 27, 1911.

Editor Quincy Daily Ledger:

In your paper of yesterday you spoke of my assisting two boys at the Atlantic shore boulevard on Friday last, who had been thrown into the water by the capsizing of their boat. I wish to say that the part I took in helping the little fellow who could not swim was small indeed compared with that of his companion. I do not know who he is but in my opinion the courage and judgment shown by him on that occasion should not go unrewarded.

Respectfully yours,

E. T. Spear.

"Tommy, when I tell you something is wrong you do not do it?"

"No, sir."

"But when your conscience tells you a thing is wrong you keep right on and do it?"

"But doesn't your conscience hurt you when you do something wrong?"

"Yes, sir; but not in the same place you do."

CITY COUNCIL

an equity in this property and advertised for a man to run it and Mr. Moran was employed. At the end of the season he felt that he could not afford to run it alone this year and a corporation was formed. He had known Mr. Moran 26 years and never heard his character besmirched. There were others besides himself in the corporation and they were struggling to make good. The hotel has been clean morally as any place could be and he challenged any man to show that the place was otherwise.

If granted a license you will never have occasion to regret it. We are trying to place your city on the map. Do not turn us down. The aviation field will be a great assistance to Quincy. The aviators are a fine class of men, and Mr. Atwood, Mr. Hamilton and Mr. Burgess and their families are now at the Inn. They would never come there if they thought it was not all right. He had a large real estate interest in Atlantic and had built 25 or 30 houses there. Both the Squantum Inn and Lee's Inn are morally clean.

Councilman Gardner asked the speaker several questions to which Mr. Conant replied that the company was incorporated for $30,000 and that he held stock to the amount of $6,500. He had held it since last October.

Several questions were also asked by Councilmen Leslie, Richards, Cherrington and Branch.

Ex-Representative R. P. Coombs, spoke in favor of the granting of the license. He lived near there and had been to the inn and had never seen liquor there. Mr. Kennyon, secretary of the Squantum improvement association, T. F. Callahan, and C. W. Cacarda all of Squantum spoke in favor of the granting of the license and said that it would be a bad blow to Squantum to close the hotels up. They also spoke of the orderly manner in which the places were conducted.

The hearing was then closed.

Councilman Gardner argued at length against the granting of the license. He did not believe things would be any different from last year. He did not believe they intended to do any better this year.

Councilman Craig said he took a few hours off last week and found Squantum. He had visited the hotels and looked them over and he favored the granting of the licenses.

Councilman Cherrington favored the granting of the license.

Councilman Smith moved that unless sooner reached a vote on the question be taken at 9.13. Voted 12 yes and 7 no.

Councilmen Nowland, Sandberg and Jenkins also spoke in favor of the granting of the license.

Councilman Richards opposed and requested the roll call.

On roll call the order was adopted Councimen Bailey, Richards and Gardner voting no.

Councilman Cherrington said that as this was an adjourned meeting he would move a reconsideration of the vote of last Monday on the orders for Innholders licenses for these two hotels.

The chair ruled the motion could not be entertained.

Councilman Cherrington asked by what rule.

President Bryant replied quoting the rules and the general parlamentary procedure.

Councilman Cherrington appealed from the ruling of the chair, but the chair was overwhelmingly sustained.

LIGHTS FOR SQUANTUM.

Councilman Cherrington offered an order for 25 gas lights at Squantum. Referred to Committee on Streets.

On motion of Councilman Smith Rule 1 was suspended and it was voted when the council adjourn it be until Monday, Aug. 28.

Councilman Leslie moved to take the order appropriating the receipts from the sale of the building of the Wollaston school lot, to extending the water service in the Mt. Wollaston cemetery, from the committee. Motion lost.

NEW STREETS.

The following orders took their second reading and were passed to be ordained under suspension of the rules.

Accepting Euclid avenue.

Accepting part of Dimmock street.

Accepting foot way from Glendale road.

Accepting Ring avenue.

Accepting part of Buckley street.

Accepting Kemper street.

Accepting Marlboro street.

Accepting Tyler street.

Accepting part of Phillips street.

Widening West Squantum street.

The order accepting Taber street was laid on the table.

PAVING BLOCK EXHIBIT.

Councilman Smith offered a resolve that the Commissioner of Public Works be requested to remove the paving block exhibit from the Council chamber. Adopted.

The ink on the orders was hardly dry before the Commissioner had thrown the blocks in the bushes back of City Hall.

Adjourned at 10.04 until August 28.

BREAD TRUST IS THE NEWEST

Biggest Bakeries of Seventeen Cities Are In the Combine.

HAS A CAPITAL OF $20,000,000

Organizers Declare That There Will Be No Monopoly and That the Only Purpose of the Combination Is Economy.

Following the incorporation under the laws of New York state of the General Baking company, there has been launched a $20,000,000 combination of bread manufacturers, which includes leading bakeries in seventeen cities.

The new company will have $10,000,000 of 7 per cent preferred stock, $10,000,000 of common stock and $5,000,000 of first and refunding 6 per cent bonds. It is planned to issue at this time $7,000,000 of the preferred stock, half of the authorized common and $3,500,000 of the bonds.

It is said that in the formation of the company there is no thought of the establishment of a monopoly in the manufacture and sale of bread and that such a monopoly would be impossible, as in most localities, with few exceptions, only one baking company has been acquired, leaving competition open to hundreds of others. The real purpose of the company is described as being progression through close buying of materials, general economics, up to date methods of manufacturing and extensive advertising.

Official Statement.

According to the official statement, the company has a philanthropic purpose as well. The statement says:

"The General Baking company has discovered several elements of interest in the bread business. First and foremost of these is the maintenance of absolutely clean and sanitary bakeries, the use of the most modern and improved machinery and the most rigid inspection, so that the products of the several establishments will rank as absolutely pure and hygienic. It has also discovered that by raising the standard of quality of bread of a certain number of bakeries in the populous centers of the country without increasing the cost a great object lesson is to be taught and that the general output of bread everywhere will eventually and naturally be brought up to this improved standard."

It is estimated that 70 per cent of all the bread in the country is made by housewives and 30 per cent by bakerles. There is said to be $270,000,000 invested in the business.

List of Members.

Here are the twenty-one companies which have joined the combination: Fleischmann's Vienna Model Bakery, incorporated, New York city; McKinney Bread company, St. Louis; the J. G. & B. S. Ferguson company, Boston; Boston Baking company, Washington; Ontario Biscuit company, Buffalo; Haller Bread company, Pittsburg; Deininger Bros.' company, Rochester; United Baking company, Toledo; Morton Baking and Manufacturing company, Detroit; Arnold-Althaus company, Providence; Vories Baking company, New Orleans; Freihofer Vienna Baking company, Philadelphia; George G. Fox company, Boston; Juergens Baking company, Wheeling, W. Va.; Collins Baking company, Buffalo; Weber Baking company, Newark; C. Martens company, incorporated, Jersey City; Brunner Baking company, Buffalo; Canton Baking company, Canton, O.; Rochester Baking company, Rochester, and Cleveland Bread company, Cleveland, O.

FOR BROKEN HEAD.

St. Louis Physician Tells a Fracture by Consulting Big Toe.

If you tickle your ankle and your big toe turns upward and the other toes spread outward your skull is fractured, says Dr. C. G. Chaddock, a member of the visiting staff at the St. Louis City hospital, who says he has made the experiment in 275 cases and has not failed once.

If your skull is intact the tickling of the ankle will cause your toes to turn downward and draw close together. Dr. Chaddock says the spot on the ankle that will reveal skull fracture is a half inch above the sole of the foot on the inside of the ankle.

Before Dr. Chaddock made his discovery, which is interesting the medical world, it was the custom to rub the hands over a man's head in an effort to discover possible fractures. The spot on the ankle is closely connected with the brain by a lesion in the central motor track, Dr. Chaddock says.

Dr. Babinsky was the first to approach the present successful method of discovering skull fractures, according to Dr. Chaddock. He tickled the sole of the foot, but this failed in many cases.

Grows Trees For Canes.

Theodore W. Burkham, a progressive Indiana farmer, living on a large tract of fertile land near Lawrenceburg Junction, has set out several hundred young trees of a peculiar variety, and a number of acres will be devoted to them. When the trees have obtained sufficient growth they will be sold to be made into umbrella handles and canes.

UNCLE SAM COULD RAISE FOOD FOR ONE BILLION.

Adequate Water Supply Is the Only Question, Scientist Finds.

Having secured from the Himalayas a peach that will thrive on Pike's peak, an alfalfa from Siberia that will flourish on the upper stretches of the Saskatchewan and an ant from Honduras that will fatten on the boll weevil, Secretary Wilson is reaching out for more wonders. He now thinks he has achieved a great discovery in the science of agriculture as the result of the work of Professor W. J. McGee, formerly of the United States geological survey.

Dr. McGee has made a profound study of the capabilities of production of the soil of the United States under the normal conditions of water supply. Taking the arable land of the United States at a round 2,000,000 square miles, or 1,280,000,000 acres, he says this would weigh 2,500,000,000,000 tons, which would produce 7,500,000,000 tons of food annually. Such a yield, he calculates, would sustain a population of 500 to the square mile over the 2,000,000 square miles of the country, or 1,000,000,000 people in the aggregate. While the data are not mathematically calculated to a hair, Dr. McGee suggests that with a sufficient water supply the world will continue to feed the sons and daughters of men just about as it does now, except for the more crowded life and the more highly intensive methods of farming, for seventy centuries yet to come.

Dr. McGee states that there is within the earth continually a store of water equal to the rainfall of ten years. The total rainfall of the country is calculated to be 215,000,000,000 cubic feet, the equivalent of ten Mississippi rivers. Nevertheless the water supply of the mainland United States is hardly that required for full agriculture production. The annual yield of crops is, he says, one-half what it would be if the present inadequate water supply were equally distributed. He says that one-third of the rainfall runs off into the sea through the rivers. This is the run-off. A small fraction enters into chemical combinations or else penetrates deeply into the earth and finds its way to the sea by slow percolation. This is the cut-off. A greater fraction evaporates. This is the fly-off.

Before the coming of the white man to this continent the three fractions were about equal. Under the conditions of the run-off, cut-off and fly-off the continent is gradually wearing down at the rate of one foot over its entire surface in 6,000 years. Neither Secretary Wilson nor Dr. McGee expects to be able to verify these calculations.

FOR HIGHER TOBACCO TAX.

Warburton Says Congress Is Letting Millions of Dollars Get Away.

Representative Warburton of Washington, a newly elected Republican insurgent, charged congress with letting millions of dollars go to waste that it might collect in internal revenue taxes on tobacco.

"If the government would put a reasonable tax on tobacco, which may be considered a luxury," said Mr. Warburton, "it could let in woolen goods, cotton goods and sugar without any tariff whatever. If this country taxed tobacco as England or France does we could close the doors of all the custom houses except as to the importations of liquors and tobaccos.

"American people are paying six times as much tax to the government on sugar as they are on five cent cigars, twelve times as much on sugar as on ten cent cigars, thirty times as much on sugar as on twenty-five cent cigars and sixty times as much on sugar as on fifty cent cigars. The rich man who smokes a thirty-five cent cigar pays 1.2 cents tax on each $1 worth of them, while his gardener, who smokes five cent cigars, pays 6 cents tax on his dollar's worth, and his washerwoman who buys a dollar's worth of sugar pays 36 cents tax on it."

CUTS HIS OWN SALARY.

Ohio Mayor Makes Like Demand on Other City Officials.

Taxation affairs, which have caused no end of discussion in Ohio city governments for the last few months owing to the passage of the Smith 1 per cent tax law, have come to a climax in Springfield with the announcement by Mayor C. J. Bowlus that he has cut his salary almost in half in order to have the city proceed with the many public improvements planned there.

Mayor Bowlus has been receiving $2,500 a year, but now announces that he has decided that $1,500 will be enough for him to live on. He also makes the statement that he does not expect to be the only official who will chop his salary. This announcement has caused an alarm among the county officials, all of whom say they will not cut their salaries, even though the mayor should choose to cut his out altogether.

Mayor Bowlus has called a meeting at which this question will be talked over in plain words. He says the officials must cut their salaries at least one-third.

Siam's Commerce.

Siam is of much more importance commercially than is generally assumed. In February of this year the exports had a value of $3,256,895 and the imports (nearly all manufactures) $2,233,960, both considerably more than in January.

HOW TO USE COCOANUTS.

There Are Various Delicious Ways of Serving Them.

The sight of the big brown cocoanuts in the fruit stalls recalls many delightful ways of using them. Although the desiccated kind sold in packages has its uses, it is often sold when stale, and one cannot be as sure of it as of the fresh nut.

When selecting a cocoanut choose one in which the "milk" can be heard when it is shaken. Punch open the small spots at the end of the nut to let out this liquid and then break it open with a hammer. The thin rind after breaking the shell away from the meat can be peeled off neatly with a French cook's knife.

A cocoanut can be grated in quantity at home and dried with sugar. It will keep fresh a long time and will not lose its delicate flavor. Grate the white meat on a platter and sprinkle with the sugar. Place it in the oven with the door open so that it will dry slowly. The heating closet under the oven has been used in this way to advantage. The smallest cutter of the meat grinder may sometimes be used instead of the grater, and if it can it will save much time and patience. Some choppers cut the cocoanut into tiny lumps, which are not attractive. About one cupful and a half of grated cocoanut can be obtained from one nut rather under medium size. Fresh cocoanut grated in this way is also nice if slightly browned, but if a gas range is being used care must be taken not to place the cocoanut too near the flames, as it catches fire easily. Custards, bonbons and other sweets are improved by a sprinkling of this browned cocoanut.

Grated cocoanut may take the place of meringue on a pie, and some palates will like it better. A few flakes should be folded through the filling, and the covering should be delicately browned. Apple tarts treated in this way are very attractive. Fill the baked shells of puff paste with apple sauce, sprinkle liberally with snowy cocoanut and put the tarts into the oven for five or ten minutes or until the filling has thickened and the cocoanut is a delicate brown.

Fresh grated cocoanut may be used to advantage with strawberries in various desserts and other sweets. A cocoanut blancmange, for example, is delicious if each plateful is served with a large spoonful of very ripe mellow berries.

No two flavorings combine so well as orange and cocoanut. Sliced sweet oranges are often sprinkled with cocoanut and served as a dessert for a supper. Sliced bananas may be served in place of the sliced oranges and covered with a snowy coating of sweetened whipped cream and sprinkled with a little fresh cocoanut. For a tutti frutti put sliced oranges and bananas in layers, sprinkling between with sugar and grated cocoanut and arranging over the top a decoration of maraschino cherries or very ripe strawberries rolled in powdered sugar.

HEALTH HINT FOR TODAY.

Diet and Obesity.

Obesity cannot be controlled entirely by diet, although it is the principal factor. It is customary to reduce the amount of water taken to not more than one quart, the normal quantity being two quarts, including all drinks. The foods to be especially avoided in obesity are sweets, pork, veal, prepared dishes, potatoes, white bread, oatmeal, hominy, rice, fats, beets, carrots, turnips, parsnips, cream and soups. Fish and lean beef are the least objectionable of the meats. Stale graham is the best bread.

Warship Make Splendid Showing In Test Off Rockland

Rockland, Me., June 27.—A maximum speed of 21.637 knots, .887 greater than the contract requirements, was attained by the new United States battleship Utah, the latest addition to the nation's dreadnaughts, during her standardization trials over the official course.

The Utah made twenty runs. During three of these she maintained a speed of 10.556 knots, on three others 12.015 knots, another group of three at 16.799 knots and still another at 19.049. In addition to these there were five top speed runs and three at cruising speed.

During the top speed runs the Utah made an average of 21.288 knots. Her contract requires 20.75 knots. Tests showed 329.17 propeller revolutions per minute necessary to maintain the maximum speed and 314.5 necessary for the contract speed. The engines developed 28,477 horsepower.

Although no official statement has been made it is understood that the working of the turbines with which the Utah is equipped was in every way satisfactory.

CARRIER PIGEON RETURNS.

Charles Sampson of Presidents hill returned from Baltimore Monday afternoon after an enjoyable trip. The carrier pigeons which he took with him were freed at Norfolk, Va., at 6.12 on Friday morning. Inquires were made of their owner, Thomas Clark, Douglas street, with regard to their return and it was found that the older of the two had flown the 450 miles in twenty-four hours. The younger bird had not arrived at last reports but its owner believes that it will get here yet.

$10,000 STORY TOLD BY FUNK

Says Hines Tried to Get Money From His Company

WANTED FOR $100,000 FUND

Man Who Endeavored to Raise Contributions to Reimburse Those Who "Put Lorimer Across" Asked For Big Contribution "Just as Casual as Sale of Car of Lumber"—Thinks Hines Inclined to Be Boastful

Washington, June 27.—Clarence S. Funk, general manager of the International Harvester company, whose account of an alleged request to him by Edward Hines of Chicago for a $10,000 contribution toward a $100,000 Lorimer election fund played an important part in bringing about a second inquiry, appeared before the Lorimer investigation committee.

His testimony was expected to develop a crucial stage in the inquiry, inasmuch as a question of veracity between him and Hines has arisen as to the alleged request to help reimburse those who raised the $100,000 "to put Lorimer across at Springfield."

There was intense interest as Funk took the stand and faced Hines, who had been given special permission to attend the hearing instead of being required to stay in the witness room. Edgar H. Farrar had been added to the counsel for Lorimer and Hines and joined with his associates, Eldridge Hanecy and W. A. J. Hines in examining the witness.

John H. Marble, of counsel for the committee, began the direct examination. Funk testified that as general manager of the harvester concern it was one of his dutles to keep in touch with political affairs. He declared, however, that never to his knowledge had the company used money to get votes in legislatures or senates. He said that as far as he could he had always avoided discussing Lorimer personally.

"Have you regarded Mr. Lorimer as a factor opposed to the International Harvester company?" asked Marble. "No, sir."

"Do you recall a certain conversation with Edward Hines?" asked Marble. "Yes, sir."

Funk then repeated his story of the conversation with Hines in which the request for the $10,000 contribution is said to have been made. "Just as casual of the sale of a car of lumber," was the way Funk referred to the proposition.

The witness said he met Hines at the Union League club shortly after Lorimer's election. Hines said, according to Funk, "you are just the man I want to see." The witness explained that he was not repeating the exact words necessarily but only giving his recollection of the conversation.

Hines said: "Well, we put Lorimer over down at Springfield, but it cost $100,000 to do it." He added that they had to act quickly.

"What else?" urged Marble.

"He said: 'Now we are seeing some of our friends to get the matter fixed up.'" Funk said he inquired how much they were getting.

"Well, we can only go to a few big people," Funk said Hines replied, "and if we can get ten to contribute $10,000 we can wipe it out."

"I asked him why he came to us," said Funk. "He said: 'You are as much interested in having the right kind of man at Washington as any of us.'

"I said we are not in that kind of business. He began to argue about Lorimer. I was anxious to terminate the conversation. I soon got up and left."

A volley of questions was fired at the witness by members of the committee when he finished his story.

Senator Kenyon wanted Mr. Funk's impression of Hines' reference to Lorimer as the "right kind of man." "My impression," replied the witness, "was that he was the kind of man Hines regarded as the right kind."

"Did you not regard Hines as impertinent?" asked Senator Fletcher. "Yes, but I was not surprised."

"Why not surprised?" asked Chairman Dillingham. "It comported with my general impression of the man."

"Did you regard it is loose talk?" inquired Fletcher. "I regarded it as an attempt to get $10,000 from the harvester company."

Mr. Funk expressed the opinion that Hines was inclined to boast of his achievements and to have people think he was a great factor in great matters.

WILL SEIZE CRUISER

Bold Declaration of Deposed Captain of the Boston

Portland, Ore., June 27.—"I shall take command of the United States cruiser Boston either by force of arms or by injunction," declares Captain Shephard, deposed captain of the vessel.

Shephard explained that he had just received an opinion of an attorney who holds that Adjutant General Finzer of the Oregon state militia, had nothing to do with the Oregon naval reserve up to May 20, and therefore the acts of the court of inquiry which resulted in the removal of Shepard as captain of the organization are void.

Plumpness Makes Health

Thin People Heed This.

If you are too thin; if you are pale and sallow; if what you eat seems not to strengthen you; if your lips and cheeks are colorless, it is because your blood is deficient in red corpuscles and disease can easily overcome you, as you have no reserve strength or nourishment to uphold you.

A pharmaceutical product, called a grain hypo-nuclane tablets, is often prescribed for these conditions, and if taken for several months, rapidly increases weight and improves the color. Buy in sealed package of any well stocked apothecary shop.

DEFEATED ON A VOICE VOTE

Root Amendment Thrown Out of Reciprocity Bill

ROLLCALL IS NOT DEMANDED

Measure Now Open to General Fight on Floor, Several Senators Evidencing Their Purpose to Force Consideration of Tariff Revision on Widest Plane—La Follette Wrongfully Criticises Newspapers

Washington, June 27.—The Canadian reciprocity bill emerged from its first ordeal in the senate last night unscathed.

The Root amendment, proposing a modification of the wood pulp and print paper section of the agreement, was defeated after seven hours of debate, by an overwhelming vote.

The friends of the amendment were so satisfied of its defeat that a rollcall on the vote was not demanded.

This leaves the reciprocity measure open to the general fight which is to follow for amendments of important provisions of the Payne tariff law. Senator La Follette announced in a speech opposing the Root amendment that he would give the senate a chance to pass on general tariff amendments for free paper, free lumber and lumber products, and for reduction in many other schedules.

Senator Clapp announced his intention of offering a free paper amendment later and other senators evidenced their purpose to force, from now on, consideration of tariff revision on the widest plane.

Attacks on the Root amendment were interspersed with attacks on the whole reciprocity measure in the debate which ran through the afternoon, and resulted in the defeat of Root's proposal to change the house bill by requiring that all Canadian provinces should remove their export restrictions on pulp wood and its products, before the reciprocal features of the wood pulp and print paper section of the agreement went into effect.

"I am opposed to this so-called reciprocity legislation as a whole, because I believe it is wrong, harmful and unjustifiable," said La Follette. "If it must pass, I want to see it made as nearly perfect as possible. I shall vote against the Root amendment, because I believe it will defeat the very purpose of the wood pulp and print paper paragraph of the agreement."

La Follette criticised the newspapers for having urged the reciprocity measure as a means of relief from the oppressive charges of the print paper manufacturers. He said they had joined with the "packers, the railroads the flour millers," and others who could obtain advantages by the passage of the reciprocity bill.

He said that in the testimony taken by the finance committee it would be shown that the newspapers suppressed the news of the reciprocity proceedings; but on this point Senator Stone, also a member of the finance committee, said the Wisconsin senator was mistaken.

Senator Clapp opposed the reciprocity bill as a "deception, a delusion and a snare," and said the Root amendment would make it only worse.

Senator Simmons, Democrat, declared the bill was not a Democratic measure.

ANOTHER FIRE VICTIM

Thomas Kerr, Who Tried to Save Womens' Lives, Succumbs

Nantucket, Mass., June 27.—The fourth victim of the fire that destroyed the boathouse of William Barnes, Jr., died last night when Thomas Kerr of New York succumbed to his injuries.

Kerr was badly burned in an effort to rescue Helen Wilson of New York and Mildred De Haven of Brooklyn, who were trapped in a small room and unable to escape.

The fire occurred during a house party given by Thurlow W. Barnes, 2d. Kerr and Ulysse Pahud, the Barnes valet, sought to save the women and both were frightfully burned. Pahud died at midnight Saturday.

Those who escaped with their lives did so by jumping into the water.

CORAL AND LACES SEIZED

Found Among Effects of Crew on Steamer From Mediterranean

Boston, June 27.—Several hundred dollars' worth of fine laces and coral were seized by Special Treasury Agents Harney and Rinalli on board the White Star liner Canopic shortly after her arrival here yesterday from Mediterranean ports.

The goods were found among the effects of members of the crew, and as the latter were unable to explain they were taken to the appraiser's stores for valuation.

The seized goods will be appraised today and proceedings instituted to confiscate them. No arrests will be made for the present at least, as no attempt was made to get them by the customs officials.

FATHER'S DILEMMA.

"How's the family," one inquired of a happily married West Sider, yesterday.

"Well, my children are at a difficult age, now."

Difficult?" Why, they've all passed the measles and teething stage, haven't they?"

"Long ago. But you don't know a father's troubles. My children are at the ages where if I use slang my wife says I'm setting a bad example. And if I speak correctly the kids think I'm a back number. Which would you do?"

It is harder to raise a family right than we thought at first.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

CUNNINGHAMS LOSE CLAIMS

Syndicate Is Beaten In the Alaska Coal Fight

VICTORY FOR CONSERVATION

Its Friends Fear, However, That Private Inttrests May Yet Succeed In Getting Hold of Land Valued at From $128,000,000 to $250,000,000 —Ballinger Defeated and Pinchot and Glavis Upheld

Washington, June 27.—The famous Cunningham Alaskan coal land claims, through which it has been alleged that the Morgan-Guggenheim syndicate had planned to extend their vast interests in Alaska and to control one of the most valuable coal fields in the world, have been entirely disallowed by the department of the interior.

Secretary of the Interior Fisher, having approved the department's decision, as handed down by Fred Dennett, commissioner of the land office, the last door is believed to have been closed to the Cunningham claimants. Their attorneys have threatened an appeal to the United States supreme court, but such an appeal can be based only on some point of law involved, and not on the findings of fact as announced by the department.

The amount of money involved is variously estimated at from $128,000,000 to $250,000,000 or even more. Several witnesses at the various hearings testified that the claims are worth more than $300,000,000. Beyond the mere pecuniary phase of the decision it establishes a precedent of inestimable force in the campaign for the conservation to the people of the United States of the natural resources of the country.

The Cunningham claims have been in the public eye constantly for more than two years past. They brought about the Ballinger-Pinchot investigation by congress and the dismissal from the public service of Chief Forester Pinchot, Louis R. Glavis, a chief of field division in the land office, and several minor officials. Both Pinchot and Glavis were dismissed for insubordination incident to their attacks on former Secretary Ballinger, whom they claimed was favorably disposed toward the claims.

The fight for the control of the Alaskan coal fields has just begun, in the opinion of leading conservationists here who have read the decision of the department of the interior in cancelling the Cunningham claims. The absence of a law adequate to protect the public and reserve to the government control over the coal lands is a feature of the situation of the utmost importance.

It is inferable from the official statement of Fisher that the department will proceed with dispatch to consider the thousands of claims for coal lands in the Behring river and Matanuska regions now pending. The thirty-three claims of the Cunninghams, covering 5200 acres which occupy the more important strategic position with reference to the whole field, are as if they never had existed, hence it is expected that this priceless land will be filed on at Juneau at the moment the news of the decision reaches there.

It is taken for granted that the lawyers representing the Morgan-Guggenheim interests will see to it that filings are made promptly and unless congress meantime enacts a law to regulate the mining, by means of leases or otherwise, nothing extraordinary stands in the way of the ultimate absorption of the coal of Alaska by private interests.

It is apparently the impression at conservation headquarters that the department of the interior henceforth will be on its guard over every acre of coal land in Alaska and that no claim will be allowed a patent until every circumstance in connection with it has been disclosed.

The vindication of Pinchot, Glavis, Price and Brandeis implied in the decision is of the most sweeping character. The decision is taken here as convicting Ballinger of bad faith with the public in his administration in the department of the interior with reference to the Cunningham claims.

"CASEY AT THE BAT"

Recited In Pulpit by Minister Who Defends Sunday Baseball

Sacramento, Cal., June 27.—Prefacing a sermon with a recitation of "Casey at the Bat," Rev. Franklin Baker, pastor of the First Unitarian church, spoke to a large congregation in defense of Sunday baseball.

He declared that the $15,000,000 spent for baseball last season was better expended than the same sum in foreign missions, and that the game is "America's mental shower bath."

WIFE SUPPORTS FAMILY

Brockton Man Thinks He Does His Share by Minding Baby

Brockton, Mass., June 27.—"Nobody can say I have done no work the past year. Of course my health has been poor, and has kept me from working in a shoe factory. But I have cared for the baby and have done the house work every day and have looked after the shopping for the family. What more could I do?" said Cornelius Lynch to Judge Reed in the police court.

Lynch was charged with being drunk and with disturbing the peace and Reed found him guilty on both charges.

The court asked Lynch who was supporting the family, and Lynch answered that his wife had been working every day.

"But she could not work unless I remained at home and minded the baby," said Lynch. During the testimony Mrs. Lynch just smiled.

KING'S "COMMAND" CONCERT

Hundred Thousand Rose Blooms Spread Fragrance In Theatre

London, June 27.—One of the most magnificent spectacles connected with the coronation was the command performance last night in Covent Garden. The interior of the edifice was transformed into a veritable floral palace, wreathed about England's fairest flowers.

Those privileged to be within the great auditorium will long remember the gorgeous scintillating picture, the fragrance of 100,000 perfect rose blooms and noble company of men and women representing the royalty of the world, and those most distinguished in British official and social life, who filled every box and every stall.

In point of picturesque attire the Indian princes, glittering with jewels, were easily first, eclipsing the royalties in their most splendid uniforms.

Stayed That Way.

"Hello, Stubbs! Haven't seen you for months. The last time we met, I remember, you were trying to break into literature. Did you succeed?"

"Yes, and I've been broke ever since."—Boston Transcript.

How to Drive Nails in a Wall.

It is frequently difficult to fix nails to the walls on which to hang pictures owing to the powdery condition of the plaster, which causes the nails to fall out almost immediately. The best way to overcome this is to have a carpenter plane a small piece of wood and bore six holes in it. Then drive in this wood fine nails so that when driven home they will protrude about a quarter of an inch. Next glue the back of the block to the wall, knocking the nails in at the same time. When set this is quite firm, and hooks screwed into it will hold a considerable weight.

☞A monument shop is advertised in this paper at a bargain. Those interested should take notice.

Put two quarts of the fruit in a double boiler with one pint of sugar, and heat slowly until the berries are soft; drain through cheese cloth, and return the juice to the preserving kettle, with one quart of sugar; stir over the fire until the sugar is completely dissolved; boil five minutes and skim, then add the remaining fruit; heat slowly to the boiling point and cook six minutes. Fill each jar to overflowing and seal.

Put two cupfuls of bread crumbs in a bowl, add to it half a pound of sausage meat, a beaten egg, a cupful of milk, a level teaspoonful of salt a quarter of a level teaspoonful of pepper and a tablespoonful of finely minced onion. Mix all together thoroughly, and use it to fill the pocket. Fasten the opening with a skewer or string and put the veal into the bakepan. Sprinkle it with a few grains of salt and pepper, add a cupful of hot water to the pan, and put it into a moderate oven to cook for one hour and a quarter. Then, if ready to serve, transfer the veal to a hot platter, add a tablespoonful of sifted flour to the pan, stir thoroughly, add a cupful of boiling water, put it on the stove, and stir until it boils. George Sullivan who took fourth place in the N. E. A. A. U. championship 440 yard run at Brookline on Staurday is scheduled to run in the second annual meet of Our Lady of the Presentation parish at Brighton, on July 1.

In the race last Saturday Sullivan might have got a better place if he had started his sprint sooner. As it was he was fourth to "Bill" Prout, T. A. Guething and Bowser of Lynn.

Indianapolis, June 26—Ex Vice-President Fairbanks entered as "Charley" Fairbanks in the Chicago-Indiana club's picnic, lost the horsehoe pitching championship of the world, which he won last year at the club's outing on George Ade's farm.

Fairbanks had the advantage in height and reach, but he was not able to put over as many ringers as his ancient friend Uncle John M. Studebaker head of the noted South Bend family of that name, and Uncle John Ade, father of the author-humorist.

The annual golf championship meeting of the Greater Boston Interscholastic Association will take place at the Woodland Golf Club, Auburndale, July 5, 6, and 7. About 50 players from the schools of eastern Massachusetts are expected to take part. Entries close July 3 with T. C. Pray, telephone 886, Newton North.

Chicago. June 26,—J. J. McDermott, 21 years old, of Atlantic City, N. J., who began his golf career in Philadelphia as a caddie, won the open golf championship of the United States today at the Chicago Golf Club, outplaying his two opponents with whom he tied last week.

McDermott is the first American born to win the open championship in the history of golf in America. Scotchmen have always won in the 16 previous tournaments but McDermott was runner up last year. M. J. Brady of Boston was runner up to McDermott this year, while George A. Simpson of the Chicago Golf Club, former amateur champion of Scotland, was third.

Poughkeepsie, June 26 — One hundred and twelve oarsmen, representing five American universities and divided into 14 crews, will engage tomorrow afternoon in the great annual regatta of the Intercollegiate, rowing association, composed of Columbia, Cornell, Pennsylvania, Syracuse and Wisconsin.

The regatta will be held on the Hudson river on what is known as the Poughkeepsie course, a straight, deep stretch of water beginning three miles north of the Poughkeepsie bridge and finishing one mile south of the same structure.

ORIENTS DEFEAT PACIFIC.

The Orient A. A. experienced little difficulty in defeating the Pacific A. C. of Cambridge last Saturday at the latter's playground 8 to 0. Bradley was in the box for the Orients and only two hits were obtained off him. "Bunt" Markham who played his first game for the Orients secured two cleant hits.

Score by innings:

Orients,	1	0	1	3	1	1	0	1	0	—8
Pacifics	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	—0

A SQUARE DEAL.

(Communicated)

The good people of Quincy should be ashamed of themselves for not encouraging a good baseball team, such as the Makarias are. They always play clean ball, and always act the part of gentlemen when on the ball field, as well as when off. The fair sex of Quincy and vicinity are perfectly safe whenever they attend any game in which the Makarias are participating. The Makarias should be shown a square deal, they should have the utmost support of all who love and enjoy the national game, base ball. Come and see them play next Saturday, and give them the glad hand. A Friend.

BOGUS ANTIQUES.

Tricks of the Crafty Italian Forgers of Old Curios.

There are dealers in curios, a crafty set of tradesmen, all over Europe, but it is in Italy that they have carried the art of deceit and forgery, the substitution of modern products for ancient, to the acme of perfection. Verona, Venice, Siena and Rome swarm with shops in which lurk these dealers in the antique, and they are keen to spot any American that may pass their way. Next to the American in gullibility is the Englishman, but he does not so freely give up his money.

Sir James Yoxall, the English connoisseur, thus describes one of these dealers: "He knew how to crackle new ivories by boiling them like eggs, how to cook new pictures in the oven, how to smoke new prints and how to green new bronzes with nitrate of potassium. It was so amusing to see the things age in a minute! He would bring a new earthenware dish out of the over, burning hot, and plunge it into iced oil; result, contraction, chill—chilblains, so to speak—and the enamel all cracked into the wrinkles of age. And then he would rub the surface upon a dirty paving stone till signs of wear and tear appeared that might outwit anybody.

"As for pictures, it was easy to find an old canvas or an old panel for a Lorenzo. It was when the artist's work was over that the real science and art began—first of all, a wash of varnish that had been colored with sepia; next, on the more raised portions, rubbings with licorice juice to attract the flies. He could even imitate fly marks with india ink. A few drops of salty water left on the canvas would produce moldiness and mildew. A needle deftly used would cover the picture with a network of cracks."

THE BANK OF ENGLAND.

Classed as a Tavern and Has the Right to Retail Beer.

In the census records of the city of London the Bank of England is classed as a tavern.

This is because it has the right in common with some other old established city businesses to sell beer by retail. The power to do this was granted it by charter under the great seal in 1694, and it has never been taken away from it.

The bank could therefore, if it chose, start in business as a public house tomorrow, or it could send round a special "Bank of England brand" of, say, bottled stout, delivered in its own drays at your door, with a facsimile of the chief cashier's signature on the label of each bottle as a guarantee of purity.

The dean and chapter of St. Paul's cathedral can also lay claim to a similar privilege, with the right, in addition, to brew their own beer. Paul's brew house formerly stood at the corner of the entrance to Doctor's commons from the churchyard, and an average of between 60,000 and 70,000 gallons of "strong ale" were brewed there every year.

The sale of this, however, was confined to the cathedral precincts. They must have been thirsty souls, those old time ecclesiastics. But, then, it must be remembered that in those days tea and coffee were unknown and beer was drunk at every meal. Even very little children had their allowance, two quarts a day, sent up to the nursery regularly each morning from the buttery below.—Pearson's Weekly.

BEAUTY IN UGLINESS

By ELLA B. CHEEVER

Copyright by American Press Association. 1911.

Professor Blinder was a farmer's boy made into an archaeologist. He worked his way through college, sometimes teaching the little country boys and girls near the university where he studied, sometimes following the plow, but oftener doing odd jobs which would not interfere with his university courses. He was red headed, freckled and otherwise unattractive in personal appearance, except for the intellect that looked out through his eyes. When he smiled he resembled a pumpkin with a candle in it, such as boys use to celebrate Allhallow eve.

Professor Blinder while in college was principally interested in buried things, and the longer they had been under ground the better he liked them. He read so many books about buried cities that after his graduation he was chosen to go abroad with a party of archaeologists to discover the site of lost Greek cities mentioned by historians. He told the party where many of these cities were, and they found them. When he returned he was made professor of archaeology in a woman's college. The girls declared that he had been appointed because none of them would be tempted to run away with him.

One day after recitation Eva Lambert, whose talents ran rather to mischief than books, went up to the professor's lecture table after the lecture, ostensibly to ask a question, but really to poke fun at him.

"Professor," she said, "did the early Christians dig out the catacombs of Rome to bury their dead in?"

"That's the story," replied the professor, "but it seems to me more likely that they were old quarries and the Christians found them ready for their purpose, though they greatly extended them. There's too much glamour about archaeological stories. Nevertheless the catacombs are interesting, even if they were originally quarries. It is the pleasure we take in deciphering inscriptions and such matters pertaining to the dead placed there centuries ago that interests us, as well as the skeletons of the dead themselves. The catacombs to me are more fascinating than the Lake of Como, the bay of Naples or the Swiss Alps. Beauty is passive; there is nothing about it to learn, to conquer. There is no beauty in the catacombs, but there is the liveliest interest. For instance, when we see the outline of a fish scratched on the wall over a sarcophagus we are eager to know what it means. And when we have learned that we find something else we wish to interpret"—

"What does a fish mean?" asked Miss Lambert, becoming interested.

"It was a sign of the early Christians and indicated that the buried one was a follower of Jesus. But, to return to the matter of the difference between the beautiful and the interesting. Two young students of geology recently took luncheon on a stone. It was a common stone apparently, like any other stone. One of the students thought it resembled a fossilized bone. Chipping off a few bits of it, they took it to their college laboratory, tested it and found that it was a bone. It turned out to be the paw of an extinct dinosaur that had lived millions of years ago. There was no beauty in it, but it was fascinating."

"I should say so. Was it taken out?"

"Yes, and removed to a museum."

By this time the girls had all left the lecture room. The professor went on talking.

"If you ever go to Pompeii, buried by an eruption of Vesuvius seventy-five years after the birth of Christ, you will see a plaster cast of a man. Some may prefer the statue of the Apollo Belvedere, possibly the most beautiful figure in existence. My taste leads me to the Pompeiian cast. It represents only a common man and is rough at that. The figure it represents was a man who when Pompeii was being covered with ashes and mud was attempting to escape, but fell and was enveloped in the mud. This casing hardened and formed a mold of the body. Eighteen hundred years later the body had disappeared in gases, plaster was poured into the mold, and we got a replica of the Pompeiian as he died."

"Oh, professor," exclaimed the girl, 'how interesting!"

"And yet how homely!"

"No, no, no! How can that which is so full of interest be homely?"

"If you are interested in these things I shall be glad to tell you of them. There is much in my lectures that is necessarily dry, but any day after the class is dismissed, if you have any question to ask, any information to gain about these archaeological subjects, remain for awhile and I will doubtless be able to inform you of these things, ugly in themselves, as you say, but beautiful from the interest they excite."

When Miss Lambert left Professor Blinder's lecture room she found a number of her classmates waiting to enjoy her account of how she bamboozled the archaeologist. They were very much surprised when she said:

"Girls, I didn't get in a single bamboozle. On the contrary, he proved in a very ingenious way that he is beautiful."

"Beautiful!" exclaimed several girls. "For pity's sake, how did he do that?"

"He told me of ugly things so interesting that they seem to be beautiful. I consider him one of them."

A year from that date Eva Lambert married Professor Blinder.

"A Good Bit of Color."

LARGEST GUARANTEED CIRCULATION IN THE CITY

Vol. 26 No. 147 QUINCY, MASS., WEDNESDAY EVENING, JUNE 28, 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

4th OF JULY COMMITTEE

Will Meet To-night in the Rooms of the Board of Trade

A meeting of the general Fourth of July celebration committee will be held tonight in the rooms of the Board of Trade and a large attendance is particularly desired.

The time is growing short and there is still considerable detail business to be considered. The one thing needed to make the celebration a success is money and all collectors are requested to hand in their reports tonight that the committee may decide just what it can do.

A fine program for the days celebration has been outlined but in order to carry out the full program money is necessary. The program as planned will entail an expenditure of about $2,200. The committee hope it will not be compelled to curtail its orginal plans which of course, will not be necessary if sufficient money is donated.

Collectors are now at work in all wards of the city and by tonight should be able to make some definite report.

Early this evening the Quincy Fife and Drum corps will parade through City Square with red fire as a warning to those who have not contributed that now is the accepted time and that the general committee is in session ready to receive donations.

Mrs. Annie Frazier of 777 Washington street died at Quincy Hospital on Tuesday. She is surviveld by a husband and four children. High mass will be said at St. John's church Thursday morning at 9 o'clock and burial will take place in Scituate.

CELEBRATED BIRTHDAY

Dorcas Society Honors Its President, Mrs. George E. Sprague

The Dorcas society of the Universalist church held the last business meeting of the season Tuesday evening in the church vestry. Contrary to the usual custom the members assembled at 6.30 and at 6.45 were ushered to the Ladies parlor of the church where a prety sight greeted them. The tempting supper of cold ham, salmon, potato and egg salads, hot rolls, cake, ice cream, fancy crackers and coffee was greatly enjoyed. A coincidence of the evening was the fact that it was also the president's birthday and in recognition of Mrs. George E. Sprague's faithful services in that position Miss Maud Cudworth in behalf of the members, presented her with a cut glass berry bowl. Sitting about the table the business meeting was continued and it was voted to hold piazza sewing meetings once in two weeks during the summer. After the business meeting the party adjourned to the vestry and with Mrs. George W. Wheeler at the piano enjoyed songs and games. The deaf and dumb band was one of the happy features of the evening and the gymnastic exhibition of the leader and different members was funny in the extreme. The first annual party being such a happy occasion it is hoped it will become a regular feature. The first meeting in the fall will be at the home of the president the third Tuesday in September.

B. P. O. E. MEETING.

A regular meeting of Quincy lodge of Elks was held Tuesday evening in Electa hall. Owing to the hot weather no work was performed.

SUNDAY SCHOOL HAS PICNIC

Unitarian Sunday School Had Fine Time at Glen Echo

The annual picnic of the Unitarian Sunday school was held at Glen Echo park, Stoughton, on Tuesday. Two carloads of young people started from the Square at 9 o'clock in the morning and had a gala day of it returning at 5.30 in the afternoon. The boat rides were popular and the various athletic events for young people of both sexes and all sizes were the source of much fun. A baseball game between two scrub teams captained by "Bill" Edwards and "Herb" Johnson was won by Captain Edwards' team by a score of 9 to 3. "Fat" pitched a fine game and was at all times master of the situation.

The athletic events were marked by much excitement and although no world records were broken there were some very good performances. In the running race for the little tots, the contestants lost the course and got almost out of the park before they were stopped.

The events:

50 yard dash for younger girls—Won by Edith Boothby.

50 yard dash for older girls—Won by Edith Palmington.

50 yard dash for older boys—Won by Allen Miller, 2nd.

Three legged race for boys—Won by Fred Atwood and Abbott Johnson.

Running broad jump for girls—Won by Margaret Magee.

Swimming race—Won by William Edwards.

Running broad jump for boys—Won by Willard Crocker.

50 yard dash for smaller boys—Won by Myron Ryder.

Potato race for girls—Won by Margaret Atwood.

The girls played ball for a while in the afternoon but no score was kept. Bowling was popular with both boys and girls and some good scores were made by a number of the contestants.

WIRES UNDERGROUND.

The laying of the underground conduits on Coddington street, brings to mind the fact that in City Square there are now few telephone wires that are not underground. In conversation with Mr. Hyland, the general plant chief of this district, this morning, he said that most people would be surprised to learn that in City Square near the fountain there was over 3,000 telephone wires, all of which were underground. Just think what an immense pole it would require to carry this number of wires and how much the street would be disfigured.

Mr. Hyland said that it was the policy of the company to put its wires underground as fast as possible as they fully realized how unsightly it was to see a lot of poles along the sidewalks strung with wires that were likely to be blown down and become a menace to life during any severe storm. The expense however was so great that it would be prohibitive to attempt to do this work all at once.

CHRIST CHURCH PICNIC.

The Christ church Sunday school picnic is taking place at Glen Echo park, Stoughton, today. Several carloads of young people started at 8.50 this morning for the day's fun. Quite an elaborate athletic program has been planned by the committee. Although the weather is not all that might be desired the picnicers started off in good spirits.

—When a man and his wife have been arrested 42 times for drunkenness and consequent abuse and neglect of children it would seem to be high time to stop such dillydallying and make some permanent disposition of persons who are manifestly quite incorrigible. A permanent sentence to penal servitude, with the profits of their labor appropriated to the benefit of their minor children, would appear to come pretty close to fitting the case.—New York Tribune.

INDUSTRY TO MOVE.

Quincy is shortly to lose one of its manufacturing industries. The Angier Mills is about to move its plant, at Wollaston, to Ashland. Work of removal is already under way and it is expected that Aug. 1, will see the plant in its new location.

Of course there is a reason and it is primarily an account of the poor shipping facilities, or rather the long time it takes to get goods by freight from New York or to ship goods from Quincy to New York.

Much of the business of the Angier Mills is done with New York and western parties and the raw material comes from that section. It takes from ten days to two weeks to get goods to or from New York by freight, which means a great handicap to business. For this reason therefore the plant will be moved to Ashland where the shipping facilities are said to be much better.

ENTERTAINS VENERABLE UNCLE.

John F. Wentworth of 27 Miller Stile road is enjoying a visit from the younger of his two paternal uncles, Mr. William Wentworth age 90 a native of Rochester, New Hampshire. His elder uncle Micajah Wentworth age 92 worked in the quarries here nearly 70 years ago. Micajah Wentworth saw ex-President John Quincy Adams wheeled into the first church to worship. He has told his nephew of buying a pair of shoes in John Brisley's store and being treated to a glass of port wine as was the custom of that time with all cash customers.

HOP AT YACHT CLUB.

The second hop of the season at the Quincy Yacht club took place Tuesday night. Monk's three piece orchestra furnished music which inspired more than fifty couples to dance throughout the evening. Ice cream and cake were served in the cafe. The sea breezes at the shore were very welcome to those who journeyed thither and all congratulated themselves and each other on their escape from the sticky atmosphere of the city. The hop was as usual a most enjoyably informal affair.

BOARD OF TRADE MEETING.

An important meeting of the Merchants' branch of the Board of Trade will be held Thursday afternoon at the Board of Trade rooms and a good attendance is desired. Matters relative to the recent Merchants' week will be considered and there will be a discussion on the lighting of City Square. The meeting will be called to order at 3.30.

HOME FROM THE WEST.

Marden W. Hayward who is engaged in mine examination work in the west with headquarters in Denver, Colorado, is spending a few weeks at his home on Goffe street.

LAST MEETING OF SEASON

Park and Downs Club Asks Additional Police Protection

At the last meeting for the season of the Park and Downs Union club on Tuesday evening the movement for more efficient police protection in Wollaston Park and Norfolk Downs was formulated and the city council will be petitioned for the addition of another officer.

F. F. Williams, chief train despatcher of the Boston and Albany Railroad was the speaker of the evening and told most interestingly of the different phases of his work. After a resume of the early history of train despatching the speaker mentioned the first installation of the telephone for this purpose which took place on the New York Central in 1907. Last June this system was put in use on the Boston and Albany.

For convenience trains are divided into three classes, first, second and third, each being superior to the other in the order mentioned. In the first class are included passenger trains while the second class includes milk trains and single freights.

Mr. Wiliams told of his start at a small country station where he did odd jobs for the privilege of learning the Morse code. Train-despatching, said he, is something that you cannot learn in schools or text books but you must grow up in the business.

Train sheets were mentioned which must be made out by the despatcher and on which are the train number, the names of the engineer and conductor, the engine and a description of the train. On freights the number of loads and empties is also set down.

Interesting incidents were told by Mr. Williams of the manner in which trains are sent both ways over a single track at the time of accidents or break downs on one of the tracks.

At the close of his address the speaker was asked many questions and the evening closed with refreshments.

SQUANTUM REJOICES

Action of Council Granting Licenses Causes Delight

There is great rejoicing at Squantum, as the action of the City Council, Monday night, is granting the two hotels licenses as common victuallers. These licenses will enable the hotels to continue to furnish shore dinners, for which they are famous, every day in the week, including Sundays.

Without these two hotels, Squantum would be a dull place. The two hotels have always been conducted in an orderly manner and never in their history have the police been called upon to quell any disturbance.

They have been the mecca for hundreds of automobile parties and it has become quite a fad on a hot evening to take an electric car for Squantum for a dinner and to enjoy the cool invigorating breeze that can always be found here no matter how hot the day.

That there will be no liquor sold at these hotels this year seems certain after the developments of the past few weeks. After what has been said the City Council of next year will be perfectly justified in refusing these places a license if they do not live up to the law.

ROOSEVELT AND RESPONSIBILITY

Col. Roosevelt's sayings are always interesting along all lines. Here is one about parental responsibility. In an address to an educational gathering the other day he said: "I am sure that I give utterance to a feeling deep in the hearts of teachers when I express contempt for the "Cuckoo type of parent," the father and mother who deposit the child in school and then think that all responsibility for its intellectual, moral and physical welfare falls upon the teacher. No teacher can suppy the place of the home." We all know the habit of the cuckoo of laying its eggs in the nests of birds and putting on them the responsibility of hatching and rearing the young cuckoo. We will appreciate therefore the very apt comparison made by the Colonel. Fathers and mothers ought to know that they cannot do a finer thing for the works than to make of their children useful citizens. Our fathers and mothers need something of the spirit of the Arabian father, who prefers above all names by which he may be caled,the name which designates him as the father of his sons.

LEARN TO SWIM.

To a p erson who would like to go boating the first thing to do is to acquire the a rt of swimming. On the seashore where our city is located every child should be taught how to swim. The children that are sometimes referred to as neglected are almost certain to learn to swim before they are out of the primary schools, while the percentage of the children from protected homes is much smaller. If the art is not learned in childhood it is seldom acquired. It is a singular fact that those who cannot swim will take greater chances on the water than those who can take care of themselves in case of emergency. A picnic party on the borders of a pond will engage every boat in sight and too often it is manned by those who can neither row nor swim, and if the boating party gets back to shore without accident it is a case of miraculous preservation. The man in such a party who will rock the boat deserves to be thrown overboard. But as to swimming . Every boy and girl should be taught to swim and be able to take care of themselves in the water whether there for pleasure or suddenly thrown in by accident. If that essential part of education was neglected in childhood it should be taken up when a man becomes his own master, and this for his own good, and possible good of his n eighbor. Anyone can learn to swim in a few lessons, and there are always those who are willing to teach the novice. But if a man or woman who cannot swim desires to go boating they should exercise the greatest care that no accident happens to the boat in which they have embarked. If they want to bathe in a pond they should be extremely careful not to go beyond their depth, and beware of the danger to non-swimmers that almost always lurks nea r the shore that may slope suddenly and drop the bather into deep water. Do not be too venturesome, is good advice to one who cannot swim. And this applies to shore bathing as well as bathing in a pond. On a slow sloping beach, one may easily wade out too far and be caught by the tide. Every shore dweller should know how to swim. It is just as essential for children to have the ability to sustain themselves in the water as it is for them to know how to dance, and parents should see to it that the children are instructed. Those who have never learned the art of swimming should not permit the present summer to pass without their becoming swimmers.—Lynn Item.

GOVERNMENT SUES "MAGAZINE TRUST"

Indications That Criminal Action May Be Brought

Washington, June 28.—Sweeping charges of unlawful combination to restrain trade and commerce in the United States and with foreign nations in magazines and other periodical publications are made by the government in a dissolution suit filed against the periodical clearing house and other defendants known as the magazine trust, in the circuit court of the United States for the southern district of New York.

That criminal action may be brought against the various defendants is shown by the request that they be required to answer the government complaint, "but not under oath."

The suit was filed by District Attorney Wise, acting under the personal direction of Attorney General Wickersham.

NEW YORK TO HAVE WORLD'S TALLEST HOTEL.

Rent Amounting to $30,000,000 Will Be Paid In the Next Eighty-four Years.

The tallest hotel in the world is to be erected at Seventh avenue and Thirty-seventh street, New York, near the new station of the Pennsylvania railroad. It is to be built for a New York hotel man by a syndicate of bankers and investors. The plans and specifications provide many novel features. The lessee, whose name is not made public, has taken a lease of the building for twenty-one years, with three renewals, at an annual rental of $350,000. He will therefore pay $29,400,000 all told for the full term of eighty-four years.

The hotel will be twenty-four stories high. In point of rooms the new hotel will be larger than the Waldorf, which has 1,000 rooms. It will provide 1,200 rooms, each provided with a bath. An interesting feature is that all the rooms will have southern exposure.

The hotel will be built in four sections, as the facade will be broken by three large courts or recesses, each 22 by 71 feet, and all sides save the northerly end will be finished as fronts. The large courts make it possible for all rooms to have outside windows.

The dining room will be 100 by 100 feet, with a capacity to seat about a thousand persons, counting the balcony space. The main feature of the dining room will be its three levels, and a person entering will have an impression of standing at an elevation, as if he were on a stage in a theater.

There will be a Pompeian bath in the center of the base of one of the courts at the second floor level and roofed over, the atrium being under the glass dome. It will have a white marble plunge pool fifty feet in length, and this is to be surrounded by steam and cooling rooms and other accessories of the bath.

On the roof will be a glazed dining room, surrounded by a spacious terrace, and beyond this there will be an open garden with pergolas and other arrangements that still permit the use of the gardens for theatricals and open air amusements.

BULL WILL CONTEST BROUGHT TO AN END

Report That Last Testament Will Be Set Aside

Boston, June 28.—The contest of the will of the late Mrs. Ole Bull by her daughter, Mrs. Olea Bull Vaughan, which has attracted such widespread attention because of the Indian philosophy practiced by Mrs. Bull, was settled at a conference of the attorneys of both sides in Bostoon.

While the terms of the settlement were not made known, it was said that the will would be set aside. Mrs. Bull left a fortune of nearly $500,000. Among the bequests were substantial ones to students of the Indian religion of Rajah Yogi.

Mrs. Vaughan, who was opposed to Mrs. Bull's Indian companions and who had little sympathy with the Indian philosophies, was cut off with a moderate income by her mother's will.

RUN FOUR DAYS A WEEK

Encouraging News For Employes of Big Cotton Mills

Fall River, Mass., June 28.—Notices have been posted in the seven mills of the Fall River Iron Works, owned by M. C. D. Borden, that beginning this week the mills will run four days a week until further notice. For the last two months the hands have worked every alternate week.

In some quarters the increased time in Borden's big plants is taken as an encouraging sign because it will increase the output and keep the hands occupied a greater part of the time. In other quarters, however, the new regime is believed to be based on Borden's desire to retain his help. About 6000 hands are affected.

Double Ceremony on Lawn at Home of Brides' Parents

Middleboro, Mass., June 28.—The lawn of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin C. Shaw was the scene of a double wedding last evening when their two daughters became the wives of John G. and Harry Howes, brothers.

John G. Howes, 23, was married to Sarah M. Shaw, 25, and Harry Howes, 26, to Dorothy Shaw, 22. The brides were both school teachers.

The marriages took place simultaneously beneath a bower of roses and ferns. Rev. Maurice Levy officiated, and was assisted by Rev. H. Cummings.

How to Wash Ivory Handled Knives.
In washing ivory or bone handled knives they should never be put into water, as it injures the handles. The blades may be placed upright in a mug of hot soda water, for in this way the handles will be kept dry. Should the handles come off fix them again thus: Take powdered resin and mix it with a small quantity of powdered chalk, whiting or slacked lime. Fill the hole with the mixture, heat the shaft of the knife and insert firmly into the handle. When cold it will be quite fast.

How to Keep Pimentos.
Pimentos spoil very soon after opening. If you put what you don't use in a jelly glass and run paraffin over them, the same as you would jelly, they will keep indefinitely.

POOR WOMAN ASSISTED

Overseer of the Poor Elcock Does Charitable Work

Among theg reat throng that gathered on Tuesday to bid Mayor Fitzgerald "bon voyage" as he sailed away on the Franconia, for Europe, there was probably not one that noticed a little old woman, who went aboard just before the vessel sailed. She was bound for Ireland to plant her foot on her old homestead farm and to build a fire that she might reclaim the farm, from which she was evicted 25 years ago by the British government.

This little old woman was Annie Flynn, who has been an inmate of the Quincy Home since March 9, 1909. Miss Flynn who is 52 years of age, and a paralytic, came to the Untied States about 25 years ago. At that time she was well and strong and worked hard. She accumulated some money but lost it in poor investment and being an invalid, was obliged to apply to the city for aid, and two years ago she was sent to the Home.

During all the time she has been in Quincy she has talked of the old farm in Ireland from which she was evicted but never expected to again see it.

About six years ago the British government passed a law to the effect that all persons who were dispossessed of property 25 years ago, could redeem the same by proving themselves legal heirs and coming back to Ireland. The law also required that the claimant should place a foot on the land and build a fire in the old hearth.

Many of Miss Flynn's friends had written to Ireland about the matter but without results. Eventually the attention of Overseer of the Poor, James H. Elcock was called to the matter and after hearing the story decided to see what he could do. He took the matter up by correspondence with the proper authorities in England and Ireland and learned by continual correspondence that there was a chance for Miss Flynn to come to her own again.

This took a long time but after six months work Overseer Elcock had the satisfaction of getting results. Arrangements were made with her first cousin to come to America and take Annie back to Ireland.

This cousin Miss Lillian Conroy arrived in Boston on the Franconia June 21 and arranged to return on the same boat. As Miss Flynn was an invalid some difficulty was experienced in getting her through but even this difficulty was overcome.

Overseer Elcock saw to it that Annie was provided with proper clothing and other necessities and Tuesday morning bright and early, accompanied by Miss Gavin, clerk of the Overseer, she started for Boston and when the boat sailed she was one of the passengers.

On leaving the Home Miss Flynn was almost overcome with joy and she could hardly find words to thank the Overseer, the superintendent and matron at the Home for all they had done for her, and for all that had been done that she might pass her declining days on the old farm, where the shamrock grows.

In receiving title to the land Annie also receives 80 pounds or nearly $400 American money with which to stock the farm. In addition to this the government loans her money with which to build a home which she may pay for by instalments. This farm is situated in Loughrea, county Galway, Ireland.

RAILROAD STRIKE IS ON

Construction Work on the New Haven Is Generally Suspended

Boston, June 27.—Convinced that their treatment by the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad is not right, the organized construction men all along the system struck yesterday. Several hundred men, mostly Italians, went out. Work was suspended along the lines from Boston to Willimantic.

Wages is one of the subjects of contention. Camp life is another. The men are paid $1.60 a day on the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad. They want $1.80, which is the amount paid on the Boston and Maine and the Boston and Albany, the latter road having made the concession a few months ago.

It is a part of the arrangement of the men with the road that they shall live in the camps and trade at the camp stores, which are operated by the company. The men contend that the prices charged at the stores are too high.

Strange to say the senators who used to wear the Sugar trust tag in place of a boutoniere, have got to the point where they keep it inside their coats.

QUAINT NANTUCKET.

The members of the Massachusetts Press Association and the members of their families are extremely fond of Nantucket. Last year, for a change, they went to Marion and the two years previous to Nantucket. This year the annual outing was at Nantucket and the party, numbering one hundred and ten left the South station, Boston, Saturday, June 24, in two special cars attached to the regular 1.05 P. M. train to Woods Hole. The train was express stopping only at Brockton, Buzzards Bay and the stations on the Woods Hole branch. It was a delightful ride of seventy-two miles. M. P. A. badges were distributed which were worn throughout the trip.

At Woods Hole the passengers of two trains boarded the side-wheeler "Gay Head" and the leaving time was soon announced by the mate, "All aboard." Only one stop was made in crossing the sound and that was at Oak Bluffs, formerly Cottage City. There the steamer lightened by leaving scores of passengers, trunks, horses, carriages, merchandise and automobiles. No autos were left on board, they being barred from Nantucket.

From Oak Bluffs we passed two light-ships and soon we picked up on the horizon the famous summer resort, Nantucket. What soon appeared to be a steamer leaving Nantucket harbor put forth so much smoke that the passengers were aware that a serious fire was in progress and some alarm was entertained that Nantucket's largest and best hotel the Sea Cliff Inn was burning.

As we neared the harbor we rejoiced to find our hotel safe and turned our attention to the ruins of a building at the end of a wharf near our landing. The boat house of William Barnes, Jr., the prominent New York Republican leader was completely destroyed. Two young women were burned to death and two men died later from their burns. A few others of the boat house party jumped into the harbor and were saved.

At the Sea Cliff Inn an attractive menu was served to the hungry scribes and their families. We were accompanied by members of the Boston Symphony orchestra, five pieces, and were to have dancing after supper but on account of the tragedy the dance was postponed until Monday evening.

During the stay we enjoyed the bathing, for which Nantucket is famous, the water being shoal and warm, the quaint village with its narrow streets and old buildings, the various stores, churches, Stone alley, the Old Mill, Quaker burying ground, historical society building, the office of The Nantucket Mirror (a clean, newsy weekly) and many points of interest too numerous to mention.

Another feature was the drive of seven miles to Siasconset, the summer home of many actors and actresses. They have bought the little buildings formerly the homes of fishermen, and there they enjoy the summer. A reception was given by them in the pavillion. A little narrow gage railroad connects this village with Nantucket.

We visited the wireless station and Sankaty light, returning to Nantucket in time for a banquet to Lieut. Gov. Frothingham, Secretary of State, Albert P. Lantry, J. Stearns Cushing of the Governor's Council. Seated at the guest table with the above were President Thomas Leavitt, Mrs. Leavitt, Secretary William Heffernan, Mrs. Heffernan, Mrs. Langtry, Mrs. Eben Prescott, Judge Fitzrandolph and the ministers of Nantucket.

"Bill Taft" was not given a seat at the guests' table but the speakers discovered him and opened their remarks with "Mr. President, ladies and gentlemen of the Massachusetts Press Association and Mr. Taft." After the speeches which were somewhat political, President Leavitt was presented with a weather vane (large black crow) and Mrs. Leavitt received a framed water color sketch of a fisherman's home.

Dancing was then enjoyed until midnight and then all hurried to bed before the electric lights were shut down. Sleep is very refreshing at Nantucket. The temperature remained close to seventy day and night and it was with much regret that we took our farewell look about the village and then packed our dress suit cases for home. Everybody did their best to make our visit long to be remembered, especially the genial proprietor of the Sea Cliff Inn, Mr. Folger and his son.

The steamer Sankaty, built at the Fore River Works was boarded at one o'clock Tuesday afternoon for the return trip and although this boat is not as steady as the Gay Head no passengers were sick on this excursion. We boarded the special cars at Woods Hole in charge of Conductor M. H. McGurne of South Braintree and along the route the party grew smaller. When the train reached Boston there were only about sixty in the party.

We love Nantucket and shall continue to court her.

Y. M. C. A. MEETING.

The Board of Directors of the Young Men's Christian Association held the last meeting of the season in the association building Tuesday evening. The Budget for the coming year was discussed and the matter of getting a new general secretary and Boys work director was discussed but no definite action was taken. There are two or three candidates for the position of general secretary whom the directors are considering.

FIREMEN'S RELIEF ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of the Firemen's Relief association was held Tuesday evening at the Central fire station to take steps toward the reorganization of the association. By invitation of the association City Solicitor McAnarney was present and gave the boys a talk on the law points relative to the organization of the association.

When reorganized the association will be stronger and better than ever.

TODAY'S COURT.

Henry F. Cowell was fined $15 for exceeding the automobile speed limit at Milton.

William Morton was fined $5 for drunkenness at Quincy.

The cases of Officer Corbett for assault on Helen Wilcox and of Helen Wilcox for assault on Annie Lincoln were continued until Friday.

COMING EVENTS.

Under this heading The Ledger will print single line notices of future happenings of interest to Quincy people. Secretaries of clubs, societies and other organizations are requested to forward to The Ledger notices of their meetings, entertainments, etc.

Several Ways of Preparing Wholesome Fruit In Palatable Form.

Palates that revolt at raw bananas can enjoy them well cooked. Stomach specialists—some of them—say this fruit is nourishing and should be served often.

A simple pudding is made from a custard of yolks of three eggs to a quart of milk, slightly sweetened. When the consistency of thick cream pour it over thin slices of banana in a pudding dish. Put meringue of whites of eggs on top and brown slightly in oven. Serve cold with cream.

Sliced bananas mixed with cornstarch just before it stiffens and served with fresh strawberry sauce are delicious.

Baked bananas are sometimes used as a vegetable. Peel and cut in half, lengthwise. Divide if large. To each banana allow a tablespoonful of sugar, two tablespoonfuls of water, a tablespoonful each of lemon juice and melted butter and a pinch of salt. Put slices in shallow casserole and bake slowly for half an hour, keeping them well basted.

ARGENTINA FOR RECIPROCITY

Is Anxious to Come to Terms With This Country

In as much as we are building a battleship here for Argentina anything regarding that country is always interesting. According to the following dispatch the Republic now comes out strong for reciprocity with this country.

An interpellation in the chamber of Deputies at Buenos Ayres yesterday by Deputy Carlos brought up the discusssion of the question of American flour, which some months ago was granted a concession of thirty per cent reduction in duty by Brazil. This reduction was confined to American flour and therefore will have a serious effect upon the importation by Brazil of flour from Argentina. The Minister of Foreign Affairs explained that neither Brazil nor the United States had acted with any intention of discriminating against the Argentine product. The minister read the instructions which had been sent to the legations at Rio Janeiro and Washington and a note from the United States Government declaring that that country had no intention of seeking from Brazil other concessions than those already obtained for American flour. Should any action be taken in this direction, however, the United States is to give the Argentine Government six months' notice. The Chamber passed a bill authorizing the executive to suppress or lower the customs duties on petroleum, lumber or machinery made in the United States on condition that the United States would conclude reciprocal commercial treaties.

HOW TO SELECT COFFEE.

There Is No Economy In Buying Cheap Kinds.

Do not try to save money by buying cheap coffee. Pay 30 cents to 40 cents and you will get flavor and enough additional strength to more than pay for the difference in cost, provided you make it properly, and get less poisonous adulteration. Far be it from any one to say that high priced anything is perfectly pure in these degenerate days, but let us choose the least pernicious. There is no question about dripped coffee being the best, but it takes a good deal more of the berry.

To make it almost as good, first buy a mill and see that it grinds. Grind the little you need for two every morning. Have your pot hot and put in a tablespoonful of coffee ground to a powder for each person. Boil fresh water until it bubbles hard, having measured it first exactly, and dash it into the pot, which settles it as slow pouring would not do. A cup and a half of water to each tablespoonful of coffee makes a liquid strong enough for any one's health.—Harper's Bazaar.

Coin Profiles.

Where a face is used on a piece of money it is always in profile, because the cameo is more readily struck with the die in that manner and if a full or three-quarter face were represented the nose of the gentleman or lady would get damaged in circulation and produce a ridiculous effect.

The Danger Trail, a story of the frozen north by James Oliver Curwood, a great gripping story will be run as a serial in the Ledger beginning Monday, July 3. The author has lived among the Arctic ice packs, has learned to know the ways of the sometimes simple, sometimes treacherous French Canadian guides. The story is of the clashing of strong men, brave men, cowardly men and would be assassins, a story of a young girl's untarnished love. What is the secret that mysteriously threatens John Howland's (the hero) life baffles the reader throughout the story. tf

Let Years of Service Tell Their Story

These muggy dog-days make you feel the need of that new refrigerator now, more than you expected, perhaps, but it is no easy matter to select the right sort—the kind will satisfy you through years of actual service.

There is just one way to tell the right sort. The supreme test of any refrigerator is the test of time and usage. HEALTH HINT FOR TODAY.

Intestinal Disturbances.

The presence of diarrhea indicates such a disturbance of the alimentary process as requires abstinence from food, but if any food is eaten the most suitable is dry toast, well masticated, rice with cream (not milk), sago or taploca. If any drink except water is taken the least objectionable is weak tea or toast water. Fresh bread, pork and cereals generally should be avoided. It is not advisable to check diarrhea, but to determine its cause and regulate the habits.

"A Band of Forgers."

HANDY GUIDE.

The Rand-McNally revised series indexed Pocket may and shippers' Guide for all States and Territories containing the new census are now out and that for Massachusetts contrains much useful matter. The Pocket Maps differ from the larger and more expensive wall maps only in size and the convenience of the pocket form. Details are carefully entered, and the maps are accurate and legible.

All steam railroads, including all new lines built during the previous year, are shown—all proposed extensions are indicated. All stations and junctions are clearly marked. All electric roads, including all new lines built during the previous year, are shown in red. All new counties, boundary lines, and changes in surveys are given. All new post offices and express offices, thousands of which are established each year, are entered. Population statistics, based on the latest Federal census, are given for every city and village.

The maps offer in compact form the most complete and practical information it is possible to obtain. They are of the greatest aid to shippers and travelers, as well as employees and students preparing to enter the civil and railway mail service.

NEW CABINET FORMED

Premier Caillaux Retains Several From Old French Cabinet

Paris, June 28.—Joseph Caillaux formally accepted President's Falliéres' invitation to organize a ministry to succeed that of M. Monis, which resigned after being in power not quite four months. The new cabinet probably will be made up as follows: foreign affairs—

Premier and minister of the interior, M. Caillaux; justice, Jean Cruppi; foreign affairs, J. G. de Selves; war, Eugene Etienne or Adolphe Messimy; marine, Theophile Delcasse; public instruction, Jules Steeg; finance, L. L. Klotz.

Many of the above were in the Monis cabinet.

FUNNY MAN CANNOT SEE JOKE ON SELF

"Private" John Allen Causes Arrest of Three Editors

Jackson, Miss., June 28.—N. P. Bonney, editor of The Daily Corinthian; A. G. Anderson, editor of the Ripley Sentinel, and B. S. Bernard, editor of the Meriden Dispatch, are under arrest at Tupelo on a charge of criminal libel preferred by former Congressman "Private" John Allen.

The editors printed an alleged affidavit that in 1880 the Tupelo statesman and humorist broke into a mill and stole a gallon jug of whisky.

"Private" Allen being a humorist himself, some people here are surprised that he didn't suspect that the editors were joking.

BEACHEY'S GREAT SWOOP

Flies Under Arches of Bridge Over Niagara and Down Gorge

Niagara Falls, N. Y., June 28.—With the whirr of his biplane motor drowned in the roar of the cataract and man and machine momentarily obscured in spray and mist, Lincoln Beachey, after circling above the falls, swooped beneath the arches of the gorge almost to the whirlpool.

Rising again between the precipitous sides of the lower river, Beachey soared to the Canadian side, where he made a successful landing. It was the first time that a birdman had cut through the air currents and mist clouds and leaping foam caused by Niagara's falls and rapids that have lured so many adventurers to their death.

Plan to Check Monopoly In Alaska Coal Lands

MEETS APPROVAL OF FISHER

Hitchcock Proposes That Leases Shall Be Granted Only to Corporations Organized In Washington—Inadequacy of Government Control Over Railroads In Alaska a Problem Which May Be Hard to Solve

Washington, June 28.—Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, a Democrat, soon will introduce a bill designed to protect the people of the United States from the evils of a monopoly of Alaskan coal by private capital. The bill will provide that no leases of coal lands shall be granted except to corporations and that instead of a per ton payment to be made to the government in consideration of the rights granted, the government shall receive a certain percentage of the net profits of the coal corporation, perhaps 20 or 25.

Mr. Hitchcock has discussed his plan with Secretary of the Interior Fisher, who made the comment that this was the essence of the plan whereby the city of Chicago made its settlement with the local traction companies. Hitchcock proposes that leases shall be granted only to corporations organized in the District of Columbia and where books shall be open to inspection, thus guaranteeing that the government shall get what is due it.

One difficulty in the way of securing to the public something of the returns to be expected from the rich coal fields is the inadequacy of control over Alaskan railroads.

It is understood that the Morgan-Guggenheim interests have a strong grip on the strategic railroad points in Alaska, but it is a serious question among lawyers whether the federal interstate commerce act can be made to apply to the Alaskan roads. Alaska is a district, not a territory.

Congress has put itself on record as exempting Alaska from the operation of the act, and unless some plan can be devised whereby what is saved to the public with one hand cannot be handed over to the railroads with the other, the problem of protecting the people will still be far from solution.

A bill constituting Alaska a territory is before the committee on territories, of which Senator Hitchcock happens to be a member, but it would be a long process to await action on that as a measure of popular protection.

Head of the Mormon Church Denies Deal With Sugar Trust

Washington, June 28.—On the sixty-seventh anniversary of the day his father was assassinated at Carthage, Ills., for his Mormon preachings, Joseph F. Smith, president of the Mormon church, went on the witness stand before the house sugar investigating committee.

He denied that the Mormon church had made any deal with the sugar trust.

Smith's testimony was not productive of facts not already in the possession of the committee. He was a matinee idol of the women who made their first appearance at the investigation.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

ALONG LINES OF TAFT PROGRAM

"Gentlemen's Agreement" In Regard to the Tariff

MEETS WITH GENERAL FAVOR

Plan to Make General Revision at Next Regular Session, the Canadian Reciprocity Agreement to Be Passed Unamended—Stand-Patters Realize That They Can Hold the Fort No Longer—Attitude of Insurgents

Washington, June 28.—The Republican party as it is represented here is trying to reach an agreement as to what it shall do with the troublesome tariff. Before any agreement is possible, stand-pat Republicans, insurgent Republicans, and a Republican president that does not wish to be known as either a stand-patter or an insurgent, must be satisfied. Whether this can be done is a question which no one cares to attempt to answer today.

The tentative compromise proposition that is being held up for inspection of all parties concerned may be summarized as follows:

1. The senate shall vote to ratify the Canadian reciprocity agreement unamended.

2. In order to satisfy the Democrats of the house of representatives and of the senate, the farmers' free list bill, the wool revision bill, and a cotton revision bill, if one shall be passed by the house, shall be voted on by the senate and rejected.

3. The stand-pat Republican senators—the same men who two years ago declared that the Aldrich-Payne tariff law must stand untouched for at least ten years—shall consent to assist in taking up tariff revision at the coming long session of congress beginning in December.

4. President Taft shall give to the stand-pat Republican senators and to the insurgent Republican senators assurance that as soon as the tariff board is prepared to report to him—and he expects to have a report before the long session of congress opens—he will send to congress a tariff message in which he will advocate the immediate revision of the wool, the cotton, the sugar, the iron and steel and perhaps other schedules.

5. The insurgent Republicans in the senate shall agree not to press their amendments to the reciprocity agreement, and shall agree to withhold the legislation they have prepared or are preparing providing for immediate revision of the wool schedule, the cotton schedule, the sugar schedule, and the iron and steel schedule until the long session, or until the tariff board is ready to report.

The sum and substance of the proposed agreement, it will be seen, is that a Republican senate and a Republican president pledge themselves to take up general tariff revision in the fall. President Taft and the stand-pat Republican senators are ready to enter into a gentlemen's agreement of this sort. The agreement is in line with the program the president laid out for himself months ago.

The stand-pat Republican senators agree to the proposed compromise reluctantly. As a matter of fact there is nothing else for them to do. With a Republican president anxious for tariff revision, with a faction of the Republican party demanding immediate action, and with the Democrats in the house and in the senate pressing for legislation, the stand-patters realize that they can hold the fort no longer.

So far the insurgent Republican senators have not acquiesced in the proposed compromise. The inside talk is that the administration is convinced that seven or eight of the thirteen Republican senators who are classified as insurgents are about ready to approve the compromise.

Apparently the Democratic leaders in both senate and house would not interpose any serious objection to the carrying out of such a compromise program as is under consideration. The one demand they have made is that the senate shall commit itself on the farmers' free list bill, the wool revision bill and on a cotton revision bill if one shall be put through the house before adjournment is taken.

Under the proposed Republican compromise, the senate would vote on these bills. So it is now pretty generally understood that the Democrats of the house would be willing to agree to a resolution to bring this session to an end as soon as the senate has voted on the house tariff bills.

RATTLESNAKES FOR WIFE

They Caused the Death of Mountaineer Who Was Jealous

Punxsutawney, Pa., June 28.—James Stener, a mountaineer, was found dead beside a bridge leading to his home in the hills near here. Near him were four rattlesnakes fastened by thongs to the rocks. He had been bitten to death.

A party of fishermen killed the snakes and from the man's wife, in the cabin across the stream, they learned that the dead man had tied the snakes there because he was jealous and feared his wife would have visitors in his absence.

For five years Stener had kept snakes at the little bridge, the woman said, and she had never left the place in that time.

Monday night he came home intoxicated, she said, slipped at the bridge and fell among the snakes.

DISAGREE WITH BIXBY

Engineers at Work on Maine Surprised at General's Statement

Havana, June 28.—Surprise has been excited here by the opinions attributed to General Bixby, chief of the engineers in charge of the work of raising the Maine, who upon arrival at Tampa was quoted as saying that he did not expect that the secret of the Maine's destruction would be revealed or that bodies would be recovered.

The engineers here feel that the first belief is not fully justified in advance of the exposure and examination of the ship's bottom. They also have strong expectations of discovering the bones of many sailors when the berthdeck and the section below are reached. Thus far the explorations have inivolved only the main deck, where discoveries were not anticipated.

Old Newspaper Man Dies

WEYMOUTH IS FOUND ALIVE

Results In Bringing "Murder Mystery" to an End

BUTCHER RETURNS TO MAINE

Disappeared Three Years Ago and Was Supposed to Have Been Murdered and Body Buried on Farm—Girls Had Told of Seeing Two Men Killing Him—Three Suspects Will Be Released at Once

Biddeford, Me., June 28.—Charles I. Weymouth, the supposedly murdered butcher who was located in Sherbrooke, P. Q., yesterday, arrived in Biddeford this morning.

Joseph Buzzell, Olney Merrill and Mrs. Maude Snow, who have been held in connection with his supposed murder, will be released as soon as soon as his identity is established.

The arrest of Buzzell, Merrill and Mrs. Snow was the result of a story told by Mrs. Snow's daughters, Beatrice, 7, and Gladys, 9, who said that three years ago Weymouth was beaten to death in the Snow home at Dayton by Merrill and Buzzell and that his body was then jammed into a box and buried a short distance away.

For several days past the authorities have been busy searching for the grave of Weymouth. Henry Hewes, a Saco mail carrier, discredited the story of Weymouth's death by claiming that he knew the man to have been in Canada for some years. His statement led to an investigation by Buzzell's attorney and resulted in the locating of Weymouth.

Weymouth Found

Sherbrooke, Que., June 28.—Charles I. Weymouth, who was believed to have been murdered some years ago at Biddeford, Me., and for whose murder two men and a woman are held, was found here.

Probation Officer Hamilton of Saco, Me., and L. Emery, a lawyer, of Biddeford, arrived here. Hamilton knew Weymouth personally. A search was made among the butchers and a clue picked up on this round led to the grocery store of Bray Bros., where the searchers found their man. Weymouth had been working for the grocery firm for nearly a year. He had stated to one of the employes that he had formerly been a butcher at Biddeford, Me.

Weymouth, accompanied by Hamilton and Emery, left on the midnight train for Biddeford. Weymouth went willingly to be identified so that the individuals now held for his murder might be released.

HONORS ARE DIVIDED

Columbia Freshmen and Cornell Varsity Win Races on the Hudson

Highlands, N. Y., June 28.—Cornell and Columbia divided honors in the two races of the regatta here, the former capturing the four-oared and Columbia winning the freshman eight. The freshman race was one of the most sensational struggles that has ever been seen along the historic stretch.

Columbia won by a length. Cornell was second, Syracuse third, Pennsylvania fourth and Wisconsin last. The time was 10:13:15.

Cornell won the varsity four-oared race by half a length from Syracuse. Columbia was third and Pennsylvania was fourth. The Quakers led from the third mile almost to the finish, but the men tired at the critical moment and all the other boats swept by.

THE INJURED FINGER.

How to Treat It When No Antiseptics Are to Be Had.

Every one knows that disfiguration and sometimes suppuration oftimes follow the bruising of the fingers. Worse still, at times the injury results in an unsightly finger nail until the blackening disappears.

Now, the next time you squeeze your fingers in the door or hit them when you aim for the head of a tack seat yourself on a chair in front of a stationary washstand and hold your hand under the cold water faucet in as nearly an upright position as is possible and let the cold water run on the injured members for nearly an hour. If the water gets too cold turn it off for a few minutes, but be sure and keep the hand in the upright position, so that the blood will not run too freely into the bruised portions of the finger and discolor it.

Cold water is nature's own antiseptic. While away camping with a physician and his family where there were many campers in a lovely spot miles away from a drug store, the doctor demonstrated the healing virtues of water in many ways. One day a member of the camp had the misfortune to get his hand poisoned by having it cut with the fins of a fish. When he came to the doctor for aid his arm was greatly swollen and darkly purple, even above the elbow. The physician washed the wound with small sponges of absorbent cotton saturated with cold spring water, and he also made him keep compresses made of absorbent cotton and cold water over the wound, changing them as soon as they became warm for fresh ones. It was a quick and satisfactory cure.

FIELDS ARE ASSIGNED

Baseball Teams Decide Question Last Night

The Council chamber was filled with baseball men at the meeting last evening when the fields were assigned to the various teams in different parts of the city. Several other matters were discussed with regard to selling tickets at games trespassing on other peoples property to get the ball when knocked out of bounds etc. It was decided that no tickets should be sold on the public playgrounds and no admission could be charged but the hat might be passed around. The park commissioners urged the members of the teams and their managers to be more courteous to people whose property bordered on the ball grounds and to be assured that they would receive fair treatment at their hands. Commissioners Gill and Foye conducted the meeting and it resulted very satisfactorily to all. The assignment of the fields was as follows:

INTERESTING ASSAULT CASES.

It is not often that one officer is called to serve a warrant on a brother officer yet that is what happened to Inspector Goodhue Tuesday when he was called upon to serve a warrant upon Officer Corbett for assault. The alleged assault took place at what is known as the Midland hotel at Houghs Neck and grew out of a visit to the hotel by the officer with Annie Lincoln.

The Lincoln woman had some clothing at the house which it is alleged Helen M. Wilcox the proprietor refused to give up. The Lincoln woman then got Officer Corbett to accompany her to the house for the goods. This the officer did and it was during this visit that the Wilcox woman claims that the officer made an assault upon her. The Lincoln woman also claims that Mrs. Wilcox assaulted her with the result that she also swore out a warrant. All parties were in court this morning. Mrs. Wilcox for assault on Annie Lincoln and Officer Corbett for assault on Helen M. Wilcox. The cases were continued for hearing until Friday morning and the trial promises to be an interesting one.

CORNELL WINS.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 27—While two men lay practically helpless in the Columbia shell, Cornell's varsity eight pulled out a victory today in one of the greatest four-mile races ever seen at Poughkeepsie. It was Cornell's race by a scant length and a half, with only six seconds to spare.

Pennsylvania was third in the varsity, Wisconsin fourth, and Syracuse a helpless fifth.

The Columbia freshman eight carried off the honors in the youngster division, winning by two length from Cornell. Syracuse was third, and Pennsylvania but a half length behind. The Wisconsin freshmen were a badly outclassed fifth.

The official time in the freshman race was:

Columbia, 10.13 1-5; Cornell, 10.20 2-5; Syracuse, 10.23 1-5; Pennsylvania 10.24 4-5; Wisconsin, 10.38.

DOMINI LIKES BASEBALL.

Sacramento, Cal., June 26.—Prefacing his sermon with a recitation of "Casey at the Bat," the Rev. Franklin Baker, pastor of a local church, last night spoke to a large congregation in defense of Sunday baseball. He declared that the $15,000,000 spent for baseball last season was better expended than the same sum in foreign missions, and that the game is "America's mental shower bath."

SPORTING NOTES

Stan Bates is winning the favor of the Fredericton, N. B., fans in earnest His first game in the Maine-New Brunswick league was against the Calais, Me. team and Stan won very handily. The Fredericton team leads in the league so far with 4 games won and 1 lost. St. John is second with 5 won and 2 lost. Stan was scheduled to pitch yesterday against St. John and the event was heralded in the Fredericton paper in big headlines, THE NEW SOUTHPAW TO PITCH TODAY. "Lefty" Ford is playing with the St. John team and Stan thought he might have to pitch against him yesterday.

HARVARD IN FINE TRIM.

Red Top, Conn., June 27—A fog bank which settled down over the course tonight prevented a time row for the Harvard varsity eight over the full four-mile course. As it was, the eight went over two miles in 9.43, covering the first mile in 4.37.

Tonight's trial was the last attempt at a time row and light practice will be in order from now on.

The freshman eight and the fours paddled about five miles up and down. The whole squad is in fine condition and Coach Wray is of the opinion that the varsity eight is better than last year's.

AMERICAN YACHT WINS.

SALAMANDER SUPERSTITION.

How the Reptile May Have Got Its Fireproof Reputation.

There is a very ancient belief that the reptile known as the salamander is proof against fire. It is not known how this superstition had its rise, but it will probably always continue to be held by some people, although it has been conclusively shown that the fireproof qualities of the creature exist only in imagination.

Dr. Stejneger, reptilian expert at the Smithsonian Institution, tells a story which may furnish a reason for the continuance of the belief in question.

"Once I was camping out," he says, "with a party of friends, hunting and fishing. We had lighted a big fire, using for fuel several old logs. While we were seated around watching the progress of some cookery in which we were engaged a young lady at my side gave a little scream and pointed into the flames. I looked, and there was a small salamander crawling right out from among the glowing embers. It walked away unhurt and made its escape.

"Now, that salamander had occupied a hole in one of the logs used for fuel. Several species of its kind live in old tree trunks. Doubtless this one found that it was getting uncomfortably hot and crawled out. Being moist and slimy, its body was protected from injury by fire long enough to enable it to escape through the embers. But the sight of the lizard deliberately making its appearance from the midst of the fire was certainly very surprising. Any ignorant person might easily have been led to imagine that the creature was fireproof. It seemed to me quite probable that the superstition took its origin from just such occurrences."—New York World.

How to Clean Dancing Slippers.

Children come from dancing school with delicately colored pumps all smooched from contact with partners, and even their hair ribbons get a dust mark sometimes. But, however stubborn the marks, they can be removed with a firm, careful rubbing of art gum until they look like new. Mothers who have never used art gum in this way will be surprised at the results.

St. Valentine.

The 14th of February is a day sacred to St. Valentine. It was a very odd notion, alluded to by Shakespeare, that on this day birds begin to couple. Hence, perhaps, arose the custom of sending on this day letters containing professions of love and affection.—Noah Webster.

AN UNEASY SKELETON.

It Had a Lively Time Until Its Final Burial Ceremony.

"Speaking of final resting places," said Ike Purcell the other day, "an Indian buried at Wakeeney has earned his. He was the first Indian killed in the last Indian raid in Kansas. The raid was pulled off by 150 Sioux Indians, and a good many settlers were killed, considerable property was burned and hundreds of horses and cattle were stampeded. The Indians came within a few miles of Wakeeney, when a part of a cavalry regiment from old Fort Hayes met them. The Indians fled, but were forced to a stand over in the edge of Rush county.

"The history of the chase is interesting. Every Indian in the band was killed. The subject of this item tumbled off his pony near Wakeeney and rolled into a ditch. His body was not found for several months, and by that time nothing was left but a skeleton. The men who found the skeleton wired the bones together and tied it to a post on the public road, with a label telling that it was the first Indian killed in the last raid, etc. Complaint was made about the grewsome spectacle, so the county board ordered the skeleton buried in the cemetery. To celebrate the fact that civilization had come to stay speeches were made at the grave of this the first Indian killed in the last raid, etc.

"Later some 'fellers' got full, dug up the skeleton, dressed it in store clothes and had fun with it. They hired a liveryman to take their 'friend' home, and when the driver found what he had in the seat with him he yelled mightily and jumped out of the buggy. The team ran away, spilling the Indian in a park where an ice cream festival was in progress. The skeleton was again buried with ceremony, being the first Indian killed in the last raid, etc. Lo was permitted to repose about a year, when another bunch of rounders disinterred the skeleton, redressed it and shocked sensitive citizens with a moonlight lynching, shooting at the dangling figure and all that sort of thing. Officers cut the 'corpse' down, and then the gang that was wise to the joke indulged in a merry ha-ha. For the third time the skeleton was buried with more speechifying. After that the skeleton was not disturbed, and the good people of Wakeeney hope that it has found its final resting place."—Kansas City Journal.

FOURTH OF JULY COMMITTEE HAS IMPORTANT MEETING

Partial Reports From Collectors Show Amount Received Is Insufficient

Jackies Will Be In Line. Children's Program Approved

An important meeting of the general Fourth of July committee was held Wednesday evening and was largely attended. Partial reports from the collectors were received, and the total amount secured is still short of what the committee desire. During the early part of the evening the drum corps, headed by Chairman Whitman of the music committee, paraded up and down Hancock street, burning red fire which notified the general public that the committee was in session.

PARADE COMMITTEE.

Chairman Wardwell of the parade committee announced that many entries for the parade were being received and it was assured that it would be a grand success. He also announced that the committee would give banners for the first, second and third prizes in the military, society and float divisions and also special prizes consisting of cups, ribbons and shields for the horses. In the trades and other divisions cups, etc., would be given. Owing to the rush of orders of the firms that make the banners, it would be impossible to have these ready for delivery on the Fourth, but it was planned to give certificates to the winners and the banners would be delivered as soon as received.

JUDGES.

The judges of the several divisions as now made up are as follows: James L. Edwards, James H. Webb, Harry L. Rice, Joseph P. Prout, Joseph L. Whiton, Hon. Albert E. Avery, Timothy J. Collins, James F. Burke, Dr. Francis Abele, Maj. Warren Sweetser, Eugene H. Sprague, James F. Young and Henry Miller. These judges are subject to revision and additions.

CRUISER CHESTER.

George E. Adams who has in charge the arrangements for the entertaining of the officers and crew of the Cruiser Chester stated that he had a conference with the commanding officer at the navy yard, Wednesday afternoon. The cruiser would come to Quincy on the night of July 3, next Monday night, and anchor off the Quincy Yacht club house. On the morning of the Fourth the entire crew would be landed at 7.45 at the Quincy Yacht club float, the use of the floats having been tendered by the club. Special cars will be taken to City Square. The crew of marines and jackies will number 125 and will be in charge of petty officers during the parade, while the commanding and executive officers will review the parade from the grand stand.

The commanding officer requests that no provision be made for dining the men, as it is desired that they return to the vessel for their dinner. The crew will be given shore leave during the afternoon and evening. The officers of the ship will be entertained at the Quincy Yacht club house.

CRUISER DECORATED.

During the day the vessel will be decorated with flags and bunting and in the evening will be illuminated with electric lights, the outline of the vessel being shown by many lights. The vessel will leave Quincy on the morning of the fifth.

Mr. Adams also said that he hoped to get a company of the coast artillery from Fort Strong to parade but was not as yet certain about this. He was also trying to get the band of the battleship Missouri to lead the Chester's crew in the parade.

It was suggested that it would be a good thing if lemonade or something of that sort was provided for the sailors after the march. This prompted C. C. Hearn to offer the committee five gallons of syrup, which was enough to make twenty-five gallons of orangeade. This offer was accepted and a vote of thanks given Mr. Hearn.

A vote of thanks was also voted to the Quincy Yacht club for the use of its floats and club house for the crew of the Chester.

Chairman Wardwell of the parade committee will appoint a committee who will see that the jackies are furnished with orangeade after the parade.

An aid will be sent to Houghs Neck on the morning of the parade to escort the jackies to Quincy and they will be met on Washington street by a band and escorted to their position in the line.

MARRIED AMIDST WILD FLOWERS

Pinkham-Litch Church Wedding Charming Affair

GROOM A CLERGYMAN

At four o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the Wollaston Congregational church were united in marriage two popular young people, Miss Sarah Isabel Litch, daughter of Mrs. Ruth M. Litch, and Robert Sanborn Pinkham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Pinkham all of Wollaston.

The church was artistically decorated with bay-berry, elderberry blossoms and clusters of wild roses—a veritable wild flower wedding. Mrs. Chandler W. Smith at the organ played while the guests were gathering and the wedding marches. The ushers were John C. Litch of Whitman; Albert C. Thomas of Wakefield, Kenneth Albee of Wollaston and Rev. Earle B. Cross of Dover, N. H.

To the strains of the wedding march the bride entered the church with her uncle Dr. Wilbur Fish Litch of Philadelphia, Pa., who later gave her in marriage. There were no bridesmaids or maid of honor but the bride was preceded by her little niece Ruth Blaisdell as flower girl. At the altar the groom awaited them attended by his brother Max O. Pinkham who acted as best man. Rev. Harris M. Barbour of Wollaston assisted by Rev. Edward A. Chase pastor of the church, solemnized the marriage the double ring service being used.

The bride's gown was of white hand embroidered batiste and she wore the conventional veil. In pretty contrast was the flower girl in pink and white silk mull. She carried a garden hat filled with wild flowers

An informal reception followed the ceremony at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Oscar A. Blaisdell, Grand View avenue.

After a short wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Pinkham go to Gardiner, Maine where Mr. Pinkham is pastor of the Baptist church.

TODAY'S COURT.

Edgar R. Gould and Sedwick Minot were fined $10 each and Roy B. Wiggin $15 for exceeding the automobile speed limit at Milton.

The program has been divided in two parts, the afternoon for the children and the evening the regular attractions at an affair of this nature. Special attention has been paid to the decorations, and a large number of handsome booths have been placed at advantageous places about the grounds, where the wants of the guests, in the refreshment line, will be dispensed.

The children's program, in the afternoon, will consist of athletics, baseball and other children's games. The evening will be devoted to dancing and an orchestral concert. There will be a display of fireworks, which promises to be a novel feature. A dancing board has been erected, and the lovers ofthe terpsichorean art will have ample opportunity to enjoy their favorite pastime in the open air.

AVIATOR WAS LUCKY.

One of Harry Atwood's pupils had a close call on the Aviation field, Atlantic, Wednesday afternoon. Eugene Heff, who went up for the second time alone, accidently put his foot on the magneto, which stopped the engine, when he was at a height of 200 feet. The biplane immediately began to descend. People on the field who ran to the place where the machine was falling were greatly relieved to find the aviator safe and the machine little damaged. It was a close call from serious injury.

Vice President Sherman mends his own automobile when it balks, and we wish he would crawl under the Senate machinery and see what is busted.

SOLVES THE MYSTERY OF MANY SMALL BURGLARIES

Officer Curtin Catches Thief "Red Handed" Early This Morning

Was At Work In West Quincy Depot

The mystery that has shrouded numerous small burglaries in South and West Quincy during the past few week, was cleared up early this morning, when Officer Curtin caught the burglar red handed at the West Quincy depot. It was shortly after 3 o'clock when Officer Curtin in making his rounds tried the door of the freight office at the depot. He was surprised to find the door unlocked and entering found a young man inside. The man gave his name as Joseph A. McDonald and said that his father lived at 127 West street. On searching the fellow the officer found $23.40 in money, 32 postage stamps and a box of tobacco. These he said he had taken from a bag which proved to belong to the Foresters of America, of which W. H. Hebert, one of the clerks in the office is the secretary.

On being questioned the young man said that he was 17 years old. He said that he got in by the door and showed a key. Afterward he said he got in through a window and showed the officer how he did it.

He had a flat piece of tin and with the aid of a pair of pinchers pushed this up between the window sashes and worked it back and forth until the catch was thrown.

He was taken to the police station, where Inspector McKay put him through the third degree. Inspector McKay told him that he had recovered the watch stolen from Henry Corams store last week in a Boston pawnshop and that the description of the man who pawned the watch fitted the prisoner. Inspector McKay also told him that he should bring the pawnbroker to Quincy this morning. At this McDonald broke down and admitted that he was the party who had made a number of breaks.

He admitted having entered the office of William Cashman, Henry Coram's store, Peter L. Litchfield's store, Woolworths five and ten cent store, twice at Brown & Crowells store and twice at the West Quincy depot.

He further said that his father had turned him out three weeks ago and that since that time he had been living with a woman in Boston. He would not tell who the woman was, however, and said that he did not know where she was now. He also denied that the woman was with him on his nightly visits, although the police are inclined to think that she may have been.

He was arraigned in court this morning for breaking and entering the West Quincy depot, pleaded guilty and held in $2,000 bonds for the grand jury. Warrants were then sworn out against him for the other breaks and on these he was also held for the grand jury.

The arrest of McDonald clears up the breaks that have been giving the police considerable trouble of late.

MRS. STEVENS HONORED.

Quincy members of the Woman's Chritsian Temperance union are pleased at the new honors which have come to Mrs. Lillian M. Stevens, national head of the W. C. T. U., who on Wednesday was awarded the degree of Master of Arts (Causa Honoris) at Bates college commencement.

UNDERWRITERS AT SQUANTUM.

The annual outing of the Boston life underwriters was held at Squantum Wednesday afternoon. Twelve new members were admitted to the organization and there was a large attendance. The afternoon was spent in ball games and other sports and at 7 o'clock a shore dinner was served at Squantum Inn.

GOD'S BATTLESHIP.

After a thorough housecleaning the Boston Floating Hospital is ready today to start its trips down the bay. Mothers of little sick babies have already been crowding the North End pier, asking, in broken variations of many different languages, "when the boat would start." Although only a few really hot days have been experienced the babies in the crowded tenements have already begun to suffer and hospital wards have been filled with the little people who fight so hard for their chance in life. This season the boat will make trips nightly as has been announced, and 240 cribs are in readiness for the sick children. Today is Concord, Mass., day, the money for the trip being contributed from that town.

HONESTY IN EVERYTHING

July 4th—"nuf sed."

Donations are in order.

Ballenger is probably musing as follows. I love my Glavis but oh you Pinchot!

The Summer resorts are filling up, and one must get his quarters ready for the table waiters, or be relegated to the famine sufferers.

Now it is argued by an eminent physician that the automobile is a cure for nervous disorders. The theory applies only to the rider of course not to the innocent bystander.

The Yale class of '96 brags of its 304 babies, but how many of these Bachelors of Arts can carry one of the kids so as not to hurt its neck, without constant coaching from their wives?

From the athletic standpoint Quincy appears a winner. An aviation field of renown and the home one of the world's greatest golf players. Time for us to crow a little.

President Taft kissed a baby on his Fall River visit. After many hard knocks, he is gradually learning the elementary principles of statesmanship.

Not only did the court sanction the Southern and Union Pacific merger, but one gang of ruthless monopolists is allowed to operate the two parallel lines of a double track railroad.

Wakefield papers have consolidated. Harris N. Dolbeare, publisher of the Daily Item having purchased The Citizen and Banner, a weekly paper of long standing. It is Publisher Dolbeare's idea to improve the Daily Item making it more acceptable to a large and growing list of readers. Good luck to him in his extended field.

WATER FRONT IMPROVEMENT.

The question of an improved water front is a most important one in the development of Quincy and it is to be hoped that last Monday's hearing to secure an additional loan will bear fruit.

In this connection His Honor's last inaugural address along that line makes interesting reading. He said:

Quincy's position in Boston harbor is unexcelled by any city as to its opportunities for future developments, and I have endeavored to keep in touch with all matters pertaining to a healthy business growth on our water front. With the immense tract of land owned by the Railroad Company at Atlantic needing only the completion of a track connecting Mattapan, Hyde Park, Dedham and Framingham to give our water front freight connection with the centre of our state, with the United States Government survey of the last link of the Intra Costal Canal from Narragansett bay to Boston harbor practically finished, with our improved channel, our great ship-building plant at Fore river, our world famous granite, we have right here in our city the greatest incentive to still further improve our water front of any city in New England. We have commenced to buy locations for public landings and expect in the near future to have all sections of the city provided for. I am investigating the matter of a public dock and firmly believe that our granite industry demands the building of such a dock with improved facilities for loading and unloading, and that such an improvement would be of great benefit to our granite business.

Nothing we might say could add to that. One world renowned granite industry requests better shipping facilities and no stone should be left unturned to grant that demand.

OTHER EDITORS ARE SAYING

It looks like a clear field for Gov. Foss on the democratic ticket. Lieut. Gov. Frothingham Speaker Walker and Rep. Norman H. White will contest for republican votes. Under the new primary law the candidates must go before the voters at large. Convention days are over. (Chelsea Record.)

A home-grown professional golf champion of America at last. The victory was long coming, but worth waiting for. Bostons only regret is that such a clean young chap as Brady of Wollaston did not win it. But 1912 is another year and his capture of second place was of itself a fine honor. (Transcript.)

The man who rocks the boat you can avaoid. The fly-paper gives you more or less revenge upon the six footed conveyor of disease. But what chance have you against the road hog when a $30 fine is punishment for an offending millionaire. (Louisville Courier.)

The trouble with nearly all of us is that the prospect of a vacation makes us summon unconsciously all our reserve energy and we go forth and put in two weeks at high tension and then plod home conscious that our account at the Bank of Stamina has been sadly overdrawn. Really it is a fine art to take a vacation and get the most out of it. (Worcester Gazette.)

Sadness, once the favorite pose of poets and of people who wished to inspire interest, is no longer fashionable. Nowadays melancholy people are looked upon as depressing. Cheerfulness is the pose of the moment. (Gentlewoman.)

EASTERN STAR PORCH PARTY.

Quincy chapter, No. 88, Order of the Eastern Star held a porch party Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Rufus Leach, Wollaston. The ladies sewed during the afternoon, making articles for the fair which is to be held in the fall. After the first week in July, these porch parties will be held each week at the homes of the different members. At the meeting yesterday, a good start was made on the sewing. Punch and fancy crackers were served by the hostess.

FOURTEENTH BIRTHDAY TODAY

Fourteen years ago today the Park and Downs Congregational church was formally organized. Before that time it was known as the Union chapel and people of all denominations joined in supporting it. There were Unitarians and Baptist and Universalists, Congregationalists and so on all united in one group. On June 29, 1897 at a meeting of the Union chapel members, most of whom were Congregationalists, it was voted to make the church denominational, believing that greater good could be accomplished by having it a corporate body. Although Congregational in name the spirit of the church is such that people of all denominations still go there and find that the theology of the preachers is broad enough and deep enough to fill their religious wants and that it contains enough of universality to coincide with their views.

How to Clean Kid Gloves.

Wash gloves with gasoline and ivory soap, using gasoline as you would water. Wash the same as you would a silk glove. Repeat this process three times, using clean gasoline each time, omitting the soap in the last process, using that for rinsing. Let dry, then sprinkle with cornstarch and wrap in a towel for half a day. They will turn out soft and white as new.

DAYS ARE SHORTENING.

People may not have noticed it, but Tuesday was one minute shorter than any of the days of last week. From the 19th to the 25th, inclusive the days were 15 hours and 17 minutes in length, not taking account of the seconds of time, about nine each day that were required to make up the minute that has been lost. Summer began on the 22d, and the days will continue to grow shorter until Dec. 22, when winter begins. The progress is so gradual that it is hardly noticed until the beginning of autumn, which is noted in the almanac as Sept. 22. The days shorten at the rate of an hour a month, and the 22d of December is six hours and 13 minutes shorter than June 22. There has not been an abundance of heat during June, and a little more warmth would have made it seem somewhat nearer the character that the month of roses and orange blossoms is supposed to maintain.—Lynn Item.

SENDS KING A POEM.

Ninety-five-year-old Blacksmith Met King George's Father Many Times.

In his ninety-fifth year and still working every day at his blacksmith's forge, Edward Barrett of Middletown, Conn., composed a coronation poem and sent it to King George of England, whose father, Edward VII., Mr. Barrett says, he met many times when a young man. The final stanza of the blacksmith's coronation ode reads:

His cultur'd monarch will ban wrong;
For right he will supplant it;
All through his reign in his empire
Injustice he'll prohibit;
His late calm sire, though king not long,
Effected some good changes;
Broad minded, courteous, affable,
Alike to friends and strangers.

Mr. Barrett wrote a poem forty years ago on the election of President Grant which so pleased the president's family that they gave Mr. Barrett money to send to Ireland for his family.

Some English Coronation Ceremonies of the Past

Unique and Stormy Crowning of Queen Elizabeth

Chain of Accidents Foretold the Fate of Charles I.

BECAUSE of the worldwide interest shown in the recent coronation of King George V. a glance back over the coronation ceremonies of English kings of the past, considering only those whose coronations presented unusual features, is of interest.

Prior to 1688 all coronations are said to have taken place on a Sunday or a festival day. Indeed, sixteen of the twenty-one early English coronations occurred on a Sunday. William the Conqueror was crowned on a Sunday, Christmas day, 1066, and was the first king to receive his sovereignty in Westminster. The building was crowded by a joyous, shouting throng at the beginning of the ceremony. In some way the Royal Horse guards misinterpreted their shouts and set fire to the gates. The spectators, panic stricken, rushed out and were slaughtered by the Norman cavalry. Therefore the coronation ceremony of William the Conqueror was consummated in an almost empty building.

An Early Coronation.

The best authentic description of an early coronation procession is to be found in manuscript form in the British museum. It describes the coronation of Richard I., "Richard the Lion Hearted," on Sept. 3, 1189, in Westminster abbey.

It is recorded that the spectators were terrorized by seeing a bat fluttering above the throne and considered it an evil omen. The conclusion of the coronation ceremony was marked by a wholesale butchery of the Jews. They had been ordered to remain away from the abbey, but came to the ceremony with many rich gifts for the king. The inflamed populace fell upon them, and the massacre spread from London to other cities.

Nov. 6, 1429, witnessed the coronation of Henry VI., the first boy king of England. Although but nine years of age, it is recorded that he was attired in bishop's robes.

Henry III. was twice crowned king of England. His first coronation was at Gloucester on Oct. 28, 1216, by the Bishop of Westminster. The second was held four years later, on May 17, at Westminster abbey, with the archbishop of Canterbury officiating.

The coronation of King Richard III. on July 6, 1483, is said to have been the most splendid one up to that date.

Crowned on Battlefield.

Immediately after the defeat of Richard III. at Bosworth Henry VII. was crowned on the battlefield. The defeated monarch had worn his crown into the battle, but had lost it in the melee. Lord Stanley, a noble, found it in a hawthorn bush and, in the presence of the entire army, picked it up and placed it upon the head of the new King Henry. A little more than two months later, however, Henry was recrowned in Westminster abbey. His queen, Elizabeth of York, was not crowned until nearly a month after his coronation.

At the coronation of Queen Mary, 1553, three crowns were used—that of Edward the Confessor, the imperial crown of England and another one made expressly for her. Each in turn was placed upon her head. One historian narrates a peculiar circumstance of her coronation. She was to have been anointed, it seems, with oil said to have been given St. Thomas of Canterbury by the Virgin Mary. At the last minute, however, it was feared that the oil had lost its efficacy, and a fresh supply was forthwith consecrated. She also refused to sit in the coronation chair, claiming that it had been desecrated by her Protestant brother, Edward, and used another one sent by the pope.

The coronation of Queen Elizabeth Jan. 15, 1558, was an unusually unique and stormy one. To be a prisoner in the Tower one minute and the queen of England the next is certainly far out of the ordinary. The entire ceremony was fraught with misunderstandings and strife, despite the fact that an astrologer had declared the day a propitious one. To begin with, there was the change from the old Catholic order of procedure to the Protestant. As an instance, Elizabeth agreed to kiss the "pax," or wafer, but would not recognize the old formula to any further extent.

No little trouble was experienced in obtaining a church dignitary to perform the ceremony. The see of Canterbury was vacant. The primate of York objected to reading the litany in English and refused to officiate. Finally the bishop of Carlisle consented to fill the role.

Ominous Happenings.

The superstitiously inclined found full justification of their views in the coronation of Charles I. on Feb. 2, 1626. As the chosen day happened to be the Feast of the Purification and as white was the proper color for that day the king's robe was of white instead of the usual purple velvet. Now, white was always considered an unlucky color for England's sovereigns. The next ominous event was the breaking of the wing of the dove on the old scepter. Following close on the heels of this misfortune, the royal barge stuck fast at the palace and was eventually brought to the wrong landing.

To cap the climax and as though to dispel any lingering doubt superstitious ones might still entertain all London that afternoon was shaken by an earthquake. Whether or not this chain of accidents was intended as a warning, the fact remains that they all occurred at the coronation of a king who lost his head.

On the 23d day of April, 1661, St. George's day, Charles II. entered his state barge early in the morning and went to Westminster. There he donned his robes of ermine and moved in procession to the abbey. Kneeling, he took the oath, which had again been altered, and was crowned by Archbishop Juxon. The crown, embellished with jewels, was a new one, as the old one had been destroyed in the civil wars. After the ceremony an elaborate banquet was given at Westminster hall, preceded by what was believed to be the first display of fireworks at an English coronation.

James II. was crowned with a pomp and ceremony that had never before been equaled on St. George's day, 1685, by Archbishop Sancroft, who was ordered to abbreviate the ritual on the pretext of saving time, but in reality to appease the Catholic conscience of the new king. There was no celebration of the holy communion, nor was a copy of the English Bible presented, as was customary. It is related by historians that the specially prepared anointing oil so pleased the king and his queen that they made a present of $1,000 to the court apothecary.

Crowned as Joint Sovereigns.

From a political and religious standpoint the coronation of William and Mary on April 11, 1689, was significant. They were crowned as joint sovereigns, and the coronation rite was approved by act of parliament for the first time in history. This rite declared against transubstantiation of the bread and wine in the holy communion. Dean Stanley called attention to the fact that the coronation oath was "altered into conformity with actual usages of the kingdom to maintain the Protestant reformed religion as established by law."

The house of commons was present as a body in a gallery directly behind the shrine of Edward the Confessor. As Archbishop Sancroft refused to officiate on the ground that William and Mary claimed the throne by act of parliament and not by hereditary decent, Thomas Lamplugh, archbishop of York, crowned the queen and Compton, bishop of London, the king. For the first time since the coronation of Edward VI. a copy of the English Bible was presented. The day was considered unlucky by the Jacobites, since it was neither a Sunday nor a festival. William had intended to make an offering of 20 guineas, but his purse was mysteriously stolen before the ceremony.

If there is anything in omens that act seemed certainly demonstrated at the coronation of George III., Sept. 22, 1761. A large diamond fell from his crown as he was walking about just after the ceremony, and many later declared it to be symbolic of the loss to England of her American colonies. The coronation day was the anniversary of the battle of Agincourt. Several changes were made in the coronation service by Archbishop Secker, and it is related the pretender, Prince Charles Edward, was present incognito. King George was but twenty-two years of age when crowned.

The coronation of King George IV., July 19, 1821, was marked by lavish display. Preparations for the event were made many weeks beforehand, and every detail was carefully planned. The coronation oath was altered to fit with the union with the church of Ireland, several prayers were omitted in the ritual, and no reference was made in them to the queen. The day was excessively hot, and the king became very fatigued under his heavy and ornate coronation robes. A magnificent banquet followed in Westminster hall. Golden dishes were used and food and drinks provided with a lavish hand.

When Victoria Was Crowned.

Exceeding all in splendor was the coronation of Queen Victoria, June 28, 1838, who was but eighteen years of age when called to the throne. That the event was a popular one is attested by the fact that the population again and again broke forth in applause during the ceremony. At the moment the crown was actually placed on her head by Archbishop Howley the shouts and applause of the spectators reverberated through the abbey like peals of thunder. The hallelujah chorus was sung by a choir and orchestra of 400.

The old custom of a coronation procession was revived, and the cavalcade was made a spectacle of surpassing splendor. After the ceremony a banquet was held at the palace, and later at Apsley hall a ball was given attended by over 2,000 dancers. On the night of the coronation every theater in London was thrown open to the public.

ACCIDENT AT HOUGHS NECK

Automobile Goes Over A High Embankment

MRS. ARTHUR CAME HURT

Two ladies were seriously injured at Houghs Neck Wednesday afternoon when Mrs. J. Arthur Came lost control of the stearing gear of her automobile and the machine going onto an embankment threw them out.

In the machine at the time were Mrs. James E. Came, 80 years old, widow of the former well known billiard table manufacturer and her daughter-in-law Mrs. J. Arthur Came. The two ladies came from Crow Point, Hingham to call upon some friends at Houghs Neck.

They climbed the hill and were coming down the incline, when the elder woman became nervous and in endeavoring to quiet her, the young woman lost control of the car and it sped down the hill at a rapid rate. At the foot of the hill is a sharp turn and the young woman made a heroic effort to control the machine and guide it round the turn. She was unable, however, and the machine mounting the embankment threw both ladies out.

The automobile went up the embankment and smashing a fence turned over three times. It then went over the embankment and fell a distance of fully thirty feet to the jagged rocks below.

The elder Mrs. Cane was practically on the step when the car turned over and was thrown clear off the machine without receiving any serious injuries. The younger woman however was thrown against the steering wheel and was considerably bruised before she was able to jump.

After the machine landed on the rocks the engine continued to run and fearing an explosion the young woman climbed down the hill and shut off the power.

Aid was soon at hand and Dr. F. E. Jones made a hurried run to the beach and attended to the injuries of the two women. The elder Mrs. Came was taken to the City Hospital where she was joined later by her daughter, where they received attention. She was later joined by her husband who had been notified and they were taken to their home in Hingham.

The point where the accident happened is a dangerous one. Going up Great Hill the road winds around the hill onto Island avenue where it enters a sharp grade. As the car came down the hill Mrs. Came had trouble in making the brake work and decided to go to the bottom of the hill and turn about. As the car increased in speed the elder woman became frightened and started to jump out. In trying to prevent this the younger woman lost complete control of the car. It is very fortunate that the accident was not more serious than it turned out to be.

ASK EXTENSION OF TIME.

A hearing was held before the Railroad Commissioners Tuesday on the petition of the Fore River ship building Co. for an extension of time for operating its private track from East Braintree to the Company's plant. When the original right was granted it was for a limited period.

There was no objection to continuing the franchise. The street railway whose tracks cross the railroad at Quincy avenue said that they would not object if the same conditions relative to a flagman were maintained as at present.

The Danger Trail, a story of the frozen north by James Oliver Curwood, a great gripping story will be run as a serial in the Ledger beginning Monday, July 3. The author has lived among the Arctic ice packs, has learned to know the ways of the sometimes simple, sometimes treacherous French Canadian guides. The story is of the clashing of strong men, brave men, cowardly men and would be assassins, a story of a young girl's untarnished love. What is the secret that mysteriously threatens John Howland's (the hero) life baffles the reader throughout the story. tf

Making It Worse.

Willie had just received a severe spanking. "Now, sir," said his father, "you go straight over into the corner there and sit down."

A semihumorous thought struck Willie. He stopped howling, and a sheepish grin overspread his face. "Gee, pa," he remarked, "isn't that sorter rubbin' it in?"—Exchange.

REPUBLICAN CONVENTION

October 4th Selected. Enrolment Necessary, Says Minton

ASK FOR RULING

The Republican State Committee yesterday selected Oct. 4th for the next state Convention.

The State Committee for 1912 will comprise 40 members. Hon Edward Glines of Somerville resigned from the committee and Hon. Walter S. Glidden was elected to the vacancy.

The meeting of the state committee yesterday was made necessary by the new direct primaries law. The place for holding the convention will be decided upon at a later meeting, but it will undoubtedly be held in Boston.

Chairman Hatfield announced that John M. Minton, chairman of the election commissioners of Boston, holds that under the new direct primary law a new enrolment of voters will be necessary, as the law provides that on entering the polling booth the voter shall announce what party ballot he desires. Chairman Minton is going to put the question up to the secretary of state who will probably refer it to the ballot law commission for a ruling.

The basis of representation at the next republican state convention has been fixed as one delegate for the first 75 votes cast for governor last fall in each ward of a city and in each town. For each succeeding 150 votes cast for governor in 1910 another delegates will be allowed each ward of a city and each town shall be entitled to at least one delegate.

SHIP OWNERS WANT A FULL SURRENDER

England Is Now Facing Her Greatest Labor Struggle

London, June 29.—The greatest labor struggle that England has ever seen was predicted after the ship owners in conference had decided to fight the striking seamen and dock workers to a finish. They determined to maintain an uncompromising attitude and reject any proposition unless providing for a complete surrender on the part of the strikers as to recognition of the union.

Thirty-one thousand dockmen and seamen are idle as a result of the strike. A general tie up of all trades may result.

Home Secretary Churchill, who acted for the government in bringing about a settlement of the coal strike, may try to arrange a conference with representatives on both sides.

COTTON MILLS' CURTAILMENT

Effected Through Efforts of the Arkwright Club

EXPLANATION BY SECRETARY

Correspondence Between Himself and Mill Owners Destroyed and No Record Kept on Club's Books—Not Successful In Getting All Operators Into "Gentlemen's Agreement"—Methods of Buying Cotton

Washington, June 29.—That the Arkwright club of Boston has agreed upon a policy of curtailing the production of the cotton mills of New England was admitted by Edward Stanwood, secretary of the club. Stanwood was a witness before the committee on expenditures in the department of justice, which is making an investigation of the cotton corner in New York. Upon order of the committee Stanwood brought the minute books of the Arkwright club to Washington, and his examination was based largely upon the entries made therein.

In describing the club Stanwood said it was organized in 1880 as a social business organization. The funds are contributed by mill owners in Lowell, Fall River, New Bedford, Biddeford and other parts of New England, and meetings are held each month for the purpose of discussing the condition of the textile industry.

Mr. Stanwood testified that on two occasions the club endeavored to obtain concerted action among the cotton mills of New England for the purpose of curtailing the output. "On Dec. 18, 1007," he said, "the club discussed instituting a policy of curtailment. A committee was appointed to draw up a circular for the signatures of the cotton spinners, agreeing to curtail their output."

Mr. Stanwood said that not more than half the mills agreed to the proposed curtailment. He admitted, however, that as a result of the efforts of the club the curtailment was effected. Correspondence between himself and the mill owners was destroyed and no record kept of it on the books of the club. Stanwood, when questioned by members of the committee, told of other agreements for curtailment of product and reduction in wages.

The witness said that the latest attempt at curtailment was decided upon at a meeting of the club on Jan. 18, 1911. At that time a committee was appointed to work for a 25 percent reduction in the output of the mills. The committee was unable to put the curtailment scheme into effect. In justification of the curtailments Stanwood said they were gentlemen's agreements and in no instance was the club successful in getting all cotton mill operators into the agreement. "There has never been an agreement when someone has not refused to go in," said Stanwood.

Asked about the cotton mill operators' methods of buying cotton, in which the investigating committee is especially interested, Stanwood said the mills buy raw cotton through brokers. In order to protect themselves against fluctuations in price the witness said the cotton mill men immediately sold in futures on the New York cotton exchange an amount equal to their real purchases. This, he said, enabled them to "hedge" on the money invested in the cotton to be used in their mills. This method, Stanwood said, enabled the spinner to save himself from loss on a falling market.

"A spinner can do no bonafide buying in the New York cotton exchange," said Stanwood, "because he cannot be guaranteed deliveries of the grade of cotton he needs in his mill. No real cotton is bought by spinners on the exchange."

JUSTICE EMERY RESIGNS

Head of Maine Supreme Court Thinks It Time to Rest

Augusta, Me., June 29.—The resignation of Chief Justice Lucilius A. Emery of Ellsworth, of the supreme court of Maine, was received by Governor Plaisted and accepted. It will take effect on July 20.

Chief Justice Emery in his letter gave as the reason for his retirement from the bench the fact that he has passed his seventieth birthday and thinks he should devote his remaining years to less arduous labors and less onerous responsibilities.

SOARS ABOVE A LINER

Sepwith Overtakes Olympia and Drops Two Packages on Board

New York, June 29.—Thomas Sepwith, flying with R. Sinclair as a passenger, overhauled the new giant liner Olympia after an exciting chase down the bay, swooped down to within 200 feet of her four giant smokestacks and dropped two packages on board.

Then, after circling twice around the mammoth liner, he returned to the Crescent club, where he told the story of his record-breaking trip.

HE GOT HIS PAY ENVELOPE.

Miner Climbed Six Hundred Feet Up Rough Siding of Mine Shaft.

Walter Tinsley, a miner at the Horton shaft at Plains, Pa., climbed 600 feet up the rough siding of the shaft to the top in order to be in time to get his pay from the pay car.

He wanted to be hauled up in the cage, but the signal did not work, and, fearful that he would miss his pay envelope, he started the hazardous climb. Halfway up the cage began working again, and he was in great peril, as there is only a small space between the cage and the wall of the shaft. Each time it passed him he pressed close against the side of the shaft and held on with all his strength to avoid being brushed off. Almost exhausted, he reached the top in time to receive his pay envelope.

New Use For Telephone.

Investigation of interruptions on a party telephone line in Manitoba, Canada, brought to light the fact that one of the women on the line was in the habit of taking the receiver of the telephone and using it for a darning egg in mending socks.

HEALTH HINT FOR TODAY.

Deep Breathing For Drooping Shoulders.

Full and deep breathing will do more to straighten drooping shoulders than the wearing of braces, and if every one would take special pains to lift and hold the chest in its proper position round shoulders would disappear. Lifting the chest does not include any other exercise and is one of the simplest when once it is understood, but for some reason is one of the hardest ones to comprehend. It consists simply in the muscular movement of lifting up the chest, as though you were trying to lift it high enough to touch the chin. The arms and shoulders should be left in their natural position, and on no account should the shoulders be lifted at the same time you are lifting up the chest. Try the exercise. Stand perfectly easy and relaxed. Avoid tense muscles or any undue exertion, and see if you can accomplish the feat. You will readily understand that when the chest is no longer hollow, but is well up in its normal position, the shoulders cannot be rounded, but will naturally settle into their normal place.

Flooded to Save Battleship Ohio From Destruction

DROPPING OF A HOT RIVET

Believed to Have Started Fire In Turret Which Is But Seven Feet Above Compartment Where Three Thousand Pounds of Powder and Other Ammunition Was Stored—Much Excitement In Brooklyn Navy Yard

New York, June 29.—Fire in the after turret of the battleship Ohio at the navy yard in Brooklyn necessitated the flooding of the powder magazine below as a precaution against an explosion.

The fire smouldered for half an hour along the heavy rubber insulation of electric wires and in a quantity of cotton waste.

The fire alarm sounded on the battleship shortly after 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and when the crew and officers reached the after turret they found it filled with smoke from the burning rubber.

Realizing that quantities of ammunition were stored in the magazine only a few feet below the turret, as a first precaution the automatic apparatus, which is provided for flooding the magazine in cases of danger, was turned on and the ship's fire hose was brought out to fight the flames.

The blaze is believed to have originated by the dropping of a hot rivet on the insulation of the wires which operate the electric ammunition hoist. In compliance with a recent order issued by the navy department, workmen were installing a so-called bulkhead, or steel partition, between the two big guns of the turret. The work was nearly done and the men were riveting the steel plates together when, it is said, one of the rivets was dropped.

As the Ohio was practically in readiness to sail today, most of the 750 men of the crew and officers were aboard ship at the time, and the excitement of the blaze spread to the navy yard. The battleships North Dakota and Alabama were also at anchor nearby.

Smoke was seen issuing from the turret for nearly an hour and at about 5 o'clock it was extinguished.

The powder magazine is said to have been situated seven feet below the turret and contained about 3000 pounds of powder in cans and a considerable quantity of other ammunition.

REICHMANN IS CONVICTED

Guilty of Making False Statements to Banking Department

New York, June 29.—Joseph B. Reichmann, formerly president of the Carnegie Trust company, was found guilty of making false statements to the state banking department. The jury deliberated an hour and a half.

The indictment on which the conviction was secured is one of four pending against Reichmann, and was chosen by District Attorney Whitman as the most satisfactory upon which to try the defendant. It alleges that the former president of the Carnegie Trust company knowingly concurred in making a written report and statement of the affairs and pecuniary condition of the corporation of which he was an officer containing a material statement which was false.

NEW HAVEN DENIES GUILT

Road's Counsel Hopes Government Will See Error of Its Ways

Boston, June 29.—The New Haven railroad, through Benjamin Campbell, one of its vice presidents, pleaded not guilty to indictments in sixty counts charging thirty violations of the interstate law against rebating in connection with carrying milk for the Elm Farm Milk company of Boston.

United States District Attorney French told Judge Dodge of the United States district court that the trial would not take place until fall.

"I hope," said Lawyer Choate, representing the railroad, "that the trial will not have to take place, and that the government may see the error of its ways."

BILLY SUNDAY'S LANGUAGE

Order Tending to Curb It Is Passed by Wheeling City Council

Wheeling, W. Va., June 29.—The city council passed an ordinance imposing a fine upon any person who in a public address should use vile or vulgar language.

Councilman Habrestick, who offered the ordinance, said that it was done with the intent of curbing the vocabulary of "Billy" Sunday, the evangelist, who has been engaged by Wheeling churches to open a religious campaign in this city next week.

IMPORTANT MEETING OF 4TH OF JULY COMMITTEE

APPROPRIATIONS.

The questions of appropriations was then considered. Owing to insufficient funds the committee found it necessary to revise their appropriations. Should the funds come in, however, between now and Saturday night more money will be awarded to the several committees. The committee voted $150 to the parade committee for prizes.

The question of appropriation for sports caused an hour of discussion. The original amount assigned to this committee was $350 but it now became necessary to cut this.

The committee announced that it had ordered the prizes for the several athletic events and as these had been advertised and the entry blanks issued they could not be changed. It had also planned to give $10 prizes for the four small games of ball and $25 for the large game. If the amount was to be cut, the prizes for the ball games would have to be cut out. The general committee however insisted that the ball games should be held as planned. The general impression seemed to be that the sports committee could raise by subscription the amount necessary to give these games as planned. It was voted that the amount for the sports be cut to $300 and that the ball games be held as planned. It was also stated that if the committee should collect the additional $50, the general committee would assign that amount to them. It was also said that it was possible that by Saturday night the committee might see its way clear to make the amount $350 as at first planned.

For the children's entertainment chairman Charles H. Johnson outlined his program. This provided for an entertainment at St. Mary's hall, at West Quincy in the morning, at 10.30, by Yarrick the magician. In the afternoon there would be an entertainment for the children in the Centre in some hall by the Prixies. In addition to this Wallace, the well known Punch and Judy man would give five entertainments, each of twenty minutes, in Wards One, Two, Three, Four and Five.

To carry out this program would require an appropriation of $110. The committee immediately voted to appropriate that amount for the children's entertainment.

When it came to the balloon ascension, about which there had been some talk, chairman C. W. Hanscom stated that in view of the finances he did not feel like pressing this feature and that he would not feel at all hurt if it was cut out. He therefore moved and it was voted to cut out the balloon.

It was also voted to approve the bills of Miss Houstin the stenographer for $28.26 and of Secretary Stetson for $35.26 for postage, etc.

Before the meeting adjourned, which was nearly midnight, it was announced that a meeting would be held Saturday night and that it was imperative that the collectors should report at this meeting.

Chairman James Brogan of the sports committee anounced that there would be a meeting of that committee tonight at the rooms of the Board of Trade at 8.15.

Sandwich In Wet Column

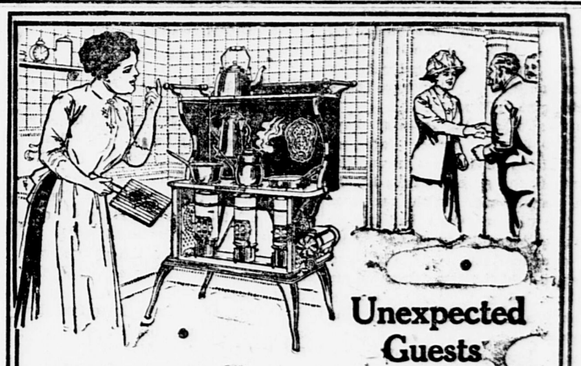

Sandwich, Mass., June 29.—There is a regularly licensed hotel selling liquor once more in operation in this town. The board of selectmen has granted a license to Thomas E. Barron to sell drinks at the Central house.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED.
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and, unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.
We give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Unexpected Guests

The farmer and his wife were about to sit down to a cold supper when they saw some old friends driving towards the house.

The good wife was equal to the occasion—thanks to her New Perfection Oil Cook-stove.

She had it lit in a moment, and her guests hardly were seated on the porch before a hearty hot meal was ready for the table—sausages and eggs and long rashers of streaky bacon, and rolls just crisped in the oven and fresh coffee—and the hostess herself as cool and neat as if she had not been near the kitchen.

She never could have managed it with an old-fashioned range. The New Perfection is the quickest, most convenient and best cooker on the market.

CRYING FOR HELP

Lots of it in Quincy But Daily Growing Less.

The kidneys cry for help.

Not an organ in the whole body so delicately constructed.

Not one so important to health.

The kidneys are the filters of the blood.

When they fail the blood becomes foul and poisonous.

There can be no health where there is poisoned blood.

Backache is one of the first indications of kidney trouble.

Doan's Kidney Pills are what is wanted.

Are just what overworked kidneys need.

They strengthen and invigorate the kidneys; help them to do their work; never fail to cure any case of kidney disease.

Read the proof from a Quincy citizen.

Mrs. E. Burke, 143 Quincy street, Quincy, Mass., says: "I consider Doan's Kidney Pills an excellent remedy for kidney trouble. I used them and the results were of the most satisfactory nature. Doan's Kidney Pills were procured at the Cox Drug Store and have my highest recommendation."

WOULD RETAIN FALLS' BEAUTY

Niagara Bill Tabled by House Foreign Affairs Committee

PRESIDENT URGED PASSAGE

Speaker Promises His Aid, but Measure Is Disposed of Before He Has Chance to Communicate With Leaders of House—Intended to Extend Limitation, Which Expires Today—Business Confined to Program

Washington, June 29.—President Taft has been refused a piece of legislation which he was especially anxious to have the house adopt at the earliest possible moment. The president sent for Speaker Clark and asked his support of a resolution introduced in the senate by Senator Burton and passed by that body, extending for two years the operation of the act providing for the control and regulation of the waters of Niagara Falls.

Speaker Clark told the president that although the legislative program in the house is now restricted under orders from the Democratic caucus, it was the intention of the house leaders to let down the bars for urgent legislation at the close of the session, and he would aid the president in this instance.

Before the speaker had an opportunity to communicate with leaders of the house, the house committee on foreign affairs had a meeting yesterday and agreed to table the Burton resolution until next December. This action was taken upon the assertion of Representative Burleson of Texas, chairman of the Democratic caucus, that there would me no modification in the order of the caucus. As a result of this action the matter will go over until the next session of congress.

The Burton resolution was intended to extend for two years the limitation placed by congress on the amount of electric power sent over to this country and to preserve for that length of time at least all of the present beauty of the falls. The limitation expires today and members of congress desired to make certain that power companies would not begin extensive operations in power development which might mar the beauty of the falls.

Chairman Sulzer of the committee said the committee felt certain that with the prospect of restrictive legislation at the next session of congress power companies would scarcely attempt power development at this time.

TUG CAPTAIN DROPS DEAD

Almost Results In Disaster to Cruiser Which Was In Tow

Boston, June 29.—The United States scout cruiser Birmingham, Commander Jones, had a narrow escape from collision with the drydock at the Charlestown navy yard when Captain Joseph B. Riley of the navy tug Iwana dropped dead in the pilothouse.

The Iwana was towing the cruiser into the dry dock. The engineer of the tug, missing the accustomed signals, went to investigate and discovered the captain lying over the wheel, dead. Death was thought to be due to heart disease.

The engineer took charge of the wheel and the Birmingham was soon afterwards docked without further incident.

Worcester, Mass., June 29.—The town of Southbridge has found itself liable to the Southbridge Savings bank for $50,000 according to the decision handed down by Judge McLaughlin in the superior court.

COURT DECIDES MRS. CLARK LEGAL WIFE

Husband Denied Ceremony of Over Half Century Ago

Salem, Mass., June 29.—Mrs. Sarah M. Clark was declared to be the legal wife of John W. Clark, a Civil war veteran, by Judge Bell in the superior court yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Clark had brought action to have herself declared a wife after Clark, with whom she had lived for more than half a century, had declared there had never been any ceremony.

During the last two years Clark has been confined in the insane asylum at Danvers for periods totalling ten months. He denied his marriage after he came out of that institution. The couple had four children, two of whom are now living.

Mrs. Clark had testified she married Clark in Nashua, N. H., on June 6, 1858, and that a Rev. Mr. Hall performed the ceremony. Clark, who is 74 years old and two years her senior, denied he had ever gone through a marriage ceremony.

HOUSE OF 433 MEMBERS

Reapportionment Bill Will Be Reported by Senate Committee

Washington, June 29.—The senate committee on census agreed to report the congressional reapportionment bill without amendment providing for 433 representatives, notwithstanding practically all the committee members had expressed themselves as opposed to the increased representation. The bill provides for forty-two representatives over the present number and was framed so as to prevent a decrease of the membership from any state.

Three of the ten members present voted in the negative. The report will be withheld for a week to give Mr. La Follette time to prepare a minority report.

UNIVERSITY EXTENSION

Plans On Foot To Start Branch Here

The American Society is endeavoring to establish University Extension in all towns within a radius of two hundred miles of Philadelphia that have a population sufficient to support the local committees in their work.

A Centre for University Extension in this community would make a distinct contribution of the life of our people and doubtless could easily be organized if a few of our public-spirited citizens could be found to do the preliminary work. A community never suddenly awakens to such ideas. They must first be seen and worked for by the few and often-times developed in the face of indifference and discouragement. Such "Centres" enlarge the outlook and prestige of any community that supports them and provide a stimulus to serious thinking and an agency of genuine culture that return many times over the effort and sacrifice their establishment and conduct may involve.

We need not say that this Society is an educational, not a money-making institution. In its "splendid and effective work"—if we may use Mr. Joseph H. Choate's description of it in his essay on "Education in America" no element of private profit is involved The Society is supported partly by an endowment of $30,000, by membership dues and by subscriptions from public spirited people who believe in the objects represented by it.

While statistics of courses and attendance convey some conception of the Society's activity, it is impossible to translate into mathematics the significance and value of the educational service that such work renders. In many communities to which the Society sends its lecturers, the "Centres" of the work form a common nucleus of intellectual and social interests, about which the best elements of the place gather. They help to enrich and refine local life, stimulating all that is best, and frequently obliterate lines of denominational cleavage, social clique and political affiliation. To them are sent Staff-Lecturers drawn from the leading universities of this country and of England and chosen not merely for their ability in the fields of scholarship but also for their human qualities of spirit and personality. In meeting their assignments, the lecturers are frequently subjected to long journeys under trying conditions, accompanied by late and early hours and irregular meals. The record of one lecturer the past Winter in traveling over 20,000 miles while engaged in the work of his Centres is not unusual.

NOT MADE UNDER DURESS

See's Confession of Immorality Is Admitted as Testimony

Chicago, June 29.—At the trial of Evelyn A. See, the founder of the Absolute Life cult, for abduction of Mildred Bridges, Judge Honore decided that admissions, alleged to have been made by See, Mildred Bridges and Mona Rees to the police, were not made under duress. The judge ruled that the testimony of Police Captain Danner and newspaper reporters, who heard the alleged confession of immorality, was admissible.

See on the stand declared that his relations with his "truth students" were merely those of teacher and pupil.

Captain Danner and several reporters testified that See and the two girls admitted that their relations went far beyond the bounds of conventionality and morality.

Weymouth Proves to Authorities That He Is Very Much Alive

Biddeford, Me., June 29.—After remaining in Maine a few hours, just long enough to prove to the satisfaction of the authorities that he was not murdered in Dayton three years ago, and thus securing the release of the two men and a woman who were charged with having been concerned in his supposed death, Charles I. Weymouth left for his home in Sherbrooke, Canada, last night.

The trio who had been held by the authorities, Joseph Buzzell, Orion Merrill and Mrs. Maude A. Snow, left for their home immediately they were released by the courts. They had little to say about the case other than to declare that it was all a mistake and that they had had no fears from the first.

Boston, June 29.—Governor Foss pardoned Oscar L. Kelson, 22, of Somerville, who has served three years and one month of a life sentence for murder in the second degree in causing the death of Charles E. Bushee, an aged Somerville druggist.

The crime for which Kelson was convicted took place Jan. 12, 1908. Kelson, with John J. Killian and George Gilmore, went to the store of Bushee to rob the cash drawer. Kelson stood on guard outside, while the other two went in.

A struggle took place inside, during which Killian and Gilmore beat the druggist so severely that he died from his injuries. Kelson was frightened and ran away. All three were convicted of murder in the second degree and sentenced to life imprisonment.

This is the thirtieth pardon granted by Foss.

A Nice Sandwich For a Pink Tea.

Various counties in England have their especial brand of sandwiches. In some apple and meat are mingled together; in others the customary slices of bread are supplanted by slices of parkin. Devonshire perhaps can boast the most luscious sandwich of all English counties. To make a Devon sandwich a "split" or scone is cut in half, each side is buttered, then jam is spread upon the butter, upon that again a thick coating of marmalade. Finally clotted cream is added with equal liberality, and the split, thus swollen beyond recognition, is ready for consumption.—London Globe.

SOBERED AND LABELED.

The Pre-Raphaelite Treatment For Drunken Geniuses.

Nothing in Mr. Ford Madox Hueffer's "Ancient Lights" is more amusing than the account of his illustrious grandfather's efforts to reclaim the many drunken geniuses of his acquaintance. It appears that he "was in the habit of providing several of them with labels, upon which were inscribed his own name and address. Thus when one of these geniuses was found incapable in the neighborhood he would be brought by cabmen and others to Fitzroy square. The poet, being thus recaptured, would be carried upstairs by Charlotte and laid in the bath and would be reduced to sobriety by cups of the strongest coffee that could be made (the bath was selected because he would not be able to roll out and injure himself). And, having been thus reduced to sobriety, he would be lectured, and he would be kept in the house, being given nothing but lemonade to drink until he found the regime intolerable. Then he would disappear, the label sewed inside his coat collar, to reappear once more in charge of a cabman."

Whistler was not among the winebibbers, but he had other peculiarities. "Upon one occasion," says Mr. Hueffer, "Madox Brown, going to a tea party at the Whistlers' at Chelsea, was met in the hall by Mrs. Whistler, who begged him to go to the poulterer's and purchase a pound of butter. The bread was cut, but there was nothing to put upon it. There was no money in the house, the poulterer had cut off his credit, and Mrs. Whistler said she dare not send her husband, for he would certainly punch that tradesman's head."

Prosperity is a great teacher; adversity is a greater. Possession pampers the mind; privation trains and strengthens it.

WORK WITH DEATH

Powder Makers Toil In Constant Peril of Their Lives.

THEY DON'T WANT VISITORS

Men Callers Are Permitted In the Plant Only With Extreme Reluctance and After Drastic Precautions, and Women Are Absolutely Barred.

In all the vocations in which a man can make a living in the United States there is none more perilous than the manufacture of gunpowder and none in which the public, which usually suffers severely in case of accident, takes so small an interest. The word gunpowder itself carries a suggestion of peril which is reflected in all the superstitions of the men who work in the trade.

The men who work in powder plants are a study in themselves. Probably in no other business do the human agents take more precautions against disaster with such pitiful results.

Men who work in powder plants are in constant fear of death. They are face to face with peril every second. Instead of growing hardened to it, as do the laborers in many other fields of danger, they appear to be the most superstitious class of men on earth. They are well paid. A man who has nerve enough to work at this trade is worthy of his hire. He can command $10 a day, sometimes $20. He practically makes his own rules, since he is the one to suffer from an infraction of them. His every suspicion is respected by his employer. He cannot dictate the hours of labor, since that is a matter eternally in dispute, as in other kinds of labor, but he can dictate the conditions under which he works from the moment he enters the factory until he leaves.

These superstitions seem absurd sometimes, but they are the law of the gunpowder factory. If you are an employer you break the law at the risk of financial loss; if you are a fellow employee you violate it at the risk of your life.

One of the first laws among the employees is that of self preservation. They have a deep rooted fear of the casual visitor. Few men have gone through a gunpowder plant out of mere curiosity. They are not wanted and are told so frankly. If they succeed in obtaining the permission of the superintendent or possibly of some one higher in authority they are subjected to an extraordinary ordeal before they are admitted to the sacred precincts.

First they are searched, and no police official is more adept in the art of "frisking" than is the outer guardian of the average gunpowder plant. Every piece of metal, from pocketknife to garter clasp—every coin, match, suspender buckle, everything that could possibly strike a spark, is removed. The hatband of the most fashionable derby is examined with care to see that it carries no metal initials. And this examination is not carried on alone by the official whose favor you have gained. A representative of the employees takes an active part in the examination, and if he has any doubts he will politely request you to strip to the skin.

Once inside the powder factory you are under even more careful scrutiny. Your shoes are taken away, and you are provided with felt slippers. Convinced that on your person there is no piece of metal which under any provocation could strike a spark, you may feel at liberty to roam around, but you are not. Your every movement is watched carefully, and should you make a gesture calculated to inspire distrust you would be hustled out of the building and told to leave the neighborhood within a given time.

I had a graphic illustration of the extreme care taken by these men to prevent an accident and to save their own lives. After having been carefully searched and after having surrendered everything which might come under the classification of metal I was admitted to the plant. Secure in the knowledge that I was thoroughly "disinfected," I assumed a nonchalance which I was far from feeling as I watched the various processes of making gunpowder. I was so well at ease that I drew a toothpick from my pocket and calmly picked my teeth.

Instantly I was thrown to the floor and while two husky men held me a third searched my clothing. When finally I was released it was explained to me that they feared the toothpick might be a match.

Laboring under the constant fear of death, the employees grow extraordinarily superstitious. Once allow a woman to set foot within a powder factory and the entire force will quit. It is one of the axioms of the trade that a woman brings misfortune, and it is useless to argue the question. A woman photographer for a newspaper on a "Sunday assignment" once was admitted into an Illinois powder factory by an inexperienced official, and the next day the plant was shut down. The employees struck. The plant remained idle until an entire new force was recruited.—Chicago News.

FAVORS STATE FUND TO AID WORKING MOTHERS.

Brandeis, Anti-railroad Trust Lawyer, Would Insure Them.

Louis D. Brandeis, the anti-railroad trust lawyer, advocates a state insurance for prospective mothers.

"Maternity insurance must come, and it will," says Mr. Brandeis, ever ready to lay aside his countless cares to talk about the betterment of the status of the workingman.

"People are just beginning to realize the tremendous role that the mother plays in the world. People are just awakening to the fact that the mother, if for no other than a purely physiological reason, should be carefully preserved.

"My plan is that women should be forced in their own interest to become members of some society, preferably one under direct government control. In the event of her becoming a mother, and therefore being obliged to give up working for six weeks (by law), the mother would be entitled to draw on the fund for money.

"This is the point of 'maternity insurance.' It is a great step toward making motherhood not a period to be dreaded, but one that shall make every working woman feel her ability to outlive. Now the next step is to see that the mother and the child shall not suffer through lack of means caused by nonemployment.

"I think Massachusetts could do well to enact the first law in this direction. It would do more actual good than much talk, do more toward preventing 'race suicide' among the workers, do more toward making marriage an ideal state, not one to be dreaded, than anything else just now."

PUPILS GIVE FINE MUSICALE

Students of Miss Bizzozero Are Well Trained

THE PROGRAM

A very enoyable musicale was given in Colonial hall Thursday evening by the pupils of Miss Rina Bizzozera assisted by Miss Alice Foley and Messrs. Plindo Taddei and Joseph Barraja-Frauenfelder. Miss Foley sang with splendid effect and quite carried away the audience with the richness of tone and pleasing quality of her voice. Mr. Frauenfelder likewise was greatly appreciated and was encored at each appearance. The 'cello solo by Mr. Taddei was especially well played and it too was encored.

The pupils showed great technical ability and played remarkably well considering that they were practically beginners this year. Three ofthem played from memory and all did exceptionally well.

The hall was well filled with an appreciative audience many of its members being from out of town. Several floral tributes were given to the pupils after they had completed their selections. The following acted as ushers: Angelo Bizzozero, Joseph Larkin, Peter Morissette and Dr. Albert Paolucci of East Milton.

The program was as follows:

CLASS 1910 REUNION.

The class of 1910 of the Quincy high school held its first annual reunion and dance in Alpha hall Thursday evening. About twenty-five couples were present and a very enjoyable evening was spent in dancing to music furnished by Wilson's orchestra. The class color, blue, was predominant, although the bachelors button was a scarce article. The party was matronized by Miss Mollie Brown and Miss Minnie Packard.

ROUTE OF PARADE.

Editor Daily Ledger:

Just a word to the 4th of July Parade Committee from an old Parader in all the parades since 1876. In looking over the route I see the square will have a good show, as the formation will be there or very near. S. Quincy is well covered. West Quincy extra well provided for, all on the west side of Hancock street. Now in all the previous parades they have never neglected the east side. All have taken in Elm stree t and Washington street. Even the Circuses have always covered those streets. Give the inhabitants of Ward 2 a show. We are on the map of Quincy yet. I would suggest they change or add to the already laid out route to come down Elm street to Washington to Maple street and pass the reviewing stand opposite the Board of Trade rooms.

PRETTY JUNE WEDDINGS

Hammond-Falk at New Haven Kolb-McDuffee at Malden

WELL KNOWN HERE

HAMMOND—FALK.

On June 20 at the Congregational parsonage in New Haven, Conn., Russell Jewett Hammond, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson G. Hammond of Billings street, Atlantic, was married to Louise Christine Falk of New Haven. After a wedding trip to New York and Portland, they returned by way of Atlantic where a reception was tendered them June 23d by Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Hammond which was attended by many relatives. A bountiful collation was served. Mr. and Mrs. Hammond have taken a cottage at Short Beach on the Sound for the summer.

KOLB—MCDUFFEE.

A pretty home wedding took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. McDuffee, 9 Lynde street, Malden, when their daughter Edith Mabel became the bride of Frederick Valentine Kolb of Atlantic.

About 100 relatives and friends assembled and at 8 o'clock Miss Tara Davison of Boston played Mendelssohn's wedding march.

Rev. W. O. Dowty of St. Paul's Episcopal church impressively performed the ceremony.

The bride who wore an Empire gown of white messaline silk with pearl trimmings was given away by her father. She wore a tulle veil which was draped with pearl ornaments and carried a shower bouquet of white sweet peas. She also wore the groom's gift a gold brooch set with 75 pearls surrounded by diamonds.

The bride's sister Mrs. O. P. Andrews as matron of honor wore her wedding gown of white messaline silk. Her bouquet was a shower of pink sweet peas.

The bridesmaid Miss Lizzie F. Makepeace of Malden was gowned in pale blue messaline silk and she carried pink sweet peas.

Henry J. Kolb of New York, brother of the groom was best man and four little boys as ribbon pages completed the procession.

The ushers were Frank M. McDuffee of Malden and Mr. Brodie and Mr. Bjorkland of Dorchester.

Following the ceremony a reception was held. The house was prettily decorated with daisies and roses. Caterer Cubberly served the wedding supper.

The bride's gifts to the matron of honor and bridesmaid were gold pendants and the best man was presented with a handsome stickpin.

Many wedding gifts attested to the wide circle of friends of the newly wedded couple.

After the reception Mr. and Mrs. Kolb started on a wedding trip to New York, Lake Champlain and the White Mountains where they will remain until Sept. 1.

Upon their return they will be at home to their friends on Claremont street, East Braintree, where they have built a most attractive new home.

BIRTHDAY PARTY.

Charles Waite, of the Bay Cliff entertained a company of his little friends Thursday afternoon in observance of his third birthday. The day began with a flag raising. A collation was served by Mrs. Harry Waite, the dining room being daintily decorated in yellow and white crepe paper festoons and daisies. Games were enjoyed on the lawn Master Charles received many pretty remembrances. Among the guests were: Geraldine Waite, Don Waite, Philip Sullivan, Richard Sullivan, Helen Meader, Frederick Foster, Marion Staples, Dorothy Gray, Merle Gardner, Marjorie Waite and Emily Dalley.

ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Women's society of the Swedish Congregational church was held at the home of Mrs. Ekstrand, Quarry street, Thursday evening, with a large attendance. The lawn was lighted with Japanese lanterns and the meeting was held out of doors. The reports of the officers showed that the year had been a very successful one and that more money had been raised and disbursed than in previous years. A sum of $25 was voted to the church for a special use. It was voted that a regular schedule be made for the meetings in the future and a list of members was arranged in alphabetical order and the meeting for the different months assigned to the various homes. After the business was over ice cream and cake were served by the hostess. It was announced that the next meeting would be held at the home of Mrs. Golbranson, Goddard street, on July 27. The officers elected were as follows:

President—Rev. G. W. Palmgren.
Secretary—Mrs. Hannah Ekstrand.
Treasurer—Mrs. Caroline Yungquist.

MERCHANTS ASSOCIATION

Holds Meeting on Thursday Afternoon. Well Attended

POLICE DEPARTMENT PRAISED

A well attended meeting of the Merchants' Association was held Thursday afternoon at the rooms of the Board of Trade. The meeting was called largely to wind up the details of the recent merchants' week. W. G. Shaw presided and T. L. Williams acted as secretary.

The committees having in charge the several features of the week, such as advertising sheet, music, parade, etc., reported. These reports showed that all bills had been paid and that there was a surplus on hand from the amounts subscribed and received for advertising.

The merchants all expressed themselves as very much pleased with the police protection given them during the week and as a taken of their appreciation it was voted to send a check for $15 to the Quincy Police Relief association.

It was also voted that the secretary be instructed to write a vote of thanks to His Honor the Mayor, the Old Colony street railway, the firemen, police and to the local press in appreciation of the manner in which they had contributed to make the week the success that it was.

As the several committees had well and faithfully done their work they were discharged.

The matter of repairs of the city scales came up and the committee were given further time.

The question of lighting City Square came up and was discussed informally. The committee on this subject had been unable to get any facts as to cost from the two lighting companys. There was a rumor that the Electric Light company was to remove the group lights with which City Square had been illuminated for the past two months.

The merchants expressed themselves as very much opposed to this and that it would be a good idea to have them continued until such time as the committee could get into touch with the company and City officials in regard to the matter.

HONESTY IN EVERYTHING

Last call for the June bride.

Get into the habit of shopping at home.

All eyes are now fixed on the Thames at New London.

Mr. Carnegie might have to put an addition on his libraries if he told all he knew about United States Steel.

Postmaster General Hitchcock says the railroads could carry the mail for $9,000,000 less. Uncle Sam is the only man in the country who never kicked on railroad rates.

The fleet of submarines staid under water 10 hours off Cape Cod last week, but they won't do it after the Summer Girl gets located at the shore resorts with all her fluffy clothes.

John Muir, the naturalist, has gone to Chili to see a rare tree. If it is any kind of a fruit tree we have the feeling that some small boys of our neighborhood will get there first.

It has cost $800,000 in special attorney's fees to prosecute the trusts for two years. We may never get the money back, but it's worth it to feel you can start a peanut stand without asking Wall street.

Quincy is certainly dusty and dirty and the streets and sidewalks about town look very unattractive. The new method of oiling the streets does not seem to bring as much comfort as the old water cart did.

Had we been King George, we'd have slipped out to some justice of the peace in the next town, and saved all this fuss and feathers, by having the crown put on before just enough witnesses to make it legal.

Patching doesn't seem to fill the bill with that sidewalk on the north side of Maple street in front of the Johnson building. It keeps caving in and is a menace to pedestrians. It is up to some one to do the job over again as it does not appear to be a first class job by any means.

HOME INDUSTRIES.

Whenever a plan is suggested for the development of the town the first suggestion, invariably is "Bring in more industries." It is customary to throw out all sorts of inducements for the location of factories, including exemption from taxes for a time, free sites and bonuses, and these methods have contributed so much towards building up hundreds of prosperous municipalities that their wisdom cannot be questioned. Anything that will add to our desirable population, will give employment to men who support families and thus contribute to the general welfare, is at all times desirable, says the Newburyport News.

But the people who join heartily in the work of bringing in new industries and who show the greatest enthusiasm over this feature of the public work in which all good citizens share, sometimes are the first to forget that the new industries brought in and the old ones already here require continued support and failing to get it, become a hindrance rather than an aid to development.

We are apt to overlook, too, the fact that the home merchant is entitled to as much consideration as the factory which we have obtained by special effort. The merchant is a necessity—even more so than the factory; for who cares to live in a community where there are no stores, or where the stores are closed and barred and the merchants have moved away, forced to other fields by lack of patronage.

Much remains to be done to straighten our local business interests. We ought to give real support to any move that will tend to keep our money at home.

his flight to Concord, N. H. last week. He covered this distance in one hour and 45 minutes his speed at times being at the rate of 50 miles per hour.

It was shortly after 45 o'clock, when with a passenger on board who had a dinner engagement at North Scituate, that he left the Squantum aviation field and after circulating several steamers in the harbor flew to Nantasket, and from there over Hingham, and Cohasset to the Lawson farm at Egypt. Circulating about the Lawson farm he proceeded to North Scituate, where he made a landing at the Hatherly club grounds. He remained there just long enough to replenish his supply of gasoline and started back to Nantasket. He flew the whole length of the beach circulating about the large hotels and Paragon park. From there he flew to Boston light and to Deer Island, the steamers in the harbor giving him a whistling salute as he flew along over them.

Returning to the aviation grounds he made several circuits of the field during which he tried a new stunt, the first of its kind. While at a height of several thousand feet he shut of his motor and allowed his machine to descend at a rapid rate while he let go of his levers and leaving his seat crawled to the back of the machine, and after testing the valves started the engine and then returned to his seat and continued his flight. He tried this three times each of which was a success.

In discussing this feat at the dinner he said that he had often thought of trying this feat and Thursday he made up his mind to see what he could do. He took care to rise high enough so that he would have time to try the experiment before his biplane fell too close to the ground. He said that he thought it a grand thing to know how to do, as occasion might arise at any time while flying, that the engine would stop and he would then know how to crawl back and start it up.

It was near 9 o'clock when the party sat down to dinner, among those in the party besides Mr. Atwood and the members of the press being Greely S. Curtis of the Burgess aviation school, C. M. Conant president of the Squantum Inn, Albert S. Aspthy and John R. Nelson.

The dinner was an excellent one well cooked and served and a good sample of the dinners for which this Inn is famous. The menu was as follows:

Steamed Clams
Olives Radishes
Bisque of Lobster
Lobster a la Newburg
Filet Mignon with Mushrooms
Duchess Potatoes New Peas
Aviation Punch
Roast Yellow Leg Plover
Fresh Vegetable Salad Peas
Strawberry Mousse
Coffee.

During the dinner the guests kept a running fire of questions in the young aviators direction, all of which he was only too glad to answer. He greatly enthused over the sport and said that he would rather be flying than doing anything else. He is also an exceedingly interesting talker and during the dinner recounted many of the incidents that had taken place during his flights, that gave his hearers a new insight into this coming sport.

Quincy, he said, was getting more flying than any place in the country, a fact that many did not seem to understand or appreciate. His story of his recent flight to New Hampshire was particularly interesting, and it was with reluctance that the time for the departure of the last car made it necessary to end the dinner.

This morning, bright and early, Mr. Atwood left the aviation field and passed over Quincy on his way to Buzzard's bay. From Buzzard's bay he will fly to New London and may be expected to accompany the Harvard-Yale race this afternoon over the course. He also planned to drop several messages on his trip.

JULY FOURTH SPORTING EVENTS

Officials Appointed By the Athletic Committee

BASE BALL GAMES

The third meeting of the athletic committee for Fourth of July was held in the Board of Trade rooms Thursday evening. Chairman Brogan reported that the appropriation for athletics had been cut down from $350 to $300 with the possibility of having it returned to the original sum. Mr. Crotty reported that the rope used by Quincy High school on the football field would be loaned to the athletic committee. The City Engineer sent word that he had a rope over a quarter of a mile long which could be used if necessary. The chairman reported that the track meet would be held in the upper field at Merrymount park. The City Engineer is going to measure the track and stake it this week. It was voted that in case the general committee did not see fit to give $350 to the committee the committee should sell the score cards for the track meet at a reasonable price.

The chairman reported that the city would furnish a sufficient police force to control the crowd.

The officials appointed by the chairman of the committee are as follows:

Referee—Hon. William T. Shea.
Announcer—James E. Neary.
Starter—William Mullane.
Marshal—James Brogan.
Clerk—William T. Elcock.
Assistant Clerk—Dan Driscoll.
Judges at Finish—Leo Noonan, James J. Floyd and Sam Young.
Field Judges—Theodore Hermanson, John Connors and George F. Crotty.
Inspectors—George McKenzie, Joseph Larkin, Harry Brooks, Charles L. McCue, Joseph Rooney, Maurice Cohen, Peter Sullivan, John Winslow.
Score Keeper—Alden H. Blanchard.
Timers—William Butler, William Flynn, Joseph Ford.
Custodian of Prizes—John D. Smith.
Handicapper—F. X. McGrath.

After the regular meeting was adjourned the baseball committee of five held a session. It was voted that the games be played as announced before: Fore River Apprentices vs. Bigelows at Ward 2, Adams A. A. vs. West Quincy All Stars at Ward 3, St. Mary's vs. Colonials at Ward 4, Mohawks vs. Orients at Merrymount park, lower field, and two of the three following teams at the upper field Merrymount park, South Quincy A. A., West Quincys and Makaria. A meeting will be held at 7.30 this evening at which the three teams will draw to see which two teams play the preliminary game for purpose of eliminating one of them. The question of umpires were discussed at length and it was decided that two umpires should be selected by the committee for the big games at Merrymount park and one apiece for the other games.

Each team will be expected to furnish a new ball and the umpire will be paid by the contesting teams. The prizes offered for the games will go to the winning team and the receipts from the collection will be divided between the two teams after the umpire is paid. At the big game in the upper field at Merrymount park, the winning team will get $25 and after the umpires are paid the receipts from collections will be divided among the three teams, Makaria, South Quincy A. A. and West Quincys.

A special meeting of the managers of the teams which are to play on the Fourth for the prizes is called for 7.30 this evening. All the managers have been notified by the chairman of the base ball committee and if any one fails to appear at the meeting his team will have to abide by the decision of the committee irrespective of its own desires.

All arrangements for the track meet have been made and all that remains now is to run it off. The first event will start at 2 o'clock sharp Tuesday afternoon. The ball games will begin not later than 10 o'clock in the morning and the double header at Merrymount park will start at 9.30.

NEWSY BUDGET FROM MILTON.

Charles Davis and family of Pleasant street, East Milton, have gone to Bar Harbor, Maine, for the summer.

The annual lawn party of the Ladies' Aid society of the First Baptist church, East Milton, was held on Tuesday evening. The grounds were attractively decorated and the ladies in charge did a rushing business. The affair was one of the most successful in the history of the organization.

The band concert which will take place in East Milton on the afternoon of the Fourth will be on the lot next to the post office owned by John F. Keegan.

Miss Hazel Batchelder is spending her summer with her mother at her home on Martin place.

Dennis Hurley of Cambridge and Miss Louise Hammons of Bryant place were married at the home of Rev. J. Hamilton Woodsum, Eaton street, this week. Mr. Hurley was employed at Brook's stable on Milton hill several years ago and during the past few years has been located in Cambridge where the couple will make their home after a short wedding trip.

Rev. Allen E. Gregg, pastor of the East Congregational church has been in Chiltonville, Mass., during the week.

A very successful lawn party was held Thursday afternoon and evening at the Episcopal church, East Milton. The proceeds will be devoted toward the expense of purchasing the lot back of the church on which a parish house and rectory will be built eventually.

The Cubs won two games last Saturday. In the morning they defeated the Sir Galahad club of Mattapan at Glen Echo park, Stoughton by a score of 7 to 5 and in the afternoon won from L. P. Hollanders Cash boys by a score of 5 to 2 at Cunningham field.

The East Congregational Sunday school picnic was held at Cunningham park this week. The usual sports were indulged in and the day was pronounced ver enjoyable by those who attended.

It looks well to use checks. Buying a money order or sending a registered letter to pay a bill is expensive, and it doesn't create the impression that you are particularly prosperous. GEORGE H. EARLE, JR

Says He Wanted Roosevelt to Prosecute Sugar Trust

GETS AFTER ROOSEVELT

Earle Wanted Former President to Prosecute Sugar Trust

Washington, June 30.—Charges that President Roosevelt and Attorney General Bonaparte knew of the wrecking of the Real Estate Trust company of Philadelphia by the American Sugar company, and that Roosevelt and Bonaparte persistently refused to act against the sugar trust, were made when George H. Earle, Jr., resumed his testimony before the house sugar investigating committee.

Mr. Earle, who was receiver for the Real Estate Trust company, declared that he had laid all the facts before Roosevelt and Bonaparte in 1906.

Mr. Earle said he had come to the conclusion that the Real Estate Trust company had failed because of the sugar rate war between the American Sugar company and the Pennsylvania Sugar Refining company. The Real Estate Trust company owned much of the latter's stock.

HOSPITAL FOR CARE OF THE LITTLE ONES

A New Undertaking by Socialists of Milwaukee

Milwaukee, June 30.—Milwaukee Socialists formally launched the first of a series of hospitals which they propose to add to the city's facilities for caring for the sick when the infants' open-air pavilion on the lake front was opened for the reception of children.

There is a capacity for sixty children, with hammocks, cribs and all accessories for their care. Several prominent doctors are on the staff and nurses are provided as needed.

All convalescent or suffering babies, with the exception of those suffering with contagious diseases, will be taken care of free of charge. Mothers may leave their children there during the day without any charge. On Tuesday and Thursday afternoons of each week talks on the care of children will be given to mothers by physicians.

RELIC OF OLDEN TIMES

Laborers Uncover Portion of a Corduroy Road In Boston

Boston, June 30.—While city employes of the public works department were digging in the rear of the Exchange building on Central street in order to replace a wooden sewer with a concrete one, they uncovered a portion of an old "corduroy" road which is thought to have been built about two centuries ago.

The old road is constructed of logs and branches of trees which are in a fairly good state of preservation. They were placed crosswise similar to the ties in a railroad bed.

Old maps of the colonial days show that all that district was a large swamp in the early days of Boston. The construction is similar to that on logging roads today.

Committee Asks For Dismissal of Michael and Morrison

Washington, June 30.—Misappropriation of state department funds is charged, and a recommendation that William H. Michael, former chief clerk of the department, now American consul general at Calcutta, and Thomas Morrison, disbursing clerk, be dismissed "for the good of the public service and the integrity of public officials," is made in a report adopted by the house committee on expenditures in the state department.

This is the result of its investigation into an alleged expenditure by the department of $2450 for a painting of former Secretary of State Day. Of this amount the artist, Albert Rosenthal, said he received only $850. The remaining $1600 is unaccounted for.

NO DANCING.

Editor Ledger:

Will you kindly allow us space in your valuable columns to correct a statement in Thursday evening's issue referring to the Costume party given by the Jewell class of the Wollaston Baptist church in which it was described as a Barn Dance. We wish to say that this is incorrect and that dancing, in any form, was not a feature of the program.

Thanking you and assuring you of our appreciation, we are:

—In Switzerland the law gives a married woman one-third of her husband's earnings for the maintenance of their home. The law also gives her the right to dispose of one third of his property. The first part of this law would work to the advantage of many a family in this country, where the weekly stipend is not always put to as good use as it might be if the wife and mother had something to say about it.—Milford Gazette.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

Decision Regarding Automatic Sprinklers Involves $500,000,000

New York, June 30.—More than 200 factory owners who have similar cases pending were interested in a decision of the appellate division which compelled two firms of piano makers to put in automatic sprinklers.

The manufacturers appealed from a judgment directing them to comply with an order of the New York city fire commissioner to provide such a system of fire protection on the ground that the law under which the commissioner acted was unusual. The appellate division now declares this law valid.

Counsel for the defendants complained that under the law as it stood, 50,000 factories could be compelled to install sprinklers at a total cost of $500,000,000.

Troops to Leave Texas

HINES APPEARS AS A WITNESS

How He Became Interested In Election of Lorimer

WAS DIRECTED BY ALDRICH

Senator From Rhode Island Interested Because President Desired Election of Friend of Administration—Lumber Magnate Says He Was Also Approached by Penrose, Who Seconded the Request of Aldrich

Washington, June 30.—Edward Hines, who is alleged to have collected a $100,000 bribe fund to elect William Lorimer senator from Illinois, testified before the investigating committee that it was by direction of Nelson W. Aldrich, then senator from Rhode Island, that he worked for Lorimer's election.

He declared that this order came from Aldrich after the latter had had a conference with President Taft, and had stated that the president wanted a friend of the administration elected by the Illinois legislature.

Hines declared that both Senators Aldrich and Penrose approached him in May, 1909, on the subject of the Illinois senatorial situation, and that that President Taft was especially interested in having the Illinois vacancy filled.

Mr. Hines said he owned 61 or 62 percent of the Edward Hines Lumber company, and named banks of which he was either president, director or stockholder.

Hines said Penrose asked him if he could find out if the Illinois legislature was likely to aljourn without electing a senator. He said he talked to Representatives Boutell and Madden, and they said that Congressman Lorimer might know.

Hines said that later Penrose told him that Aldrich was very anxious to have a Republican senator elected from Illinois, "because the vote on certain schedules in the Payne bill looked very close."

Mr. Hines said that on another occasion Penrose said Aldrich wanted to see Hines. "Senator Penrose took me up to Senator Aldrich's room," said Hines, "and told him who I was.

"Senator Aldrich said that the administration was very anxious to have a Republican elected from Illinois as soon as possible. He asked me to see Congressman Lorimer and impress that on his mind."

Mr. Hines then went on to relate the other conferences he had with Aldrich, who told him several times that Taft favored the selection of Lorimer for senator from Illinois. He produced vouchers to show that he had telephoned to Springfield, Ills., the message given him by Aldrich.

Concord, N. H., June 30.—Counsel for George W. Glover in the action against Henry M. Baker, executor, and others to test the validity of the will of the late Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy, filed in the superior court of Merrimack county two amendments.

They ask the court to determine the legal domicile of Mrs. Eddy at the time of her death and ask for an injunction to prevent the executor from moving any of the property.

The plaintiff sets forth that in signing the agreement of November, 1909, he did not bind himself not to object to any unlawful disposition Mrs. Eddy might attempt to make of her property.

How Steel Business In United States Is Conducted

BIG BATCH OF INDICTMENTS

Several Subsidiary Companies and More Than Four Score Individuals, Including Nine Millionaires, Accused of Conspiracy to Restrain Trade In Wire Products—Far-Reaching Anti-Trust Action

New York, June 30.—Another sweeping anti-trust action was inaugurated by the federal government yesterday afternoon, when the United States grand jury returned indictments against nine millionaires, as follows: Frank J. Gould, Herbert L. Satterlee, William P. Palmer, Charles F. Booker, Henry G. Stoddard, Frank M. Hewitt, Erskine Hewitt, Ferdinand W. Roebling, Frank M. Phillips.

All the men are directors of the United States Steel corporation and subsidiary companies. They are accused of violating the Sherman anti-trust law. The true bills charge a conspiracy to restrain trade in wire products. The indictments were returned before Judge Hough in the United States circuit court. Satterlee is the son-in-law of J. P. Morgan.

All the lesser officials of the various subsidiary corporations, seventy-nine in number, are also indicted.

The indicted men represent the Bare Copper Wire association, the Rubber Covered Wire association, the Wire Rope Manufacturers' association, the Rubber Lead Enforced Cable association, the Fine Magnet Wire association, the Underground Power Cable association, the Horseshoe Manufacturers' association, the Telephone Cable association and the Weatherproof and Magnet Wire association.

The action of the federal grand jury in returning these indictments, following the sweeping decisions rendered against the Tobacco and Standard Oil companies by the United States supreme court, is regarded as the most important ever undertaken by the government.

Some of the evidence presented to the grand jury is said to show that the steel business in the United States has been divided by agreement into about twenty pools.

The pools, it is said, have been formed by agreements between the subsidiaries of the steel corporation and many of the independents. Agents of the government in their investigations have come into possession of contracts, agreements and minutes of meetings of steel men.

The government's action is directed more against the "trust" within the "trust" than against the steel corporation alone, although the evidence laid before the grand jury is said to involve many of the officers of the big company.

While the bureau of corporations at Washington has been making an investigation of the steel corporation for nearly three years, this proposed criminal action is apart from that. The criminal case will not have any connection with any suit which the government may bring against the steel corporation.

HOW TO RENEW YOUTH

Abandon Things Which Derange One's Self Control, Says Depew

London, June 30.—Chauncey M. Depew, whose rejuvenated appearance has astonished his friends, told the secret of his renewed youth.

"I have abandoned wines and tobacco, which derange one's self control," he said, "and concentrate my thoughts on the pleasant, humorous things of life. I consider all the evils of my present condition as a past condition.

"I relax often, simply allowing the muscles and brain to rest by force of will. Do not attempt to overdo either in pleasure or business. Moderation means success, health and contentment."

CLAXTON SUCCEEDS BROWN

President Names Tennessee Man For Education Commissioner

Washington, June 30.—President Taft appointed Philander P. Claxton, professor of education at the University of Tennessee, as commissioner of education, succeeding Elmer E. Brown, resigned.

Holder of many offices in educational bodies, author of many addresses and published articles on education, Claxton seems well fitted for the office to which the president has appointed him. He was born in 1862 in Tennessee.

Denmark Bars Castro

St. Thomas, D. W. I., June 30.—In accordance with instructions from Copenhagen all steamship agents of St. Thomas have been notified that the government forbids the landing on the island of Cipriano Castro, the deposed president of Venezuela, in the event of his arrival here.

AMUSEMENTS

DOINGS ON THE STAGE OF

LOCAL AND BOSTON THEATRES

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE.

It will be a week of especial interest at the Castle Square beginning Monday. "The Barrier," dramatized from Rex Beach's novel of the same name, will be produced by Mr. Craig for the first time in Boston. Mary Young will reappear as its heroine after an absence from the stage of four weeks, and the cast will also contain William P. Carleton, who has been especially engaged by Mr. Craig for his summer season, and also Howell Hansel in the leading role. "The Barrier" has a plot of gripping interest. Divided into four acts, its scene opens at a trading post on the Yukon River in the far North, and it unfolds a stirring story of love and romance, adventure and revenge. It pulsates with the energy and primitive life of thinly settled regions, and the well defined characters and sensational scenes of the novel are taken dramatic advantage of in the novel. It is a play of the emotions, and in its scenery will be given a fine display of the icy regions of the north. White people, half breeds Indians are among the dramatis personae of "The Barrier," and they will be represented on the stage of the Castle Square by an exceptional cast. In addition to Miss Young, Mr. Hansel and Mr. Carleton, all the members of Mr. Craig's company will be seen, including Donald Meek, Frederick Murray, Bert Young, Mabel Colcord and Gertrude Binley. Its run will positively be limited to a single week.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE.

"Swept by Ocean Breezes," the big production in which "The Meistersingers" are appearing at B. F. Keith's Theatre, is proving to be by all odds the biggest summer attraction that has ever been put on in Boston. The magnificent stage setting, the light effects, the wonderful harmony of the combined Harvard, Schubert and Webber Male Quartettes, and the general excellence of the programmes which are changed every week, has made an appeal not only to the musical people of Boston but to all classes of amusement lovers. The coming week's programme will again be changed, being composed almost entirely of Scotch numbers, both solos and choruses, and as a special feature a Highland dancer, Miss Nellie Elliott, will enliven the Highland parts of the entertainment. Great interest in these features has already been shown among the Scottish societies in New England, for this will probably be one of the greatest programmes of Scotch music ever given in the theatre. The surrounding bill will be fully up to the standard that is making this summer notable in the annals of B. F. Keith's Theatre. It will include the Mabelle Fonda Troupe of jugglers; Dolan & Lenharr in a burlesque mind reading act; Marini & Bronski, two wonderful Russian dancers from the Metropolitan Opera House, New York; Bernard & Dorothy Granville in a comedy act; the Van Brothers, musical comedians; Barthoddi's wonderful birds; and others.

HIGHLAND PARK.

As one of the series of big, free, out-of-door attractions which are being provided at Highland Park all this season, with changes weekly, Herzog and his trained Military Stallions will appear every afternoon and evening of next week. This is one of the finest and most famous acts of the kind in the world. The appearance at Highland Park will be the first in this country after returning from Germany following an extended tour of great centres of the old world. In the act are six stallions of the very finest blood. They are not only splendid examples of horse-flesh from the point of outward appearance, but they are wonderfully intelligent and have been trained with infinite care. It is doubtful if six more valuable horses could be found. Under the guidance of Herzog, the famous trainer himself, they are put through a number of tricks of various kinds, which show their superb grace and intelligence in the highest possible degree. It is an act that will be of absorbing interest to all lovers of the finest in horse-flesh. There will be the usual abundance of theatrical and other attractions to interest the visitors to this popular summer recreation place.

MME. CLAESSENS.

Phoebe Dwight in the Boston Traveler gives a most interesting account of one of the Boston Opera house singers who finds joy on her farm.

Simple wholesome big-hearted Mme. Claessens, the well-known mezzo soprano of the Boston Opera Company, is a perfect exponent of the simple life, of the joys of the farm, with hens clucking in the barnyard and cows lowing at the pasture bars at twilight.

In Caryville, just, beyond Medway, this most cosmopolitan of women, who was born in Belgium and who has been in every corner of the earth, has built a little bungalow farm-house.

"I am founding a homestead," madame explained, "so that I may live here all the time when the voice goes. This little house was nothing but a school building when I took it," madame said, as she sat in the cosy little living room, which was dominated by her fresh, big personality. "Gradually I am adding to it. This is only the second year I have lived here, and I have added two or three rooms and the porch and the little piazza, where I keep my birds.

The farm includes 35 acres, and out upon her small domain, stepped the opera singer Azucena of "Ill Trovatore," Tomaso of the "Sacrifice," Luara of "La Gioconda."

"We have large crops," she baosted, "we raise asparagus, oats, potatoes, and many chickens. I will show you."

As we went toward the chick enclosure, two dogs, a beautiful Collie and a bulldog, flung thmeselves upon her and leaped frantically about in an ecstasy of excitement. Madame cuffed their ears affectionately, laughing at their antics.

This chicken yard has greater interest than the majority of them owing to the guinea hens, geese and ducks which mingle with the garden variety of hens and roosters. The little, fluffy ducklings are very tame and gathered about Mme. Claessen's feet as she stooped to pet and feed them. But the great white gander hissed wildly with rage that mere humans should invade his precincts.

Of course no trip to the farm would be complete without cows, and so in a moment madame and the two denizens of the city started out to see this treat. The broad farm spread out in rounding green billows, wooded in places, with rough field stone walls twining in and out among the trees and bushes. Madame walked on ahead, with the upright and sure step of the true country woman. Her face, flushed with the exercise, glowed with pleasure in the little farm. As we scrambled through a stone wall, a faint tinkling sounded—the cow bell. The sound drew nearer, and with a crunching of the young underbush, a ruminating head appeared in an opening.

"There they are," cried madame delightedly, and ran forward to stroke the head of the leader. Slowly, one by one, the creatures came into the pasture.

"But where is the smallest calf?" Mme. Claessens asked, and then, as none of the cows made any pretense of answering her, into the green alleys she went. We could hear her glorious voice calling in the tones which have delighted thousands of people from the footlights:

"Boss! Boss! Come, Boss!"

Presently she reappeared, the very incarnation of the country woman, with her splendid physique, her warm color and her arms around the neck of a little faun-colored calf which trotted daintily beside her.

The walk back to the little villa led over the same springy path, and through pasture bars, which madame let down and replaced, after we had passed through.

"What would the people who hear me sing in opera think if they saw me now?" she queried merrily. "They would not recognize me? No?"

"I like to sing. But," she added warmly, as she spread her arms wide, as if to embrace the rolling fields and trees, "I love the country."

Joyce fell in the course of an instruction flight he had undertaken for several pupils who were at the park. He was operating his sixty-horsepower biplane when his engine went dead.

MAY FIND JOHN RANDALL'S BODY

Late news from Switzerland report that again the guides at Chamonix are watching for the bodies to come out of the Glacier des Bossons on Mount Blanc of the remaining Alphine climbers who lost their lives in 1870.

The party consisted of 11. Five were found, including Dr. Bean of Baltimore. Recently a broken alpenstock with Dr. Bean's name carved upon it has been found near the mouth of the glacier, indicating that the bodies may not be far away. It is expected that they will be found well preserved in the ice. Among the six bodies for whom the guides are looking is that of John Randall of Quincy.

SCOTCH PICNIC LABOR DAY

All lovers of athletic sports will be pleased to know that the Union picnic committee, Order of Scottish Clans of Boston and vicinity are perfecting details for the annual picnic on Labor Day.

One in novation this year is a relay race between teams from the A. O. H. and O. S. C. This should be a very interesting event because some of the best runners in this part of the state are members of either organization and the result of the race will be in doubt until it is won.

Special prizes are to be given by a prominent member of the O. S. C. to the three highest point winners during the games; this insures keen competition in all the events.

Five-a-side football is again a feature this year and there will be at least two teams from Quincy, Fore Rivers and MacGregors.

The great event of the day will be the ten mile race. This is the third year this event has been on program and it has proved a decided success. There is always a large number of entries and great interest is taken in the race by the sport loving public.

Realizing he has chance of climbing another rung in the ladder of pugilistic fame, Brown is working out every day at O'Connell's. The Greek boxes with any one who cares to don the mitts and fights in realistic style, landing punches as if he were in the ring.

DECIDES AGAINST ST. LOUIS.

Cincinnati, O., June—In a decision handed down today the National Baseball Commission declined to enforce the request of President Hedges of the St. Louis American League Club, that the Minneapolis team of the American Association apply the earnings of Pitcher Waddel to the payment of $1223 claimed to be due the St. Louis club from Waddell.

President Cantilion of the Minneapolis club said in a statement that Waddell was also indebted to his club. On that showing the commission decided that it would be unfair to ask that club to pay the St. Louis claim before his obligations with his own club had been met.

KLING A POOL PLAYER.

New York June 28—Johnny Kling, the Boston National catcher, defeated Alfred De Oro, pool champion, tonight in the first block of their handicap three-cushion billiard match at Doyle's academy. Kling, who has a handicap of 20, playing 80 caroms to De Oro's 100. clicked off 48 while the champion was scoring 50.

JEFF DON'T SPEAK.

Johnson and Jeffries, who are in London, met in an all-night restaurant in that city the other night for the first time since the affair at Reno. Jeffries was there first, accompanied by several friends, and when he saw the big negro he refused to reconzie him. Johnson and his wife went to a distant table to avoid a possible scene, and in a few minutes Jeffries got up hurriedly and left his conqueror grinning from ear to ear.

WHITE GOES WITH BOSTON.

Steve V. White the Princeton university pitcher at his home, 5 Houghton street, Dorchester, last night said he has signed no contract to play with the New York Giants, but has signed with the Boston Americans.

White said that on Tuesday he occupied a place on the Giant's bench on Washington park, Brooklyn, but did not sign a contract for that club. It was during his stay in New York Tuesday that he attached his name to a Boston American league club contract and he was out working on the Huntington avenue ground yesterday afternoon.

BROOKINS DROPS FLYING.

Dayton, O. June—Orville Wright believes the rumor that Parmlee has resigned from the Wright company is nothing more than a rumor. He asserted that the company had not only not received Parmlee's resignation, but had even not heard that he intended to resign.

Walter Brookins, a young aviator of the Wrights, has tendered his resignation. Though Brookins' resignation came just after a series of aeroplane casualties in Europe, he denies that the perils of flying prompted his retirement, but says that business interests in California demanded his attention.

SPORTING NOTES.

George McKenzie is slated to pitch for the Quincys against the Riverside A. A. Saturday afternoon at the Water street grounds. McKenzie is by no means a novice on the mound and his pitching has been called both speedy and heady.

Stan Bates is in strong with the fans of Fredericton, N. B. for in the game against St. John he alowed but one hit up to the ninth inning and won his game handily. "Lefty" Ford was the opposing pitcher and he gave a reasonably good account of himself. Stan says his arm is still a little sore from the cold he caught a few weeks ago but when the soreness goes he expects to be able to pitch winning ball with the kind of support he is getting.

One of the best games on the holiday will be that on the Ward Three playgrounds between the Adams A. A. and the South Quincy A. A. The teams are great rivals and since both come from the same section of the city there should be a record breaking crowd out to witness the contest.

The Quincys are hoping to repeat their victory of two weeks ago over the Riversides. The fans will remember that the holiday game was one of the best seen in Quincy this year and although Neagle will be missed in the box, Quincy has a likely man in McKenzie, the old Makaria captain.

Entries for the Fourth of July athletic meet are coming in fast and the different events are each receiving a good share. One event which has been overlooked by many of the Quincy residents is the 440 yard novice. This is open to anyone who has never won a race and it is liable to be one of the best events on the program. Everyone has a good show to win and even those who have not done much of any running would do well to enter and have a look in on the prizes. The event is open to residents of Quincy only and the star athletes of the city will be shut out since the event is novice. The young men of the city are urged to consider this event and to see William L. Elcock, 21 Marsh street, Quincy this week and he will fix up the entry question all right.

The Athletics wish to challenge any 12-13 year old team in Quincy, Christ church team preferred. Address A. DeSenes, 52 Phipps street.

The Curry A. C. would like to cross bats with any 9-10 year old team in Quincy, the Athletics preferred. Address Philip Kellihey, 18 North Payne street, Quincy.

THE MAKARIAS.

The four principal characteristics of the Makaria Base Ball team are:—

1st. Gentlemanly on the base ball field.

2nd. Clean ball playing.

3rd. Fairness.

4th. Sane and orderly throughout every game.

The people of Quincy who enjoy the American national sport should patronize such a base ball team as the Makarias. Come out and encourage them with your presence. See what a good lot of young men Quincy is able to turn out. A Friend.

FUNERAL OF MRS. HARRIS.

Funeral services for the late Mrs. Martha Harris were conducted by Rev. Carl G. Horst of the Wollaston Unitarian church at the home of her son E. E. Harris, 12 Lunt street, Norfolk Downs. Mrs. Harris was the widow of Josephus Harris who was associated years ago in the anti-slavery movement of John Brown and William Lloyd Garrison. She was a Unitarian and a member of Theodore Parker's society in Boston. She passed away in her 92d year. The burial was at Avon.

CONTEST MAY BE VERY CLOSE

Great Race on the Thames Comes Off Today

HARVARD IS THE FAVORITE

More Confident of Winning Than It Was a Week Ago, but Yale Has Shown Great Improvement and Nip and Tuck Battle Is Predicted—Vast Difference In the Physical Appearance of the Rival Crews

New London, Conn., June 30.—Over the four-mile course on the Thames river late this afternoon the eight-oared crews of Harvard and Yale will meet to settle their aquatic differences for 1911. Only one titanic 20-minute struggle now remains to decide which university has profited best in the long six months of hard and earnest training that has been taken to prepare for this race.

Harvard rules the favorite as she has all the season, but the odds have materially lessened. A month ago the veteran Crimson crew was considered in a class by itself. The Blue eight was classed as an also ran. A different complexion is cast upon the contest now, however.

Yale day by day since its arrival here on June 4 has developed marked improvement. In its final spins it has exhibited magnificent bursts of speed and shown watermanship and rhythm that discount some of the superior qualities possessed by the Harvard eight. The odds are only 10 to 8 in favor of the crew from Cambridge, but there is little Yale money in sight.

It is said that Harvard is more confident of winning today than it was a week ago, in spite of the improvement in the Yale crew, for the Crimson blades have also regained a form that they failed to exhibit in the first weeks they were at Red Top.

At Gales Ferry, where the Yale oarsmen are quartered, there is a feeling that this is the best crew that the Elis have had in years and that a surprise is in store for Harvard when the two eights line up for their four-mile struggle. Not for a number of seasons has a Yale crew looked so good to visitors at the Blue headquarters, and one of the old-time nip and tuck contests over the entire course is predicted.

Never in the long history of Harvard and Yale rowing here has there been such a difference in the two varsity eights.

Harvard will have one of its usual massive brawny eights, while that of Yale will be the lightest that has been turned out by that university in years.

This Harvard crew will average 178¼ pounds, while Yale men will do good if they come up to the scales at 168½ pounds. This is the average weight given out at Gales Ferry, but there is a feeling that a number of the men are below the weight set opposite their names and that the real figures are at best one if not two pounds lighter.

GRAND STAND TICKETS.

The tickets for seats in the grand stand will be out today. As Mayor Shea is the chairman of the reception committee the tickets will probably be turned over to him tonight and sent out from his office. It is a little late to issue the tickets but it is understood that some difficulty was experienced in getting a card with a special embossed design. Secretary Stetson said this morning however, that he would have them out today even if it was impossible to get the special card desired.

☞The Danger Trail, a story of the frozen north by James Oliver Curwood, a great gripping story will be run as a serial in the Ledger beginning Monday, July 3. The author has lived among the Arctic ice packs, has learned to know the ways of the sometimes simple, sometimes treacherous French Canadian guides. The story is of the clashing of strong men, brave men, cowardly men and would be assassins, a story of a young girl's untarnished love. What is the secret that mysteriously threatens John Howland's (the hero) life baffles the reader throughout the story. tf
